ECTRIC TRAMWAY EXTENSION

The extension of the B. C. Electric lway into the Saanich Peninsula is dently on the tapis and may be said to within the range of practical politics. . Goward, the local manager, has had umber of interviews with the land ners of the district, and has clearly lined the policy of his Company. It as foreshadowed by The Week a year , to extend the system throughout the re fertile districts of the Peninsula, ject to two conditions: that the loca- will depend upon the freight offering, upon the assistance which the land- ners are willing to render. There is le doubt but that after calmly consider- the situation wise counsels will pre- l. The land-owners have before them admirable object lesson in the develop- nt which has been brought about in the trict contiguous to Vancouver and w Westminster, mainly, if not entirely, the enlightened policy of the B. C. ctric Railway Company. Until they their lines through the district there s no real development. Isolated settlers l acquired and partially cultivated lim- l areas, but, without an organised sys- of transportation, they could neither ch their homes nor market their pro- e economically. Not only has the ad- t of the railway solved this problem, it has led to the establishment of a siderable number of townsites, and im- tant communities are springing up und them. The land-owners on the inland realised that it was good busi- ss to offer every inducement in their wer to bring about the extension of the lway system as quickly as possible. ey met the Company in a generous nner, and the latter reciprocated by tting to work without delay, spending wards of $4,000,000 in extensions and suring a degree of development which uld not otherwise have been possible r many years. The land-owners in the nich Peninsula are face to face with a milar crisis; they have a more fertile untry, and land capable of producing eater values. At the present time the st of transportation is prohibitive and nvenient access is impossible. It is ue that in ten or twenty years the rail- ay company might extend their system, t the benefits of an immediate extension, en at the cost of a small contribution in nd areas, would far outweigh the ques- onable economy of holding the land and ost-poning the development. Mr. Gow- rd is too reasonable a man to make any nfair demands, and if the land-owners vince a disposition to meet the Company n a fair spirit it will not be many month efore construction commences, and the arden of Canada will blossom into an ra of prosperity which will surprise ven its most enthusiastic admirers.

DESIRABLE IMMIGRANTS

Mr. Graham Forrester, a gentleman or many years well and favourably nown in South Wales, but for some time resident in Victoria, is the accredited epresentative in British Columbia of the mperial Federation League. This League as an influential list of officers, and has een formed for the purpose of sending o Canada desirable immigrants of Brit- sh birth. Mr. Forrester only received his ommission recently, but has already got o work and his first contract is to furnish ompetent miners to the Canadian Col- hich has taken over the Dunsmuir ines, and which is about to establish a ew mining camp in the Comox district he Week has always maintained that in rder to procure immigrants of the right lass special organisation is necessary, nd the League with which Mr. Forrester is indentified should be able to effect its purpose. Whilst there is a scarcity of labour in almost every department, there is a conspicuous lack of experienced coal miners in British Columbia. This accounts for the over-whelming numbers of Slavs and Chinamen, who have been utilised because British labour was not available. The result does not tend to raise the morale in the mining communities and it undoubtedly increases the dangers of a sufficiently perilous occupation. Ignorance of the language, the customs and the discipline, which are inseparable from British mining camps, leads the undesirable immigrant to commit many blunders, and there is no better remedy than that which is being systematically engineered by Mr. Forrester and his acquaintances.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Tennis Week in Victoria is always one of the social events of the year. This year its is rendered doubly interesting from the fact that the splendid new grounds on Cadboro Bay Road have for the first time been utilised, with the consequence that the entries have reached the astonishing number of 170, and yet the accommodation, which furnished six courts, has been sufficient to enable the whole schedule of events to be carried through without inconvenience. Few cities in Canada could furnish a brighter spectacle than the beautiful grounds of the Tennis Club, dotted with players and thronged with interested spectators. Undoubtedly, tennis is in the ascendant, and the Club made no mistake when it decided to launch out into this new venture. In view of the success which has attended the enterprise and the enconiums which have been literally showered upon the management during the week, it is only fair to say that the Club is deeply indebted to the Hon. James Dunsmuir for the financial aid which he afforded and which alone rendered it possible to move from the cribbed quarters on Belcher Street to the present ground. The Week ventures to predict a prosperous future for the Club, and most of the credit is due to the Ladies Committee which, in season and out of season, is working and planning for its success.

THE SONGHEES RESERVE

The Week has been requested to publish in a prominent position the following letter, addressed by Chief Cooper to the Editor of The Colonist. It does so without comment, the circumstances being sufficiently self-explanatory.

To the Editor of The Colonist:

Sir,—Your editorial headed "Injustice to Mr. Templeman" appearing in this morning's issue has been read over to me. I cannot allow the article to go unquestioned, and take the earliest opportunity of answering it.

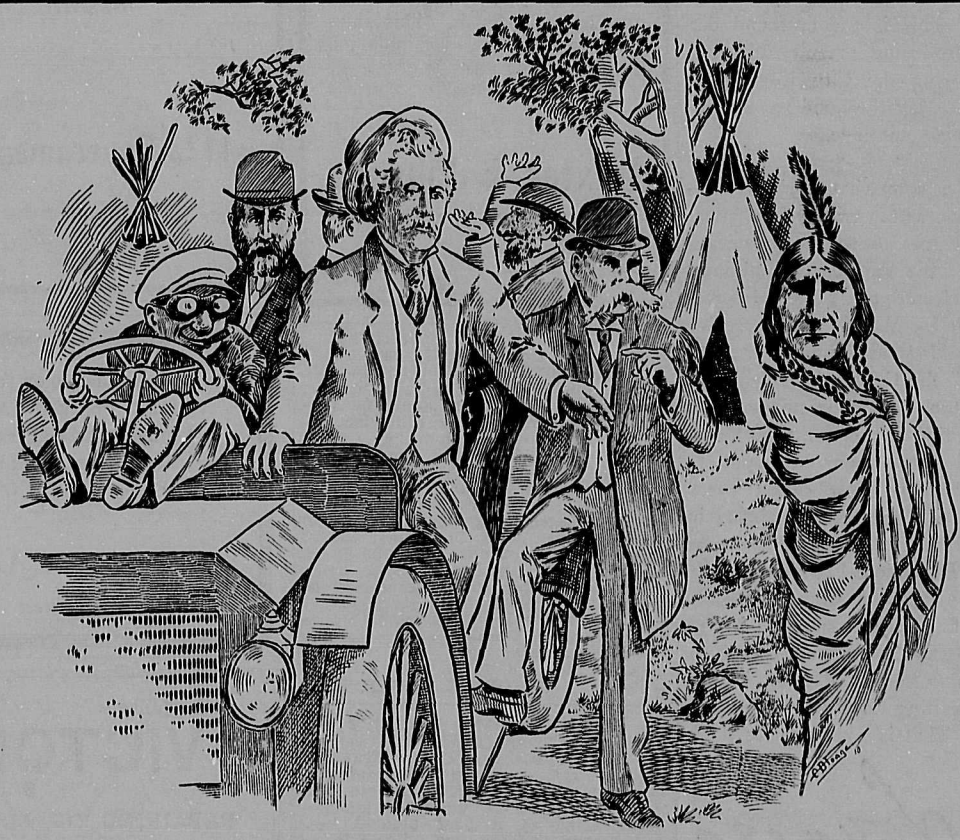
The interview in question appearing in your issue of yesterday I state most emphatically is absolutely correct and I have nothing further to add.

