VICTORIA, B. C.

BEING JOHN BULL

A week ago The Week published the details of the seizure of a large quantity of stores supposed to have been stolen in the naval yard or ships at Esquimalt. It stated that these goods had been taken possession of by the Customs Department and were still in the Customs warehouse. The seizure had been made ten days previously, but no definite steps had been taken by the Customs authorities or by the police. All the facts were in possession of the Colonist and the Times, but they refused to publish them. In consequence of the publicity given to the matter by The Week the Customs authorities, instructed from Ottawa by wire, took action Monday last and fined John Day and Victoria Machinery Company $1,000 for trading in dutiable goods on which the duty had not been paid. Monday passed, and still neither the Colonist nor the Times made any reference to the matter, although by this time it had been indicated upon in one court at least; singular to relate, the Vancouver News-Advertiser of Tuesday morning contained a paragraph stating that the fines referred to had been inflicted. The paragraph was furnished by the member of the staff who is the correspondent of the Vancouver News-Advertiser. On Wednesday both Colonist and Times neglected the information through in a paragraph, the former hiding it among the local items. It might be interesting but probably unprofitable to speculate as to why neither paper said a word of this serious matter for nearly a fortnight, and not then until it had received publicity from an outside paper. But this is another phase of the question of more interest to the public, and that is, what are the police going to do about it? It does not seem that any person, however highly placed, has a right to compromise a transaction such as this. It is an open question that the officers of the navy are expected to have the matter probed to the bottom but that political influence has been in the first instance to delay proceedings then to prevent the Customs authorities from taking action, and later to stifle the enquiry. If, as is openly stated at Esquimalt, the plundering of Government stores has been systematically carried on for many years and both the thieves and the receivers are known, on what plea are the guilty parties to be allowed to escape under some private arrangement, hatched in Victoria and enacted at Ottawa, which paralyses the efforts of the Customs and Police Departments? These are the questions which they are asking themselves. It is certain that the stolen property belonged to private parties someone would have been paid up long ago. As the goods were in the Esquimalt district the matter was within the jurisdiction of the Provincial police, and it is to be hoped that the Government will see that they do their duty. There is no fear about this if they are given a free hand.

PAVING CONTRACT

The Victoria City Council, no doubt with the best intentions, has awarded the contract for the paving of thirty miles of city streets to the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company. In doing so it has committed an illegality which may or may not be remedied. The Week is not concerned with the illegality; it is far more interested in the unfairness of the transaction, and in the injustice which it works on the firms. Incidentally, it may be able to interest the public a little later on in means by which this wealthy Toronto company was able to beat all competitors for the field. The only justification offered by the Council is that, taken in aggregate, the tenders of the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company were lower than those of any other competitor. This is true, but it is also true that at least two other competitors put in lower tenders for a large section of the work, and it will take a good deal of explaining to convince property owners that they should pay many thousands of dollars on particular streets in order to ensure a monopoly for one favored company. There are nineteen streets, mostly in the neighbourhood of the Fairfield estate, for every one of which the Calgary Paving Company tendered lower than the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company. Without going into details the following figures prove this contention. On the nineteen streets in question the total of the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company's tender was $178,902 and that of the Calgary Paving Company $174,088. To have given the contract to the latter would have saved the City and the property owners $4,814. This would only have deprived the successful tenderer of about one-sixth of the work. It would have saved nearly $5,000; it would have avoided what most people object to—a monopoly, and would have recognised the excellent work already done in the city by the Worswick Paving Company, because the Calgary and Worswick are under the same management and work on the same system. There are at least three parties interested in an equitable settlement of this matter—the unsuccessful tenderer who actually put in the lowest price, the property owners, and the citizens. It is still the duty of the Council to satisfy all these parties why they propose to pay $5,000 more for the work on nineteen streets than they need have done. In arriving at a conclusion on this point, it may be as well to include an enquiry as to why the Colonist found it necessary on this occasion to establish a precedent in directing the City Council to violate all principles of justice and fairness and to give the contract to one big firm, which has succeeded in crowding all competitors out of the field. It will be time enough to enquire into the means why this was done when these questions have been satisfactorily answered.

THE OVER-SEAS CLUB

Attention is called to the rapid development of the Over-Seas Club, and incidentally to the growth of the Victoria branch. The movement which started last summer has resulted up to date in the formation of 2,000 branches with more than 30,000 members. The Victoria branch has 215 members. It is not necessary to recapitulate the objects of this world-wide organization; in the main they are to develop British sentiment. The movement is in its infancy, but it has already done incalculable good in establishing throughout the Empire a net-work of agencies for "helping one another" and helping everything British. It is astonishing to notice how many scores of communications reach the secretary of the Victoria branch, most of them being enquiries as to the conditions of life and business in British Columbia and the opportunities offered to intending settlers. The replies which have been furnished have resulted in bringing to the Province English immigrants of the best type, so that in this direction the Over-Seas Club is doing practical and valuable work. It will, however, make its mark in the wider arena of public opinion, and cannot fail to exert a wholesome influence in sustaining the best ideals of the race, and in promoting and strengthening loyalty to the British throne. The view of The Week is that the Victoria branch instead of numbering 200 should number at least 1,000, and if the objects of the Club were thoroughly understood this consummation would be reached in a very short time. An appeal is hereby made to all who sympathise with the movement to send in their names to the local secretary, who will furnish all information and secure their enrolment as members. There is no fee for joining the central organization, but a nominal fee of a dollar is required for the necessary expenses of the local branch.

SIR WILFRID WILL GO

Rarely has a statesman made a worse tactical blunder than that into which Sir Wilfrid Laurier was led when he declared that he would not attend the Imperial Conference or the Coronation Celebration unless the Reciprocity Bill were first put through the House. It is only charitable to assume that when Sir Wilfrid made the famous declaration he was overwrought as a result of the strenuous session now drawing to a close. It would hardly be fair to assume that the threat was in the nature of a bluff, although from any other man it would have deserved that designation. It did not take Sir Wilfrid long to discover that he had placed himself in an untenable position by threatening to neglect Imperial interests for the sake of a commercial treaty. For once Mr. Borden did the right thing, and did it quickly, by offering to vote supply; this was an offer which it was impossible for Sir Wilfrid to refuse without making bad worse, so he climbed down as gracefully as he could and announced his intention of sailing to England on the 12th. inst. Everyone will be gratified to know that the most eloquent and commanding of all the Over-Seas representatives will thus take his rightful place at the Imperial Conference, and no one will doubt that he will render far more valuable service there than if he had remained at home to force on an unwilling people a trade agreement for which they have no liking and which is losing ground steadily every day. It is not often safe to prophesy in matters political, but The Week will be greatly surprised if Sir Wilfrid does not have his eyes opened whilst in England as to the unpopularity and the anti-Imperial aspects of the Reciprocity Agreement. Indeed, far more surprising things have happened than its abandonment.

THE CARPENTERS' STRIKE

The carpenters working in the City of Victoria are on strike for an increase of wages from $4.00 to $4.50 a day. That the advance will have to be granted there can be no doubt, both because the conditions in Victoria demand it and because a similar strike in Vancouver has resulted in favour of the men. This is Victoria's boom time. Real estate and building are the two features of the boom. Never has the development of the city been more widely heralded, and never have rosier anticipations for the future been indulged in. Under these circumstances the contractors cannot expect to keep wages at the present level. They will have to follow suit with the builders of other cities not only because this is a time of prosperity, but because the cost of living has risen so much that a skilled artisan, whose work does not by any means extend over twelve months in the year, is inadequately remunerated at $4.00 a day. At the time of going to press there are fewer than 40 carpenters at work in the city and over 500 on strike. This is regrettable, and the responsibility for holding up necessary building construction at a critical time must be laid upon the shoulders of the employers who fail to recognise the reasonable requirements of the moment. It is no answer to say that many so-called carpenters are not skilled workmen. If contractors employ unskilled workmen to do skilled work that is their own look-out. Skilled labour has a right to protection, and the only protection it can have is a recognised scale of wages. The employment of inferior labour is largely responsible for jerry-building; it may be cheap; it is decidedly nasty. Least of all can it be urged as an argument against the payment of a fair wage to the skilled carpenter.

A SENSATIONAL RACE

Last week Mr. J. B. Perry made a sensational race against time, and beat the railway record from Duncan to Victoria by half-an-hour. Probably this sensational performance will serve two purposes. It will demonstrate the excellence of the Mill Bay Road and the superiority of the Packard automobile. It should also arouse the Provincial authorities to the necessity for establishing some regulation to prevent the Mill Bay Road from becoming a race-track. The danger is that some other motorist thirsting for fame may try to emulate Mr. Perry's example, and it would not take many such performances to constitute the finest civic road in the West a veritable shambles. Within a fortnight two parties of joy-riders have had the narrowest possible escape of a terrible catastrophe. The Week anticipates that this new road will become the resort of every tourist visiting Victoria who is able to own or hire a motor car. It was designed mainly for this purpose; it is therefore the duty of the authorities to see that the public are protected from the vagaries of reckless drivers. The view of The Week is that there should be a maximum speed on this whole length of road, and that the maximum should not be higher than fifteen miles an hour. Such a provision is as necessary for motorists as for foot passengers or those who drive horses, and it cannot be too promptly adopted or too rigorously enforced.

