ME FOR LILLOOET--LILLOOET FOR MINE

THE LILLOOET PROSPECTOR

Vol. 2 No. 9

FRIDAY, JANUARY 10, 1913

$2.00 Per Year

NEW BANK

Lillooet is to have a new banking institution. The Union Bank of Canada will open up a branch here on or about the 15th of the month in the building between the Prospector office and the Victoria hotel. Mr. A. P. Hughes will be manager for the new bank. Mr. Hughes comes from Passburg, Alta., where he was manager of a branch of the Union Bank. He expects the teller to arrive in the course of a few days.

BRIDGE WORK TO START

Preparations are being made to start work on the bridges along the Bridge River wagon road. A crew will be sent in the first of the week to take in the portable mill and start getting out the timbers for these bridges. There is one to go in across Bridge River at the mouth of South Fork, one across Gunn Creek and one across Tyaughton Creek.

Work on the government bridge across Portage Creek on the Short Portage is progressing rapidly and will be ready for use in a short time

FOUR TEAMS

PILE UP

Three of Long Brothers freight teams, the new four-horse stage and an Indian rig went over the grade at the turn just this side of the 11-mile hill on the Lytton road. One was severely shook up, but not seriously injured. The stage went over the grade, landing in a clump of small pines. The stage was pulled back on the road and able to continue its journey after a short delay.

P. G. E. Construction Work

Going Steadily Ahead

Construction work on the Pacific Great Eastern, which has been in progress along Seton and Anderson lakes for the past three months, is being pushed steadily ahead and along the former lake several miles of grade have already been completed. On Anderson lake the construction of camps is going ahead as rapidly as lumber can be secured and put on the ground. Headquarters have been established at the Anderson lake end of the Short Portage and where a few weeks ago was a wilderness there is now a scene of hustle and bustle, and enough buildings to constitute a small town. Besides this headquarters there will be two other main camps on the lake; one just above McGillivray creek and one near the head of the lake. There are at present several camps of right-of-way contractors and station men distributed along the line, and between the Short Portage and McGillivray creek dirt is being moved on the grade.

There is considerable heavy rock work along this lake and it is said that it will be in the neighborhood of eighteen months before this piece of work is completed. The company already have a 32-foot 18 horse-power gasoline boat plying between the camps and the boat-builders are at present employed in the construction of a 36-horse power boat--a duplicate of the company boat on Seton lake--for the transportation of men and supplies.

About eight miles from the head of Anderson lake on the Pemberton Portage another camp is being located. This contractor has a piece of work which starts at a point about four miles from the head of the lake and extends for about 13 miles along the Portage. A force of men are already at work on this contract building camps and clearing right-of-way.

At the head of Seton lake new wharves and warehouses are nearing completion. A wagon bridge is being built across Portage Creek near the Anderson Lake headquarters. A hospital for the benefit of the men has been established on the Short Portage. An extension of the government telephone line will shortly be constructed from the Mission to the Portage headquarters. In fact, all along the line affairs are rapidly being put in shape for the early completion of this stretch of the railroad.

FIRST COLD SNAP

Lillooet is in the grip of the storm king. The "little spell of weather" hit the town Wednesday evening and since that time it has been "rather chilly." On Thursday morning it was 12 above but the high north wind made it extremely disagreeable to be outside. This morning it registered four above and the wind had abated. From reports Lillooet still holds its reputation as the most favored spot in this section. It was said to be nine below at Pavilion on Thursday morning and at the 150-mile house it is reported to have been 50 below zero all day Thursday.

YES, The Prospector is under a new management. And that new management greets you.

We have been standing back since we gained control sort of sizing up the work that has been done in this shop and taking an inventory of ourselves to see just where we can give our readers better service and more value for their money. Every good newspaper does that every so often.

Now, we intend to desert the old stringer vein that The Prospector has been driving away on for the past year, start a new drift, tap a new lead and follow it up with a bright, newsy and up-to-the-minute country sheet.

Lillooet and district is going rapidly ahead since construction started on the railroad. In the course of a few years this part of the province will be one of the many garden-spots, a resort section of no mean importance and will stand near the top in the mining industry. This is a certainty. And with this certainty in view we realize that we must be up and doing to keep abreast of the progress and give this worthy district the publicity that is due it.

We have planned many changes and improvements.

We will give all the local news that is worth printing in a brief and breezy style.

We will have a district news service that will keep you in touch with the outlying sections.

We will help boost anything that is for the good of the district and will help "knock" the "knockers."

We will give all the information obtainable about the many resources that will make Lillooet's name.

We will spice it all with good, wholesome fiction now and then---probably a serial story run in weekly installments until finished.

AND LISTEN!

The Prospector will have a political policy. Heretofore it has been non-political and non-partisan, but from now on it will uphold the Conservative party and government, because the Conservative party has framed a government that "does things for the people."

We may have the stingless honey bee but the political bee will keep its sting forever.

Just watch Lillooet this year. She's booked to knock that old hard-luck 13 gag to smithereens.

Don't tell all your troubles to the policemen---remember The Prospector is hungry for news.

A workman is known by his chips--and the poorest chips are poker chips.

The man who is continually touching his friends will some day discover that they feel cold.

Cash is like champagne---take the cork out and the stuff won't keep.

Cheer up! There's another New Year's coming and you'll have another chance to climb on the wagon.

Lillooet having held its own for the past sixty years without transportation and means of communication will most certainly become some city when linked with outlying districts all naturally centering here. Mines, cattle, fruitlands, timber, Theavailable fruit lands in close proximity, if reckoned in twenty acre tracts, will support a large community. Market? The route to Fort George and the great beyond will consume many a car load of the finest apples the world has ever seen and grown right here in Lillooet.