Yours truly,

(Sgd) M. COOPER,
Chief Songhees.

Empire Cannery,
Esquimalt.
Aug. 3rd, 1910.

[The above letter was refused publication by The Colonist].



THE POW-WOW THAT FAILED

Hon. W. T——: "How do, Cooper?"
Chief C——: "Nothing doing, Bill."

THE CANADIAN NORTHERN

What is the matter with the Victoria Times? That is, what is the matter more than usual? Its innate "cussedness" prevents it at all times from beginning to do justice to any project with which the Provincial Government is identified. This is called the game of politics, although The Week ventures to think that, if it is a game, it is badly played. Games are played for the purpose of winning, at any rate, that is the case on this continent, but The Times only enjoys a losing game. Its senseless hostility to the railway policy at the last Provincial election resulted in a Waterloo for its party. If it had endorsed the policy and contented itself with criticising the details, it would at least have had a numerically respectable representation in the House. But, it pronounced the Canadian Northern and the Provincial Government with all their works, Anathema, Maran-atha. Any paper but The Times would understand that there might be a few weeks or even a few months delay in starting railway construction on Vancouver Island, especially when the Company had not made a survey of their own and was endeavouring to utilise one made by another Company. Most people, however, would think that this little delay was more than counter-balanced by the announcement that two hundred additional miles of construction was contemplated and that the Canadian Northern would be the first Company to realise the dream of Vancouver Island people, to have a main line from the north to the south end of the Island. Premier McBride declares on the authority of Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Mann that this is now assured and that all their plans will be directed to that object. He is also authorised to announce that the first section contracted for in the agreement which passed the House last session, will be completed a year before the stipulated time. In view of these facts, it is to be feared that the English language, elastic and expressive though it be, is unable adequately to describe the attitude of the Victoria Times, which, even yet, appears to cling to its cherished notion that the Canadian Northern is a ramshackle road and MacKenzie and Mann mere fakers.

FREE TRADE AND PROTECTION

The Week has always maintained that when Sir Wilfrid Laurier came to the West he would learn a thing or two on the subject of Protection. The lesson is being administered by the farmers of the great Western Provinces. On every side they are clamouring for lower duties, and in most instances declaring themselves in favour of Free Trade. Not to be outvied, Sir Wilfrid is everywhere proclaiming himself a Free Trader. By the time he reaches the Coast he will hardly have a nodding acquaintance with Protection in any form. This will not vex his soul because he alleges that he is a life-long believer in the system which Cobden immortalized. The Week has its own views on the subject of Protection and takes a purely academic interest in Sir Wilfrid's attitude, which makes it all the more interesting to watch the trend of events, and to see how the Premier will square himself with the Eastern manufacturers on his return from what is rapidly developing into a Free Trade campaign. Every student of economics has been aware for some time that the Lion of the East and the Lamb of the West could not for ever lie down together, and that, whenever the West came to its own, the Eastern manufacturers would either have to submit to an extensive curtailment of their tariff privileges, or lose the Western market. Things are moving in that direction faster than anyone could have anticipated. There is, especially in British Columbia, a rapidly increasing demand for goods of British manufacture, but the more important development, which is certain to follow the avarice of Eastern Canadian manufacturers, is the growth of Western industries and the production on the spot of many standard articles which have hitherto been imported at enormous cost from Ontario and Quebec. The three standards of furniture, clothing and shoes can be manufactured just as well, and cheaper, in British Columbia as in Ontario, and the importation of these soon will be a thing of the past. Instead of clamouring against legislation which is desirable to protect local industries, the British Columbia agents of Eastern firms would be better advised to urge their principals in the direction of more moderate prices, Their rapacity is killing the goose that lays the golden eggs.

At The Street Corner

By THE LOUNGER

Quite recently I made a few remarks as to the correct rule for pedestrians when passing each other on the side-walks, pointing out that "turn to the right" is correct. I have been asked to make a few similar remarks in connection with cyclists, many of whom are offenders with respect to the rule of the road and attempt to pass on the right instead of the left. That this is excusable sometimes I do not deny. A large number of visitors from the United States come to Canada for their holidays; many of them hire vehicles of some kind or another and not unnaturally conform to the rules of their own country. I myself have found the greatest difficulty, when cycling in France, to remember that I have to put on one side what I was taught as to road traffic, and must, when in Rome, do as the Romans do. People do not, as a rule, make these mistakes through "sheer cussedness" but either through ignorance or forgetfulness. The British Empire is, I believe, the only place where passing to the left is observed, and it might therefore be advisable for all garages, livery stables and cycle stores to have depicted in plain characters a notice exposed in a prominent place to the effect that the rule of the road is the opposite to that in the States. Such precautions could do no possible harm to anybody and might be the means of averting accidents.

Who is responsible for the four triangular corners adjoining the Empress Hotel's fine grounds, Humboldt St., The Causeway and Belleville St.? I am told that The Empress Hotel has offered to take them in hand, but was curtly "turned down." I believe that The Colonist offered to help in making them respectable, but their offer met with a similar fate. I don't guarantee this. I am repeating what I hear, which is what I am paid for, and I am asking questions, a liberty which any free-born man may take. At any rate, the corners to which I refer are in a disgraceful condition. I was gazing reproachfully at one the other day. There was a litter of sticks and a coil of wire on it. A few old bottles are not infrequently in evidence. Truly a pleasing sight for the tourist who has come to marvel at the beauties of Victoria.

At the street corner I have heard bad reports about the state of Graham Street and King's Road on the Work Estate. I have not paid a personal visit of inspection, because it is some distance away and I have not had the time. It appears to be a matter of sewerage, a somewhat serious matter during the dog-days and their followers. On the right hand side, I am told, is an open sewer; on the left is a house with a sewer draining into an open field. As I say, I do not speak from observation, but from hearsay. At the same time if I undertook to inspect all the nuisances which are brought to me from time to time, I should not have time to write any of them up, or rather down. I trust that my informant was labouring under a mistake but I doubt it, as I understand he lives in that neighborhood.

