THE PROBLEM

The article in the last issue of The Week dealing with the subject of land settlement in British Columbia has been widely discussed, and has brought a number of suggestions to The Week office and many requests that the subject be dealt with at greater length. There are two phases that can be discussed with advantage, especially as reliable data is obtainable; and any statements made in these columns can readily be checked. The first has to do with the scarcity and cost of labour as restricting settlement and reducing the profits of the producer. On the subject of labour, much might be said. Indeed, it is a vexed problem, and even those who have studied it closely are at variance. Agricultural labour is so scarce that so dear that the average farmer either has to go without altogether, or secures a little assistance at intervals. This is especially true of fruit farms; and explains why, when picking-time comes, so much of the crop remains ungathered. It is the same with fruit as with grain on the prairies; the harvest period extends over a short time; labour is wanted in a rush; there is not sufficient available in the country, and there are no arrangements whatever for bringing in fruit-pickers.

One would think the same course might be followed as in England, where women and young people from the cities are only too glad to go fruit-picking and hopping; but the economic conditions are widely different. The bread-winner gets high wages that there is no necessity for the wife or children to help, and if the truth must be told, there are very few boys and girls in British Columbia who would think it beneath their dignity to engage in an occupation of this kind. There is the same disinclination to do this class of work as to enter domestic service, and it is hopeless to expect any relief from the cities. How, then, is the requirement to be met? Clearly, there is only one solution, assuming always that public opinion will not sanction Oriental immigration,—and that is, to settle permanently on the land an agricultural population that will be sufficient for its own requirements; a population which will be content to stay on the land, and which, as it grows, will provide children accustomed to the duties of farm life, and probably also attract in increasing numbers young men who will be content with a country life and a farm labourer's wages.

It may be taken for granted that there are none such in Canada, but there are many such in England and Scotland. They cannot, however, be caught singly; they will have to be brought out in numbers, so that the dreadful feeling of isolation that has hitherto proved so fatal to the development of our country districts may be overcome. In short, to be permanently successful in developing an agricultural population, we shall have to reproduce in all its most important aspects the rural life of the Mother Land, with its communal and social features, self-contained in all its requirements, and therefore possessing those elements which will lead to a natural increase of population and the provision of a class of labour which, in the opinion of The Week, will not otherwise be obtainable. This cannot be done without Government assistance. In the first place, the financial undertaking is too heavy for any private company; and, in the next place, it requires Government co-operation to inspire confidence in the immigrant. There has been so much deception, and so much misrepresentation of the conditions of life in Canada, that the desirable class in the Old Country is being wary. It will be possible to secure these people in large numbers only by a scheme in which the Imperial Government and the Provincial Government will co-operate as a guarantee of bona fides and of adequate provision and protection for those who can be induced to abandon their homes and strike out a new path in a new world.

It is all very well to talk of the superior advantages Canada affords; of the magnificent resources of the country, and of the bright future assured to industry and thrift. This is all perfectly true, but we too often lose sight of the sentimental considerations that weigh with every emigrant from his Mother Land. It means a great wrench, however bright the prospects may be—a wrench that has proved too great for many who have been sought. It is one thing for the down-trodden peasants of Galicia and other European provinces, who have lived for centuries under the iron heel of a despot, and who have led harder lives than animals are permitted to lead in the New World, to break away from a country in which they have known nothing of freedom, contentment or happiness. But it is an entirely different thing for the peasants of England and Scotland, who, however poor, are attached to their homes because they have known nothing of oppression and have learned to believe (as they have a right to) that after all there is no land on earth like the Mother Land. It was such considerations as these that led Mr. Lloyd George, who visited the Prairie Provinces 10 years ago at the head of a deputation of Welshmen, to decide against bringing out his fellow countrymen, and to nip in the bud an important colonization scheme which the Government and the C. P. R. had under negotiation. It is this factor that has been overlooked in all the colonization schemes hitherto submitted to the Provincial Government. But with the guarantee afforded by a joint scheme to which the Home and the B. C. Government are partners such considerations would fall to the ground, and the said guarantee would inspire confidence, as well as solve the financial problem; and The Week urges that negotiations shall be opened up between the two Governments with this end in view.

The other phase of the question, which demands prompt and serious attention, has to do with the distribution and marketing of agricultural products. A number of facts were given in our last issue, shewing how unprofitable farming and fruit-growing are under existing conditions, and pointing out that the providing of improved transportation facilities would be an important factor in ameliorating these conditions; but of scarcely less importance is the subject of marketing. At present, most of the fruit is turned over to commission houses, which have no interest in securing the best possible market or the best possible price for the producer, because it often pays them better to handle imported instead of home-grown fruit, in which case they do not hesitate to sacrifice the interests of the local grower. Many a farmer from the Saanich district has driven into Victoria with a load of fruit to find that the local commission houses would not take it from him at any price; or that he could put it into stock and take his chance; or that he might, if he chose, accept a nominal price, and all this whilst large quantities of imported fruit was being sold by the same houses. It has been demonstrated beyond doubt that there is no fruit superior to that grown in this Province. The recent exhibition in Vancouver has removed the last possible doubt on the subject; and there should be some means of ensuring the local market for the local product. It is a fact that whilst hundreds of tons of splendid fruit were rotting in the orchards near to Victoria, it is hardly possible to buy fruit of any kind in Prince Rupert and other Northern towns; but it would require an expert investigation to determine to what extent the commission houses in pursuance of their own selfish interests are strangling a native industry. There is every reason to believe that such an investigation would reveal a system of combination as ruthless and destructive as that which has characterized the actions of the American Trusts.

It must not be supposed that this system of combination is in any sense confined to the commission houses that handle the fruit crop; it pertains in other branches of equal, if not greater, importance, and accounts to an extent of which few people have any knowledge for the high cost of living in Victoria and Vancouver. It applies directly to meat, poultry, fish, fruit, and last but by no means least, to fuel. This latter item is one which calls for prompt attention and drastic action. No one begrudges the colliery operator a fair and even a handsome profit, having regard to the risky character of his investment; but coal at $7.50 in Victoria and Vancouver is out of all reason. Coal at $4.50 f. o. b. is high, to say the least; and yet it is a well known fact that one of the largest enterprises at the Coast has recently tried to induce the other producers to join a combination for raising prices. The late Capt. Tatlow was not a little incensed at the high price of fuel, and declared more than once that the subject would have to receive the attention of the Government. The mere suggestion of a possible increase in price should lead to some steps being taken to render this a matter of impossibility. As to the price of cordwood at $7.50 a cord, when much of it is simply driftwood procured from the local beaches, The Week is not prepared to say whether Victorians consider the price excessive or not. It is, at any rate, double the figure of a few years ago. The Week will gladly welcome suggestions, and will be pleased to receive information bearing on the various points raised in this article. It will be generally admitted that the cost of living has reached such a pitch that something must be done. To the extent to which this is due to natural causes, no doubt we shall have to grumble and bear it. In such cases, time is the only cure. But to the extent to which it is due to artificial causes, to unfair competition, and to such conditions as can be removed by the Government, there will be a general consensus of opinion that the remedy should be applied.

THE MAYORALTY

The Week congratulates the citizens of Victoria on the probability of being able to secure Mr. W. E. Oliver as a candidate for the Mayoralty. This is the first paper to bring Mr. Oliver prominently before the public, for, although he has lived in the city many years and has large and growing interests, he is a man of such extreme modesty that he has not been heard of to any extent, except when he was accustomed to rout the City representatives in connection with some matter that cropped up between the Municipality of Victoria and that of Oak Bay. At such times people realized that the quiet man who represented the smaller interest was more than a match for the big guns whom he had to meet. During the last municipal campaign, when Mr. Oliver was a candidate and would have won but for the fatuity of the liquor interests in openly supporting Mr. Jno. A. Turner. Mr. Oliver gained many friends by the able and lucid manner in which he handled public questions and by the entire absence of personal feeling of self-seeking with which he conducted his campaign. Since then Victoria has had another taste of the Morley regime, and is both wiser and sadder than ever. The element upon which Mr. Morley has chiefly relied has found him out (as was generally expected) and now we have the spectacle of the Ministerial Association—which may fairly be regarded as the official organization at the head of the reform movement—waiting upon Mr. Oliver and urging him to enter the field. There is little doubt but that if he accedes to the request of a large number of leading citizens and influential business men who have signed a requisition he will be elected by a substantial majority, whoever his opponents may be. Victoria has had enough of freak mayors and professional reformers. Under no circumstances will it be induced to accept an avowed protegee of the liquor interests. It has no desire to fight out the issue on a political basis. In Mr. Oliver it would have a mayor who would be strictly non-political; who makes no claim to being either better or worse than his fellow men; who has demonstrated that he is a man of great administrative and executive ability; and who is so circumstanced that he has nothing to gain by securing the position, except the very honourable and laudable ambition to serve his fellow citizens. If Mr. Oliver can be induced to accept the nomination, The Week bespeaks for him the hearty support of all who desire to see Victoria prosper.