THE LIBERTY OF THE SUBJECT

The attention of readers of The Week is called to a letter from Mr. A. W. Bridgman which appears in this issue. Mr. Bridgman expresses himself somewhat forcibly, but there are few people who will not think that under the circumstances he is justified. Waiving the question of legality there can be no doubt that the incarceration of the Hindu has a very serious aspect and one which grows in importance as it is considered. It is not merely the incident itself which is important, but the fact that the police authorities ruled it to be justifiable, and that the local papers suppressed all reference to it. Here is a combination which might result in depriving any man of his liberty under circumstances which would leave no room for redress. The Week has no desire to pursue the subject further at the present time, but the citizens of Victoria who believe in British fair-play cannot too closely watch, or too jealously guard, the interests of those who are least able to protect themselves.

UNION LABOUR

The Chief Justice has rendered an important decision in Vancouver. It is that non-union labour may not be employed in building the Labour Union Temple. This would appear to be a sound decision, and one which the Norton-Griffiths Company were ill-advised in forcing. His Lordship pointed out that the Unions stood for a principle, that is, the non-employment of non-union labour, and as they owned the Labour Temple they had a right to say what class of labour should be employed in its construction. The significance of the attitude assumed by the Norton-Griffiths Company lies in the fact that having made a contract they sought to resist an increase of wages by employing non-union labour. When they have had a little more experience in this country they will find that it is too late in the day to adopt such tactics; the game is played out. Labour is a solidarity, even if it is not all Union.

There would appear to be some kind of mix-up in the head of the Clerk of the Weather at the time of writing. All through April, the month with which we associate the showery season, we had brilliant sunshine; in fact I believe it is true that throughout the whole month there was only one day's rain. And now May has arrived; May, the month of flowers and sunny skies, and so far it has been cloudy with the rain threatening but never coming. We need rain badly enough, but the said Clerk seems unable to make up his mind as to whether we shall have it or not, so compromises on clouds.

But it is hard to realise that we have really come round to May again so soon. There is nothing in this country to bring the fact home to us as there is in England. I grant you that it is rather a nuisance to have a crowd of more or less clean school children trotting up to the door with a dilapidated Maypole, around which they jump, for they can rarely be said to dance, whilst screaming out rhymes appropriate to the date. But still it is a survival of the "good old days" and there is no person in the world who clings more closely to time-honoured customs than does the Englishman. There was a time when May-day was one of the big festivals of the year and the May-pole one of the most honoured insignia of pagantry. But times change and in a new country we can hardly expect to see the survival of what after all is merely a matter of sentiment.

* * *

But there is one point in connection with this First of May which I should like to bring before my readers' attention, and that is that however much we may disdain to recall our childhood and to trip with song and dance around a decorated stick, we cannot fail to realise that each May-day heralds the near approach of summer, and that each summer finds the Inner Harbour of Victoria in a more insanitary condition. I was appalled at the stench which greeted my nostrils on Tuesday morning last as I was crossing the Causeway when the tide was at its lowest. Perhaps it is too much to expect to have the harbour properly cleansed. I don't even know whether such a thing would be possible in these days. Doubtless in the days of yore an Eurystheus would have found a Hercules to undertake the job after he had had a little practice on the Augean stables. But if we cannot hope for positive aid in this respect we surely have the right to claim some negative help. I am told that it is the practice of all the steamers which use the Inner Harbour to wait until they are safely anchored and then to throw out all their garbage. On Monday last a local boat was observed discharging a mixed cargo of slops, cans, old clothes and paper onto the placid face of the waters. This one instance was particularly noted and retailed to me, but my informant went on to say that all the boats are in the habit of doing the same thing. Now I believe that it is an offence for anyone to throw garbage into the sea within a certain distance from the shoreline. I have been told that if I load garbage onto a small boat I have to go well outside a defined limit before I may discharge it. Why then are the steamers allowed to bring their garbage from the open sea into an enclosed harbour and there deposit it?

I don't suppose for a minute that they are entitled to do so, but the matter has never received public attention and as a thing like this is everybody's business, of course there is nobody who considers it as lying within his own special province. Consequently, no steps have been taken to prevent it. I propose that the City Solicitor first look up his authorities and see what rights vessels have in this respect, and that the City Engineer has his say in the matter also, and that they then report to the Mayor and Council, and that the latter then communicate with the Chief of Police. I should very much like to see a squad of captains in the dock on a charge of creating a public nuisance. I have seen a good many harbours during my short stay on this planet, but I never remember seeing one which can compare with that of Victoria for filth, odour and general untidiness. The fact that the Empress Laundry sewer empties into the harbour just under the north end of the Causeway does not help to improve the colour of the water, though there may be nothing absolutely insanitary in such an arrangement.

* * *

There is only one advantage which this state of the harbour possesses, and that is that when the tide is low it is impossible to detect the aroma arising from the Chemical Works; but there are some cures which are worse than the disease they dissipate, and this is a case in point. When all is said and done, though the Chemical Works give out an offensive odour, there is nothing unwholesome in it. On the contrary I know that sulphur is an excellent thing to inhale in cases of bronchitis and asthma, and it is a fact that the engine-drivers in the underground railways of London were never known to suffer from the latter disease owing to their continued existence in a gaseous and smoky atmosphere. It cannot be argued that there is anything in favour of the fumes arising from the Inner Harbour. Year by year we hear more and read more about infection, spread of disease, curses of bad sanitation, advances in scientific knowledge and all the rest of it, and year by year we see our harbour growing fouler and fouler. And there is small-pox in Ottawa. Think how disease would flourish in Victoria if it once got a foothold! Let us make some start in the right direction by rigidly prohibiting vessels from making this evil worse than it naturally is.

* * *

It will be good news to the residents in Foul Bay and vicinity to know that the B. C. E. R. are putting in another switch on May Street just this side of Dallas Road. There have been many complaints of late as to the waiting which has to be endured at the corner of May and Cook on the outward journey owing to the fact that there is no possibility of two cars passing each other further along. As soon as the work now in progress at the corner of Yates and Government is finished the track along May Street will be doubled and it is anticipated that thereafter the dwellers in Foul Bay will have a straight fifteen minute service. Rome was not built in a day and so many improvements and extensions have been made by the Electric Railway that it is not fair to register a "kick" at unavoidable delays, but one is quite in order in congratulating the company on seeing what is wrong and going ahead as soon as possible to effect a remedy.

One usually regards schoolmasters as persons with an unlimited capacity for making rules and regulations. It therefore comes as a surprise to read that the present Dean of Winchester has been entrusted with the task of editing the Ten Commandments with a view to an abridgement of the same. The Very Reverend William Mordaunt Furneaux was for a long time head-master of Repton and I remember that he was a pretty good hand at making commandments for the school. There may be other O. R.'s in the Province who read The Week and who were at Repton during Dean Furneaux' regime, so I include this paragraph for their edification.

It is a pity that we are not a wealthy enough community to preserve the fine open space at present in evidence on Government Street as a public square with fountains and other picturesque decorations. Of course a valuable business site would be lost and no real benefit would accrue to anybody, but think how delightful it would be to have a little public space right in the heart of the city. It would be a luxury and I know that we have no time for luxuries in the West. I don't suppose anybody but a Lounger would ever think of such a thing in these days of rapid development. And talking about rapid development, who would have thought two years ago that any Victoria theatre would ever have been able to reproduce on a Friday a cinematographic picture taken on the previous Wednesday. Yet this was done. Mr. A. H. Maynard of Pandora Street was the enterprising photographer and the management of the Crystal Theatre showed the finished product, a view of the Fire Brigade going into action. Pretty good, eh, for Victoria?

I have often thought that I should like to enter politics, but now I am certain that I have missed my vocation. I have just seen the new automobile ordered for the Provincial Government from the Western Motor & Supply Company, and it certainly is a beauty. It is the largest McLaughlin-Buick car made, a fifty-horse-power, eight passenger machine with all the very latest and best improvements attached. The colour scheme is in light grey. The car arrived in Victoria on Monday last and on the following day the Minister of Works, the Hon. Thos. Taylor, the Provincial Secretary, the Hon. Dr. Young and the Deputy Minister of Works, Mr. W. W. Foster went for a trial spin on the Mill Bay Road. They returned enthusiastic in their praise for the new automobile after a most successful run. It is rumoured that in the absence of the Attorney-General the chauffeur in charge allowed the car to travel somewhat in advance of the prescribed speed limit, but no definite information as to that has been allowed to leak out. In securing a car of this type for the Government the Western Motor & Supply Company have done a good thing for themselves as well as for the credit of the Province.

Roosevelt's "Little Movement"

That "every little movement has a meaning of its own" was well illustrated when the then President played one of his practical jokes on his sons.

They frequently played tricks upon each other, and the father was nowhere behind.

One day, while in the bathroom at the White House, when washing his hands, Roosevelt heard footsteps coming along the passage in a seemingly stealthy manner.

"Ah," said he to himself, "these boys are at their tricks again. I'll be even with them this time!"

Having soaked a large towel in water, he stood quietly behind the door awaiting events.

When someone opened the door of the bathroom, without a moment's hesitation, Roosevelt flung the wet towel over the new-comer's head, calling out as he did so, "I've got you now!"

To his utter dismay, however, he discovered that the visitor was not one of his sons, but the plumber, who was a bit dismayed at the President's "little movement."