A steady request for mining properties, also all properties with fair showings are being bonded. Some are now working and as soon as spring opens all prospects now under way will be pushed ahead.

A general trend of advancement is noted along the Pemberton Portage. Many properties changing hands--good prices ruling.

INGRATITUDE

All numbed is my reason, and frigid my feet! I'm tired of this season of good things to eat! I'm tired of turkey. I've soured upon goose, my insides are jerky, my wishbone is loose. I've gorged upon pudding until I would die; I'm dodging, eluding, all manner of pie. Although I'm a dandy at punishing grub, I'm tired of the candy that comes by the tub; the oysters, the dressing, the ice cream and cake, all, all are distressing and give me an ache. Rich grub sends a shiver through surfeited men; I'm longing for liver and onions again. My system is aching and won't be denied, for fried eggs and bacon, and spuns on the side. 'Twould make my soul chirrup to fill up once more on buckwheat and syrup and saurkraut galore, but that would be treason of style and abuse; at this bughouse season its turkey and goose. Its turkey that's roasted and goose that is baked, and things that are toasted and things that are faked: its oysters and dressing and stuffing and jam, and spaghetti wavy, with which we must cram. My nerves all a-quiver, I sit in my den, and long for plain liver and onions again?—Walt Mason.

BIG GAME PLENTIFUL THIS SEASON

Lillooet District has long been known to big game hunters as an excellent shooting country, and this season's record has added fresh laurels to its reputation. There were about 20 parties left town during the season, for the Bridge River and Chilcotin districts, these being the favorite hunting grounds because they are the haunts of the big horn, the mule deer and the goat, and the whole section is suitable for travelling by horses.

Some splendid bags were secured and there was no expressions of dissatisfaction from the returning hunters. Some of the largest heads that have been secured in this section in years were brought in. Among these trophies was a sheep measuring 16 1-2 inches at the base while the length was 37 1-2 inches. A 15-point mule deer had a spread of 34 inches and length of beam 29 1-2 inches. Other heads brought in gave these measurements a close run for the records. The majority of the parties were composed of old country sportsmen, with a fair representation from the states.

Local hunters also enjoyed a good season. One party composed of Deputy Game Warden Joe Russell, P. Mays and Henry Swartz had exceptionally good hunting in the North Fork section. Mr. Mays secured one of the best stag heads of the season on this trip.

Small game was plentiful and afforded good sport to those who answered the lure of the wild during the hunting season just closed.

FINDS PEARL

Albert Brinkman, cook at the Quick Meal, was fortunate enough to find a pearl while enjoying a feast of oysters the other day. The pearl is of fairly good shape and is about the size of a pea. Mr. Brinkman intends to send it to a New York firm to have it mounted.

Divine services will be held by the Rev. D. Griffith in St. Mary's church next Sunday, the 12th of January. Early communion at 8 a. m. Morning service at 11 a. m. Evening service at 7:30 p. m.

THE OLD TIMERS FAREWELL

The ceaseless din of many hammers, the bustle and stir of things doing. New buildings—our old haunts destroyed—old shacks, each with a history of its own, ruthlessly torn down to make room. Sidewalks in town, where the middle of the road used to be good enough, telephone lines along where we used to wrestle with packs on our backs—new faces—crowded hotels—families moving in.

We are elbowed aside. No room for us now. Our day is done. The man who bazed the trail makes way for the new order of things.

Progress and transportation—railway—now that it is here, what is there left for us? Their ways are not our ways; no we haven't made a raise—not likely to either—the likes of us are not the ones that make the big money. Perhaps we had hopes years ago—now it is different—a ceaseless struggle with the wilds changes ones views of life—it doesn't seem to matter very much though. There are still a few things that money cannot buy—the friendship and trust of two partners, who have mined and trapped together. Our faith in mankind would soon be destroyed were we to stay.

A job you say? No, thank you, we have work of our own to do. Out and beyond there is room for us. Yes, maybe as you say, the lure of gold—but it is clean gold. Its as the Great Architect left it—it's for us to get. Maybe a grub strike only maybe the lucky strike—we have taken chances for twenty years, too old and set in our ways to change. The silent forest—the evening camp—fire lighting up the dim cathedral timbered aisles the serene grandeur of mountain peak. The cold eternal glaciers—when you know them as we know them, then perhaps you may understand what is calling us. So town and city men we are leaving —our work here is done—we are leaving it for you to finish and complete. See to it that you do your best and may good luck be with you.—Haymore.

THINGS ARE LOOKING UP

The railroad camps are working

Barely time to bite or sup.

No need for any shirking

For things are looking up.

We've waited long and patient

And bitter was the cup

Often hungry and short-rationed

But things are looking up.

The winter's blast is over,

Spring is here to brace us up

We'll all soon be in clover

For things are looking up.

Hard times are off the docket

Nothing now can interrupt,

There's a ten-spot in my pocket,

Let's go out and drink her up.

SPORTING NOTES

Vancouver came back in the Coast Hockey league and led Weslin's by 10 goals to 5. At times it looked as though the Representatives stood to lose, but their aggressive tactics after the first twenty minutes carried them by and 5,000 highly enthusiastic Vancouver fans watched their home team win a brilliant victory.

Amos Russ, the famous baseball player, is under arrest in Seattle for attempting to kill his wife.

The Northern baseball leagues are all busy signing on youngsters and training for the coming series will soon start.

Well, McCarthy beat Al Palzer and all the wise ones fell for it. McCarthy should be the champion for a long time as he is a very young man and a good clean boxer. There is serious talk of matching him with Wells, the English boxer.

1912. The application will be made at the office of the Water Recorder at Clinton.

Objections may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights Parliament Building, Victoria, B. C.