THE RAINBOW

The Times, in a flight of imagination which rarely illumines its editorial columns, compares the advent of H. H. C. S. Rainbow to the appearance of the rainbow promised in the sky. The simile may be a little far-fetched, and possibly more poetical than practical. It just depends upon what the Times means. If it contents itself with premising that, as a realization of the fondest desires of those who wished to see Canada take some step in the direction of Imperial naval defence the Rainbow is evidence that their views have obtained, then we are on common ground and there is little demur to the illustration. If, however, the Times wishes in any way to emphasize the importance of the Rainbow as a contribution to the Imperial Navy, all that can be said is that many people will prefer to wait and see before they say much. An old-timer, who is one of the best known men in Victoria, facetiously remarked on Monday that "half of the Canadian Navy had arrived at Esquimalt"; and no doubt his observation voices the thoughts of a great many people. The Colonist and the Times both say that the arrival of the Rainbow is an historic event. Indeed, the former says it is epochal, which is a very different thing. At any rate, this much may be said that everybody will be glad at even the faint dawning of intelligence on the part of the Canadian Government as manifested in the acquisition of the Niobe and the Rainbow; and most people will also hold that the Government will be able to direct and control its infant Navy with far greater success than has hitherto characterized its management of its Military affairs.

FEDERAL POLITICS

Affairs in Quebec are becoming exciting, and all eyes are turned towards the Province which fifteen years ago gave a French-Canadian Premier to Canada. The Week is not concerned with that phase of the subject which is being so vigorously discussed in the Eastern press as to how far Conservatives are rejoicing at the victory of Mr. Bourassa and his friends. The Week believes that Conservatives are human, and that it would be asking too much of Conservative or Liberal that they should refrain from a feeling of intense

At The Street Corner

By THE LOUNGER

The Rainbow has arrived and the jolly tars are being received on all sides with a hearty enthusiasm—but, that is when they come up town. Due notice was given in the daily press that the nucleus of our Canadian Navy on the Pacific Coast would arrive on Monday last, and it appeared to be the general opinion that a large crowd would assemble at Esquimalt to witness the arrival. The opinion indeed seemed to be so general that everyone left this duty to his neighbour, and according to an eye-witness the assembled multitudes at the Naval Harbour on this historic occasion numbered some two dozen people. However, our good friend, the Victoria Times, kept up the bluff and assured its readers that the casting of the anchor was witnessed by many hundreds; the Colonist, more modestly, speaks of a "small crowd"; the Lounger, though he was unable to be there himself as he had other duties to attend to, prefers to refer to "the mere handful." What on earth is the good of pretending to an enthusiastic loyalty, if such be shown by assembling in crowds to watch the arrival of the first of Canada's Navy on the Pacific Coast, when it is well known that most people confined their loyalty to their lips. I myself cannot see that the mere flocking down for such a purpose is any proof of loyalty; to me it smacks more of curiosity. An official welcome on the part of the Dominion and Provincial Governments had been arranged and Mayor Morley effectively represented the City of Victoria in this same function. The main body of the citizens were content to feel that the opportunity afforded on Thursday night, when they could more effectively show by their personal salutations how welcome was the arrival of the Rainbow, was ample for the purpose. And in this opinion I am inclined to agree. What I cannot understand is the necessity which other papers found to pretend the existence of a crowd which on the credible authority of an eye-witness, an old newspaper man himself, was non-existent.

It seems to me an extraordinary thing that in the account printed of the reception to the Welsh Ladies' Choir the name of Mr. A. Petch should have been omitted. Seeing that the gentleman referred to was the founder of the Welsh Society in this town and that he is its present President, such an omission becomes grotesque. In all such accounts the names of some more or less prominent persons are almost bound to be left out, but it is seldom that the omission embraces such an important figure as the President of the principal society to which reference is being made.

Oh, chortle, ye gods and little fishes. Hear ye of the latest comedy perpetrated by the Family Journal of the Pacific Coast. Know ye first of all that after many years' pow-wow it has been definitely decided to hold a dinner at the Empress Hotel on January 21st of next year for Old Public-Schoolmen. It should not require the eye of a sage to see nor the brain of one to understand that such an announcement means that attendance at the banquet is limited to those men in the Province who can claim to have been at some recognized school in the Old Country. But the Family Journal apparently knows not the meaning of the term "Public-Schoolman," and in its issue of November 8th solemnly prints the following, much to the amusement of the initiated, as well as to you, ye gods and little fishes:

"Dinner at Empress"

"A dinner at which the erstwhile students of Victoria's schools will reunite has been arranged to take place on the 21st of January at the Empress hotel. The management of the affair is in the hands of Messrs. Shirwood, Bromley, Kane, Bullen and St. Barbe. It is expected that the invitations will run into the hundreds in number and the promoters are confident that those who attend will have a jolly good time."

In connection with the forthcoming dinner I am authorised to say that evening dress will be entirely optional. Doubtless there will be many present in war-paint, but the still larger majority who have lost their evening dress suits "by the hand of God or the King's enemies" need have no fear that they will be conspicuous if they appear, as it is hoped they will appear, in ordinary morning apparel. Incidentally, Mr. Sherwood spells his name with an "e".

From an item in the Victoria Times of the 8th inst. it would appear that the Y.M.C.A. is as bigoted as the average Christian Church. I gather from the note referred to that certain denominations which are included in the Christian Church, that is to say, they worship the name "Lord and Master of all" are to be barred from the privileges of the Y.M.C.A. because, forsooth, they do not happen to belong to other denominations. I sincerely trust that I may have misunderstood the meaning of the short paragraph, and that, if I have, someone will correct me, in which case I shall be glad to "take it all back" next week. But it misdoubts me; and if my surmise be correct, then—well, words fail me to express my opinion of such action.

On Sunday night last there was a crowd in View Street, blocking up the entrances from Broad and Douglas. I did not see it myself, being at the Socialist Meeting at the New Grand Theatre, but I am told by men who were present that it equalled the fiercest crush in which they had ever found themselves. The occasion was the giving of a Free Concert (collection inside) by the Welsh Ladies Choir. I have been told that women fainted; that clothes were torn, and that one little girl in her father's arms had her shoes and stockings torn off before the two managed to gain an entrance. All of which things were true. I was also told that this state of affairs was due to gross mismanagement on the part of the Manager of the Victoria Theatre, who had advertised that the doors would open at seven. It was insinuated that the doors were kept closed in order to allow Church folk who desired to preserve appearances but were willing to "cut" the sermon in order to have the privilege of attending this concert. Having heard all this I determined to test the truth and I find that all these latter things are absolutely false. There was no definite advertisement published; a short notice in Saturday night's Times stated that there would be a concert. On the previous Friday night Mr. Denham from the platform stated that the doors would be opened at eight o'clock and that the concert would start at 8.30. There was no private entrance opened and the reason that the gallery door remained closed so long was in accordance with an invariable rule of the house under such circumstances, viz.: that this door be not opened until the rest of the house be filled. If there be anyone who has reason to feel aggrieved and to doubt these statements let him produce any advertisement which assured him that the doors would open before the time stated, or give any other contradiction to the above stated facts. It is an undoubted fact that there was a crowd, but one can hardly fail to think that this was entirely due to the Victorian's love of "getting something for nothing"; and this is the more evident when it is taken into consideration that the whole collection panned out at about 15 cents per head; and this for the privilege of hearing the finest choir that has visited Victoria for many a long day.