GOSSIP FROM THE STALLS

Miss Alma Clarke

Friday, April 28th, the Ladies Club gave a Grand Closing at the Institute Hall at which principal artistes were Miss Alma and Herr Max Steindel. Miss who has been winning high for herself, and at the same for Victoria, which is her birth was the recipient of a great when she made her first appearance on the stage and before the was over had no less than beautiful bouquets presented to writer of this critique remembers Miss Clarke when she was a girl taking her first lessons at S. F. Smith's Studio, at Sea Dallas Road; not so very long her, from the point of view of but if the span of time beled by this talented pianist's s, then, indeed, it would seem many, many years ago. All mise which was then apparent child has been redeemed in enue, and it is easy to underhat Miss Clarke's success in tistes was Mrs. D. B. McLaren, who sang with a very sweet and clear voice Denza's "May Morning." Mrs. McLaren has the secret of clear enunciation which is so rarely possessed by amateurs. Mrs. Oscar McMicking rendered Sydney Homer's version of "Break, Break, Break." Both these ladies assisted in the first part of the programme. In the second, Mrs. Gideon Hicks contributed several vocal solos and Miss Beck and Mr. Wardington sang Smart's "When the Wind Bloweth in From the Sea," as a duet. Throughout the evening, except in the case of Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. A. J. Gibson fulfilled the important position of accompanist.

Lew Dockstader

Even in this refined age all the world loves a circus and I think it is just as safe to venture the opinion that all the world loves a Minstrel Show. Of the latter Dockstader's is easily the best on the road. No one could expect a Minstrel Show to do much more than keep an audience in a constant state of laughter, and this was the effect of the very excellent one-act play but it does not afford much scope for talent. Miss Carita Dal fills the bill with a singing and dancing act.

Frederick Warde

Mr. Frederick Warde and Company gave a representation of Shakespeare's Julius Caesar on Thursday night at the Victoria Theatre. Mr. Warde himself is a first-class elocutionist and an experienced actor, but he was always more notable for his elocution than for his acting. About the latter there is a certain artificiality and his movements especially are apt to become mechanical. But for this he would years ago have developed into a star, instead of drifting from the stage to the platform. Since he left the London boards he has travelled far and attained a certain celebrity as a reader of Shakespeare, and in my opinion that is where he found his "metier." His rendering of the character of Brutus was not without its good points, but it revealed all the weaknesses of Mr. Warde's methods,

The management are to be congratulated on the continued engagement of Miss England who sings the songs. Miss England has a superior contralto voice which she uses well, and she is fortunate enough not to be handicapped by having to sing the absurd songs which invariably accompany the illustrations sent out, and are known as "Illustrated Songs." Some day, perhaps, these abominations will vanish from all theatres, as they have done from Romano's.

The Majestic Theatre

Roars of laughter greeted the appearance on the screen of the absurd comedy "The Rival Candidates," at Manager Christie's theatre on Yates Street on Monday and Tuesday last. It was really one of the most amusing films that I have seen for a long time. A powerful drama was one dealing with the perils of the early Quakers on this continent and showed how even an Indian can be grateful and blood-thirsty at the same time. Mr. Christie continues to hit the nail on the head all the time, and his house is invariably crowded every evening.

The Crystal Theatre

I do not ever remember seeing as many people in this large sized house except on a Saturday night, as I did last Monday. The numbers and excellence of the films shown at the Crystal are more than off-setting the slight disadvantage under which it labours by being off the main street. I believe that when View Street is opened up and Broad Street comes into its own, we shall see the Crystal thronged nightly. There has been two nights at the Victoria Theatre on Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13, of the congress of international stars, headed by the famous English singing comedienne, Vesta Victoria. Miss Victoria is well known all over the world as a singer of humorous songs, and her work has been in such demand for the past seven years, that she has been unable to gratify her great desire to tour Canada until the present season.

Vesta Victoria was born in Yorkshire near Leeds, and began her stage career at the age of four years, playing baby parts. Her father owned a circuit of twelve theatres, and his lifelong wish was to see his daughter, and child, shine in the histrionic firmament. She was educated by private tutors during the times when she was not actively engaged upon the stage.

The foundation of her theatrical experience was laid very firmly. She played every known kind of part, running the gamut of all emotions during her early girlhood. About the age of fourteen years her voice was noticed to have a peculiarly pleasant quality, and steps were at once taken to cultivate it. She was sent to India, where, under a well-known vocal teacher, she became possessed of her present wonderfully penetrating voice. At the same time her dramatic teaching had schooled her in enunciation, that most to be desired thing in the rendition of humorous songs. She found that she was naturally graceful, and able to portray the various emotions required in the delivery of these songs, and from the age of eighteen she deserted the field of drama and became a singer pure and simple. She appeared by command before Rajah Bundi-Goon, in Calcutta, with such success that she was engaged to appear before the same company again a week following.

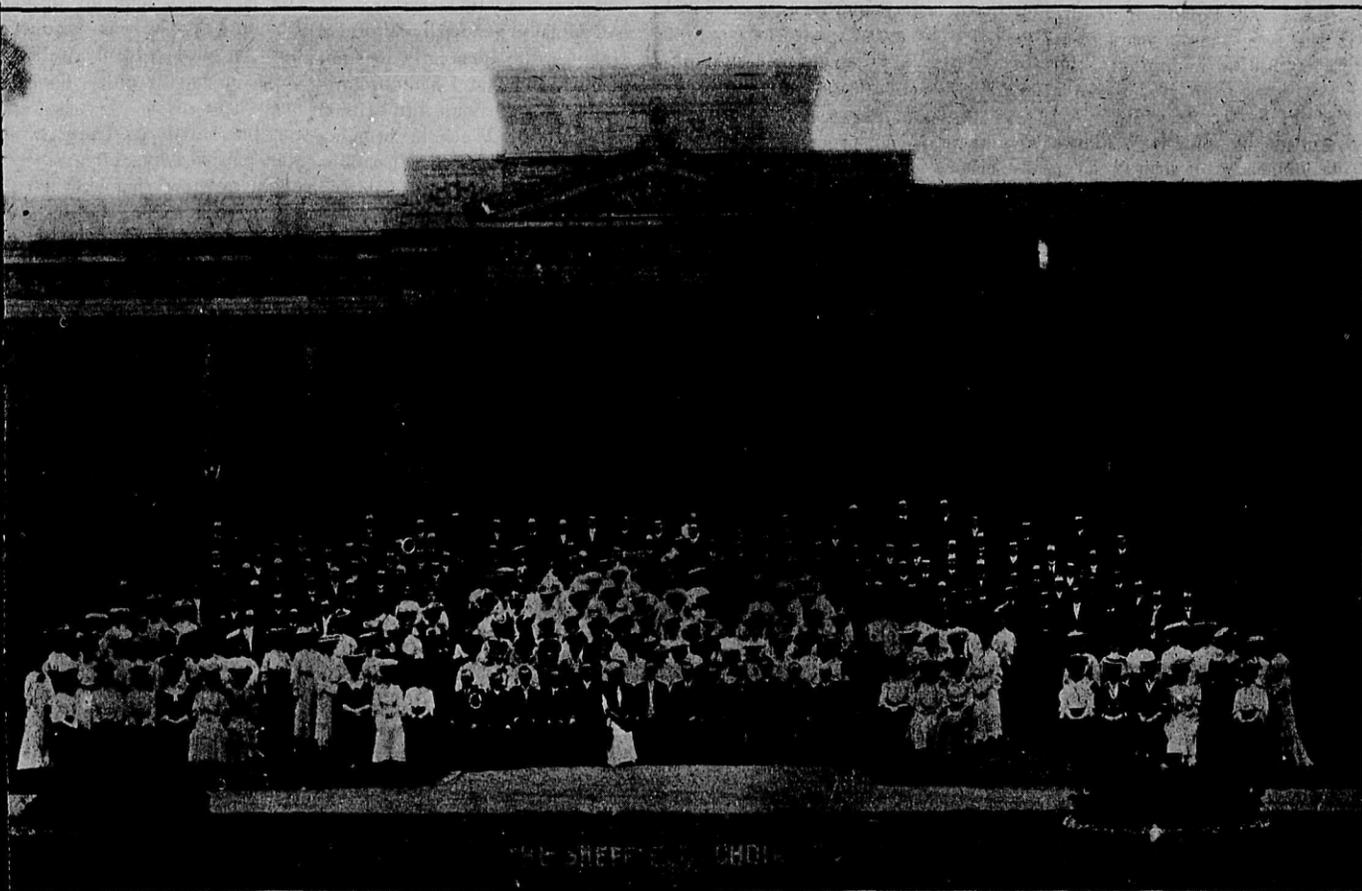

"The Lily"

"The Lily," a play of ideas as well as drama, adapted from the French of Pierre Wolff and Gaston Leroux by that master of stage craft and dramatic technique, David Belasco, will be the offering at the Victoria Theatre soon.

"The Lily" finds its name from a class of women well recognized in France but little known as a special type in America; they are the women who have been denied the joys of matrimony simply to appease a thread-worn tradition of sex where everything is sacrificed for the advancement of the son and the daughter is merely considered as an incident in the family. Mr. Belasco sends his now famous company headed by Nance O'Neil and Charles Cartwright, intact from his own theatre, New York, where "The Lily" ran for over an entire year, and was last season the theatrical sensation of the year.

