Mr. Shatford Sees New Era of Development in Province's Mining Industry.

British Columbia is shortly to experience a new era in the development of her mining industry, in the opinion of Mr. L. W. Shatford, M.L.A., (Similkameen) who spoke in the House last week on the debate on the address. Mr. Shatford claimed that there was an abundance of capital awaiting a favourable opportunity of entering the province for the purpose of assisting in mining. The first move, however, would have to be made by the people of the province, he said, and the time had come for the adoption of a progressive mining policy. In his opinion, British Columbia is not by any means sharing to a proper degree in the profits now accruing from the high prices of metals. Measures should be adopted, he believed, for a better system for the tabulation of results of investigations made by government engineers and geologists. Further encouragement should also be lent to the prospectors. He went on to say that if the reports of the engineers were tabulated properly prospectors would be able to get accurate information on the possibilities of the various sections of the Province, and furthermore, they could get accurate and definite reports on their own holdings.

The speaker urged the government to take into consideration the advisability of making loans to prospectors under proper supervision after favourable reports had been made on their properties. Then they would be able to expend the money in opening up their claims. Another innovation he recommended was the installation of government-owned assay offices at which free or at least cheap assays could be made for prospectors and holders of free miners' licenses. Mr. Shatford thought that prospectors at the present time were sadly handicapped because of the expense they were put to in connection with assays by private concerns. He suggested that the government issue with each free miners' license a book of coupons entitling the holder to twenty free assays during the year, at the same time making provision to give the bona-fide prospector a further amount of assays at a nominal charge.

Before he left the subject of mining in his valuable and well-delivered speech, Mr. Shatford threw out the suggestion that the province be divided into mineral districts, each in charge of an engineer. It would be the duty of these engineers to investigate and report on all mining properties brought to their attention and this information would then be tabulated for the benefit of possible investors as well as the owners, in the district offices and also with the department of mines in Victoria.

Mr. Shatford highly commended the elevation of Hon. Lorne Campbell to the portfolio of mines in the Bowser cabinet.

Subscriptions to the Canadian Patriotic Fund are urgently needed, the Lillooet branch having been requested to furnish $1,500 as their yearly share of the immense amounts needed to assist the wives, families and dependents of the men now at or in training for service overseas and other military service.

All Government servants are now contributing one day's pay per month, and in some cases more, towards the Fund, and it is expected that these amounts will be greatly augmented when the campaign for funds is inaugurated.

Mr. Nation, Provincial Sec'y of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, intends to visit Lillooet in the near future, when he will speak on the great work now being done by this organization.

Half-Way House News

From our own correspondent.

Fred Watkinson, of Foster's Bar ranch, was the victim of a very serious accident last Friday. While cutting a strip of iron for wagon repairs, a large piece of red hot iron flew from his anvil and struck him in the corner of his left eye. In addition to the shock of the flying metal he suffered great anguish from the severe burn. He was rushed to Lytton as quickly as possible, where after receiving medical aid he was sent to Vancouver for expert attendance. Word has since been received that it was necessary to put two stitches in his eyelid, and he is now doing splendidly.

A runaway which might easily have terminated in a serious accident, but which luckily only caused extreme excitement to the participants, occurred on this section of Lillooet road. The names of the occupants of the buggy have failed to pass censorship, but suffice it is to say they were ladies and that the Rosebank claim they have a mare which can do the mile in one-quarter mile time.

A well-attended service took place at the Half-Way last Sunday. We have been authorized to announce that service will be held every alternate Sunday until further notice, the next one occurring on April 9.

Local Items of Interest

S. D. Cooper is down from the Pioneer mine.

R. A. Nicholson, of Vancouver, is registered at the Victoria hotel.

Mr. D. Hurley arrived back from the coast on Monday.

Mr. Jos. Russell caught some fine trout in Seton lake this week.

Indian Agent Graham, of Lytton, was here for a few days last week.