At the same time one can't help thinking how such an incident illustrates the great desire that the majority of residents have for something to do on Sunday evening other than going to Church. As I said above, I attended the Socialist Meeting, and the New Grand Theatre was pretty well filled. There were hundreds of others walking up and down the streets, listless and bored to death. "There is something rotten in the State of Denmark" when such a state of things is allowed to exist. The majority of people WON'T go to church, and rather than provide them with healthy, regular Sunday evening amusements the Church, or her more rabid supporters, prefer to see them idling away their time, forgetting good old Dr. Watts' warning, that

"Satan finds some mischief still,
For idle hands to do."

Bah! the hypocrisy of the thing. I came across a case only the other day where a shining light and a pillar of some half-recognized denomination had no hesitation in sending down his hired servant, and that a lad of tender years, with drugs and medicines and such like into the under-world, where he was confronted with every form of vice. But that man called himself a Christian and condemned the man

MUSIC AND THE STAGE

The Victoria Theatre

Seldom indeed has such a galaxy of talent been gathered together within the limits of a single week at the Victoria Opera House. Manager Denham is to be congratulated on having been able to offer his patrons such a unique combination of music, laughter and tears as he has done this week.

The Royal Welsh Ladies Choir

This concert was being eagerly looked forward to by many music lovers, and though it is safe to say that none were disappointed it is still more safe to say that the majority were literally taken off their feet by the excellence of this world-famous aggregation of singers. "Poor Wandering One" was perhaps the gem of the evening, but where all was superlative it is invidious to make selections. Suffice it to say that the Royal Welsh Ladies Choir, whether at the Theatre on Friday night, or at the Methodist Metropolitan Church on Sunday, or again at the Theatre on Sunday evening, gave more than every satisfaction and those who were unable to hear them may well regret their dilatoriness.

The World and His Wife

On Monday evening last Mr. H. Cooper Cliff submitted the popular play entitled "The World and His Wife" at the Victoria Theatre. The play, whilst somewhat improbable in some of its features, is intensely dramatic and therefore interesting. It is certain that in real life there never was a woman just like Donna Teodora and probably not a man like Don Alonzo, but then as the admirable actor Mr. Frank Hollins, who played Capt. Maulieu, frequently remarked, the play was Spanish and just what a Spanish gentleman might do is fairly a matter of doubt. I am inclined to think that the production would have been better entitled "Much Ado About Nothing." All the honours were carried off by Mr. Cooper Cliff, who presented one of the most finished and impressive stage portraits seen here for a long time. He was fairly well supported by Mr. William Faversham and Miss Julie Opp; the former, however, has been completely spoilt for serious drama by the posturings and posings which he adopted whilst playing in "The Squaw Man" and kindred picturesque and bizarre dramas. The lady looked "elegant" and acted fairly well, but she would hardly melt a heart of stone and at the end one could hardly help feeling just a touch of sympathy for Don Ernesto in whose arms fate, or rather a Spanish play-wright, forced her to shelter. Truly the dearth of good plays still continues.

The Kissing Girl

On Tuesday night an amusing little play as above entitled appeared at the Victoria Theatre. It is a fair criticism to say that the chorus were a little weak in their voices, that they made up for this by the excellence of their costumes, whilst the scenery was above praise. Altogether "The Kissing Girl" may be said to have scored a success and the very fair attendance testified to their appreciation in no half-hearted manner.

The Girl, the Man and the Game

On Wednesday night a merry little comedy was played at the Victoria Theatre with Billy "Single" Clifford in the star part. I am inclined, however, to think that the honours were carried off by Mr. Jack Trainor who, as Uncle Cattermole, proved himself a comedian of no mean order. It is somewhat difficult to see on what grounds Mr. Clifford bases his claims to head-lines, for with the exception of his pas de seul in which his hat played the most prominent part, his performance was mediocre in the extreme. Miss Devon has a pretty voice and uses it well. Of the play itself little can be said. Neither the staging nor the costumes were of a very high order, but the fair-sized audience went away seemingly well pleased with the musical absurdity which they had witnessed.

The Matinee Idol

It is the unanimous consensus of opinion that the above play, presented at the Victoria Theatre on Thursday last, is by far the best of its kind that has appeared on those boards for many years. Staging, scenery, costumes were excellent. De Wolf Hopper appeared at his best and half the male portion of the audience lost their hearts to the chorus. The show was first-class in every way.

The New Grand Theatre

It seems too much to ask Messrs. Considine & Sullivan to give three "cracker-jack" shows in succession. During the present week the New Grand theatre has not been running an Al show. Alf Camm, the ventriloquist, is by far the cleverest man on this week's stage, and as a ventriloquist he is excellent and extremely clever. There are few ventriloquists who are sure enough of themselves to submit to a close observation, but Mr. Camm does not hesitate to walk amongst the audience with his mannikin. But, and it is a big "but," on the night I saw him, he had not realized that Victoria is a little more particular than the States and here we do not appreciate expectoration vulgarity. This appears to be one of the highest forms of humour in the States. It is seldom that comedians from the other side appear on our boards without making their piece de resistance the spitting in the other man's eye. It may be funny, and I am sorry and sad to say that many of our people laugh; but it does not appeal to me; neither does it appeal to the majority of the audience. Hallen & Fuller have been presenting the usual comedy which is well up to the average. The other turns have been mediocre in the extreme.

The Lyceum Theatre

The Bonham Robinson Comedy Company have succeeded the E. C. Hart Comedy Company at the Johnson Street theatre. I fancy that I must have caught them on a bad night as there appeared to be some discrepancy between the pianist and his instrument and between both of them and the chorus. Of the play I can say little. It was entitled "Fads and Fancies," but it might just as well have been called anything else. Miss Iva Walker has a very sweet voice and with a decent accompanist would make a great hit. There was an intensely humorous scene with Messrs. Bonham, Matchin and McHaney as principals. No doubt, when the present company feel more settled in their new surroundings they will succeed as well as their predecessors in creating that wholesome laughter which is the secret of long life.

The Majestic Theatre

One of the best Moving Picture shows that I have witnessed in a ten-cent house was an evidence last Monday night at The Majestic Theatre. To start with, it seemed to me that there were more films than usual and of a vastly superior quality. "On-anka," an Indian picture, was excellent, and in the other presentations drama and comedy were well intermingled.

Romano's Theatre

Another Western drama of the type which has proved so popular in Victoria has been "Red Wing and The White Girl." People never seem to get tired of these pictures and well they may not, when they are up to the standard of excellence which is always observable at Romano's Theatre.

The Crystal Theatre

"In the Days of '49" was a thrilling drama presented on the screen of the Broad Street house during the early part of the week. It was if possible above the average of the films with which the enterprising management at present conducting the entertainments at this popular house, have been delighting their audiences. I never leave The Crystal but that I feel sorry that the show is over and without looking forward to the day after to-morrow when a fresh set of films will appear.

THE LOOSE END BY BOHEMIAN

Much has been said, and still more written, about the Englishman in Canada. Not so very long ago he was regarded either as a rogue or a fool, and more often than not as a combination of both. If he happened to be in receipt of regular sums of money from home he was promptly dubbed "Remittance Man," and regarded as some inferior kind of animal to be preyed upon at such times as the money was due and to be severely left alone for the balance of the year. If he was travelling for pleasure as a tourist he was a person to be fawned upon and flattered to his face, and to be sneered at behind his back. Occasionally the biter was bitten, and doubtless there are many who can remember instances where the guileless Englishman was just one too many for the wily North American. But such cases have been few and far between, and for the most part the average Englishman in Canada, until quite lately, has been looked upon as one to be courted so long as he has money in his pocket and to be thrown aside when he is "broke," as a helpless, unadaptable, rather conceited and altogether somewhat undesirable individual.