"The Mummy and the Humming Bird"

Despite its grotesque name, Isaac Henderson's play, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," which will visit the Victoria Theatre on May 16, is not a farce comedy in which archeology and ornithology struggle for mastery, but a serious treatment of the theme of marital infelicity, arising from unconscious neglect on one side and hunger for affection on the other. It narrowly misses tragedy through the awakening of the mummy in time to prevent the depredations planned by the humming bird. The restoration of love and confidence and the discomfiture of the interloper are accomplished by a series of events sufficiently out of the ordinary, to pique the interest and sufficiently dramatic to sustain the interest. Some of the scenes are devised with great cleverness, as for instance that in which the mummy carries on a conversation with the organ-grinder who cannot speak English. The use made of his sign-and-symbol talk later on is certainly a most ingenious idea. Then there is the device by which the mummy rescues his wife and at the same time protects her reputation—a scene in which great dramatic tensivity is relieved by an outcome that is as satisfying as it is unexpected.

show put up by this aggregation in the Victoria Theatre last Monday night. There was plenty of fun. Dockstader was as inimitable as ever in his moonlogues and there was some good dancing. The weak spot was the solo singing, which was decidedly below the usual level. Possibly some of the members of the company were incapacitated, because three of the advertised items were omitted. However, the show as a whole gave satisfaction and furnished a thoroughly enjoyable evening's entertainment.

The New Grand

Charles D. Webber carries about with him some highly trained tame hats, but they are by no means the most important part of his paraphernalia which comprise an ingenious motor-car, a dressing-curtain and an inimitable little manner of his own. His juggling is a thing to wonder at. The other big act this week has been that of Mlle. Ani Hill, who is a lady athlete of marvellous skill and seemingly jointless shoulders. Her work on the trapeze is worthy of the highest praise. The Mueller Brothers have a fair selection of songs and sing them tunefully enough. There is some novelty in "The Lobbyist," which is this week's staginess, shallowness and a lack of sincerity. As a matter of fact coming from a man of his culture and experience it was distinctly "not worth while." Mr. Warde's support was worse than indifferent. Anything less like the Shakespearean spirit could hardly be imagined. With the single exception of his son not one member of the company knew what they were doing, and from the manner in which they delivered Shakespear's noble lines it is doubtful if they knew the difference between blank verse and a jingling rhyme. It is greatly to be regretted that Mr. Warde should have associated himself with such an aggregation of American barn-stormers. We have far too little of Shakespeare now-a-days, but far too much of Shakespearean burlesque.

Romano's Theatre

It was rather nice to get back to the Old Country this week and spend a day with a bargeman. Mr. Quaggliotti had considerably secured a very pretty film showing a day on an English canal, somewhere in the neighborhood of Brentford, I imagine. "Betty," the naughty girl whom we all like, appeared on the screen again, and gave us some idea of how mischievous a girl can be if she tries.

Pavilion—Alick Lauder, a brother of the well-known Harry, shows great versatility as an entertainer. His make-up in all his songs is perfect, also his enunciation is so clear that nothing is lost to the audience. Another good feature about his turn is that he does not require to descend to vulgarity to gain favor with the audience. Judging from the enthusiastic reception accorded him his popularity is assured.

Alick Lauder will appear at the Victoria Theatre on Monday, May 8.

What Manner of Man

BY BOHEMIAN

In spite of the deprecatory remarks of the Liberal Press, Professor Stephen Leacock is a man of great intelligence and courage. He was taken to task severely for his really brilliant series of articles against Reciprocity, but he would be a bold man who would join issue with him on the subject of Immigration.

Professor Leacock's latest article on this subject has attracted widespread attention; it is timely, incisive, illuminating and convincing. He first of all draws attention to the fact that, proportionate to its population, Canada is absorbing a far greater number of immigrants than the United States ever did.

No doubt this statement will come as a surprise to many, but the figures quoted are indisputable. In 1810 the population of the United States was practically the same as Canada's is to-day—say 7,000,000. Immigration into the United States in that year amounted to 4,000, or .0006, while Canada's immigration amounts to 250,000 or .3. Take a later comparison. From 1901 to 1908 there came to the United States 7,000,000 people, less than one-tenth of the population, whereas in nine years there came to Canada 1,300,000, a number equal to one-quarter of our population.

Under certain circumstances these figures might be a source of gratification. If for instance it could be shown that all or nearly all the immigrants were people of our own race or of kindred races. But this is not so, as we all know. While a very satisfactory number of immigrants have come from the British Isles and from the United States, the vast majority hail from the lower European nationalities and have little respect for the laws or the ideals of the Anglo-Saxon race.

There is another feature that must not be lost sight of. When we felicitate ourselves on the rapidly growing tide of immigration which flows from the United States, we must not delude ourselves with the notion that these people are of British stock. It is true that they have passed through a process which without eradicating their vicious tendencies has given them a thin veneer of civilization. They make law-abiding citizens because the arm of the law is strong enough to maintain its authority, but they do not share in British sentiment and they unwillingly aim at British standards.

It is easy to understand this when one bears in mind that the character of American immigration has undergone an entire change during the last twenty-five years. Prior to that time the bulk of the immigrants came from Northern European countries; from Scandinavia, from Holland, from Germany. These people were infinitely more intelligent and highly educated than the horde which of late years have poured in from Southern Europe. During the eight years from 1901 to 1908 Austria-Hungary sent to North America 1,800,000 immigrants; Italy, 1,325,000; Roumania, 50,000. From Russia and Poland there arrived in the twenty-eight years from 1873 to 1900, 840,000 immigrants, and in the five years from 1902 to 1906, 408,000.

Any student of ethnology knows what the influence of such a large factor of inferior type must mean in the development of the American people, and when it is remembered that the bulk of the American immigrants in Canada are drawn from this class, it is not possible to avoid some of the apprehensions as to what the ultimate outcome may be.

The moral of Professor Leacock's article is that it is quite possible for Canada to travel too fast. In pursuance of natural laws, as well as a sense of duty, the people of the Dominion must and will develop their natural resources, and since the operation is so profitable it will not be easy to impose an artificial check.

At the present moment wealth is being rolled up in this Dominion at a rate which knows no precedent even in the great Republic to the South. The ratio of increase in earnings and in the accumulation of funds relative to the population far transcends the rosier periods of United States development.

Possibly the finger of warning will be unheeded, for when they are making money most people are content to leave the future to take care of itself, but I doubt if the people of Canada are so unintelligent as to refuse to sit down and think the matter over, and I am sure that there is a very widespread feeling that the immigration policy which contents itself with "counting heads" will not satisfy a people possessing the finest country in the world and determined to build up the strongest nation.

The mere accumulation of wealth, and the enjoyment of all the luxuries which it affords, may go hand in hand with intelligent and conservative development. Restrictions have already been imposed on Canadian immigration for various reasons. Neither the Chinaman nor the Jap is allowed unrestricted liberty in this respect, but there may be even greater menace if the country is filled up with people of low ideals.

As Professor Leacock very truly says there is no process known to the history of mankind by which a community of 7,000,000 people can be changed with the showy brilliance of a transformation scene into one of the great nations of the world. We have got to be content if we would aim at ultimate greatness to remain as yet among the lesser communities of mankind.

ART FURNITURE

Attention is directed to the second announcement of the sale of high-class art furniture and pictures to be conducted by Mr. Stewart Williams on Tuesday next. The sale takes place at the residence of Mr. Dunn on the East Saanich Road. Nearly all the furniture was supplied by an eminent London firm and without doubt it is the best collection for all-round excellence that has been offered in Victoria for many years.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Hindu Question

Victoria, B. C., May 5th, 1911.
To the Editor of The Week:

Dear Sir,—I notice that my name was brought up by Mr. Frank Higgins, the legal adviser of G. W. Kirk & Co., coal dealers, at the enquiry held by the Police Commissioners into the scandalous ill-treatment of a Hindu named Bronsen Singh, who at the instigation of G. W. Kirk & Co., was dragged out of bed, and unlawfully locked up by a minion of the law named Victor Heather.

I had already personally informed Mr. Higgins, who apparently does not accept my word, that I had absolutely nothing to do with this Hindu interviewing The Week or bringing his case before the Police Commissioners.

If Bronsen Singh had consulted me, I would have advised him not to waste time in trying to get justice or British fair play from a Labour

Socialist Police Commissioner, from the Provincial Government signally failed to do their duty former even more scandalous occurrence at Goodacre's slaughter house which was treated as a joke by Victoria Daily Times; but to carry his complaint direct to Imperial authorities in England will not fail to protect these Indian subjects of the King from outrage and insult at the hands of ignorant Canadian hoboos.

I should personally be very to assist Mr. Blakemore, if he decides, in endeavouring to bring cases of ill-treatment of Hindu the attention of His Majesty's retary for the Colonies or India, in so doing let me assure Mr. gins that I am not considering such action would affect his claim G. W. Kirk at all. That gentleman, notwithstanding the connivance and protection of a corrupt Police Commissioner, bribed by coal and ginger beer advertisements get his deserts in the end. In the meantime he can be to escape from the dilemma which if Mr. Higgins will forgive me so, bad legal advice has placed.

Yours truly,

To the Editor The Week:

Sir,—On the 29th April a healthy, strong young woman named Smith, living on Rithet street in city was taken suddenly ill and Rumours say she was poisoned—how she died suddenly whilst apparently in good health. Some must have given a wrong certificate for the burial on Tuesday. I was poisoned by food, the ought to know what kind it was. Can such a thing be hushed up in Victoria and not any enquiry, mortem, or inquest be held.

employees working on Sundays must be engaged and paid directly by the societies.

Cave Dwellings

two or three years past extensive excavations have been carried out by Messrs. H. E. Balch and R. D. Ripley of Wells, Somerset, in the cave at Wookey Hole, near Glastonbury, the entrance gallery to which proved to be a late Celtic and Romano-British cave dwelling. The discovery of a superficial deposit of leaves and rubbish left the floor precisely the same form and condition as when it was vacated about 400, about the time of the withdrawal of the Roman legions from southern Britain. Fragmentary pottery, needles, pins, articles of bone, bronze, and coins numbering more than eighty ranging from Vesuvian to Valentinian II., have been found.