I should like to call the attention of the local officer of the R. S. P. C. A. to the conditions under which the seal lives at the Japanese Tea-Gardens at the Gorge Park. Of course, it may be a seal with a peculiar constitution, and its doctors may have ordered it a confined water space, and recommended a good deal of mud in the daily treatment. We know that mud baths are highly efficacious in many cases of human sickness and possibly the same may apply to the seal tribe. However, to the casual observer it would seem that the seal in question is not enjoying the health cure, and, in fact, shows every symptom of succumbing to the rigours of the treatment. In any case, it might be well for the officer above-mentioned to go and have a look for himself. He is far better qualified to give an expert opinion than a mere Lounger, and I sincerely hope that this will catch the eye of someone who will bring the matter to his attention. When once that is done, I feel sure that the seal will have no further cause for complaint, for he will either be assured that he is suffering for his own good, or he will be provided with better quarters.

There are certain streets in Victoria which invariably remind me of the parable of "The sheep and the goats." On the one side is a boulevard, green and fairly well kept, on the other is a rank border of weeds and dry earth. The sheep, that is the boulevards, are attended by City employees; the goats are left to look after themselves. It wouldn't cost much to attend to the poor little goats, and if these borders, only about six inches wide, were to receive a tenth part of the care which the boulevards have it would be an immense improvement from every point of view.

The work on Douglas Street has taken on a new lease of life. On Wednesday morning last at least twice as many men were employed and work started at 7:57 a. m. sharp. And it was real work too. I don't pass that way as a rule in the early morning, but I was met by an enthusiastic citizen about 9:30 who urged me to go up and see for myself; and I did. And these things were so. This is the first and distinctly promising result obtained from allowing the City Engineer a free hand. May the good work prosper and also continue.

It was a somewhat curious coincidence that within twenty-four hours of my remarks as to the driveways in front of the Parliament Buildings, when I referred to the bad impression which Sir Wilfrid would receive unless the Hassam Company were to "wake up," the Government delivered an ultimatum to the company, with the result that within the time above mentioned extra men were put to work and there now seems every probability of the driveways being in a fit and decent condition by the time that the Dominion Premier arrives. But if the Hassam Company could suddenly find men at such short notice, just because they were forced to, why couldn't they find them before, without waiting to have "the screw put on"? That is what puzzles the Lounger.

Oil to Burn

A number of Victoria capitalists have formed a Company under the title of The Western Canada Oil Prospecting Co., Ltd., to search for oil and gas on lands situated at Muir Creek, Sooke. The Company has upwards of 12,000 acres of land and is on the look-out for coal as well as oil. The property has been examined and reported by Mr. J. W. Frank of San Francisco, a gentleman who has had many years' experience in California and other States, and who has been singularly successful in locating oil properties. In his report Mr. Frank speaks with the utmost confidence of the existence of oil in paying quantities. A contract has been closed with the Murray Drilling Company of Santa Cruz and a bore-hole is being put down in the most favourable spot. The capital of the Company is moderate and the price of the shares low, so that the general public will have an opportunity of investing in small amounts and participating in the profits which it is expected will be realized. The fact that Messrs. Pooley, Luxton & Pooley are the solicitors of the Company will be sufficient guarantee for Victorians that its affairs will be conducted in a satisfactory manner.

Mrs. Aristocrat—Did you hear what Mrs. Nouveau Riche said to me at the concert this evening?"

Mrs. Wellborn—No, my dear; do tell me all about it.

Mrs. Aristocrat—Well, she informed me that she had decided to have a nom de plume in her hat.

Live Today

Happy the man and happy he alone,
He who can call today his own;
He who, secure within, can say,
Tomorrow, do thy worst, for I have lived today;
Be fair or foul, or rai or shine,
The joys I have possessed, in spite of Fate, are mine;
Not heaven itself upon the past has power,
But what has been, has been, and I have had my hour.

Varying the Monotony

In the absence of the pastor of the church, a young preacher was called upon to officiate at a funeral. He knew it was customary for the minister to announce at the close of the service that those who wished should step forward to view the remains, but he thought that too hackneyed, and so substituted: "The congregation will now please pass around the bier."—Exchange.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE

"Becky Sharp."

When WilliamMakepeace Thackerwrote "Vanity Fair," he presented world with a procession of such racters as have always existed will continue to exist generation r generation even though the lution of mortal things may nge the setting.

s every character in the book is omplete study of a certain type of nan being, it remains for the dramt and actor to produce the visconceptions of Thackeray's racter studies. In the play "Becky rp" Langdon Mitchell as author Mrs. Fiske in the title role, were one accord in their conception of personality of Becky Sharp, and y undoubtedly portrayed that brilt creature as Thackeray intended itty, deceitful, resourceful and rly heartless—a being whose nteness and gaiety fail to win one rk of sympathy and scarcely adation, so callous is she, so devoid the smallest atom of generosity. he caste is a long one, but so inificant are the characters that cky" holds the boards from start inish, and it is only the inimitable of Mrs. Fiske that makes her pose on the stage.

n the part of "Miss Crawley," rine Arnold gave a remarkably er portrayal of that eccentric old lid, and Mabel Reed was good in small part of the foolish "Briggs", s Crawley's companion.

olbrook Blinn as the "Marquis Steyne" was not so fortunately as when he played "Jim Platt" "Salvation Nell," but he gave a presentation of a very necessary rather thankless part. Among the e members of the cast the honors oubtedly fell to Mr. Ferguson, as Pitt Crawley." His impersonan of that coarse old Baronet fairly le one shudder with disgust. Hen- Stephenson as "Rawdon Crawley" s very weak, and it is only when he ds the childish letter of his little that we feel a glow of sympathy the reckless soldier who adores boy, honestly loves his undeserv- wife, and is "straight" at heart spite of the unpaid debts.

So little prominence is assigned to parts of "George Osborn" and aptain Dobbin" that the play suf- s thereby, and the effect of the ntrasting characters, so strong in hackeray's novel, is lost.

"Amelia Sedly," who is such a paetic figure in all her gentleness, mplicity, and romantic love for her orthless husband, is made to appear ch a perfect idiot that it is impossle to feel a single thrill of symthy for the tender girl and brokenarted widow whom Thackeray porays with such exquisite pathos.

"Becky Sharp" was played to a owded and appreciative audience at e Victoria Theatre on Monday, ugust 1st.

The New Grand

By far the best turn that has come Victoria within many months is at presented by the Mayvilles, arry and Elsie, of that ilk. They yle themselves Lilliputian Wonders d they well deserve the name? heir marionette mimicry is excellent d the comedy is furnished by e effect of the full-sized faces on e diminutive bodies, by the dancing d by the vocal humor. I have cerinly recommended all my friends to and see them before it is too late. nother good act is that furnished Al. Lawrence, an actor whom I ould term "the humorist with the diarubber face." Harry Lauder, I ink it was, who was known as "the an that made the King laugh." ell, I don't think that any king uld keep a grave face in front of . Lawrence. As a gymnast Lozelle s a big claim to recognition, and finale is most spectacular.