That was only a few years ago. We have all of us seen advertisements in the press asking for help and distinctly saying that no Englishman need apply. And doubtless the advertiser was quite right in so wording his advertisement. There were too many "black sheep" in the country. Helpless younger sons and hopeless ne'er-do-wells, who were shipped out from the Old Country in the hopes that they, like Mr. Micawber, would find something turning up, were fairly numerous. It took a long time for these men to accustom themselves to the change of environment, to different customs and habits. They tell a good story in the States about an English tourist who expressed his great admiration for the country but regretted the fact that there was nothing antique about the place. "You have no old ruins here," he said. "Oh, yes, we have," answered his Yankee guide; "we have the Remittance Men."

But, other times, other customs, and now-a-days the old-fashioned Remittance Man is somewhat out of date. Plenty of men come out to this new country who are in receipt of money from home, whether it be in the form of an allowance from their people, or in the form of interest on their own capital, and the majority of these men use it in helping to develop the land of their adoption. It is more and more becoming a fact that they adopt the land, instead of letting the land adopt them.

I have a case in my mind's eye; in fact it was this particular case which suggested to me the idea for this article. A young fellow whom I know, from the same school as myself, of good family and with a certain amount of capital, spent the first two or three years after his education was completed in travelling. He saw all that there was to be seen and then made up his mind that it would be a good idea to invest some of his money in land. He selected the Cariboo District, bought a large ranch and started in to make improvements. Today, he tells me, he can sell that ranch at a big profit, but he prefers to keep it. He employs a man there to act as manager during his own absence, he is steadily improving his property, he is getting a good return on his capital invested, and at the same time he is doing his share towards opening up the district.

This is only one example. At the present time there are hundreds of Englishmen of the same calibre who are doing exactly the same sort of thing. Possibly they don't all rise at five o'clock in the morning and work with their own hands till eight o'clock at night, but they are investing their capital in the country and showing their faith in its future thereby.

I have used the word "Englishman" with a purpose, because neither the Scotchman nor the Irishman, nor yet the Welshman has ever suffered from the same opprobrium that has fallen upon the devoted head of the unfortunate denizen of the sister nation. The "canny Scot" has always fallen on his feet; it is a tradition with him, and he has never yet betrayed that tradition. The "genial Pat." makes friends wherever he goes, and from being a section man on the North American Continent he has now assumed the proud position of being its "boss." "Taffy" is a wiry worker. But the Englishman on his first arrival always seems to be at a loose end. However these loose ends are joining up and today the Englishman is a welcome immigrant, for his compatriot of the old days, whom one always associates with the delightful stories of the late R. L. Stevenson, has become almost a thing of the past.

The Greatest Mining Country in the World

Stands First in Silver, and Third in Gold Production

We are Largely Interested in one of the Richest Gold Producing Districts in the State of Sonora. Should you desire full information call and see us. Mr. Hind a well known Victoria Engineer gives the following report of his investigations:

Engineer's Report

Victoria, B. C., 6th August, 1910.

TO THE V. SONORA MINING SYNDICATE, Victoria:

Gentlemen,—I beg to report that I have at your request completed an investigation covering a large area of the District of Altar, State of Sonora, in the Republic of Mexico, having particular reference in such work to the Placer Fields and existing conditions of the District.

I find that there are a number of these fields, the best known being The Las Palomas, San Perfecto, Las Norias, Quitobac, Sonoyta, La Cieniguilla, Boludo, San Rafael, Santa Rosa, La Durasno and several smaller ones.

These placers are by no means a new discovery, but have been worked for probably 200 years, as is evidenced by the profusion of old shafts, surface workings, ancient towns and other signs of one-time activity.

A number of these fields were visited and the ground inspected, and in every instance it is interesting to note that there is a system of gold-bearing quartz veins in the hills of the vicinity, these without doubt being the feeders for the placer grounds.

The general conditions have been eminently favorable for the erosion of these veins, and in fact such erosion has taken place to the extent of probably hundreds of feet. During this process of erosion the gold liberated from the veins has been deposited with the gravels on the lower benches, thus forming deposits of varying values and thickness, and subsequently owing to the presence of lime in the percolating waters a gradual process of cementation has taken place, and it is owing to this cementing that only a comparatively small amount of the deposits have been worked.

From the earliest days of the country the Yaqui and Papago Indians have been prosecuting their search for the yellow metal, and in the District there are thousands of acres that have been worked over by them down to the cemented gravels. Owing to their lack of machinery and appliances they were only able to work the loose surface deposits, or such portions of the cements as were abnormally rich, and whilst there are no records of the amounts taken out that can be relied upon, it is estimated that hundreds of millions of dollars have been won.

So far as it is possible to judge the conditions in the cemented gravels have been practically the same as in the loose overburden, in which case it is conceded that the majority of these known fields will give large returns when these cements are worked.

Owing to the lack of water, and the difficulty so far experienced in satisfactory dry crushing, there has been but little real work done in recent years, or at any rate until, at Boludo, Mr. Mitt Quenner devised his pulverizer.

This is a revolving barrel-shaped grizzly, on trommels, the inside being fitted with steel hammers or slugs on chain links and attached to the centre shaft, and revolving at high speed.

This machine breaks the cements from the rock or boulders, and a portion of the latter is ejected as valueless, thus making a preliminary concentration of values, and the cement and finer particles of rock are pulverized and the gold freed. The resultant pulp is then treated by being run over a "dry washer," a somewhat crude concentrating device capable of considerable improvement, and the gold saved thereon. The saving by these washers is fair, but not close, but with some slight improvements made to it, I think the machine will be capable of making a high extraction if carefully worked, and taking into consideration their original cost and the cost of operation it would be hard to replace them entirely, although if necessary further machines of an approved type could be installed to increase the saving.

The Quenner Pulverizer has a proven capacity of over 0 tons of cemented gravels per hour, and requires less than 30 h. p. to operate it.

The country is generally a dry one and water is scarce. This condition has made it necessary in most instances to treat the ores by dry methods, and has undoubtedly developed the present efficiency of such methods. With gasoline or oil engines, and dry pulverizers and washers the lack of water has no particular terror for the operators, as for camp purposes it is always easy at small expense to obtain such quantities as may be required.

The climate is favorable for mining, as there is very little wet or cold weather, and although at times extremely hot I did not notice that work was in any way interfered with.

The supply of labor is plentiful, the Mexicans and Indians being excellent miners, in fact, this seems to be their only means of livelihood, and wages range from $1.00 to $1.5 per day for native labor. Skilled labor is paid for at about the same rate as prevails in our own camps.

I made arrangements for you for the purchase on favorable terms of an exploration of approximately 1,000 pertenencias (2,500 acres) covering a portion of the well known San Rafael placer fields.

Owing to the nature of the placer deposits it is impossible without going to great expense, to obtain a fair average of the values, and more particularly so as some of the gold is very coarse, nuggets from $1.00 to $5.00 being not uncommon, whilst from almost every placer field mentioned there are well authenticated reports of nuggets of large size being taken, many of them being valued at hundreds of dollars.

The most prospecting work done in any one place has been carried out at Las Palomas, by R. K. Neill, of Spokane, and in his report he estimated average values of $0.70 per yard for a depth of 50 feet over a prospected area of 100 acres, with an estimate of $6,000,000 worth of gold contained in this prospected area, and this he states without taking into account the enriched gravels on bedrock, running from 1 to 7 feet thick, for which he got values of approximately $30.00.

Mr. Neill's estimate of working costs is $0.12½ per yard, using the dry methods as adopted there for up to date practice.

At Boludo three companies are working on bedrock, and whilst no definite returns can be obtained, I personally watched several of the cleanups, and found that their ground was averaging from $7.00 to $10.00 per ton.

The San Rafael Placers, under option to the company, have been worked over on the surface by Mexicans and some prospect, and working shafts have been sunk in the "argamasa" or cemented gravels and values as high as $8.00 per ton were obtained.

The thickness of the gravels here is as yet an undetermined factor, but here are large areas which can be seen to be from 20 or 30 feet upwards in thickness. It would be difficult to estimate the actual values contained in this ground, but there are known places in the gravel that will contain not less than $1.00 per ton, and on one of these selected places I should advise that a complete outfit be installed. The total cost of such an outfit, including Quenner Pulverizer, gasoline engine, conveyors and washers will not exceed $7,000, and as practically no provision has to be made for the native workmen employed the further sum of $500 would be sufficient for preliminary headquarters for the management and white employees.

