EARL KITCHENER DROWNED AT SEA

London, June 6th.--Earl Kitchener, minister of war, and the members of his staff were drowned when the cruiser Hampshire, registering 10,850 tons, was sunk either by a mine or German submarine to the west of the Orkney Islands.

Four boats were seen by observers on shore to leave the ship.

Heavy seas were running, but patrol vessels immediately proceeded to the scene. At the same time parties were sent along the shore to search for bodies.

It was stated that Earl Kitchener was en route to Russia on a special mission. It is believed it related to a Russian offensive to offset the pressure at Verdun and the Trentino.

England is shocked too deeply at this time to consider a successor to Earl Kitchener, but it is believed the choice lies between Sir John French and Sir William Robertson.

PREMIER BOWSER ANNOUNCES RECONSTRUCTION OF CABINET

Three important changes have occurred in Premier Bowser's cabinet. Hon. William Manson, who has been president of the council, has been sworn in as minister of agriculture. Mr. Ernest Miller, member for Grand Forks, has been appointed president of the council, and Dr. A. G. McGuire, of Vancouver, will be the new provincial secretary.

The cabinet now stands as follows:

Premier and attorney-general—Hon. W. J. Bowser.

Minister of lands—Hon. W. R. Ross.

Minister of mines and acting minister of finance—Hon. Lorne Campbell.

Provincial secretary and minister of education—Hon. A. G. McGuire.

Minister of Agriculture—Hon. Wm. Manson.

Minister of public works—Hon. Thomas Taylor.

President of the council—Hon. Ernest Miller.

Thus for the first time in many years no representative of the city of Victoria is now sitting in the cabinet. There is still open the permanent appointment of minister of finance, and it is said that some weeks ago Mr. Henry Thomson, the member for Victoria, had the refusal of this portfolio. Since then a number of names have been suggested for the vacancy. Apparently the Premier has decided not to make any appointment at present.

It is understood that F. W. Welsh, a present candidate, will retire in order to give Dr. McGuire a place on the Vancouver Conservative ticket.

CONSERVATIVE MEETING

A general meeting of the West Lillooet Conservative Association will be held at Lillooet on Saturday, June 17th, at 8 p.m. All members are requested to attend.

FRED. PARSONS, Sec'y.

RICH ORE FROM MOLYBDENITE MINE

Mr. J. B. Perkins was in town this week from the Texas Creek molybdenite mine and brought with him several samples of very rich ore. This property, which is owned by Mr. Perkins and Mr. A. Hautier, of Lytton, has been bonded to United States capitalists for $300,000. Messrs. Perkins and Hautier have had a gang of men at work for over two months putting in trails and opening up the mine and they are delighted with the showings so far. A letter was received this week from the bondholders, stating that they would leave for the mine at an early date to make an inspection. It is understood that if these men find everything satisfactory they will at once commence operations on a big scale.

Molybdenite is the ore which produces molybdenum and ferro-molybdenum is the product which is now very much in demand by the British government and the governments of all other belligerents for the manufacture of big gun linings.

Molybdenum is of such composition that when merged with ordinary steel it forms an alloy which is of great value, as it offers great resistance to the corrosive effects of the big blasts in large cannon. It is used for other purposes as well, notably for tool steel, which cuts even nickel chrome steel.

It is said that molybdenite metal is now worth $3500 a ton, and as assays of ore from the Texas Creek mine run as high as 45 per cent., it is easily seen that this property is likely to become very valuable when properly opened up.

SHORT PORTAGE NOTES.

From our own correspondent.

W. G. Duguid has installed a complete irrigating system on his ranch.

Mrs. Duguid and family arrived from Lillooet last week.

Barney Rodenberg has got all his crop in and is now busy putting the ground in shape for a lawn in front of his house.

Frank Durban is building a bridge across the creek to connect up his ranch.

Bert Durban is freighting on the Bridge River road.

The Portage Indians celebrated Victoria Day with sports of various kinds.