Pantages Theatre

This week Lewis & Lake complete eir engagement at the Johnston Street House, and they finish with a laugh. I do not profess to say very much in favor of their "Wild West Show"; it is inconsequent and a trifle tedious, but "Whose Baby Are You" is a screaming farce which made the tears run down my face and gave me a pain for several hours afterwards; I was so convulsed with laughter. Lewis & Lake may leave Victoria with the full consciousness that they have afforded plenty of good, clean, laughter-provoking amusement to many hundreds, who would otherwise have gone home to bed with "that tired feeling." Good luck to them in their next venture.

The Majestic Theatre

It seems strange to see an adaptation of one of John Strange Winter's books on the screen, but that is what was takeng place last Wednesday and Thursday at the above house. "Bootle's Baby," as the book is known to all; and the films were a very fair representation on canvas of what the authoress wrote on paper.

Romano's Theatre

The feature at Romano's this week has been the engagement of the Washington Quartette who have been singing during the week. Mr. Ernest Petch, a member of the musical Petch family, has been taking the place of the baritone who was unfortunately indisposed and unable to appear in Victoria, and Mr. Petch has well sustained the character of Victoria singers. The quartette is an excellent one. There have been several excellent films shown, notably "Her Private Secretary," which at times reminds one of Charles Reade's celebrated novel "Foul Play."

The Empress Theatre

It is seldom that I have seen a more sensational and at the same time a more interesting drama on the moving picture screens than that portrayed at The Empress theatre last Wednesday night, entitled "Iona, The White Squaw." It is a tale of Indians, cowboys, a stage hold-up and, above all, a kidnapped white girl. To judge from the excited murmurs of the audience as the story unfolded itself "Iona" is one of the most popular pieces of its kind ever put before a Victoria audience. In conclusion I would call attention to the excellence of the advertising plates shown between pictures. They are home made and are of such a quality as should reap abundant reward for their subcribers.

MOMUS

After a lengthy absence during which she has not only achieved tremendous artistic fame in this country but has also made a triumphant tour around the world, Margaret Anglin, the distinguished actress, will come to the Victoria Theatre on Monday, August 8 with her great success "The Awakening of Helena Richie," the dramatic version of Margaret Deland's popular novel of the same name, rendered for the stage in four acts by Charlette Thompson. The production is Miss Anglin's initial venture into the realm of the actor-managers and its gratifying success first achieved in Philadelphia about two years ago, added to the praise that has been addressed to her as actress and stage producer, clearly indicate that Miss Anglin has made no error in launching out for herself. When the play was produced in New York in the early Fall, the Philadelphia judgment was endorsed and it was hailed as the first brilliant success of the season.

Sale of seats begins Friday morning.

New Grand Theatre

For continental finish, smart dressing, thrilling and amazing feats, and general excellence, the Fassio Trio of European gymnasts at the Grand next week are the peers. The uninitiated lovers of solid earth cannot but admire the finesse required by these people to perform marvelous feats six feet in the air on a small pedestal, with a companion balanced on the head. This troupe has been recently making a tour of the country and has everywhere been a veritable triumph.

One of the classiest vocal acts in Vaudeville is the Free Setters Four. Each member of this organization is a capable soloist and their ensemble work is quite the best yet heard in the realms of varieties. Besides making an attractive stage appearance, they are marvelously well trained and have a classical finish to their offering that is away from the beaten track of the usual Vaudeville quartette.

Laughmakers of ingenuity are Williams & Weston, the German aristocrats, who make their bow to Victoria on Monday. Their dialogue is rich in humor and their parodies are genuine hits.

Bell & Richards are instrumentalists of rare talent. Their ability as musicians and the polished manner in which they present their selections seem to make their music sound better. The costuming of the act is gorgeous.

It is the general supposition that bicycle acts are very much alike, containing one or two novelties and much that is dull and hackneyed, but Grey & Peters, who come next week, have a specialty in which they have steered well away from the pitfall. Their daring and sensational feats are offered with grace and elegance and the comedy, by a lugubrious individual, furnishes clever relief to the expert work of his partner.

Maurice Hewlett

BY BOHEMIAM

Maurice Hewlett has written a round dozen books, all of which are readable and most of which are entertaining. He is a thinker and somewhat of a stylist. "The Queen's Quair," "The Life and Death of Richard Yea and Nay" and his several books on Tuscany are his best productions. He writes good English, has a touch of philosophy and more than a suggestion of George Meredith; at any rate a sufficient soupcon of his manner to show that he is a disciple. His last book, "Open Country" he calls a "comedy with a sting"; it is a comedy assuredly, but the sting is not very much in evidence. It is chiefly interesting for the dissertations of a tramp, and the most interesting of these dissertations is a chapter from "The Tramp's Testament." The tramp calls himself a "poor fool"; he is hardly that unless it be in respect of his desire to set the world right on the subject of marriage. He probably states the case for the advocates of some up-to-date substitute for marriage rather better than has been done before, which is not to say that the argument is likely to make any impression on a sane and well-balanced mind. In this day of universal agitation for a slackening of the marriage tie it is not the part of prudence to shut one's eyes to the movement, or to the grounds upon which it is advocated. But since the tramp's dissertation leads him to eschew marriage and become a monk, it is obvious that he reaches an impasse from which there is no escape, and if the race is to survive some other solution must be found. The following extract from "the tramp's testament" will be appreciated by all who have made Maurice Hewlett's acquaintance, and possibly by a few who have not:

"Ask any woman you please which was the happiest time of her life, she will tell you—the year of her betrothal. Ask any man, he will tell you—his bachelor days. What do these things mean? It is worth while finding out. That which should be the perfecting of the nature of either, when the two human hemispheres, as Plato puts it, are one rounded whole again, does not in either case result in happiness. Contentment, perhaps, but not happiness. Marriage, then, is not the happy state. How then?

"It is not, and cannot be, as it is now ordered; for the notion of possession, of property once more, has entered in and vitiated it. It has poisoned the nature of man and degraded the conscience of woman. Women are not, it may be, angels before marriage, but it is certain that they should not be property afterwards. But since, by virtue of a legal contract, they are technically so, a man is so made by tradition and proneness to possess that he will consider her so, even against his own judgment, even despite his own honour; and the moment he believes himself secure of her he will cease to serve her. Now, to love a woman, in my belief, is not only to desire her. Much more it is to be allowed to serve her. The better part of loving is the need to give, not the desire to receive. In a perfect union of hearts and bodies the rivalry is not who shall get, but who shall spend the more. There should be no end to that noble strife—nor will there be on the woman's part; nor need there be on the man's if he is always to be blessed. Poisoned man is the bane of marriage, not woman. It is natural for a woman to mate, natural to a man to master. But unless we curb that brute instinct in the man there can be no real happiness for the woman.

"As for me I will never marry as the law now stands. I will not enslave any woman. To put into my hands legal instruments whereby I am secure in her so long as she is worth my while, and be free of her the moment she does what it is my right, as a man, to do; so to treat the woman in whose eyes I have seen heaven, to whose heart I go for peace, is to insult me by the suspicion that I can so insult her. I will never do it, Sanchia. I'll become a monk first.

