THE STEADFAST ONE.

The world may laugh to see me fall,
But mother won't!
The world may deem me weak or small,
But mother won't!
The crowd may say, if I some day
Succeed in winning, that I win
Trough luck, or in some shameful way
That all but fools and knaves would shun,
But mother won't!

The world may cavil at my song,
But mother won't!
My friends may sneer if I go wrong,
But mother won't!
The child that claims my life, and she
That gave me all her heart one day
May sometimes lose her faith in me,
And mercilessly turn away—
But mother won't!

THE CHINESE COMMISSION.

This commission from the results of whose labors British Columbians expect so much in the matter of Chinese restriction held its closing session for this province last week. It has taken evidence in every important labor center in the province, and the government at Ottawa is now in a position to deal fairly with British Columbia on this question.

A feature of the closing day's session were addresses by counsel, Mr. A. D. Taylor appearing for the Chinese and Mr. Charles Wilson for the province. Both gentlemen made splendid efforts on behalf of their clients.

Mr. Taylor's chief argument on behalf of the Chinese was that cheap labor is absolutely required and that many mills were able to run and stand competition only because they could employ cheap labor. In the canneries they were especially essential as it was impossible to obtain white labor when it was most needed. If the Chinese were excluded these canneries would have to close down. The Chinese also are working many abandoned placer claims, the revenue from which would be otherwise lost to the province. Mr. Taylor also claimed that the Japanese were a worse menace to white labor than Chinese, as they adapt themselves more readily to American manners and thus acquire a firmer hold in the country. Out of $1,000,000 worth of goods purchased in Victoria, only $100,000 found its way back to China.

Mr. Wilson in reply stated that the mills and canneries would not suffer by the restriction of Oriental labor as there are ample of that class in the province now to supply all the cheap labor for years to come. Chinese laborers have received $819,000 wages in fifteen years, and the Chinese merchants make from 60 to 75 per cent on their investments. The countries which pay the highest wage to workingmen are the most prosperous and vice versa. Mr. Wilson closed with an eloquent appeal that Canada should not be engulfed in a sea of Oriental immigration.

It is very doubtful if the government on the strength of the report of the commission will feel called upon to take any severe action in restricting the Chinese. The people of British Columbia are not sufficiently unanimous on the question. The majority of labor employers admit that they would rather not employ Chinese but claim that they must do it to avoid bankruptcy. The same feeling runs all over the province. Hundreds of men talk a lot about the evil the Chinese are doing the country, and yet employ Chinese cooks in their kitchens because they can use them more like a horse than a human being. We very much doubt if white servant girls could get employment in British Columbia. The truth is that employers are very solicitous for the welfare of the workingman except when their pocket books are affected. If the Chinese immigration is to be restricted, the moral feeling of the province against it must become so overwhelmingly strong that the government will understand that they simply have got to do something; if the feeling is lukewarm, employers hating Chinese like poison but caring less for the welfare of workingmen who are their own countrymen, then we will wait to the millenium for any alleviation of this crying evil.

The Baseball Game.

Lillooet baseball team seem to have a very good opinion of their ability to handle the leather. A letter was received by J. A. Bremner this week asking him to try and have a team formed of players from Kamloops and Ashcroft and come over and play them on july 1st. Mr. Bremner wrote Kamloops and received a reply stating that they would only be able to get two or three players to go, so it is doubtful if the challenge will be accepted.—Ashcroft Journal.

If our boys intend to play a strong team such as Ashcroft and Kamloops combined can send, they had better get in and drill. With the exception of the game with the Ample men we have not noticed one practice yet.

If the Kamloops and Ashcroft boys decide to come, however, we can assure them that they will have a good time while here.

A North Dakota paper says that a town physician recently sent a bill for services rendered, and in about ten days received his bill through the mail, with the following notice written on the back:

"Deer Sur—This note was put in my box by mistake. I hant the man, hee's dead, and ain't any relation of mine anyway. I don't see how your conshens will let you dun the deed. Why don't you live a better criston life, and try to meet that man who died in heaven, which is worth more than forty dollars to enny doctor."

