THE LILLOOET PROSPECTOR

Vol. 1 No. 31 | FRIDAY, JUNE, 14 1912 | $2.00 Per Year

Plans For Big Dominion Day Celebration

Preparations for Lillooet's big Dominion Day celebration are rapidly being made and judging from the amount of interest and the liberal donations to the subscription list it should be a "banner" year for this town. The gentlemen forming the executive committee are sparing no time or expense in preparing a program that will extend over three days and which will undoubtedly prove the most interesting ever held in this section.

They have made arrangements for several events that will be features and have in making out the program covered nearly every form of contest represented in this community. For instance there will be a drilling contest for the miners, a foot ball match between the Pemberton Indians and the Lillooet boys, a baseball match between the married and single men, a mile foot race for the spiked shoe artists, numerous sports and amusements for the little ones, races and contests for the Indians, and last but not least by any means, the usual list of horse races that have always been a feature of Lillooet's First of July celebration, although this year will witness bigger purses, better horses and more races than ever before attempted. The big race will be the half-mile for the Lillooet stakes. The amount of this purse has not definately decided upon as yet, but it will be large enough to warrant several good horses from outside points being brought in to compete. Already there has been two applications for entries for outside horses, one being "Dixie" the well known galloper from Clinton, belonging to Jim Wardell, and the other "Roney," from Pavilion, A. B. Richie owner.

Tyee Jimmy Retasket has just purchased a new horse from the Nicola, said by those who know her record to be very fast on the track and James Dickey, of the Black Hill ranch, has a horse new to this section which is said to be a purse winner.

It is hinted that the Indian boys from the Fountain have a surprise in store for Lillooet in the shape of a pony, which has been imported for the sole purpose of taking away the stakes in the pony race. With this array of horses promised there should be races that are worth coming miles to see.

J. B. Tiffin, of the 18-mile ranch will send up a silver cup which will be the prize for another of the feature horse races. As this cup will be a trophy well worth the effort of winning, it will be an inducement for owners from outside points to send in horses in an endeavor to take away the prize. As it will probably be so arranged that it will require the cup being won three consecutive times in order to hold the same, the Tiffin cup race will probably be a feature for several years to come.

Not to be overlooked is the "bucking" contest. There is at least one horse in the country that can be termed an "outlaw" for it has never been successfully ridden, and there are several others capable of creating all kinds of "fun and amusement." The purses will be large enough to induce the best riders in this section to compete.

Another feature not to be overlooked is the Pemberton Brass Band. This organization is composed wholly of Indian boys with an Indian musician for a director and is one of the few strictly Indian bands in the country. They have been engaged to play for three days and as they have performed in this place before Lillooet people can vouch for their ability as entertainers.

Nothing that will afford entertainment and comfort for Lillooet's guests during this celebration is being over looked. The street where the celebration will be held will be thoroughly cleaned and put in a condition that will permit the events to go through with the greatest possible convenience to onlookers and contestants. Ample hotel accommodations will be provided, and for any who are desirous of seeing a celebration that speaks of the fast disappearing frontier in a town rich in western color, with just a breath of the romantic days of the pioneers, where there are natural scenic attractions unequaled in any part of the province, they can do no better than to come to Lillooet for a few days during the big Dominion Day celebration. Already there are parties from the coast cities and other sections of the province who have announced their intentions of coming to Lillooet for this occasion, and no doubt, when the news of the efforts being made to put on an extensive program is spread many more will take the trip into Lillooet to be entertained and to look over the many opportunities offered here for the investor, miner and homeseeker.

Messrs. A. F. Noel, J. S. Bell, H. J. Keary, Joe Russel and Dick Clarke form the executive committee, with Mr. Samuel Gibbs as honory secretary and Mr. J. N. Cran as treasurer.

INDIAN HUNTERS IN LILLOOET

Chief of Provincial Police Campbell together with Chief Fernie and one Indian tracker came in last Tuesday in Frank Engerman's car and after a few hours in town left for Kane's ranch on the Lytton-Lillooet road from which place the report came that the two fugitive Indians had been seen in that vicinity. The officers returned the next day reporting that there was nothing to the report, and left for the former scene of action near Clinton.