To Save a Beauty Spot

To prevent the land falling into the hands of the builders, the National Trust has issued an appeal for £7,700 to enable them to buy 60 acres on Colley Hill for preservation as a public open space of great natural beauty. The property includes a part of the summit, the steep sides and the lower slopes of that part of the North Downs which overhangs the town of Reigate. The summit of the hill is more than 700 feet above sea level, and it commands the long line of the North Downs as they curve westward to Box Hill and on towards Guildford. From the foot of the hill the valley of the Mole stretches westward to Dorking. It is the magnificent panoramic views that can be obtained from it that have made Colley Hill famous.

Pageant of Heroes

A "Pageant of British History" Pageant will be held in connection with the Royal Naval and Military Tournament at Olympia this year.

The performance will be carried out by twenty-four groups, each headed by a group leader representing some famous character. The list of groups begins with Alfred the Great, whose foundation of the British Navy is symbolised by the Vikings of his escort. Harold of England follows, with Saxon knights and footmen. William the Conqueror leads Norman knights and spearmen, Richard Coeur de-Lion Crusaders. Archers will be headed by Robin Hood, and Scottish footmen follow Robert the Bruce, and so on. Nelson and his admirals bring the story up to the nineteenth century, the Pageant being completed by a group representative of the Peninsular War.

Father Vaughan on Canada

Father Vaughan brought to a close on Sunday evening, April 9th, his annual mission to costermongers and other toilers.

In his final exhortation Father Vaughan said that he had been struck by many articles of The Daily Mail about Canada. Lately he had returned from his first visit, and more fervently than ever he recommended members of his guild to put together their "bits of things" and to make for the north-west of the Dominion. Provided a worker, skilled or unskilled, would but take off his coat, roll up his sleeves, and put his back into his job he was bound to come out on top. It was "dogged" that did the trick and made the fortune.

Many New Liners

Many of the large shipping companies are arranging for additions to their fleets. Messrs. Elder, Dempster and Co., Liverpool, are inquiring for passenger vessels for their West African river service, while the P. and O. Company contemplates additions to its fleet of intermediate steamers.

The tenders for two turbine cross-Channel boats are being considered by the London and South-Western Railway Company.

For the Canadian Pacific Railway Company specifications have been issued to shipbuilders on the Clyde for two Atlantic liners of high speed and slightly larger than the Empress of Britain.

The Allan Line has also orders for three 23-knot steamers in view.

15-Inch Naval Gun

It is stated by the Press Association that the Admiralty, by way of replying to the 14in. naval gun lately adopted by the German Admiralty, have ordered early experiments to be made with a new gun, which is to be a decided advance on the 13.5in. with which our Dreadnoughts now under construction are to be fitted.

The new weapon will be styled the 14in. A gun, but will be in fact of 15 inches diameter and 50 calibres, or 62½ft. in length.

Coaches on Brighton Road

Mr. Alfred G. Vanderbilt is again running the Venture coach between London and Brighton, for three months, down one day and up the next, having started last Tuesday. There will be a piquant rivalry on the famous old coaching road this year, for Lord Leconfield intends to run the original "Old Times" coach to and from Brighton. The two coaches will run up and down on alternate days, Sundays excepted, throughout the season.

Choirs in the Streets

A great procession of clergy and churchmen, numbering in all close upon 3,000, with the Bishop of London and his suffragans—the Bishops of Kensington, Stepney, and Islington—as the central figures, marched on Good Friday afternoon from Trafalgar-square to St. Paul's Cathedral for a service of solemn supplication for the nation's welfare in Coronation year.

The procession, composed of 150 clergy, 750 choirmen and lay readers, and 2,000 unrobed laymen, assembled at 4.15 in the church of St. Martin-in-the-Fields. There were three divisions, and each was headed by a processional cross and a body of clergy.

Discovery of Roman Remains

While digging at the south side of Winchester Cathedral in connection with the preservation work now in progress there the workmen have uncovered at a depth of from six to eight feet the remains of a wall, supposed to be part of a Roman bath. The wall is about twelve feet long, and at the excavated end it terminates in a circular sweep, the end of which is lost beneath the cathedral foundations. A few feet eastwards what is believed to be the remains of a Roman stable have been unearthed.

Death of Lady Ludlow

The beautiful Lady Ludlow, wife of Lord Ludlow, died suddenly at Beausoleil, on Riviera, on April 7th.

She was, before her marriage, Miss Blanche Holden, eldest daughter and coheir of the late Mr. William Holden, of the Palace House, County Lancaster, and her wedding to the late Lord Howard de Walden took place in 1876. Left a widow in 1899, she married Lord Ludlow in 1903. Her only child, by the first marriage, is the present Lord Howard de Walden.

Island to Be Removed

Permission has been obtained for the removal of a Thames island situated in the middle of Bray Reach. The island, which is a large one, belongs to the trustees of the Amerden Bank estate. The Thames Conservancy will undertake the work of removing the island. Its absence will greatly improve the reach, and the course on which the Brigade of Guards' and other regattas are held will be nearly doubled in length.

Death of Sir T. A. De La Rue.

Sir T. A. De La Rue died early on April 10th at his residence in Cadogan square S.W., of heart failure.

Born in 1849, Sir Thomas founded the firm of De La Rue and Co., which held the contract for the making of postage stamps until recently, and which is widely known as manufacturers of playing cards.

Village Plagued With Ants

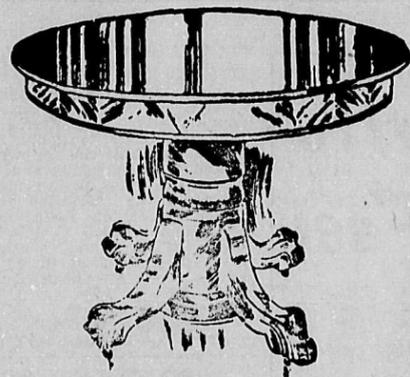

The colliery village of Ryhope, near Sunderland, is suffering from a plague of ants. The houses, it is stated, are infested with them and they are raiding food supplies. The ants are believed locally to be of a foreign species.

Victoria, May 2, 1911.

Editor The Week:

Dear Sir:—In my youth my mother taught me to be polite; am afraid she would blush could she see me some days now.

Why the change?

Am sorry to say the callousness, indifference of those around me has gradually worked into my system.

Hold a door open for a lady (so called) she sweeps past with haughty disdain; give up your seat in a car, it's taken with never a thank you or even a smile. It's your duty, sir, be thankful you don't get kicked for your pains.

On Saturday night coming in from the country I stepped off sidewalk twice, once for a lady and again for a gentleman riding bicycles. Their thanks are still coming.

Some times when I do receive a thank you I look to see who has greeted me, and I invariably find a lady or gentleman of refined appearance, neat dress, one that you may be sure has been accustomed to polite society all their life; never by any chance one of those over-dressed individuals, who whether they know it or not show by their manner and action—we are of the mushroom growth. This in a city that has a name for wealth, intellect and refinement—a city that should be an example to the rest of the Dominion. It costs nothing to be polite, and if some of our men and women would give a little more attention to the subject and less to the get-rich-quick schemes that are floating round they would be much better citizens.

Yours truly,
GEO. B. LOWRY.

THE TURF

The Directors of the Victoria Country Club are to be congratulated upon the number of, and quality of the horses that they have already stabled at the Exhibition Grounds in training for the forthcoming May race meeting. At present writing there are 175 animals there and a further contingent of about 50 from Los Angeles, Vancouver, Idaho, Oregon and Washington points will arrive in a few days. Numerically, there are at present more than a sufficiency, but it is the high-class calibre of the horses that this year is exciting so much favourable comment. Such well known turf performers as Glorio, Sir John, Lisaro, Tony Faust, Arionette, Daddy Gip, Thistle Belle, Roy Junior and Bea Man, are already here and the powerful El Palomon Stable with its star performers—Cluny and Venetian—are en route. This stable is owned by Mr. Chas. W. Clark, the San Mateo millionaire, and it is a high compliment to the local organization that Victoria should be the place selected for his stable to race at, in preference to Kentucky and other points.

The three stake races which are the special feature events of the meeting have closed with an entry list of nearly thirty to each race at the distances of six furlongs, one mile and one mile and one-eighth and with a three days' interim, they will attract all the best horses, and the local turf solons predict that the three existing track records at those distances will be all lowered.

Thanks to the assiduous care of Managing Director Fraser, the track has been placed in far better condition than heretofore and those owners who have raced here before are loud in their praises as to its improvement.

The new Pari-Mutuel machines have already arrived in Vancouver and will be shipped here immediately upon the arrival of the expert mechanic who will come here direct from the factory for the purpose of installing and thoroughly testing them. Since last year Messrs. Granger & Co., of Louisville, Kentucky, the manufacturers, have made several improvements including a self registering device and other features. The machines to be used here are of the best pattern and after the order was placed the Ontario Jockey Club followed the lead and ordered similar machines, which will be used at the forthcoming meeting at their Woodbine Track. It is safe to predict that the use of these machines as a means to assist those speculatively inclined, in lieu of the bookmaker, is bound to meet with a similar success in British Columbia, to that which they have already attained in New Zealand, France and Kentucky, in which places horse racing is looked upon with great favour. In a future issue we will explain fully the workings of the system, showing its absolute fairness and positive detergent upon plunging.