The State of Kansas has for long years been nominally a prohibition State, and the law has been enforced perhaps as well as such drastic laws can be. Spirits are allowed to be sold only as "medicine," and that is how the following story came to be told. A bronzed and stalwart cowboy planted a "two-gallon demijohn" on the counter of a chemist's shop. "Fill her up," he said, "baby's sick."

A large gathering of Indians at Chilliwack last week decided unanimously against accepting the canners' offer of 12 cents per fish for July and 10 for August. Thirty-three chiefs signed a petition to fix the price at 15 cents. A meeting of the grand lodge will be held this week in Vancouver, at which a final decision will be come to.

The town lot behind the telegraph office and adjoining the Methodist parsonage is being cleared, and in a few weeks time the jail will be moved on to it. An addition will be built on for the accomodation of the constable. This is a move in the right direction, and the noises emanating from the jail will not disturb the residents on the Main street.

The Bailey Hotel at Lytton has changed hands and Messrs. Silvertnorn Bros. who have had the house leased for the past four years have given it up and Mr. J. McMillan has taken charge and will be on to hand accommodate the patrons of BIG TROUT IN CAYOOSH CREEK.

A contribution to "Field and Stream," thus describes the catching of a good fish: In the summer of 1896 I had occasion to visit the little mining town of Lillooet, B. C., distant some sixty miles from the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Leaving Ashcroft in the pale starlight of a summer morning, in an old style Cariboo stage, drawn by four spanking horses, one winds along the celebrated Cariboo road, now through Marble Canyon with its beautiful white cliffs, and anon toiling along the hills of the Pavilion range, or gazing down the precipitous banks to the mighty Fraser river far below. We changed horses several times during the day, and reached our destination "just as the sun went down."

Having finished my business of inspecting a mining proposition, I had to lay over a day waiting for the return stage. An old one-piece bamboo rod standing in the corner of my bedroom attracted my attention and I decided to go fishing. Wending my way to a store I asked for fishing tackle. "None to sell, sir," was the reply, "but I can lend you a line." So I borrowed a line here, some flies from another, a reel from a third, and started for Cayoosh creek about four miles away, where I arrived about three o'clock. A fine summer day, bright sun, too bright by far for fishing, and a strong breeze. Fished up and down stream, now on one side and now on the other, until about five o'clock, with only two small trout for my pains. Coming to a likely pool where the creek was 60 or 70 feet wide and running like a mill race, an immense boulder caused a beautiful eddy. To cast into the pool I had to get down from a five-foot bank and stand on a narrow pebbly beach. After whipping the stream for fifteen or twenty minutes without any sign of a rise, I was on the point of reeling up and going home in disgust when I saw a fine, big fish jump clear out of the water, coming up stream. I thought from his size that he was a salmon, but concluded to make another cast or two before leaving.

At the second cast my friend came with a rush which carried him well out of the water—and I realized that I had fun ahead. As soon as I struck him there was a screech from my reel, and away he went right across the creek. Gradually letting him feel the pull I worked him in a bit, then there was a rush up the creek, then a sulk, with continued tugs which made me wonder whether my tackle would hold together. Then he tore down stream until I felt it was time to put on the brakes again. Thus the fight went on, now up, now down, and now across stream, until, at the expiration of 45 minutes my prize was dead tired, and I had him coming in with only occassional flops of his tail. Standing on a four-foot beach with a five-foot bank behind one, without net or gaff, made the task of landing a big fish a difficult one, and I feared I should lose him. By kicking the stones away I made a small bay, into which I gradually worked his nose, then struck him on the head a couple of good whacks with a stone, and I had my fish. By the time I had carried him four miles back to town I thought he weighed 20 pounds, but on scaling him at the store in the presence of the usual assembly of evening politicians he was put down at eight and three-quarter pounds, and the largest trout that ever came out of Cayoosh creek. He was a rainbow trout of great beauty, and had given me as fine sport as any fish I had ever struck.

War Clouds in the East.