"What's to be done, then? I have nothing heroic to suggest. If I go maimed through life, an unrounded hemisphere, I'll hobble along, my conscience clear, at least. And perhaps "Patience and shuffle the cards" is as good a roadside saw as any other. There are signs that the accursed old system is breaking up—signs on all sides. Reasonable persons have long lifted their eyebrows and now are beginning to lift their voices. So the time may be coming when they can lift up their hearts. It was expedient once, we read, that one man should die for the people. It is doubtless necessary that there should be frequent crucifixions. It seems to be the way of the world. A man to whom the truth is blazed as clear as noon goes out into the streets filled to the lips with his revelation. Smug citizens avoid him, put up their shutters, and lock their doors; dogs bark at his heels; the ribald gather; one throws a stone. Then comes the storm upon him, in the which he falls, battered, bleeding with glazed eyes? There's an end of the blasphemer who dares to question established order, who says that use and wont are not sacred at all, but hoary in iniquity.

"Having slain him they learn that he was a god, and his revelation a law of nature. Up goes a statue, and his words are read as gospel. That's how we get on in this quaint world, climbing to the stars on the heaped bodies of our heroes and sages. It's no use quarrelling with it. Whether I am to trample or be trampled, teach me, Sanchia, not to complain."

Big Circus at Vancouver

Announcement is made that on Saturday, Aug. 20, the Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth will visit Vancouver. This is the best news of the day to those who are fond of the circus form of amusement. For fifty-five years this has been the leading show of the world. This year it comes forth with an entire new equipment which cost the management $3,500,000.

The main performance is given in three rings, on two stages, on an immense Roman race track and in the dome. The climax of the program is the appalling performance of Desperado, a mad Frenchman, who leaps from the dome of the tent and lands on his bare chest. Additional thrills are given by Jupiter, a pure-white Arabian horse. It rides to the dome of the tent in a balloon and descends amid a Niagara of exploding rockets and fireworks. Then there is Charlie the First, beyond all question the most remarkable animal that ever came to the notice of scientists. Charlie the First is merely a chimpanzee, but he has become the greatest bicycle rider and acrobat in the world. He does an act on one of the stages that is the wonder of the age.

In the menagerie is found the most remarkable zoological exhibit ever seen outside of the interior of the African jungle. It is Bumbino, the first and only baby giraffe ever born or exhibited in America. Only once before in history has the stork visited the giraffe pen of a captive zoo of animals. That event happened over fifty years ago in London, England. The youngster died before it could be placed on exhibition. Bumbino is only three feet tall, less than one-seventh of its mother's height. The youngster is worth its weight in gold.

On the list of performers are the names of 400 of the world's most talented performers. The new parade is a marvel of interest. It is a panorama of a thousand wonders. There are three miles of it. Here is an opportunity for the people of Vancouver and Victoria and vicinity to see the greatest circus ever organized. The railroads will lower the rates of fare and special excursions will be run.

Lord Fitzgibbon was holding assizes in Tipperary County, when a man was brought before him on indictment for murder. The case was proved that the victim came to his death by being hit with a stick in the hands of the defendant; but the doctor testified that he had what they called in medical parlance a "paper skull." The case looked dark for the prisoner, however, and the jury returned a verdict of guilty. As the man was brought before the court for sentence it was noticed that his lordship had his black cap in his hand. "Have you anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced upon you?" demanded Lord Fitzgibbon. The man looked for a moment and then said, "No, your lordship, I have nothing to say; but I should like to ask one question." "What is that, my man?" said Fitzgibbon. "I should like to know what a man with a head like that was doing in Tipperary?" The black cap was put away and a prison sentence imposed.

A Difference

The person who reads a printed page with most interest is the author, with most care is its proofreader.

Satisfied With Her Work

It was noticed that the woman dev ed many more hours to mirror gazi than formerly. "I can't tell," she sa with dreamy satisfaction, "how ma times I have caught people, especia women, snapshotting me recently."

"I shouldn't be so puffed up about if I were you," said the brute of a m "It wasn't your good looks that attra ed them. They were taking pictures your dresses, so they could copy best points in their own clothes."

"In that case," said the woman af a moment's visible disappointment, feel more righly complimented than they had photographed me. Nature responsible for me, but I designed clothes myself."

Empire Labour Exchanges

When the Hon. Harry Lawson ask- the President of the Board of de in the House of Commons on nday if he would consider the de- bility of linking up the labour ex- nges of the Empire, Mr. Bux- said the general office of Labour changes was constantly in com- nication with the Emigrants' In- nation Office, which supplied the st information regarding the con- ons of labour in the Dominions the Colonies.

L. C. C. and Boxing Pictures

he London County Council, by 45 s to 29, has adopted a motion de- ing that the public exhibition of ures of the Jeffries-Johnson box- ing contest is undesirable and decided that the proprietors of places licensed for cinematograph performances should be so informed.

The executive committee of the Cinematograph Defence League yesterday passed a resolution that the use of films such as those of the Jeffries-Johnson contest was against the best interests of the business.

Last of Famous Tavern

After 300 years' uninterrupted existence as a tavern in the City of London, Le Olde Blue Last in Dorset-street is to be closed owing to its dangerous condition.

The house has many literary associations. Here it is said Richardson, the novelist, who lived hard by, used to smoke his long "churchwarden" of evenings. Here, too, Johnson and Boswell and Goldsmith are believed to have occasionally resorted. A big "T" cut in an old oak settle in the quaint little bar parlour is said to have been carved by Thackeray.

Roman Relics Found

While excavating in the Basford district, Nottinghamshire, for the purpose of laying a gas main, one of the corporation workmen hit upon a rough earthenware vase, and accidentally smashed it. Inside the vessel was found another jar of similar design, which contained about sixty coins, of silver and bronze. One of the coins bears the head of the Emperor Vespasian, who reigned from A. D. 69-79. Another coin bears the head of Marcus Aurelius, who died in A. D. 182. Another of the coins has a figure representing Africa on the reverse side, and is inscribed with the name of that continent.

Order of Merit

The King has made the following appointments to the Order of Merit:

Sir William Crookes, F.R.S.
Mr. Thomas Hardy.

Mr. Hardy replaces George Meredith and Sir William Crookes the late Sir William Huggins.

Mr. Thomas Hardy, poet and novelist, the sole survivor of the great Victorian writers, celebrated his seventiethentieth birthday last month. He witnessed at Covent Garden last week the operatic version of "Tess," his great novel. Sir William Crookes born in 1832, has discovered new elements, new theories like that of radiant matter, made possible the electric incandescent lamp, paved the way for the discovery of Roentgen-rays, and stimulated the extraction of nitrogen from the air to grow the wheat the world needs.