As a low estimate of the values contained, I will assume that the first place on which the equipment is placed will yield $0.60. The cost of mining and treatment should not exceed at an outside estimate $0.25, which would give a net profit of $0.35 per ton, and the machine will treat 400 tons per day. There would thus be a net profit of $140.00 per day or upwards of $3,500 per month.

I should further recommend that a sum of not less than $6,000 be devoted to the purchase of a Quenner Prospecting Mill and equipment, and that the whole of the Company's property be gone over and thoroughly sampled. After such areas of pay gravel as may exist there are definitely located, it would then be for the Directors to decide whether to install further machines and so increase the output, or to sell or lease the ground so proved to contain pay values. By such prospecting and sampling any ground considered not to have sufficient values (and in this great area we may safely assume that portions will be practically of no value to us) could be abandoned, instead of being carried on and taxes paid therefor.

The annexed extract from the "Mining World" of July 9th, 1910, will be of undoubted interest to you, and I therefore append it for your perusal:

"AMERICAN OPERATIONS IN MEXICO.

"In 1823 there was passed the first act enabling foreigners to own and operate mines in Mexico and in the following year three great English corporations accepted the invitation, being the United Mexican Association, the Anglo-Mexican Association and the Adventure Co., the three practically confining their activities to the camps of Guanajuato and Pachuca. Now there are about 1200 legitimate mining companies of outside origin and control operating profitably in Mexico, besides many others engaged in developing ground that is promising in appearance, and still other concerns unincorporated.

"The majority of all these are American, and the result that, despite the fabulous sums that have been taken from the ground throughout the centuries, since the Cortez era, Mexico now ranks fifth among the countries of the world in production of lead, fourth in gold, second in copper and first in silver. It is only within the last few years that any serious attention was paid to the mining of gold in the republic, but now there are several camps, heretofore rated as strictly silver producers, which are scoring greater yields in the yellow than in the white metal."

In conclusion I beg to say that the ground obtained by you gives great promise of being a large producer of Gold (which is the only metal on which the price never varies) and assured careful management I can with confidence recommend it as a legitimate enterprise capable of making large returns upon the money invested.

The objects for which this Company has been established and licensed are:—
(a) To acquire and take over as a going concern and to carry on any business, branch establishment, or agency situated in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland now or heretofore carried on by Bradbury, Grestorex & Co., Limited, a Company registered on the 16th day of February, 1894, and all any of the assets or liabilities of the Company connected with any such business, branch establishment or agency, and to enter into any agreement for or incidental to any such acquisition, or the charge of any such liabilities, or the carrying on of any such business, and to carry any such agreement into effect.
(b) To carry on within and outside of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland the businesses of merchants, Manchester, Scotch, silk and general warehousemen, general factors, commission agents, drapers, silk merchants, tailors, hatters, clothiers, boot and shoe makers, outfitters, hosiers, haberdashers, costumiers, mantle makers, hatters, glovers, furriers, milliners, artificial florists and dealers in silken, linen, cotton, leather, India rubber, waterproof and other goods, textile and other fabrics, hats, bonnets, shoes, trimmings, underclothing, baby linen, bedding, carpets, upholstery, furniture, ironmongery, turners, umbrellas, clocks, ornaments, fancy goods, jewellery, watches, perfumery, cutlery, plated articles, scientific and other apparatus, sewing machines, cycles, rickshaws, motors and vehicles, saddlery, apparatus for use in sports and games of every kind, musical instruments, electric pictures, prints, photographs, stationery, artists, materials, lighting and recreative appliances, chemicals, comestibles, wines, oils, mineral waters, liquors, teas, tobaccos and other articles, mineral, vegetable and animal and such other trades or businesses (whether by way of manufacturing, importing, exporting, letting for hire or otherwise) as may seem to the Company capable of being conveniently carried on in connection with the above or calculated, directly or indirectly, to enhance the value of or render profitable any of the Company's businesses, properties or interests.
(c) To purchase or acquire the whole or any part of the property and goodwill of any trade or business of a nature or character similar or akin to the trade or business before mentioned, or for the time being carried on by the Company, with or without the whole or any part of the assets, estates and effects, and subject to or free from the whole or any part of the liabilities attaching to or connected with any such trade or business and to continue any such trade or business or any part thereof.

(d) To manufacture, produce, buy, sell, import, hire, repair, alter, exchange, let on hire, export, improve, manipulate, prepare for market and generally deal in all goods, materials, produce, substances, articles and things used or capable of being used, or likely to be required by customers or other persons having or about to have dealings with the Company and in all other articles usually dealt in by general export and import merchants, both by wholesale and by retail.
(e) To establish and conduct branch establishments and agencies either within or outside of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and to regulate and discontinue the same branch establishment and agencies or any of them.
(f) To enter into arrangements with any Government or authority, supreme, municipal, local or otherwise, that may seem conducive to the Company's objects, or any of them, and to obtain from any such Government or authority any rights, privileges and concessions which the Company may think it desirable to obtain, and to carry out, execute and comply with any such arrangements, rights, privileges and concessions.
(g) To apply for, purchase, or otherwise acquire, and to use any British, Colonial or Foreign Letters Patent, designs, trademarks, brevets d'invention, licenses, concessions, rights, privileges, trade secrets, mysteries, processes or inventions that may usefully be employed in carrying on or in relation to any business which the Company is authorized to carry on, and to apply for the extension or prolongation of any British, Colonial, or Foreign Letters Patent, brevets d'invention, licences, concessions, rights and privileges and to maintain any such by disclaimers, actions, or other proceedings as may be necessary, and to sell or otherwise dispose of, and to grant licences for the use of any such patents, designs, trademarks, brevets d'invention, licences, concessions, rights, privileges, trade secrets, mysteries, processes or inventions.
(h) To enter into any partnership or arrangement for sharing profits, union of interests, co-operation, joint adventure, reciprocal concession or otherwise with any person, firm, persons, or person carrying on or engaged in or proposing to carry on or engage in any business or transaction capable of being conducted so as directly or indirectly to benefit this Company, and to lend money to guarantee the contracts of or otherwise assist any such Company, firm or person.
(i) To purchase, take on lease, or in exchange, rent, hire or otherwise acquire, hold, occupy and manage any real and personal property, or any estate or interest therein, and any rights, easements and privileges which the Company may determine to be necessary or convenient for the purposes of the Company.
(j) To erect, construct, lay down, enlarge, maintain and provide any buildings, offices, works, machinery, plant, implements, utensils and things which may be necessary or useful for or in connection with the operations and businesses of the Company or any of them.
(k) To sell, convey, transfer, exchange, lease or otherwise dispose of the whole or any part of the undertaking of the Company, and all or any real or personal estate, easements, rights, privileges or property of the Company, for such consideration as the Company may think fit, and in particular for shares, Debentures or Securities of any other Company having objects altogether or in part similar to those of this Company.
(l) To borrow or raise or secure the payment of money in such manner as the Company may think fit, and in particular by the issue of Debentures or Debenture stock, perpetual or terminable, charged upon all or any of the Company's property or rights (present or future), including its uncalled capital, or by the issue of the bonds, certificates or acknowledgements of the Company, and to receive moneys on deposit or accounts current or otherwise with or without allowance of interest.
(m) To lend money on security, or without security, to such persons or companies, and on such terms as may seem expedient, and in particular to exporters and others having dealings with the Company, and to guarantee the performance of contracts by any such persons.
(n) To promote any Company or Companies for the purpose of acquiring all or any of the property and liabilities of this Company, or for any other purpose which may seem directly or indirectly calculated to benefit this Company, and to take by subscription and pay for, or to purchase or otherwise acquire and to hold, or deal in shares, stocks, or securities of any such Company, or of any other Company having objects altogether or in part similar to those of this Company.
(o) To issue and allot shares of the Company, fully or in part paid up, in respect of any purchase or acquisition or agreement by or on the part of the Company, or for any moneys to be owing by the Company, or for any services rendered or to be rendered before or after the incorporation of the Company, or for any other purpose within the objects of the Company.
(p) To draw, accept, make, endorse, issue and negotiate bills of exchange, promissory notes, cheques, deposit notes, bills of lading, warrants, credit notes, and other acknowledgments and negotiable instruments.
(q) To amalgamate with any other Company or Companies with limited liability, and having objects altogether or in part similar to those of this Company.
(r) To distribute any of the property of the Company among the members, or any class or classes of members, in specie.
(s) To invest and deal with the moneys of the Company not immediately required, upon such securities and in such manner as may from time to time be determined.
(t) To register the Company, or constitute or incorporate it as an anonymous or other Society, in any country or in any colony or dependency of the United Kingdom, and to obtain any Act of Parliament or Provisional Order, or to apply to any Court or take any other proceedings or means of enabling the Company to carry any of its objects into effect, or for effectuating any modification of the Company's constitution, or for any other purposes which may seem expedient, and to oppose any proceedings, agitations or measures which may seem to the Company likely, directly or indirectly, to be detrimental to its interests.
(u) To provide for the sustenance or welfare of any persons who may be or have been officers of the Company, and of the widows and families of any such persons, and to establish and support, or to aid in the establishment and support, of Associations, Institutions or Societies calculated to benefit such persons, or other persons having or having had dealings with the Company, or any members of the families of such persons respectively, and to subscribe or guarantee money for charitable, benevolent or religious objects, or for any exhibition, or for any public, general or useful object.
(v) To do all or any of the above things in any part of the world, and as principals, agents, contractors, trustees, or otherwise, and by or through trustees, agents, or otherwise, and either alone or in conjunction with others, and also to undertake and execute any trusts the undertaking whereof may seem desirable and either gratuitously or otherwise.
Generally to do all such other things as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the foregoing objects or any of them.