A few trout are being caught in the creek, but very few in the lakes.

CHURCH SERVICES.

The Revd. Archdeacon Pugh will hold Divine services in St. Mary's church, Lillooet, on Sunday, June 11th, 1916. Early Communion at 8 a.m.; morning service at 11 a.m.; evening service at 7.30 p.m.

Rev. Father Rohr will celebrate Mass in the church here next Sunday at 10 o'clock.

Methodist: Sunday School at 11
Pastor—Rev. J. R. Butler
Everybody cordially invited.

Local Items of Interest

Messrs. F. Kinder and Grant White are in town from Bridge River.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. P. LeMare are visiting relatives in the Okanagan.

Mr. H. Graham, Indian agent, and Mrs. Graham, of Lytton, were visitors in Lillooet this week.

The jury in the sensational MacDonald-Godsen perjury case being tried at Victoria, failed to agree on a verdict.

The tea cosy made by Mrs. S. C. Mearon has brought $10 to the Red Cross Fund. Mrs. Coleman was the lucky winner.

Repairs are being made to the kitchen in the rear of the Excelsior hotel, recently damaged by fire. C. Baldwin has charge of the work.

Mrs. C. Phair left for Vancouver yesterday on a visit to her son, Pte. Bert Phair, of the 102nd battalion, who expects to leave for overseas on Sunday.

Pte. J. Carmichael, of the 102nd battalion, who has been spending a few days in town before leaving for England, left yesterday morning for the coast.

Mr. P. Gilboe of Spence's Bridge was in town this week. He left on Tuesday morning to inspect some mining property that he owns in the Pemberton District.

Mr. A. Lineham, of Vancouver, and party, who have been hunting grizzly bear in the Bridge River district during the past week, left for the coast yesterday.

Mr. A. B. Williams, provincial game warden, was in Lillooet on Wednesday. He left yesterday on a trip to the head of Cayoosh creek in company with Howard Reid, the local game warden.

Messrs. James Dickey, sr. and jr., have donated a fine three-year-old colt to the local branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, and the animal will be raffled as soon as a sufficient number of tickets have been sold.

Jim McAdam, prospector, politician and rancher, was in town this week from his ranch near the Fountain. Jim had the misfortune to lose a leg a short time ago and cannot climb the mountains with the same agility as in days of yore. His power of speech has, however, not been impaired to any extent.

Mr. and Mrs. Hautier, Mrs. A. Focault, Mrs. Dudley and Mr. Madora motored over from Lytton on Saturday and spent the afternoon visiting friends here. Mr. Hautier was on business in connection with the Texas Creek molybdenite mine and took back some samples of ore from that very promising property.

Rev. J. R. Butler, who has been pastor of the Methodist church here for the past year, has been transferred to Mission City, and will leave on Thursday next for his new field of labour. Rev. Frank Bushnell has been appointed to take Mr. Butler's place here, but it is rumored that he has joined the army and may not come.

A big two days' celebration will be held in Lillooet on July 1st and 3rd. A meeting was held on Wednesday evening, when committees were named and other business transacted. The programme will consist of horse races, athletic sports, children's races, etc., and an Indian band of 15 pieces will be in attendance. The P. G. E. railway will run an excursion from Vancouver, and we are assured of a big crowd.

The P. G. E. railway officials announced last night that the train service northward on Tuesdays and Saturdays and southward on Wednesdays and Mondays between Squamish and Lillooet has been discontinued. The other trains will run as usual. Work on the P. G. E. railway construction from Clinton to Fort George has also been stopped and hundred of men have been thrown out of employment. Mr. Brewster seems to have stirred up considerable trouble when he issued his famous writ against Premier Bowser, and if he thinks he has aided the Liberal cause in Lillooet district by his actions he is very badly mistaken.

BRIDGE RIVER NOTES

From our own correspondent.

The road crew have cleared the road to the Pioneer and on their return intend to improve it considerably.