SOME POLICE STATISTICS

In discussing the question of re-submission of the Prohibition constitutional amendment in Maine the other day, Senator Staples of Portland cited some police statistics which will take a large amount of explaining by those who close their eyes to the facts, and contend that prohibitory liquor laws do really prohibit. Said he, to quote a portion of his speech: "I find that in the city of Portland during the last year of Sheriff Despeaux's administration (1900) a so-called wide-open period, there were a total of 1,518 arrests for drunkenness; in the last year of Pearson's (Prohibition) administration (1902) there were 1,593 arrests for drunkenness, and in the last year of Trefethen's (Prohibition) administration (1910) there were 3,477 arrests for drunkenness. Here is an increase of more than double in arrests for drunkenness in Portland in ten years. And last year's exhibit of 3,477 arrests was made with law enforcement in the hands of Republicans pledged to Prohibit, and with the Sturgis force in the city in addition. Look at Bangor with its police record of drunk arrests during the recent Sturgis regime, which far exceeded anything in the history of the city. Over in Biddeford the Biddeford Record reports: "Two deaths within four days from alcoholism in a community of 25,000 inhabitants, with the prohibitory law protecting the home and the weak who might otherwise yield to the temptation of strong drink." These are facts and only specimen facts."

COVERED WITH ECZEMA

Cured by Two Bottles D. D. D.

On March 21st, 1910, Mr. Angus McMillan, of Port Hood, N. S., wrote us:

"My little boy three years old was covered from head to foot with eczema. I tried over twenty different kinds of salves and washes but could not see any improvement—in fact it seemed to be getting worse.

I was about discouraged and had lost faith in all kinds of so-called eczema cures, when I saw an ad. telling about D. D. D. Prescription. I sent for sample bottle and the third application convinced me that I had at last got a sure cure. Two bottles effected a complete cure."

What D. D. D. did for this little boy, it will do for any skin sufferer. A mild, soothing liquid made up of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, Glycerine and other ingredients, it penetrates to the root of the trouble and washes the disease germs out.

Why not get relief? Simply write today to the D. D. D. Laboratories, Dept. W.V., 49 Colborne St., Toronto, and they will send you a free trial bottle.

LOCAL MARKET

Since the writing of our last letter there has been a further advance in American Canadian and Alberta Canadian Oils, the former ranging from sales at 30 to sales a day or two ago at 20 cents and after recording a decline from 12 to sales at 6 3/4 cents. Our price of these shares remains unchanged, without oil in paying prices they are worthless and we have not as yet heard of their resuscitation. Canadian North-west Oil has come on the market in good sized blocks, the stock selling freely as low as 4 cents. It looks very much as if this price is about 4 cents too high. Portland Canal stocks remain more or less unchanged with the Portland Canal M. Co. shares displaying a sagging tendency, quotations of 10 3/4 being the lowest recorded for some time. Late reports from this property are really of an encouraging nature. A letter just to hand stating that the continuation south of the drift on the No. 2 level has opened an ore body from two feet in width, and so far, for a length of more than 40 feet. This is the best milling ore yet developed, assaying from .08 to .20 per cent. lead, from 12 to 18 ozs. silver and about 10 per cent. lead. This is an ore value of from $16.50 to $22.50 per ton or from $2.50 to $3.50 per ton more than the company have latterly figured on. These shares at current quotations present a good speculative value. Red Cliff shares at present prices we consider altogether too high, we would sell them and buy Portlands. Ambler-Cariboo has become an active market feature again of late, selling as high as 46 cents, a net gain of about 8 cents over last closing figures. We understand this company has its ore developed to a great depth, and were it not for the expensive transportation facilities, due to the big fire of 1910, it could today be shipping in large quantities. This property looks like a real mine and we believe the shares will sell much higher in the future. Considering the strike situation, International Coal is holding steady with current figures ex dividend at 65 cents bid. In our opinion these shares present by far the best possibilities, both as an investment and speculation, of the local list. This price per share represents a market value of about $2,000,000 on a company capital of $3,000,000 and with a mine value conservatively estimated at $5,000,000. A regular dividend payer for the past four years yielding over 9 per cent. net, at present figures we do not believe anyone can go wrong in buying these shares at the market. We understand the Royal Collieries have been successful in the sale of their debenture issue and for a long pull these shares will return a substantial profit.

All records for growth in local bank clearings for the first four months of the year were broken during the period from January 1 to April 30 this year, when an increase of fifty per cent was registered over the corresponding period a year ago. As compared with the four months in 1909 the increase made aggregates no less than 122 per cent, indicating that in the two years clearings here have more than doubled.

The continued activity in the business circles, the increase in building and the recent active operations in the local realty market all contribute to swell the returns which bear testimony to the increasing importance of Victoria as a business centre.

The April figures showed a slight falling off from March, but it is a significant thing that in other cities of the Dominion the rate of increase established has fallen off considerably in short periods though the aggregate for the month shows a very large increase over the same month last year.

The monthly totals for the year to date compared with the same period in the two previous years were as follows:

	1911	1910	1909
January	$ 9,013,716	$7,390,767	$4,235,476
February	9,078,881	6,404,570	4,321,397
March	12,358,881	7,170,088	4,940,269
April	11,693,804	7,239,383	5,529,870
	$42,144,621	28,104,808	19,027,012

BUILDING FIGURES STILL CLIMBING

For the first four months of the year the aggregate value of the structures for which permits have been issued by the building trades inspector was $894,450, compared with $717,945 for the corresponding period in 1910, an increase of twenty-three per cent. The increase over the four months in 1909 was no less than $383,430 or seventy-five per cent.

The April returns are the largest for the year to date and are only exceeded by two months in any previous year, June, a year ago, and July, two years ago.

During the month permits issued numbered eighty-six compared with seventy-nine in April, 1910, while the total number of permits issued since the beginning of the year was 361 as against 266 for the four months last year.

The comparisons by months for the past three years are as follows:

	1911	1910	1908
January	$151,455	$128,985	$ 78,080
February	182,940	151,760	122,680
March	279,945	244,760	121,640
April	280,110	192,440	188,620
Four months	$894,450	$717,945	$511,020

AWARDED HUGE PAVING CONTRACT

The largest paving contract ever let by the City of Victoria and in all likelihood the largest which any single municipality on the continent was ever called upon to award, was awarded on Monday night by the city to the Canadian Mineral Rubber company, with headquarters in Toronto. Of the ten companies tendering, the bid of the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company for the eighty-nine streets for which tenders were called, was in the aggregate the lowest. Some of the other companies were lower on some streets, but as the other concerns bid only for sections of the work, the bid of the Canadian Mineral company being the only one for the entire work, and as the latter's bid was nearly $24,000 less than the sum total of the other bids, the council awarded the company the contract. The work is approximately 568,000 square yards, nearly thirty miles in all. Of this about 169,000 square yards can be let forthwith and the balance, comprising streets which have not yet been actually passed by the council for paving, can be let as the works are approved, the company giving an understanding that it will undertake the work as fast as the streets are passed by the council at the same rate and under the same guarantees.

JOHNSON STREET SITE CHANGES HANDS

The sale of the Russ House, a four story building on Johnson street, with the site upon which it stands, measuring 60x120 feet, was put through the local realty market on Saturday last, the sum changing hands being $60,000. The purchasers were Dr. George Hall, Mr. F. Landsberg and others, the former owners being Messrs. W. & J. Wilson. The purchase shows a distinct advance in the values of Johnson street property, a thoroughfare where there has been many transfers made during the past year.

Among other real estate deals just completed are: A lot measuring 60x90 feet, at the northeast corner of Blanchard and Broughton streets; lot 12, near the corner of John and Government streets, with a house and a 66-foot frontage on the former thoroughfare; city lot 974 on Yates street; lot 765 on Pembroke street, with a brick house; a lot on St. David street; and lots 12, 13 and 14, with a frontage of 99 feet on Victoria crescent.

Residential property is changing hands daily, lots and houses in both Esquimalt and Oak Bay districts being particularly in demand.

TEMPLE BUILDING

FORT STREET

V. V. & E. RAILWAY

By a deal just completed with the V. V. & E. railway, which is subsidiary company of the Great Northern Railway, and Mr. F. L. Carter-Cotton, M.P.P. for Richmond, the company has exchanged 100 feet of waterfrontage on Burrard Inlet for a like amount of adjoining property owned by Mr. Carter-Cotton. The result of the trade is to place the Great Northern Railway in possession of an uninterrupted stretch of waterfrontage, between the property of the British Columbia Sugar Refining Company and Heatley avenue, Vancouver.

Good progress is being made on the contract of building a twenty mile section of the V. V. & E. Railway between Abbotsford and Chilliwack, by J. W. Stewart & Co., contractors, according to A. Kellett, superintendent in charge. Two hundred men are working on the grade and three steam shovels are being used in rock cuts six miles east of Abbotsford.

"There is no reason why the contract should not be completed inside of ninety days. Beyond the rock cuts the route is across a level stretch," says Mr. Kellett.

CORONATION MINES

The Coronation Mines, which comprise the Bendor Mines, the Huntless and Exchange Fraction, situate on Cadwallader Creek in the Bridge river district of the Lillooet mining division, have been acquired by a strong syndicate of Victoria men. The veins are free milling gold, and have been traced upon the surface for over five thousand feet. They have been proved to grow richer in depth to the three hundred foot level, and on the Bendor property have been opened up by levels and upraises, so that at present a conservative estimate of the ore in sight is 60,000 tons. A fourth level, which it is expected will strike the ledge in another 100 feet, will give 210 more feet of backs on the vein, and if the ledge continues in width and value, will more than double the ore in sight. There is a fully equipped ten stamp mill upon the property, run by a water power sufficient to run a mill of 100 stamps.