(b) To purchase, take on lease, or in exchange, hire or otherwise acquire, any gold, copper, coal and other mines, mining rights, and mining properties of all kinds, in British Columbia, or elsewhere or any options or rights for or in relation to the same;
(c) To work and develop any gold, copper, coal and other mines, mining rights and mining properties to which the Company may be entitled or in which it may be interested;
(d) To carry on the businesses of miners, smelters, colliery proprietors, coke manufacturers, coal merchants, iron founders, engineers, metallurgists, brickmakers, ship owners, charterers of vessels, barge owners, wharfingers, dredgers, coal and iron masters, quarry owners, brick makers, builders, contractors, merchants, dealers in gold and silver, diamonds, and other precious metals and stones, importers and exporters, bankers, carriers, warehousemen, hotel keepers, store keepers, publishers, printers, agents and general merchants and to buy and sell and deal in every commodity, substance and product;
(e) To crush, win, get, quarry, buy, sell, smelt, calcine, refine, dress, amalgamate, manufacture, and deal in gold, copper, coal, and other metals, minerals and mineral substances, and to carry on any mining, smelting, metallurgical or other operations which may seem conducive to any of the Company's objects;

(f) To lend and advance money or give credit to persons, firms and corporations, interested as owners, lessees or otherwise, in any gold, copper, coal and other mines and mining rights, and to smelters, refiners and users of gold, copper, coal and other metals and minerals, and generally to lend money to any person, firm or corporation on such terms as may seem expedient, and in particular to customers of and persons, firms or corporations having dealings with the Company, and to give any guarantee or indemnity as may seem expedient;
(g) To acquire, construct, carry out, maintain, improve, manage, work, control, and superintend any roads, ways, tramways, railways, branches or sidings, bridges, reservoirs, canals, docks, shafts, wharves, waterways, waterworks, hydraulic works, pumping plant, gas and electric works, factories, warehouses and other works, buildings and conveniences, which may seem directly or indirectly conducive to any of the Company's objects, and to contribute to, subsidize or otherwise assist or take part in such acquisition, construction, maintenance, management, working, control and superintendence;
(h) To carry on any other business which may seem to the Company capable of being conveniently carried on in connection with any business which the Company is authorized to carry on, or may seem to the Company calculated directly or indirectly to benefit this Company, or to enhance the value of or render profitable any of the Company's properties or rights;
(i) To acquire and carry on all or any part of the business or property, and to undertake any liabilities of any person, firm, association, or company possessed of property suitable for any of the purposes of this Company, or carrying on any business which this Company is authorized to carry on, and as the consideration for the same to pay cash or to issue any shares, stocks or obligations of this Company;
(j) To enter into partnership or into any arrangement for sharing profits, union of interest, joint adventure, reciprocal concessions or co-operation with any person or company carrying on, engaged in, or about to carry on or engage in any business or transaction which the Company is authorized to carry on or engage in, or any business or transaction capable of being conducted so as directly or indirectly to benefit this Company, and to amalgamate with any such Company, and to take or otherwise acquire and hold shares or stock in or securities of, and to subsidize or otherwise assist any such company, and to sell, hold, re-issue, with or without guarantee, or otherwise deal with such shares, stock or securities;
(k) To purchase, take on lease or in exchange, hire or otherwise acquire any real or personal property, rights, or privileges which the Company may think suitable, or convenient for any purposes of its business; and to erect and construct buildings and works of all kinds;
(l) To apply for, purchase, or otherwise acquire any patents, patent rights, brevets d'invention, licenses and the like, conferring an exclusive or non-exclusive or limited right to use, or any secret or other information as to any invention or process, which may seem capable of being used for any of the purposes of the Company, or the acquisition of which may seem calculated directly or indirectly to benefit this Company, and to use, exercise, develop, grant licenses in respect of, or otherwise turn to account the rights and information so acquired;
(m) To employ and pay experts, agents and other persons, partnerships, companies, or corporations, and to organize, equip and despatch expeditions for prospecting, exploring and reporting on, surveying, working and developing mines, lands, farms, districts, territories and properties, and whether the same are the property of the Company or otherwise, and to colonize and assist in the colonization of the said lands, farms, districts, territories or properties, and to promote, emigrate and immigration for that purpose, and to make advances to, and pay for, and contribute to the expenses of, and otherwise assist any persons, or company, prospecting, acquiring, settling or farming, building, mining or otherwise developing the said lands, farms, districts, territories, and properties, or desirous of so doing;
(n) To cultivate lands and properties whether belonging to the Company or not, and develop the resources thereof by draining, clearing, fencing, planting, pasturing, farming, building on or improving the same;
(o) To purchase, subscribe for or otherwise acquire, and to hold the shares, stocks, or obligations of any company in the United Kingdom or elsewhere, and upon a distribution of assets or division of profits to distribute any property of the Company and particularly any such shares, stocks or obligations amongst the members of this Company in specie;
(p) To borrow or raise or secure the payment of money and for those or other purposes to mortgage or charge the undertaking and all or any part of the property and rights of the Company, present or after acquired, including uncalled capital, and to create, issue, make, draw, accept, discount, execute and negotiate perpetual or redeemable debentures or debenture stock, bonds, or other obligations, bills of exchange, bills of lading, warrants, promissory notes or other negotiable or transferable instruments;
(q) To sell, let, develop, dispose of, or otherwise deal with the undertaking or all or any part of the property of the Company, upon any terms, with power to accept as the consideration any shares, stocks or obligations of or interest in any other company;
(r) To pay out of the funds of the Company all expenses which the Company may lawfully pay, or of incident to the formation and registration of or raising money for the Company and the issue of its capital, including brokerage and commission for obtaining applications for or taking, placing, or underwriting shares, debentures, or debenture stock, and to apply at the cost of the Company to Parliament for any extension of the Company's powers;
(s) To enter into any arrangement with any government or authority, supreme, municipal, local or otherwise and to obtain from any such government or authority any charters, contracts, decrees, rights, concessions and privileges that may seem conducive to the Company's objects or any of them, and to carry out, exercise and comply with any such charters, contracts, decrees, rights, concessions and privileges;
(t) To establish and support or aid in the establishment and support of associations, institutions and conveniences calculated to benefit any of the employees or ex-employees of the Company, or the dependents or connections of such persons, and to grant pensions and allowances and to make payments towards insurance, and to subscribe or guarantee money for charitable or benevolent objects, or for any exhibition or for any public, general or useful object;

Weilers' Wonderful Display of Carpet Squares

OUR CARPET DEPARTMENT—The carpet squares we sell display that exceptional quality and good taste which only the best of materials and workmanship can convey. Shoddy carpet squares made of cheap materials have no place in this establishment. We carry, moreover, the largest and most select variety of floor coverings in the West, and nowhere else will you be able to buy like qualities at the prices we sell them. While we carry the highest grade of carpet squares obtainable, our prices are not high. We ask the same prices for these better grades of carpet squares that are asked at other places for the more common grades.