Mr. A. E. Ludwig, formerly manager of the Prospector, left for the coast on Sunday.

Mr. A. Phair, of the Excelsior hotel, spent a few days this week on his property on Anderson lake.

Mrs. Dr. Christie returned home on Sunday from a visit to friends in Vancouver.

J. B. Perkins, of the Texas creek molybdenite mine, was in town this week.

C. D. Wray, of Cayoosh creek, entered the hospital here on Wednesday for treatment.

J. G. Firby, representing the Great West Life Insurance Co., was in Lillooet this week.

J. F. Supon, C. P. R. agent at Lytton, was in town on Monday evening, returning home the next morning.

W. A. Kettyls & Co. are closing out their livery and transfer business in Lillooet. Mr. Kettyls intends to move to the prairies.

Mr. Phair shipped 250 McIntosh Red apple trees from his nurseries to the Washington Nursery Co., Toppenish, Wash., on Wednesday.

A. Bryan Williams, provincial game warden, announces that in view of the fact that the season is such a late one the Government is extending the trapping season until the end of April.

Mr. French purchased a fine saddle horse from Kettyls & Co. this week, and is the envy of the rest of us poor mortals as he moves along the street on his prancing steed.

Excellet progress with the work of clearing the Pacific Great Eastern railway is reported by the operating department of the company. The clearing of the line to Mons was the biggest task as the more serious trouble has been encountered on that section. North of the summit and on to Lillooet the encumbrances present no serious difficulties.

All who are eligible to have their names placed on the provincial voters' list and have not registered, are reminded that the next court of revision will be held on May 15 and that all applications must be in April 3. All male British subjects of the age of 21 years who have resided in British Columbia for six months previous to April 3, are entitled to be placed on the voters' list for the Province.

R. F. Buxton, representing Leeson, Cross & Dickey, Vancouver, was in town this week and reported business good. Mr. Buxton advises the ranchers in this district to cultivate every inch of land they have, as there will be a big demand for foodstuffs this season. Beans, potatoes and small fruits will have a ready sale, and with the excellent shipping facilities that we hope to have between here and Vancouver very soon, ranchers will be able to deliver perishable fruits to the market in a few hours, and should therefore arrive in first-class condition.

British Columbia has enlisted 24,856 men since the outbreak of the war. The figures are up to the 29th of February.

Notwithstanding the allegedly large exodus of settlers from the province during the past year, the school population has continued growing. The report of the Superintendent of Education, Dr. Alexander Robinson, issued recently, shows a total enrolment in all colleges and schools of 64,624, an increase of 2361 over that of the previous year. The number of boys was 33,289 and all girls 31,335. The average daily attendance was 52,821, an increase of 3444. The percentage of attendance was 81.73, the highest in the history of public schools in British Columbia. Nearly 2000 teachers were employed. The enrolment in McGill University College was 360, of whom nearly three hundred were students in Vancouver.

Seton Lake News

From our own correspondent.

Lost, strayed or stolen—a rooster belonging to a lake resident and worth anywhere from $10 to $30.

With the advent of spring, are the different signs of spring. We have noliced the appearance of robins, blue-birds, crows and white coats, all symbolical of warm weather.

The approach of spring brings its usual epidemics. Miss Florence Dunlop has been sick for some time, and now Mr. Fred Arthur has caught some kind of malady. We hope for a speedy recovery.

We have heard of goats charging an approaching automobile; we have seen goats shot from the steps of the Seaton Lake school, but the latest is "big game" hunting in your own hen-house. A Seton Lake resident, armed with a shot-gun and lantern, made a "night attack" on his hen-house. After a few preliminary manoeuvres, he broke down the "first line of defense." Entering the "redoubt" cautiously, he found to his disgust that the game, a weasel, had disappeared and so had a hen.

MARCH 31. 1916.

OUR FUTURE AS A PROVINCE.