Famous Herd Extinct

The last surviving member of the once thriving herd of Chartley cattle is dead, and, thanks to the generosity of Colonel Congreve, its remains have been presented to the British Museum of Natural History. This herd, which dates back some six and a half centuries, was formed when Henry III. gave permission to the Lords Ferrers to enclose a number of the wild white cattle from the Royal Forest of Needwood; and here, until the middle of the last century, these semi-wild animals lived and throve. Then tubercle was introduced, and from that date onward the herd began to decline, till in 1905 only seven remained. Five of these were purchased by the Duke of Bedford, and turned down at Woburn, but the insidious disease continued its ravages and finally exterminated the race.

Wet Holidays

It is now possible, for the first time, to obtain compensation at Lloyd's for having one's holidays spoiled by rain—a new departure induced by the persistently wet weather which has so far marked the greater portion of the present holiday season.

Underwriters are prepared to insure proposers against one-tenth of an inch of rain falling on more than two days a week during their holidays at any towns on the south and east coasts between Bournemouth and Scarborough where the daily rainfall is officially published or satisfactory records can be obtained.

For a premium of 7s. 6d., covering seven days, compensation would be paid at the rate of 10s. per day on excess of two wet days, while a premium of 10s. insures against an excess of four wet days in a fortnight. But of the one-tenth of an inch of rain—the quantity which constitutes a "wet" day of twenty-four hours—the greater portion must fall during the day time.

Guns for Irishmen

It comes with something of a shock to hear that the Government are distributing firearms to Irishmen. A circular issued from the headquarters of the Royal Irish Constabulary to the local constables begins as follows:

"The Irish Government has approved of formal notice being given to such of the owners, or their legal representatives, of arms and ammunition surrendered under the Peace Preservation Acts of 1881 and 1886, and still held by the constabulary, as can now be identified, informing them that their weapons and ammunition will be destroyed unless within one month of the date of service of such notice they will make application to the local district inspectors to have the arms, etc., returned to them."

All arms not claimed are to be destroyed on September 30. They repose in the depot of the Royal Irish Constabulary in Dublin, and a curious collection they make—old blunderbusses and muzzle-loaders, and horse pistols and other relics of the last century. The weapons are to all intents and purposes useless.

PROHIBITION

Two Englishmen travelling in the U. S. arrived at a Prohibition State and were soon discussing the question of how to obtain a bottle of champagne. "I say, Jim," said one, "let's ask the police officer." "Follow me," said the constable, and he conducted them in and out and round about until they stood in front of the cathedral. The travellers looked at each other in astonishment. "Surely, my good man," said one of them, "you do not mean to tell us that we can obtain what we want in a church?" "You see the church, do you?" asked the policeman solemnly. "Yes," assented the two. Well, that is the only place in this State where you can't get it."

Fortunately in B. C. one doesn't have to stoop to underhand methods. The best champagne, G. H. Mumm's, is listed at all the good hotels, bars and clubs. Any dealer can supply you for home use. 'Tis well, however, to specify "Extra Dry" or "Selected Brut" and to see that the bottle carries the pink capsule or bears the signature "G. H. Mumm & Co.," then you have the purest and best champagne obtainable. Pither and Leiser, wholesale agents for B.C.—Victoria, Vancouver and Nelson.

CERTIFICATE OF RE-INCORPORATION

I HEREBY CERTIFY that "The Victoria-Phoenix Brewing Company, Limited Liability," has this day been re-incorporated and registered as "The Victoria-Phoenix Brewing Company, Limited," under Section 5 of the "Companies Act, 1897," as a Limited Company, with a capital of three hundred thousand dollars, divided into three thousand shares of one hundred dollars each.

Given under my hand and heal of office at Victoria, Province of British Columbia, this seventeenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and ten.

(L.S.) J. P. McLEOD,
Acting Registrar of Joint Stock Companies.

The following are the objects for which the Company has been incorporated:—

The manufacturing and brewing of lager beer, steam beer, ale and porter, and to engage in and carry on the general business of brewers, distillers and bottlers.

To manufacture, buy and sell malt, and to engage in and carry on the general business of maltsters, and also to manufacture, buy and sell ice, and to carry on the general business of ice dealers.

To erect, build, purchase, lease, or otherwise acquire breweries, distilleries, malthouses and other buildings, plant, machinery and other personal property for the purpose of carrying into effect the aforesaid objects, and the business of the Company.

To carry on any other business which may seem to the Company capable of being conveniently carried on in connection with the above or calculated directly or indirectly to enhance the value of or render profitable any of the Company's property or rights.

To purchase, lease, or otherwise acquire and own such real estate and personal property as the Company may deem necessary or expedient for the purposes and business of the Company, and to sell, rent or dispose of the same when deemed expedient.

To establish, buy and sell, in any part of British Columbia, the Dominion of Canada, or elsewhere, agencies for the sale by wholesale and retail of the manufactures and products of the Company's business.

To sell, improve, manage, develop, lease, mortgage, pledge, dispose of, turn to account, or otherwise deal with all or any of the property and rights of the Company.

To use steam, water, electricity or any other power as a motive power, or otherwise, in connection with the Company's business.

To enter into partnership or into any arrangement for sharing profits, union of interest, reciprocal concession or co-operation with any person or Company carrying on or about to carry on any business which the Company is authorised to carry on, or any business or transaction capable of being conducted so as directly or indirectly to benefit this Company, and to take or otherwise acquire and hold shares or stock in or securities of and to subsidise or otherwise assist any such Company or person, and to sell, hold, re-issue with or without guarantee, or otherwise deal with such shares and securities.

To acquire and undertake all or any part of the business, property and liabilities of any person or company carrying on any business which this Company is authorized to carry on, or possessed of property suitable for the purposes of this Company; and to pay for same in paid-up and non-assessable or other shares of this company, other shares of this Company.

To sell the undertaking of the Company or any part hereof, for such consideration as the Company may think fit, and in particular for shares, debentures or securities of any other company having objects altogether, or in part, similar to those of this Company.

To promote any other Company for the purpose of acquiring all, or any of the property, rights, and liabilities of the Company, or for any other purpose which may seem directly or indirectly calculated to benefit this Company.

To remunerate any person or persons for service rendered, or to be rendered in placing any shares or securities of the Company, or in relation to the establishment of the Company, either in money or in shares partly or fully paid up.

To borrow or raise, or secure the payment of money in such manner as the Company shall think fit and in particular by the issue of debentures or debenture stock charged upon all or any of the Company's property (both present and future) including its uncalled capital and to purchase, redeem or pay off any such securities.

To lend or advance money to such persons on such terms as may seem expedient, and in particular to customers of and persons having dealings with the Company and to guarantee the performance of contracts by such customers or persons, and to take securities for the repayment of such loss or advances or the performance of any contracts so guaranteed.

To divide any of the property in specie among the members.

Generally to make, do and execute all such acts, deeds, covenants and things as the Company may deem necessary, expedient, incidental or otherwise, to the attainment of all or any of the foregoing objects, or to the conversion or disposal of any security held or acquired by the Company.