The people of Bridge River hove a kick coming about the state of the telephone line. It would have cost no more to repair it two months ago than it will some time in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton of Tyaughton are on a bear hunting trip to Gun lake.

Fishing is good in several lakes, bear are reported plentiful, the deer have stood the winter well, but grouse seem scarce. Bridge River is a veritable sportsman's paradise.

C. P. Dam is setting up a power drill on South Fork.

D. C. Paxton arrived at the Wayside mine a few days ago to start operations. When his mill starts it will be the fourth one in operation on Bridge River.

Johnson and Anderson of Tyaughton creek purchased a team recently. They are real busy on their ranch.

Grant White expects to have his sawmill running at an early date.

Bobb and Coldwell have imported a stump puller and intend to clear considerable acreage.

Charlie Keary, who has leased the Big Horn ranch, brought in several head of cattle recently and is now in a position to supply beef to the mines.

P. Lewis' car is making a trip to the mines this week.

W. Cox and his crew are busy widening the switchbacks on Mission mountain. This is an improvement much appreciated by the freighters.

John Mikkelsen, of Cariboo road, trapped three bear, 105 beaver, 24 marten, 1 otter, 27 mink, 73 linx, 50 weasel and 7 fisher last winter. He cleaned up over $1600 dollars.

THE PROHIBITION ACT.

Now that the referendum bill has become an act, the full text of which is before us, we are able to form an opinion as to its merits. It consists of 62 clauses and is considered by prohibitionists one of the best of its class on the continent. The bill passed as drafted by the prohibitionists with one or two exceptions which do not touch the merits of the act itself. One is in regard to a further extention of time for the act to come into operation, and the other is in regard to wine for Sacramental purposes. Though the bill had the support of both parties, the prohibitionists themselves must shoulder all responsibility for any defect, since they would permit of no alteration.

Taking a comprehensive view of the whole measure, two conclusions strike us forcibly, viz.: (1) That it carries with it its own death warrant and will be killed at the polls. (2) Should it escape death at the polls it will create such unsettled, bitter and degrading conditions among us as to wreck our moral and material progress.

The demand for temperance legislation consists of three factors, the drunkard, the youth, and the dipsomaniac. If we had no drunkards, as in central or southern Europe, we would need no temperance movement. But because we have drunkards the anxiety of the parent in regard to his child appeals to society for protective legislation. And as the drunkard sometimes merges into the dipsomaniac, who is said to have an "irresistable craving" for liquor, the appeal for protective legislation is stronger and prohibition is invoked to place temptation beyond his reach. The bill before us does not meet the requirements in any sense, but on the contrary, in some respects it affords better opportunities for increasing and perpetuating the evil.

There are two forms of prohibition: the ideal and the actual. The ideal prohibits and it is this ideal prohibition that has awakened the enthusiasm of thousands of fond fathers and mothers throughout the province, who looked forward with joyous hearts to the day when prohibition would remove all danger of their sons' falling by the wayside and becoming drunkards and possibly dipsomaniacs. But, oh, what a rude awakening from their cherished dreams these fathers and mothers experience when they find that prohibition does not prohibit, that it is a misnomer for legislation which increases immeasurably the evil opportunities of falling by the wayside not only by drink but by other demoralizing evils which this legislation has called into existence.

Heretofore the father or mother could locate the danger spot in the community—the bar—and exercise his or her influence by at least warning their sons against the danger of frequenting that place. But now the danger spots are everywhere. Every private dwelling house can have it in bottles or barrels or hogsheads, can have it in the cellar, or the attic, or the kitchen, or the parlor, or anywhere in the home, and the neighbour's son, through the intercourse natural among boys, will soon learn where to find it. The opportunities for acquiring the habit are increased a hundredfold. The only remedy now in sight is the conversion of the whole community to the total abstinence pledge, and we imagine we hear the reply to this request, as they say in Rome: "Non possumus" a cushla machree.