Brussels Squares

We have just received a parcel of some very nice Brussels Squares. These squares are exceptionally pretty in design and are also very good wearing. We have a nice assortment to choose from and we will welcome you on the second floor when you come to inspect these new goods. These are in two-tone effect, Greens, Browns and Oriental patterns, in Fawns, Greens and Crimson designs. These are very reasonable at the prices quoted below:

satisfaction, even if they did not settle with glee, when anything happens calculated to benefit their party. This, however, is the narrower and narrower view of the subject. Canadian politics are verily dirty, and no fair-minded man can dabble in them without soon becoming heartily sick. But the political aspect is the least important phase of the situation in Quebec, and every Canadian should ask himself a question, not which party will triumph of Mr. Bourassa benevolent but how would the union of the Dominion be affected if the eating Frenchman were able to bring about an effectual split in the Liberal party? It cannot be denied that Mr. Bourassa's personal victory was won upon an international platform; and it is not a little significant that in order to take part in this fight the leading French-Canadian Conservative, Mr. F. D. Monk, joined hands with Mr. Bourassa. It is an open secret that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had the greatest difficulty in lining up the French members of Ottawa in support of the puny, calculated policy that was ultimately adopted. It begins to look as if he more than strained their ability in the process.

TOPICAL TRIFLES

(By Onlooker)

It's too bad about Dr. Crippen," I remarked, as I laid down my paper preparatory to a chat with my good friend Socrates.

more sense than to express thy sympathy so loud. Beware, lest my wife send him the Sunday cake with the icing which she hath made thee. Such things have happened more than once."

"I hastened to apologize—"I meant it is hard on the Doctor to be kept in suspense. By this time all might have been over if—"

"Exactly, but while there's life there's hope, my friend. Besides, is the great Doctor the only person to be considered? Nay, think of the British public. How dull it would be to have all over, and just before Christmas too. We cannot expect that good man the Kaiser to supply all the excitement necessary for the welfare of the nation."

"That is very true," I replied. "There are so many ways of looking at these things. It is surprising," I went on, desiring to continue the conversation with so instructive a friend, "how there is invariably a woman at the bottom of things. They looked at the bottom of the Doctor's cellar and there was the woman sure enough. Though to be sure they had some difficulty in determining the fact."

"Of a truth there was no doubt of it. Alive or dead, it is always the same where a woman is concerned—trouble."

"And lots of it," I supplemented, not being without experience myself. "But who will take pity on the fair and unfortunate Ethel?"

"Pity? That is where thou makest a mistake, my friend," replied Socrates. "What more could woman want? Fame in a single night! Verily, and that is what many have struggled a lifetime to gain."

"Indeed, I have heard that the stage clamors for her services. Certainly there is no accounting for tastes."

Socrates looked up quickly at my remark. "And wouldst not thou go and see her?" he asked.

"You bet I would," I replied, eagerly. "Poor little Ethel!"

Socrates burst out laughing. "Exactly," he chuckled, "and so would many other sons of goats."

I felt slightly indignant at his ridicule, but knowing him to be right I refrained from hot words. Just then, there was a knock at the door and Uncle Sam came in. "Say, what are you fellers gassing about?" he asked.

"We were discussing the Crippen case," I answered.

"O get a move on," shouted Sam. "I saw Bell in Seattle yesterday."

"Like fun you did, I saw her at the Empress Hotel, in Victoria," I reported, not wishing to be outclassed by a Yankee.

"You're getting too fresh," said Uncle Sam, rudely. "What do you people know about handling these cases? Why you don't know a woman when you see her dead body before your eyes!"

"I think it's the fault of the drug stores," I suggested, mildly.

"You refer to the drug which destroyed—"

"Nay," interrupted Socrates, "he means peroxide. Didst thou not know—"

"The British public knew," I broke in, excitedly, "that it is a case of 'air, what color, what—'"

"Hot air, of course," butted in Uncle Sam. "But what do you people know of liberty and justice, anyway? Why didn't you give him the third degree? Make him confess one way or the other. What's the use of wasting time? Be up to date. Get busy. Uncle Sam would have fixed him good and plenty."

During this intelligent tirade, I noticed with apprehension that my good friend Socrates was waxing exceedingly wroth. He looked Sam straight in the eye.

"My dear young man," he said, "we know that thou art exceeding smart, but dost thou not know that since Charles Reade wrote 'Hard Cash' our asylums are only open to the best class of lunatic? Only those guaranteed genuine need apply."

VICTORIA THEATRE

Mr. Huron L. Blyden and his excellent company will present next Friday and Saturday, November 18 and 19, one of their great comedies, "Brown's In Town." This will be the last chance to see the Blyden Company previous to their departure on the road. "Brown's In Town" has been selected as a very good bill for a farewell reminder of this ever talented company.

Not With Malice

"Look here," said the head of the firm, "I want to give you a pointer." "Yes, sir," the office boy respectfully replied. "If I hear you humming any more popular songs around here I'll discharge you." "All right, I won't do it in more, I wouldn't of done it this time, only me lips is sore and I can't whistle."

Why He Was Sad

Seymour—"Did Grimmer seem to be very sad after his auto had run down those two men?" Ashley—"Not at first, but when I met him a few days after the accident he was the saddest man I had ever seen. He told me he would have to pay $2,000 in damages."

Didn't Understand French

Mrs. Granger—Silas, I saw a beautiful French clock in the jeweler's window when I was in town today. I do wish you would buy it for my Christmas present."

Granger—Now, Mandy, there ain't no use wasting good money on a French clock. Neither of us understand French and we would never be able to tell what time it was by the thing."

problem and its effects on working girls. His wife gave him the idea and is intensely interested in its success but the young husband feels he must give up writing and completing it to earn their bread and butter.

How Jeanne saves the artist's masterpiece from being destroyed by her irate husband and finally convinces him that what she did was done for love of him, forms the last act of this wonderful gripping drama.

New Grand Theatre

Fred. Eckhoff and Anna Gordon have combined a wide knowledge of instrumental music with an unlimited supply of native humour and have put the result of the combination into vaudeville, distinctly to the profit or vaudeville as will be seen at the Grand on Monday.

"The Hand that Rules," the playlet in which May Mannary and her company are showing, is one of the strongest labour dramas ever prepared for the vaudeville stage. It gives Miss Mannary every opportunity for those emotional powers which have made her famous and it points a strong lesson to both business and labour interests.

Billy Chase backs up a mighty pleasing voice and an ability to use it with a whole lot of personality that puts him at once fully in touch with his audience.

The Three National Comiques will offer a whirlwind acrobatic act that is so full of comedy that it is difficult to say whether it would be classed as a comedy or an athletic offering.

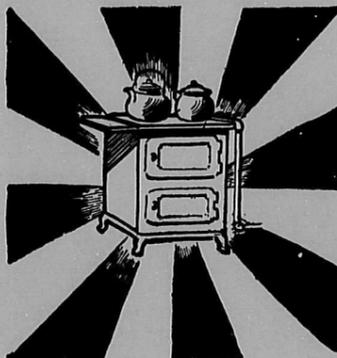

Dainty Beatrice Turner is a pretty demure little stage lady and doesn't look as if she had it in her, but when her personality and her songs begin to work, the meeting is out, particularly with the male portion of her audience.

Do You Know?

Do you know how much time you are wasting in chopping "kindling" for coal or wood stoves and carrying dusty coal or ashes backwards and forwards? Do you know that a kitchen where a Gas Stove is in use is always clean and tidy, spic and span? Quick as wink you have your fire without trouble of building—turn off the gas tap and it is out; drudgery, worry and money saved. A Gas Range means the economy of your great-grandmother, combined with the science of modern invention. Let us show you how easy and how inexpensive it is to cook with Gas. Do you know that we can sell you a good Cooking Stove on payment of $5 down and $5 per month?