To search for, prospect, explore, mine, win, open, develop and work collieries, mines, minerals, quarries, coal, coal oil, wells, ores, minerals and other deposits;

To acquire by purchase, lease, hire, discovery, license, location or otherwise, and hold lands, estates, coal lands, leases and licenses, deposits of oil and petroleum, quartz and placer mines, and mineral claims, leases or prospects, mining lands and mineral rights, collieries, quarries, clay, timber lands or leases, timber claims or licenses to cut timber, pulp leases, surface rights and rights of way, water rights and privileges, foreshore rights, mills, factories, elevators, coke ovens, furnaces for smelting, treating ores and refining metals, ships, steamboats and other vessels, tramways and railway sidings on property owned or controlled by the Company, or adjacent thereto, roads, wharves, docks, terminal facilities, buildings, machinery, plant, stock-in-trade or other real or personal property, as may be deemed advisable, and to equip, operate and turn the same to account, and to sell, lease, or otherwise dispose of the same, or any of them, or any interest therein;

To construct, carry out, repair, maintain, improve, manage, work, control and superintend any roads, ways, adits, levels, shafts, tunnels, tramways and railway sidings on property owned or controlled by the Company, or adjacent thereto, brides, coaling stations, reservoirs, water courses, aqueducts, docks, wharves, terminal facilities, furnaces, coke ovens, plant, engines, machinery, mills, factories, elevators, warehouses, ships, steam vessels and boats, dwelling houses, buildings, and other works and conveniences which may seem directly or indirectly conducive to any of the objects of the Company, and to contribute to or otherwise aid or take part in any such operations, and to purchase, hire or build, and repair, navigate and trade with ships, steam vessels and boats for the purposes of the company, and also railway waggons or trucks or any other rolling stock, and also steam or other locomotive or motive power;

To treat, make merchantable, transport and trade in coal, coke, ores, metals, metallic substances and minerals of every description, and the products thereof, and to trade in substances used in getting, reducing, treating or making merchantable, coal, coke, ores, metals, metallic substances, minerals, and precious stones or in manufacturing products therefrom;

To clear, manage, farm, cultivate, irrigate, plant, build on or otherwise work, use or improve any land which, or any interest in which, may belong to the company, and to deal with any farm or other products thereof, and also to lay out into town sites, said lands or any parts thereof;

To establish, operate and maintain, stores, trading posts and supply stations for the purposes of the company, and the supplying goods to any of its employees or the occupiers of any of its lands, or any other persons, and for bartering and dealing in the products of mine and forest, and the carrying on of the general business of traders and merchants;

To construct dams, and improve rivers, streams and lakes, and to divert the whole or part of the water of such streams and rivers as the purposes of the company may require, subject, however, to the provisions of any Statute having reference thereto;

To construct, equip, maintain, complete and operate, tram-ways, upon lands owned or controlled by the company; to use any motive power in the operation of the same; to take, transport and carry passengers and freight on such tramways, and for the purposes thereof, to use, construct and equip all necessary works, telephones, telegraphs, buildings, appliances and conveniences;

To erect, construct, operate, and maintain compressed air and electric works, power houses, generating plant, and such other appliances and conveniences as are necessary and proper for the generating of compressed air and electricity, and for transmitting the same to be used as a motive power for tramways or other works of the company, and to be supplied by the company as a motive power for hauling, propelling, pumping, lighting, heating, smelting, reducing, milling or drilling or any other operations of any nature or kind whatsoever for which compressed air or electricity may be used, supplied, applied, or required, and to produce, use, sell, lease and dispose of, in any manner the company may see fit, electric light, heat or power. Provided, however, that any supply, distribution or transmission of electric, hydraulic, pneumatic or other power or force for the purposes of heat, light or power beyond the limits of the lands of the company, shall be subject to local and municipal control in that behalf;

To contract with any person, body corporate or politic for supplying compressed air and electricity or water power, to any such person, body corporate or politic, or to any streets, ways, lanes, passages, tramways, mines, smelters, mills, manufactories, ships, warehouses, public or private houses, buildings and places, and from time to time lay down, carry, fit up, connect and finish, any cumulative storage battery, cable, wiring, pipes, flume switches, connections, branch, burner, lamp, meter, transformer or other apparatus, for or in connection with any compressed air, water or electric main, pipe, lead or cable, which for such purposes may be required, and to let any such apparatus for hire for such sum as may be agreed upon;

To acquire, operate and carry on the business of a power company, subject to local and municipal regulations in that behalf;

To undertake any or carry into effect all such financial, trading or other operations or businesses in connection with the objects of the company, as the company may think fit;

To acquire and carry on all or any part of the business or property, and to undertake any liabilities of any person, firm or association or company, possessed of property suitable for the purposes of this company, or carrying on any business which this company is authorized to carry on, or which can be conveniently carried on in connection with the same, or may seem to the company calculated directly or indirectly to benefit the company, and, as the consideration for the same, to pay cash, or to issue any shares, stocks or obligations of this company;

To enter into partnership or into any arrangement for sharing profits, union of interest, co-operation, joint adventure, reciprocal concessions or otherwise, with any person or company, carrying on or engaged in, or about to carry on or engage in, any business or transaction which this company is authorized to carry on or engage in, or any business or transaction capable of being conducted so as directly or indirectly benefit this company, and to lend money to, guarantee the contracts of, or otherwise assist any such person or company, and to take or otherwise acquire shares and securities of any such company, and to sell, hold, re-issue, with or wtihout guarantee, or otherwise deal with the same, notwithstanding the provisions of Section 44 of the said Act;

To sell or dispose of the property of the company, or any part thereof, for such consideration as may be deemed advisable, and in particular for shares, debentures or securities of any other company having objects altogether or in part similar to those of this company;

To promote any company or companies for the purpose of acquiring all or any of the property and liabilities of this company, or for any other purpose which may seem directly or indirectly calculoted to benefit this company;

To purchase, take on lease or in exchange, hire or otherwise acquire, any real or personal property, and any rights and privileges which may be necessary or convenient for the purposes of the business of the company;

To enter into any arrangements with any government or any authority, municipal, local or otherwise, that may seem conducive to the company's objects, or any of them, and to obtain from any such government or authority, any rights, privileges and concessions, which the company may think it desirable to obtain, and to carry out, exercise and comply with, or, if deemed advisable, dispose of any such arrangements, rights, privileges and concessions;

To obtain any Act of Parliament or Legislature for enabling the company to carry any of its objects into effect, or for any other purpose that may seem expedient, or to oppose any proceedings or applications which may seem calculated directly or indirectly to prejudice the company's interests;

Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 44 of the said Act, to take or otherwise acquire, hold, vote by its duly appointed proxy, sell, pledge or otherwise dispose of, and deal with the shares, debentures and other securities in any other company, having objects altogether or in part similar to those of this company, or carrying on any business capable of being conducted so as directly or indirectly to benefit this company, and more particularly, but not so as to limit the foregoing, the debentures and other securities of any railway company, owning or authorized to construct and operate a railway line or lines, connecting with any of the company's properties whereby and over which the company may ship its coal and other products;

To endorse, guarantee and secure the payment or satisfaction of the bonds, coupons, mortgages, deeds of trust, debentures, securities, obligations, evidences of indebtedness and shares of the capital stock of other corporations, and also to guarantee and secure the payment and satisfaction of dividends on shares of the capital stock of such other corporations, provided such other corporations, fall within the description of corporations mentioned in the last preceding section;

New Shipment of Hofi Fibre Matting

A MATTING THAT IS COOL IN SUMMER AND WARM IN WINTER

We have lately received a shipment of that popular Hofi Fibre Matting, and invite you to come in and see some very artistic patterns in this splendid floor covering. This matting is made from vegetable fibre—not wood pulp—and is soft, pliable, odorless matting that is cool in Summer and warm in winter.