The Journal of Commerce publishes a despatch from Washington as follows: Advices from the Orient are far from reassuring as the maintenance of peace in the future, even after the successful adjustment of the existing difficulties between China and the powers. Those who have recently come from Japan confirm the reports of trained observers there that the Japanese are generally preparing for early war with Russia. Intimations several times have been given since the close of war between China and Japan in 1895 that Japan would regard interference with the autonomy of Korea as a hostile act. The Japanese, including their representative ministers, have firmly made up their minds that when the results of Russian intrigues are discovered in an open movement hostile to Japan, the Japanese army shall be landed in Korea and Russia warned that she must retrace her steps or fight.

Messrs. Brown and Clarke have purchased from Dan Hurley the piece of ground adjoining the butcher shop and are excavating with the intention of putting up a building for business purposes. Mr. Clarke will have his watchmaking business in the premises as soon as the Excursion Up Seaton Lake.

Lillooet society awakened from its apparently dead state on Wednesday and held a really enjoyable excursion up Seaton Lake. About thirty shared the enjoyment. Camp was pitched near the Portage bridge and untold numbers of baskets laden with good things were produced. The male portion of the company seemed to especially relish vinegar. When full justice had been done the viands the party journeyed over to Anderson lake where a pleasant hour was spent, boating, fishing, etc. Everyone voted the picnic a great success, the ladies of Lillooet know how to make a picnic enjoyable.

What might have proved a very serious accident befell Mrs. W. Cumming, jr., and Miss E. Cherry who fell backwards off one of the wagons when returning from the picnic. The supports of the seat gave way and ladies were precipitated with great force on the ground. Luckily the mishap had no serious results.

Accident at Ashcroft.

An accident whereby a horse and buggy are now at the bottom of the Thompson river occured at Ashcroft last Tuesday night. Mr. Cran, manager of the Bank of B.N.A. of that town, was taking a drive into the country, and on crossing the bridge the horse suddenly shied and went over a precipitous embankment plunging into the seething waters below. Neither horse nor buggy have been seen since. Mr. Cran was accompanied by his eldest son, and both escaped by being thrown from the buggy by the sudden turn which the horse made just as it went over. The affair was but the work of a few seconds, and Mr. Cran is to be congratulated on the marvellous escape of himself and his son.

A Big Catch.

A sturgeon, measuring seven feet four inches long and weighing about four hundred pounds was caught in the Fraser river last week from the dredger by J. McCallum and James Amess. The fish is the largest yet caught in Lillooet as the big sturgeon do not as a rule find their way up this far.

The fish was purchased by two men at a good price and brought to town to be disposed of but while a siwash was engaged in cleaning it, several of Lillooet's "enterprising" citizens got away with all of it, leaving the owners the head and tail, as a result the two men are several dollars in the hole.

An Aerial Route.

We learn a move is on foot in Ashcroft to have an aerial route from that town to Lillooet, the residents of that enterprising burg realizing that it must have closer communication to Lillooet to amount to very much. They never appreciated the Lillooet trade until it was taken away, and so as to regain this, the talk is now to build a wagon road from Ashcroft over the mountain, coming out near the Fountain, the distance being estimated at about thirty miles. We do not know whether the government will give aid in this but we presume Mr. Killen the road man, will take a flying trip over the proposed route before anything definite is done.

A Chilliwack despatch says that there is a row on at Mount Baker over the result of the American survey of the boundary line. The American surveyors located the line 3,849 feet further south than it was supposed to be for the last three years. Two thousand feet of the Golden Chariot and Golden Star claims were shoved over into Canada. These are owned by Seattle and New York people.

Throughout the months of June, July, August, September and October the Canadian Pacific will sell tickets for the Pan American Exhibition at reduced rates. The tickets will be good on trains leaving Vancouver on the 1st and 3rd Tuesday of each month and are good for thirty days. Continuous passage, and stop over privileges returning. The fare will be $86 return, first class.

It is expected that a special assize will be held for the trial of the Chinese murder prisoners, and indeed the universal opinion is that this should be so, as it would be a great hardship on the two accused Chinaman if their trial were put off till the Fall Assizes, more especially as they cannot be held responsible for the unfortunate turn of affairs at Clinton a few days ago