In 1858 the rush to Cariboo in quest of gold brought British Columbia prominently to the notice of the outside world for the first time. Its entrance into the Dominion and the arrival of the C.P.R. were other epoch-making events in its history. These events are all in the memory of many living, who can picture conditions then and now and have their faith in the future of the Province strengthened by the comparison. But the more recent arrivals have not this knowledge and may therefore be excused if found wanting in patriotic enthusiasm. If they had this knowledge, the probability is we should have no "knockers" in B.C.

Let us suppose one of our pioneers were told in 1858 that in 1916 three continental railways would be found centred on Burrard Inlet, with more coming, an electric railway system centred at New Westminster, automobiles speeding at the rate of forty miles an hour through the country, large steamers from Gas Town sailing north, south and west over the Pacific ocean, he would say: This cannot be in my lifetime. But he sees today the fulfilment of the prophesy and more.

He sees the Province blazing its way rapidly to the first place among the nine provinces of Canada. Already it occupies fourth place in the value of farm products per acre and per farm. It occupies third place in the amount of money invested in manufacturing industries. It occupies second place in tonnage of coasting trade vessels and in mineral production. In proportion to population it occupies second place also in the number of wage earners employed in manufacturing industries. It occupies first place in lumbering and fisheries, and, in proportion to population, in the value of products from manufactured industries.

If our Province has made such progress, and all within the memory of those now living, he is a bold man who would limit the wonderful possibilities the future holds in reserve for us if we are only true to ourselves and to our opportunities.

PACIFIC GREAT EASTERN FINANCE.

The statement brought down by the Government setting forth the present position of the Pacific Great Eastern shows that even if the hypothecated bonds were sold at par they would go only a short way toward the completion of the line. If the railway is to finished other means must be found. There is a general agreement that the line will be of great value to the province, and that it should be completed and extended into the Peace River country as soon as possible. The Province is now paying interest on the guaranteed bonds, and for this reason also should be anxious to have the railway completed and paying its own charges out of traffic.

But before any new arrangement is made the people have a right to know how much was actually paid by the company for the work already done. It is announced that the company gave one of its members a contract for building the whole line. This contract was given without competition, at a price which is not disclosed. The contractor let the work to sub-contractors, and they to station men. Now if Mr. Welsh, to whom the contract for the whole road was awarded, has been able to let the work to other contractors, with a substantial margin for himself, that margin is not a part of the necessary cost of the work. Before any new advance is made, or credit given, it should be definitely ascertained how much of the proceeds of the guaranteed bonds actually went into construction. If a large part has gone to a member or members of the Pacific Great Eastern Company over and above the necessary outlay, that sum should be made available for construction before the province gives further assistance. This is not a difficult matter to clear up if the company wish to deal frankly with the people.—News-Advertiser.

In a recent issue of the English Times newspaper we notice that Joseph Martin, M. P. for East St. Pancras, now practising law in Vancouver, has telegraphed to his Association, definitely stating his intention to return to his parliamentary duties in London. Mr. Martin has been absent from his constituency since June, 1914, and was recently adopted as the Liberal candidate in Cariboo for the Dominion House of Commons.

Game Warden's Report

In spite of the fact that 25,000 men enlisted from British Columbia last year, the game warden, in his eleventh annual report, says that this year's returns for the department show a small profit aside from the fines collected. Many permits to kill deer were issued to people in distress; 1016 permits were so issued, but no record could be kept of the deer killed.

Thirty-four thousand two hundred and ninety-two licenses were issued during the past year, of which 8653 were free farmer's licenses, and 2427 free prospectors' licenses. Both of the free license classes showed decreases, but the general decrease was very light owing to the fact that many people shot to lessen their butcher bills.

The destruction of game was less this year in proportion to the number of licenses issued than usual, because so many hunters were inexperienced.

There was an extra influx of big game hunters from the United States on account of the fact that the European war had diverted sport seekers to Canada. These men spent as much as $18,000 at one small outfitting station, Telegraph Creek, and similar sums at other places. The total revenue from licenses, fines, etc., was $76,250.