It is stated that the trackers completely lost trace of the Indians in the region of the Big Slide and no report has reached Lillooet that the tracks have again been picked up. The Fraser River is being closely guarded at all possible places of crossing.

ANDERSON LAKE BOAT

"Captain" Jack Brown of the "Dolly Varden" announces that the boat will make first trip up Anderson Lake on Monday next and from that time on will make regular trips over that lake, connecting with the regular boat on Seton Lake. This together with the bus from Lillooet meeting the Seton lake boat will make connections to the head of Anderson lake where arrangements are being made for a connecting stage line into the Pemberton country. This will make the route by way of Lillooet and Seton and Anderson lakes the easiest and most convenient way into this rapidly growing agricultural section.

FRIDAY, JUNE 14, 1912

Although still early in the season the efforts of the prospectors who have made their way into this region in search of the ever-alluring "yellow metal" have been rewarded and from various parts reports of new strikes have been brought in all of more or less importance. These reports and rumors of "finds" have come from places widely separated, showing the vast extent of the mineralized zone, and proving that this district is indeed a prospector's mecca. Some of these reports are of free-milling discoveries, some are of base ore but all go to show that the wide mountainous stretches of this district are highly mineralized and with the advent of prospectors to search out Nature's hidding places for her mineral wealth it will be developed into one of the most productive and and most substantial mining sections in the country.

The season is now far enough advanced that it is safe to advise outside prospectors to come in. The snow has gone off to a height where it will afford them no inconvenience and the grass has reached a growth to allow ample feed for their pack horses. They will find a vast area of practically unprospected territory awaiting them, a territory that is rich in promise where the chances of making a strike worth while are as good as anywhere in the country.

We have yet to hear the first prospector or mining man say that Lillooet district is "no good."

OOET ON EVE OF PROSPERITY ERA

Upon every hand signs of awakening prosperity for Lillooet are evident. Inhabitants are looking forward with pleasure to the completion of the Pacific Great Eastern railway throught the town. When that takes place it will undoubtedly be the means of making a great change in the old town. That this will not be the only road into the district is quite certain. The C.P.R. has has had a line surveyed from Lytton to Lillooet for a year past.

Settlers are beginning to flow in and there is a brisk demand for real estate in the neighborhood of the town. A considerable amount of fruit farming and poultry raising is being engaged in, and in these industries the region is only on the edge of a great development. The soil and climate are eminently suitable for fruit growing.

Not only is the provincial government aiding in this regard but both it and the Dominion government are granting liberal aid for public works. The provincial department of public works is spending $125,000 on a road from Seton Lake to Bridge river, fifty miles in length, to be finished this year, and an old trail between the two points is being cleaned up.

The Dominion government is building a telephone line from Lillooet to Bridge River. A topographical survey under Mr. W. E. Lawson and a geological survey are being conducted in the district and the railway surveyors are busy. A gasoline launch is being placed on Anderson lake, and when it is in operation the mail from Vancouver to Pemberton Meadows, whish goes in that way can be delivered in twenty-four hours.

In Lillooet town several new buildings are being erected. Several sales of ranches adjoining the town are reported, many to Victoria interests. The Bank of B.N.A. has established a branch the first bank to do so, and a cottage hospital was opened recently. The town is a center from which many hunting parties go out after mountain sheep, mountain goat, caribou, deer or bear. and the streams are full of fish.

The provincial government has a large salmon hatchery on Seton lake from which eleven million humpback fry were sent out last year and they have established a hatchery for trout on Fish Lake, Bridge River. The taking of eggs started on May 14 and a week later 152,000 had been collected.—Vancouver Sun.

The reunion of the old timers as well as the young members of the Caribou Brotherhood at Kamloops in September will prove the most universally interesting gathering ever gotten together in British Columbia or perhaps we may say in the whole Dominion.—Ashcroft Journal.