The company known as the Coronation Mines, Limited, has $1,000,000 in cash for development purposes, and is putting no treasury stock on the market. Mr. Charles Copp, the superintendent, with a force of men, has commenced mining operations. Until the end of June Mr. Copp will confine his attention to development only, but as soon thereafter as he considers it advisable, milling operations will be started under the superintendence of the most competent millmen available.

The company, of which Mr. H. B. Thomson, M. P. P., is president, Mr. G. A. Kirk, vice-president, and Mr. F. H. Forbes, secretary, has acquired the Coronation Mines and intends to develop them as rapidly and economically as possible.

CONTRACT LET FOR NEW PRINCESS

The contract for a new Princess liner for the C. P. R. to run between Victoria and northern British Columbia ports, has been awarded to Messrs. Bow, McLachlan & Co., of Paisley, builders of the steamer Princess Mary, by the British Columbia coast steamship service of the C. P. R. The new vessel, which is to be added to the growing coasting fleet of the C. P. R., on this coast, with headquarters at Victoria, will be a steel single screw freight and passenger steamer, designed to allow of carrying heavy freight as well as passengers, equipped with large hatches and powerful cranes and good passenger accommodations.

The new steamer will be 240 feet long, 44 feet beam, and 18 feet deep, with a capacity for 1,200 tons deadweight. Work will be started at once on the new vessel, and she will probably arrive here in the autumn.

The new Princess is to be operated between Victoria and Prince Rupert and northern British Columbia ports, probably also to open Charlotte island ports.

QUEBEC HAS A $20,000,000 BOOT MERGER

A big boot and shoe merger is the latest thing in the way of a combine in Quebec. The capital will be in the neighborhood of $20,000,000. The trust is to include if possible all the factories in the district of Quebec. The Marsh and the Ritchie concerns are about the most important mentioned in connection with the merger. The men behind the movement are still dark horses. A manufacturer here has anything to say about the affair. He declares that it is premature to speak and that nothing has yet been done.

It is expected that a great economy will be effected in manufacturing by the merger under which it is proposed to confine the production of particular classes of goods to particular factories. It is also proposed to abolish all piece work and to pay weekly wages only.

A SYNDICATE BADLY HIT IN CRUDE RUBBER

Some of the largest rubber interests are of the opinion that the end of the era of abnormally high prices and extreme fluctuations in crude rubber is now definitely in sight. It is extremely unlikely except in periods of great panic the world will ever again see the rubber shoot upward from $1.50 to over $3 per pound and decline again inside of a twelve-month to $1.13.

Leading interests are confident that rubber will continue to rule at $1.50 per pound for many months. For one thing stocks of rubber in sight are double what they were a year ago.

They may be placed at about 10,000 tons, compared with less than 5,000 tons a year ago.

A speculative Brazilian syndicate is loaded up with over 5,000 tons of high-priced rubber. Of this amount the syndicate has been carrying 2,400 tons ever since prices soared to $3 per pound a little over a year ago. They accumulated another 3,000 tons on the decline, and are sitting on the entire lot. It was this syndicate which pushed prices up from $1.13 recently to $1.75 per pound, but consumers refused to be frightened, and a more natural market at around $1.30 has been established.

A $5,000,000 MERGER OF CROCKERY COMPANIES

Another important amalgamation has been consummated. It will include several of the largest wholesale crockery and glassware manufacturers and distributors in Canada. The name of the new concern is Cassidy's, Limited, with a capital stock of $5,000,000, divided into 50,000 shares of $100 each. The head office of the company will be at Montreal. The following companies are included in the merger:

The John L. Cassidy, Limited, Montreal.

Gowans, Kent & Co., Toronto.

Gowans, Kent Western, Limited, Winnipeg.

Bawo & Dotter, New York (with branch houses and factories in Germany and France.

All the common stock, $2,500,000, and also the preferred stock has been issued. Canadian capital only is interested in the amalgamation, which will both manufacture and distribute. New branches may be established in various parts of the Dominion. No bond issue is contemplated. The following are the officers of the new company: President, Messrs. Wm. Prentice; secretary, F. Warden; treasurer, Mr. Petch; directors, Mr. Wm. Prentice, Mr. Wm. Yuill, Mr. W. D. Birchall, Mr. F. S. Parlee, Mr. J. D. Montgomery, Mr. McL. Yuill, Dr. A. B. Osborne.

GENERAL INQUIRY INTO TELEGRAPH POOLS

The general enquiry into telegraph pools being conducted by Isaac Pitblado, K. C., of Winnipeg, before the Dominion railway commission has been postponed indefinitely. Mr. Pitblado was unable to continue his investigation into the affairs of the G. N. W. to a conclusion on the 28th ult., as he had not been able to read the contract between the Grand Trunk and the G. N. W. He also wanted a mass of detailed information from the C. P. R., which will take at least a month or six weeks to provide. There was a long argument as to how far back the C. P. R. should be compelled to dig into their cost accounts. Chairman Mabee did not think it was material what the company was earning twenty-five years ago. The point was what they were earning now. After a short consultation, however, Dr. Mills Darcy Scott and Commissioner McLean apparently overruled him, as he announced that a majority of the board were of the opinion that the C. P. R. would have to dig down to the day of their birth. The question of the separation of the cost of construction of telegraph lines as distinct from the railway business is going to be very difficult, as the C. P. R. run their telegraph business apparently merely as a branch of the railway company. It was finally decided that as soon as Mr. Pitblado had sufficient information to resume the enquiry he should notify the board, and a date will be set for the next session.

It was learned from the examination of Mr. Fred Roper, secretary-treasurer of the Dominion Telegraph company, that the G. N. W. was virtually a holding company for the Western Union, who also owned a large block of stock in the Dominion Telegraph Company, stock that was originally purchased by the late Jay Gould when he organized the American Union in competition with the Western Union, the two latter companies shortly afterward amalgamating.

A cablegram from Ontario or Montreal to Great Britain costs 25 cents a word. The cable rate from Winnipeg is 34 cents a word. Thus on a ten-word cable message Winnipeg pays 90 cents as far as Montreal, whereas a domestic ten-word message costs only 75 cents. Isaac Pitblado, K.C., asked General Manager Perry how that was. "Difference in the class of business," he was told.

MANY HOLDERS OF SOVEREIGN BANK AGREE

Shareholders of the Sovereign Bank are accepting with a good deal of promptness the proposal to subscribe for stock equal in amount to the double liability on their Sovereign Bank shares in a new company which will wind up the business.

Mr. F. G. Jemmett, the general manager, has received a number of applications from smaller shareholders, and it is understood that the larger interests in the bank have already expressed their approval of the plan. The feature of the new scheme is that the charter will be saved, and the double liability clause not invoked.

Mr. Jemmett says in his letter to holders: "During the last three years the collection of the bank's assets has been pushed as vigorously as has been consistent with the avoiding of unnecessary loss, and enough has been collected to reduce the bank's total liabilities from $16,174,000 as on December 31, 1907, to $4,208,000, as on December 31, 1910, a reduction of approximately $12,000,000 in three years. Allowing for liquidation since December 31, 1910, and for 'set-offs' of some of its assets against liabilities, the present actual liabilities are about $4,000,000. Against these liabilities the bank has assets which are carried on its books at about $5,000,000, and these assets, if carefully nursed and satisfactorily disposed of, may realize about this amount."

A GRAND ADVERTISEMENT

On the 19th and 20th of this month Victoria will receive on of the best advertisements possible for any city. On those two dates the United Commercial Travellers will hold their annual convention in the Capital and they may be reckoned on to "boost" the fame of Victoria throughout their subsequent travels. The U. C. T. is one of the most powerful organizations of its kind on the North American Continent and its members are drawn from both sides of the Line. Victoria is situated in what is known as the Pacific Coast District and at last year's meeting it was decided that the next convention should be held here. Special representatives will come from the other cities in the same district, the most important of which are Seattle, Portland, Spokane, Tacoma, Everett, Bellingham, Oregon and Vancouver. In addition to these special representatives there will be a host of travellers from the East and Central States and Provinces who have made arrangements to combine business with pleasure and will arrive here, many of them with their wives, so as to be in time for the convention. In all, the local committee expect to act as host to some eight or ten hundred guests. A splendid programme of entertainment is being arranged to take place in between the various business which is scheduled for discussion, and in the next issue of The Week a full and detailed account of the perfected arrangements will be published.

BOOK NOTES

Randall Parrish has woven a charming story around a love-scene during the Civil War and though one can hardly help regarding the hero as little better than a fool during the opening chapters, the author has so skillfully treated his subject matter that the mental deficiency of the principal character becomes submerged in his undoubted prowess as a soldier. "Love Under Fire," for such is the title of the book, is written in Mr. Parrish's best style and is worthy to be ranked high amongst modern historical romances.

"Love Under Fire," by Randall Parrish; A. C. McClure & Co., $1.50. The Standard Stationery Co., Government St., Victoria, B. C.

these trees which are of the very highest variety, and this only represents about one-quarter of what they intend to do.