Do you know what comfort there is in good Gas Heat? Do you know that without any fuss or bother you can quickly warm a cold room or a chilly hallway with a Gas Radiator or a Gas Grate? There may be some particular room in your house that you cannot heat easily with a furnace and impracticable to use a wood or coal stove. This difficulty is easily overcome with a Gas Heater. In Bedroom, bathroom, living-room, drawing room, den, hall or office—anywhere from attic to basement, Gas Heat will impart healthful warmth and cosiness at minimum expense. No smell, no smoke, no dust, no work, but all heat, where you want and when you want it. Do you know that we sell good heaters as low as $5? Others at pay-as-you-please prices.

GOOD PAVING

In the windows of W. & J. Wilson's clothing store on Government Street may be seen a sample of the celebrated Worswick Company's Asphalt Pavement. This sample was laid down in the City of Visalia, Cal., 16 years ago and one has only to look at the specimen to realise the truth of the Company's contention that their pavement is just about the best that can be found. During these sixteen years the pavement was subjected to all kinds of water tests, as, apart from the water-carts, rain, etc., floods are not of uncommon occurrence in Visalia. It has been said that this pavement will not withstand the damage caused by water; the sample in Wilson's is a concrete proof to the contrary. The Worswick Company have already given great satisfaction to the residents on Linden Ave. and St. Charles St.; they are at present engaged in paving Rockland Ave. and Cook St., and the majority of Victoria's citizens will be glad to learn that they have obtained the contract for the paving of Fort Street. This enterprising company lately purchased the gravel pits at Mt. Tolmie, formerly the property of The Lineham-Scott Sand & Gravel Company, and it is sincerely to be hoped that their far-sightedness will be rewarded by a large share in the contracts which the City will be awarding for new pavements.

Great Canal Across Prairies Projected

Survey parties of the Dominion Government are returning from their season's work, among them being those engaged in enquiring into the feasibility of construction of the waterway from Winnipeg to the Rockies by way of the Saskatchewan river. While the survey has not been completed, it is stated that it has demonstrated that the waterway can be built without any insuperable difficulties. That part of it from the head of Lake Winnipeg to Lapas would cost $3,000,000, and, roughly speaking, the whole would entail an expenditure of $15,000,000. Revenue from the development of the 80,000 horsepower of Grand Falls would, it is estimated, be more than sufficient to pay the interest on the total outlay. From Lapas a five-foot waterway is proposed. If this needed grain route is constructed, Canada will have the greatest system of inland waterways in the world, extending from the seas to the Rockies save for the distance between Fort William and Winnipeg.

Wan day whin Oi wuz afther rummagin 'in me cellar, Oi found wan dozen av Mumm's bottles agoin' t' waste, all in good condition except they wuz full av champagne-wather. T' the upper end av them it wuz no trick at all to fix a clothes pin. Thin, by pullin sharp upward on the pin Oi drew out the cork. Oi laid t' cork to wan soide an' emptied the contents av the bottle down the drain except wan small tumblerful which Oi drank. Oi then removed anither bottle from the cork an' emptied the drain down th' contents, except a small tumblerful which Oi drank. Oi thin bottled anither small remove—from the tumbler—except a small corkful—which Oi drained—an' contined the drank down the bottle. Oi thin tankled a bump from 'nother dottle an'—Oi mean Oi dunkled a tump from 'nother cople,—ye see, me frind, Oi mean Oi dunkled a tump from 'nother cople,—ye see, me frind, Oi mean Oi drankled a gump—Oi mean conkled. Well, anyhow, Oi did it t' all them twilve bottles. Shure Oi stidied th house wid wan hand an' counted th' bottles wid t'other. There wuz twinty-sivin lift out av th' dozen. Then Oi got me scrubbin' brush to clane the bottles. An' Oi couldn't git th' brush into th' neck, so Oi turned the twinty-sivin bottles wrong side out an' scrubbed them ,an' turned thim roight soide agin. By this toime th' house wuz revolvin' an' Oi sot on th' floor an' counted thim bottles as they went by. There wuz sixty-four uv thim. Oi cloimbed the kitchen table an' got th' can-opener, an' seated myself in th' cindre uv thim, for they wuz goin' round me continuous. Oi caught wan bottle at a toime an' held it firmly down by lyin' on it an' wid th' can-opener Oi cut off th' bottom an' the neck av it. What remained av that bottle made an' illigant lamp chimney. Whin Oi counted thim Oi found Oi had sivinty-two. frequented the saloon or the track! But he differentiated between Christianity as opposed to animism, and Christianity as opposed to Filthy Lucre. You bet, the other wins every time. I don't blame him for looking after the Filthy Lucre, I do that myself for all that I am worth, but I do blame them for pretending to be white marble statues, when in reality they are infinitely more corrupt than the rotting statues whose memories they feign to be perpetuating.

Let it be distinctly understood that what I have said above is not to be attributed to the clergy themselves. I have the greatest admiration for them, for the hard-working men who are doing their best in a bad world; who work for a poor salary, and who live up to their doctrines. My invectives are aimed at those self-righteous laymen who, in order to raise themselves in the eyes of the community pose in their p's clothing though inwardly they are worse than ravening wolves. And I challenge anyone who may read this to deny that he knows at least such things.

And now to more mundane subjects. We have heard a lot of reckless driving during the past few weeks. My attention has been called to the careless driving of those men who are in charge of covered wagons, and laundry (I only use this as an example) waggons, which have a row on each side of the driver. The complainant states that twice during the past week he has seen two covered wagons escape on the part of pedestrians crossing a street, because these drivers will persist in driving past corners at what time they are ogling the women on the sidewalks through their windows. It would appear that they have to have a fatal accident on the streets of Victoria before we can get ourselves that only responsible individuals are placed in charge of these drawn vehicles. So much noise is made now-a-days about the vices of the chauffeur that the horse driver has had too long a period of impunity; but his time will come, and it will be to him when it does.

Tourists in thousands visit Victoria every year. The totem pole is one of the things which appeals to them with a curiosity. But Victoria herself has so little stock in such things that she has allowed the Beacon Hill totem pole to lie neglected in the wet for a longer time than I like to think of. Why are such things so? The natural supposition would have been that such a curiosity would have received the utmost care, instead of being left to the fate of the bears and other unfortunate animals in the same condition.

Oh, Totem Pole; Oh, Totem Pole, I'm glad that I have found yer. You never yet shall lack a friend, Whilst still there lives a

Taken from a City Pavement after Sixteen YEARS wear.

BEFORE THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE CITY OF VISALIA, VISALIA, CALIFORNIA.

State of California,
County of Tulare, ss.
City of Visalia.

A. R. Orr and M. J. Byrnes, who are respectively the president of the board of trustees, and the city clerk of said city, being first duly sworn, depose and say, each for himself and not one for the other: That he is a resident of the city of Visalia, in the county of Tulare, state of California, and has been such resident therein for more than sixteen years last past; that in the year 1894 W. H. Worswick, Sr., acting under contract with said city of Visalia, did construct and lay an asphalt pavement for said city of Visalia, in accordance with plans and specifications therefor, prepared by said W. H. Worswick, Sr., and that said pavement has been at all times and now is, used upon the main street of said city, and subject to constant and the heaviest traffic in said city, and gives evidence of giving similar and additional service for an equal additional period of time in its present state.

That said pavement has been under water for several weeks at a time, during the hot spring and summer months, owing to overflow of Mill Creek, which flows through said city, said overflow an inundation occurring six times during said period, that said pavement during all of said time has been sprinkled daily with the city sprinkling carts, and hosed off at frequent intervals with the city fire hose under the same pressure used at fires.

That the within and accompanying specimen of asphalt pavement is a section recently taken from said Main street in the city of Visalia to permit the laying of concrete curbs and gutters along the side of said street, and is a fair and uniform sample of the same pavement that was laid by said W. H. Worswick, Sr., after his own specifications in said year 1894. Further deponent saith not.

A. R. ORR, President of said Board.
M. J. BYRNES, City Clerk of said City.

H. T. MILLER, Notary Public in and for the County of Tulare, State of California.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 19th day of October, 1910.