But the funny part is this that the man living in a private dwelling house must send outside the province for his liquor, and so must all government vendors, while liquor manufactured here must also be sent outside the province for sale. This means that we can buy the liquor manufactured at our door only by sending to some point outside the province for it, which means extra cost in freight, duty and handling, and, of course, dearer liquor. This may be too dear for the poor man, who will be induced to resort to illicit distilling, or some of the many means usually adopted to evade the law.

There is no other province in Canada in which British connection is so strong as in British Columbia, and this probably because Englishmen are here in great numbers and great wealth. To them the act will appear stupid and un-British. A man, say, is suspected of violating the law and haled to court. It is not necessary to prove anything against him; he must prove that he is not guilty of the offense. This is so un-British that in our opinion, though we are no lawyer, the act would be disallowed by the Privy Council. But it is the clauses 48 to 51 inclusive that will set the Englishman's hair on end and make him wonder what has become of Magna Carta, the great bulwark of English liberty, when a constable can stop him on the street while he is running to catch a car which connects with the next boat to Europe and say, I must search yourself and your valise, as I am of opinion you have liquor in contravention of our law. He searches and finds no liquor, but the man searched may have to wait for the next boat a week or two hence. This constable may enter a man's premises and with nothing to warrant his conduct but his own suspicion break through a man's door, break open and search boxes or anything he may think likely to contain liquor. It seems to us that these few last straws will surely break the camel's back. The British spirit of liberty is too strong in this province to permit of such violent departures from the traditions of British freedom.

CANADIAN BIG GAME AT HOME

THE camera brings the features of big game and their haunts to our firesides All along the Rocky Mountains strange wild beasts roam in abundance. Many of them are not familiar to the human eye at all, but there are others with which every sportsman is acquainted. Perhaps there is no place in the Dominion so interesting from the point of view of the hunter as the Canadian Pacific Rockies with their majestic snow-capped peaks, 46 of which are over 11,000 feet high. At Banff there is a big National Park where nobody may intrude in pursuit of game, for a wise Government has decided that big game must not be hunted indiscriminately, and has instituted laws for their protection. But outside the preserve the hunter is free to enjoy his sport, and there is plenty of it to be had: the grizzly bear, mountain goat, wild mountain sheep and lynx take up their abode in large numbers in these parts. In the open seasons many a party sets out with guides and ponies from Banff. The spring is the best time to hunt the grizzly bear when his fur is still thick after the winter's sleep Often it is difficult to bag him but his skin is a trophy of which any hunter may be proud. It is a pretty sight to watch a wild goat as he stands on some cliff seemingly admiring the picturesqueness of the landscape that lies beneath him. While in pursuit of the Rocky Mountain goat the hunter has to take some serious risks; he has to ascend precipitious crags hanging on almost by the skin of his teeth. The goat can dash along from rock to rock with the same graceful ease and velocity as that displayed by a bird travelling from twig to twig on some adjacent fir tree. But it is the danger and excitement of the chase that gives the hunter the greatest delight. It is as difficult to shoot the bighorn or wild mountain sheep. After feasting himself on the lowlands in the grey early morning the bighorn ascends to the fastnesses of the mountains It is almost an impossible task for the hunter to get within range, and if ever he does get there he must not make the least noise or show himself, for the bighorn is both timid and observant, and when he is startled once there is little chance of again coming into close quarters with him. The bighorn's flesh is pronounced by epicures to be most delicious and his horns make very beautiful ornaments. In its cosy coat of soft ashy grey fur the lynx seems to be like a cat and he certainly is of the cat family He is rather pretty, and though not such a prize trophy for the sportsman as some of the bigger forest neighbours, he is always welcome to a rifle bullet

MINING IN BRIDGE RIVER

By E. A. HAGGEN, Editor Mining and Engineering Record.