THE DOUKHOBOURS

Residents in and around Nelson have been immensely struck with the vast progress made by the colony of Doukhobours which has settled at Brilliant. These enterprising people have just completed the planting of 60,000 fruit trees at Brilliant besides 6,000 additional trees at Passmore which almost adjoins the Brilliant settlement at Grand Forks. Two thousand acres have been planted with

The Doukhobours, to say the least, are a very great people. Their settlements in Brilliant are one "harmonious heaven of love and kindness" to each other and to all they meet. Mr. Peter Veregin, their leader, is a great man, and is surely the Tolstoi of Doukhobour society. During the coming summer schools are to be built to satisfy the needs of the community.

There is nothing more effective than raperies, and it is good to know they will not be dropped from weather styles. On the contrary it is to them we are to look for real novelty note of the season. Linens and other summer materials will be entirely transformed by new treatment is a foregone conclusion, and that results will amply justify the innovation is equally certain. At various exhibitions of models which have been occupying the attention of those intimately connected with dress in the making, perhaps one of the features has excited

There was an underskirt, gored at the top, with a line of insertion, shadow lace, down the centre as far as the knees. At that point the skirt was crossed by two bands of the insertion. The top was "fixed" where it met the centre line of lace, with a bow of shell pink satin ribbon, while below it, on the second row of insertion, was another bow of the same character, from which drooped two ends of satin, each with a long silk tassel. The bottom of the skirt was turned in a hem and faced on the wrong side with pink satin that showed through. There was a tunic of creamy mousseline matching the groundwork of the print, and this was in the form of two panniers, each drawn to a point, and finished with a tassel, while at the top the satin sash ended in a bow just where it was most needed—at the top of the long line of insertion.

Bandings are popular as trimmings on the pretty combination dresses, and are made of all sorts of materials, oftentime in distinct contrast to the remainder of the decorative scheme. They serve a great many purposes. Ball fringe is another favorite used in finish edges. It is almost the exception that a costume has not a cord and tassel, either around the waist, monk fashion, or twisted into a noose and applied as a bow or a rosette. Metal fringes and laces, too, find a place with thin summer materials. Sometimes they seem a bit incongruous, but incongruity we must accept as one of the fascinations of the new modes. These fringes are seldom used in any profusion, but as sash ends or to finish a short panel or stole when they give an enlivening hint.

It is going to be a great year for original wraps of all kinds, some diminutive and well above the waist line and others extending well toward the hem of the gown. Already such delectable little creations have sprung up abundantly. One of the most fascinating ones seen is the fichu shaped cape made of double-faced satin, the contrasting color of the lining turning out in odd little collars, revers, hems and other finishes. Hood effects are seen on some such models, and all sorts of quaint collar shapes. Similar wraps are made of two layers of chiffon, one over the other, the under and upper side in contrasting tones and the undertone creeping onto the outside in pretty finishes. Separate little boleros are going to give variety to next summer's wardrobe. One of the sanest of these garments is of black satin piped with a color that harmonizes with the toilet which it is to accompany. One of the kind seen at an opening was very short and the fronts were cut to meet in a sort of point at the bust but allowed to hang loose. It is the thing, it is said, for these little coats to hang open and loose. Some such jackets are being made of changeable silk in flower colors to go with dainty flowered summer frocks, and others are coming out in lingerie and lace, sometimes with beading and embroidery that is all white or that introduces a needed note of color.

A parasol made of white English embroidery shows the scalloped edges strikingly accentuated on a bordering band of black velvet ribbon, and the long ends of a bow of black velvet ribbon floats from the stick of white wood. This is adorable with a white corded silk costume and white straw hat, both enlivened with touches of soft, delicious, cerise velvet. A second black and white parasol has its foundation of thin white silk, covered with black point d'esprit to the edge of a six or seven inch border of fine plaited black mousseline de soie, framed in inch wide black velvet ribbon.

A flat rosette of black point d'esprit trims the pagoda-shaped top, and a smaller one is posed on the handle. Still another is all of lovely white Venise lace laid over white mousseline de soie; at the edge this bubbles into a mass of tiny puffs over tinier frills of white Valenciennes lace, and, under all, is the effective band of black velvet ribbon. A long black silk tassel ornaments the end of the stick as it bulges into a big knob of light bird's-eye maple. Most beautiful of all, and a real novelty, is a parasol which was carried one day by the lovely Princess of Pless, who is appearing in public for the first time since her long illness. Soft white silk covers the frame, and over it is laid white, sparkling bead-embroidered tulle. Silver galon, to the depth of three inches, borders the edge, and the handle of polished whitewood is tied with a long white silk tassel knobbed with silver. Imagine this severely lovely thing shading a big hat, with a wide curved brim, of fine pink straw, trimmed all about with big, fresh-looking roses shading from deep Burgundy red into palest pink! At one side of the back they mounted into a tall feather-shaped spray; the under side of the brim was faced with black velvet. A regal picture this Princess made. The illustration on Women's Page is a "Finch & Finch" creation.

ELLISON

The Only Main Townsite in B. C. in which the G.T.P. Railway Company has announced its Joint Ownership

Ellison, you will find, occupies the strategic commercial point which seems bound to command all the trade of the Interior tributary to Prince Rupert. It is where the steel rails of the transcontinental railway from the Atlantic touch the salt waters of the Pacific on the navigable waters of the Skeena River. As a port it will be second only to Prince Rupert in the northern part of this province, and is also second to this city as the only other townsite in which the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and the Government are jointly interested in which lots are offered for sale.

WHAT ARE WE HERE FOR?

We are all Pioneers. Not here for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets, or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said: "Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow." And here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door this year.

IF YOU OWN ELLISON LOTS LIST THEM WITH US

READ CURRENT HISTORY

Prince Rupert lot speculators do not need to have pointed out to them what magic lies in the announcement that the great railway company and the Government are partners in the Ellison townsite. That should be enough to bring them a-running. But not everybody has the time to read the newspapers as closely as your uncle. In the Manitoba Free Press of April 5th, for instance, there was a big headline reading: "Hundred and seventy new towns to be Born in Western Canada During the Company Year." Reading the list one finds many are Grand Trunk Pacific towns, but not one in British Columbia. No, Ellison and Prince Rupert are the townsites in which the railway is directly interested at this time.

ELLISON WHERE ATLANTIC LOCOMOTIVES WILL TOOT SALUTE TO PACIFIC STEAMERS ON THE SKEENA RIVER ELLISON

One of the most popular of all the official reports published by the British Columbia Government is the one bearing upon its title page the caption: "New British Columbia," which has become generally known as "Bulletin No. 22," that being the official number of the report. It has been widely distributed and you will have little difficulty in finding one. On one page of this popular report you will read this official declaration: "Upper Skeena will become one of the garden spots of British Columbia."

ELLISON, from its advantageous position, with the Skeena River navigable for large steamers at its front, a great transcontinental railway intersecting it, should naturally become the metropolis of the wonderful garden spot of British Columbia referred to in the official report.

ELLISON lots are ready sellers. Why? Just study the map a minute or two.

ELLISON is a townsite in which the Government and the Grand Trunk Pacific are active partners. There can, therefore, be not even a shadow of doubt as to its future success. You are invited to share in this certain success by investing in a few town lots while they are at bottom prices.

ELLISON should, within a short time, have a regular train service, as it is but a little distance from Mile 104, to which point it is expected that trains from Prince Rupert will be running this summer.

ELLISON may not be the only pebble on the Skeena River beach, but it certainly is the only townsite on that navigable water in which the railway company have announced themselves interested. No doubt next year there may be other additions and sections put on the market, but by that time prices will have gone up. Now you have a chance to be in on the ground floor.

DOLLARS invested in good ground, rapidly grow. Did you look at that map?

WHERE the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Government are joint owners in a townsite the lots should be regarded as a safe investment. Where one might and properly should hesitate before investing in townsites promoted by individuals or town-promoting companies, there can be no hesitancy or misgiving as to town lots in which the Government and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway are jointly interested.

ELLISON is different. Do you catch on? What better guarantee can you possibly look for?

PRINCE RUPERT'S brief history will be repeated in the sale of ELLISON town lots.

ELLISON should have the most rapid growth of any new town in British Columbia or anywhere else. Lots in the sections we are now offering for sale, as well as such additions and sections that may be offered later, may be calculated to bring investors similar returns to those resulting from the first sale of Prince Rupert town lots.

ELLISON, where the Grand Trunk Pacific Transcontinental trains from the Atlantic will first strike that wonderful Skeena River.

ELLISON needs at present merchants, hotel men, "the baker, the butcher and the candlestick maker," more than lot speculators, but they will come later all right, as they did in Prince Rupert, and pay BIG RENTS.

ELLISON tradespeople will live in a town where railway freight rates will always be regulated by the competition of water transportation, as Ellison will be the last important landing up the Skeena River. It is where the railway leaves the Skeena Valley to follow that of the famous Bulkley Valley.

ELLISON is on the market NOW. It is very doubtful if any other Grand Trunk townsite in British Columbia will be on the market this year.

ELLISON is destined to be the principal shipping point not only for the agricultural belt in the Bulkley and adjacent valleys—just glance at the map again and see what a vast country will depend on Ellison for its supplies and transportation for its products. And then, when Grand Trunk officials announce the fact that it is THE townsite in the Hazelton district in which their company is interested, you are reminded of the great mining activity that district is promised this season, the machinery to go in and the rich ore to come out.

ELLISON is the first spring opening of Grand Trunk Pacific offerings in the way of town lot opportunities. There may be others later, but there's no certainty when. Come early and select Ellison lot, 20 per cent cash, balance easy terms, 7 per cent interest. A few lots in Ellison Townsite for sale—Inside lots $250.00 each; corner lots $350.00 each.