W. H. D. Ladner, recently junior counsel in the well-known firm of Bowser, Reid & Wallbridge, Vancouver, has moved to Vernon, where he has entered into partnership with A. O. Cochrane.

Mayor Gillett of Prince George, who was in Vancouver last week, received a telegram from the Independent Conservative Association of Prince George asking him to run for the legislature. Mayor Gillett has not yet decided whether to enter the field or not.

DECLINE SUBSTITUTES

Was it the Storm or Chism's Stories that Caused the Happy Ending?

January, 1916, will long be remombered in Lillooet as one of the coldest and stormiest months in its history, but if this can be said of Lillooet, the pattern of beautiful climate, what of the surrounding mountain passes and rugged peaks, where the hardiest and noblest sons of men seek out the hidden store houses of valuable minerals, regardless of hardships.

In the coldest weather they keep warm by telling yarns of Southern California or their mining experiences in Arizona; and again in the hot days of summer they keep cool by telling stories of the cold of Klondike, Atlin, etc.

But a Missourian can change the subject regardless of custom, at least Chism did at the Pioneer mine blacksmith shop. Two weeks after New Year's day Chism and McIntosh started to work as usual, striking the iron while it was hot, but it didn't remain hot long, as the day was cold, cold.

Chism told yarns of his young days in Missouri, of corn, johnnie cake cream, eggs, and of happy companions of his youthful days. He was so absorbed in this dream of his youth, that when he awoke McIntosh was gone. He had hit the trail, scaling the heights of Mission Mountain, gliding down the other side to flag the P. G. E. train, which only engulfed him and his fellow passengers in a mountain of snow at Pemberton. What was to be done? Axes were procured and soon a big fire was started. Kinder had the place of honor next the fire. McIntosh did not sleep, he was the fairy that kept the fire going, and when the others woke in the morning, Mac had by his side a fine pair of skis, ten feet long, hewn from the cypress and whittled fine with his pocket knife. He was all ready to start alone and finish his journey, but was persuaded by Kinder to wait till all were ready.

Four days later they all started ski-ing 60 miles to Squamish, thence by boat to Vancouver, where nothing more was heard of McIntosh till a few days ago, when his friends in Lillooet received the announcement of his marriage to Miss Nora Fitzgerald, of Vancouver, on the 16th inst. We all join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh a long and happy married life, as the brave only deserve the fair.—Com.

Boon for Prospectors.

Victoria, March 24.—Deputy-Minister Tolmie of the mines department announced at a meeting of the mining committee of the House this morning that it was proposed at this session to bring in an amendment to the Mineral Act, which, it is expected, will prove a boon to the prospectors.

It will provide that when an owner's right to his mining claim lapses because of unpaid taxes, he will be given a year in which to continue develoament of the property under lease from the Government. That is to say the claim will not be sold by tender as has been the case up to the present time. At the end of the year, if the owner desires to obtain a crown grant for the claim, he may proceed to do so by paying the necessary taxes, the $25 fee for crown grant having already been exacted as the price of the lease. It is expected that this amendment will protect the rights of prospectors who may have been unable to keep up payments and work on their claims, and whose properties might then pass into the hands of companies w o were able to outbid the owners when the claims were sold by tender.

A brass tablet to the memory of the late Mrs. P. J. Temple, of Chilcoten, who died at Quenel hospital last October, was unveiled in the Church of St. John the Divine there recently.

The mining committee of the Provincial House decided last week to have an inquiry into the Ward-Hopp Cariboo mining claim dispute, which has been before the Government for the past two years. The late decision on the question was one made by the Premier recently, when he decided in favor of John Hopp.

Reeve Keary, of the Spallumcheen municipality, and formerly mayor of New Westminster for many years, has taken over the management of the Armstrong exhibition.

John Wright, one of the few remaining pioneers of the Cariboo, passed away at the 127-mile House recently after an eventful life.