The important mineral areas of Bridge River in the Lillooet district have now been mapped by the Geological Survey. The mineralized belt occupies the western flank of the Bendor mountains. The gold-quartz deposits are confined mainly to the Cadwallader diorite, which is favourable to regular and persistent fault fissures. The gold era is evidently more extensive than has been so far proved by prospecting, as float of the Cadwallader diorite is described by C. W. Drysdale as having been found on the northwest end of the Bendor mountains, above timber line, and on the eastern limb of the series of Yalakom Valley.

The mineral resources of Bridge River are not confined to gold. Silver, copper, antimony, chromite, magnesite, talc, pumice and lignite deposits have been discovered. A shipment of antimony has been made from Gun Creek and forwarded to Chicago, but it is considered that the great distance from the P. G. E. railway and the high cost of transportation prevent the profitable mining of any other minerals than gold at present.

There are nineteen lode gold properties being developed in the district. Five silver-copper deposits are under development, and four antimony deposits have been taken up. Four placer gold properties are also being operated. Seven other properties outside the Bridge River map area are under development.

Among the new discoveries in the Bridge River district are diamondiferous chromite and magnesite. The chromite is similar to that of the celebrated Olivine mountain, on the Tulameen river, in the Similkameen mining division. An analysis shows it to contain 48.72 per cent. of chromium oxide. The discovery of the fact that it carries diamonds is due to R. A. A. Johnston, mineralogist of the geological survey at Ottawa. The diamonds are of microscopic character, similar to those previously reported from the Tulameen and Scottie creek at Ashcroft. Mr. Drysdale suggests the area covered by the Shulops volcanic rocks is worth prospecting as a possible source of diamonds of commercial value, and for platinum, so that it is possible we may yet have diamond fields in British Columbia.

The discovery of magnesite in the Bridge River area is particularly interesting, as heretofore no deposits of economic value have been found on the North American continent outside California and the Atlin district of British Columbia. The mineral is in great demand for industrial purposes, as the manufacture of carbonic acid gas for aerated and chemical works, and the magnesian residuum is used as a refractory in metallurgical works. Deposits of the mineral are found at Liza lake and in the Shulops mountains. A test made by the mines branch showed this magnesite stood a heat test of 1700 deg. Cent. It contains 43.42 per cent. magnesium oxide, 47.28 per cent. carbonic acid gas, and 7.46 per cent. silica, the other ingredients being in nominal amounts, with water as low as a tenth of one per cent.

The antimony deposits are high-grade, carrying from 40 per cent. to 60 per cent. antimony and being free from arsenic, zinc and lead. Gold is present in quantities from a trace to $12 per ton. The antimony deposits extend to great length, stretching from McGillivray mountain to Tyaughton lake, and northward.

The principal locations are the Reliance and Stibnite groups. The Reliance consists of four claims, located on the southern side of Bridge River valley, opposite Gun creek. Ore was mined for shipment last fall from an open cut 10 feet deep and 60 feet long, occurring in fissure vein. The ore contained gold values up to $10.40 per ton.

On the Stibnite group a tunnel has been driven 85 feet and has developed several lenses of good ore. Several tons were mined for shipment. This ore showed the highest gold values, running up to $12 per ton.

Mr. Drysdale considers the only way in which this antimony can be profitably worked is by the installation of small plants on the ground to produce crude antimony or antimony metal.

PLEDGED.

Let bugles blare and banners blow,
For King and country call, and ho!
The sullen challenge of the foe,
With his dark deeds of wanton woe.

The columns of the British hosts
Come down on continents and coasts,
Converging where the pennant soars,
Where glory rings and battle roars.

The Lusitania victims' cries
Still on the waves and winds arise,
And Belgium's dark and tragic fate
For vengeance calls to Heaven's gate.

Debts for a hundred deeds abhorr'd
Fall due by Britain's blazing sword,
And these, on land and sea, the play
Of that great blade, shall proudly pay.
For every hamlet hears the beat
Of valiant hearts and marching feet.