It is an ideal sanitary chamber carpet for all the year around. Sewed and laid like carpet, and does not break or require binding. Heavy furniture does not break it, and it is double-faced, giving double wear. Comes in artistic colors and stylish designs. Come in and inspect it and let us show you why it is the most economical matting to purchase.

Editorial Notes

IE PROVINCIAL UNIVERSITY

The Week does not claim to possess ecial information as to the intentions of University Site Commissioners, but nehow or another the impression is owing that Victoria will be the chosen ot. In this connection The Week would er its readers to an article which apared in its columns at the conclusion the sitting held in Victoria. The arle stated that Mt. Tolmie would probly be the chosen site. Those who gave e Week credit for knowing what it was king about are now in a position to ngratulate themselves.

OTLAND YARD

The very able cartoonist who illustes the front page of the Victoria Times the nail on the head when he showed otland Yard reaching out its long arm grasp Dr. Crippen in Quebec. The long n and the strangle hold are two of the st pronounced features of the English ice service. Jabez Balfour found this when the Colonial Office got hold of n after seven years unceasing effort. It not a little gratifying to find how eulotic the American Press is on the meths of Scotland Yard, which are devoid of sationalism and can neither be directed controlled by external influences.

IE COMPANIES' ACT

The Attorney General has announced the most emphatic terms that the Comies' Act will be enforced. This is as should be, for nothing could be more rimental to the public interests than that the Act should be allowed to remain a dead letter. Only by enforcement can it be ascertained whether or not it is the "bete noir" which some of its critics have tried to make out. The last thing which the Provincial Government would wish to do is to check business in the Povince, and if the Act has this effect there will be no difficulty in securing the necessary amendments. The opinion of The Week is that the Opposition has been engineered by the representatives of Eastern houses who have tried to make a mountain of a mole-hill.

THE WATER QUESTION

The Week ventured to suggest that it would be a waste of time to ask the Esquimalt Water Works Company to name a price for its holdings. Probably the Committee thought the same, but deemed it advisable to leave no stone unturned in the attempt to secure a settlement. The Company has asked $2,000,000; it is rumoured that the City will offer $1,750,000. This price will not be accepted, nor is there any reason why it should be. It represents no more than the additional expenditure which has been made by the Company since the last price was fixed. The upshot will be as it should be—arbitration—by the result of which both the City and the Company will have to abide, and the arbitration will be conducted on the lines laid down in the legislation of last session. The trend of events, the steady increase of population, the scarcity of water, as evidenced by the burnt lawns and boulevards all over the city, and the activity of the Esquimalt Water Works Company have forced public opinion to the inevitable conclusion that the holdings of that Company must be acquired. Further delay will only mean increased cost and a bigger bonus. The sooner the matter is settled the better, as there is no longer any doubt which way the settlement will go.

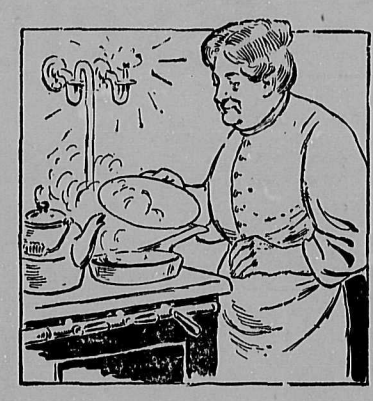
MEAN STREETS

A reader of The Week thought that it was inexcusable to appropriate Arthur Morrison's well-known title and apply it to Victoria streets. Technically the criticism is correct for the meanness of which Morrison wrote had no relation to dust, except in the sense of dusty characters, or shady people. But if there is anything really meaner than the dust which whirls about the unpaved streets of Victoria the Editor of The Week has no desire to make its acquaintance. The City Engineer, if left alone, will gradually reduce the area in which the sirocco flourishes. Every day a few square yards are added to the paved roadways, and paved roadways plus water are death to dust. Calcium chloride has been proved, both in England and France to be the best remedy for laying the dust on unpaved roads. Oil is objectionable in many ways and it is to be hoped that the chemical will be generally adopted in Victoria. Whilst on the subject of pavement The Week ventures again to utter a word of warning against a too general adoption of asphalt. It is true that the Worswick Company has made an excellent job on Linden Avenue, but wait till the rain comes and it will be as much as a heavy team can do to haul a load of coal or wood between Fort Street and Dallas Road. It cannot be too widely known that after twenty-five years trial asphalt stands discredited in the leading English cities. It is cheap, clean and eyeable, but its slipperiness is past remedy.

BATTLEDORE AND SHUTTLECOCK

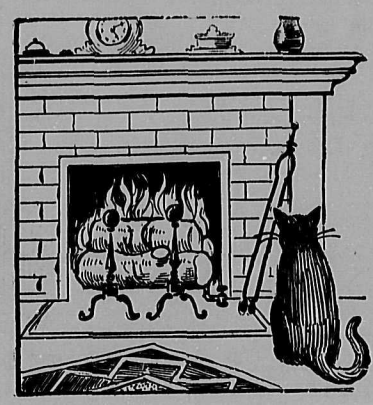
The history of Victoria furnishes few funnier incidents than that depicted in The Week cartoon of the current issue. It may be that the sensational features of the incident have been exaggerated, but the fact remains that only W. G. Gilbert at his best could do justice to an affair which has tickled the risibilities of everyone who heard of it. Just fancy a Senator and two Cabinet Ministers making an appointment with an Indian Chief at the Empress Hotel! The great ones got tired of waiting and started on a "joy ride." Within a few minutes of the lapse of the hour within which the historic interview was to be held, the Chief arrives, politely leaves his visiting card and departs, no doubt, greatly relieved at being spared the formality of an interview. Later on the "joy riders" and the Chief meet. One prominent citizen steps down and invites the Chief to enter the chariot, whilst a Minister accosts him in the "hail fellow well met" style, which cost the Minister his Victoria seat. But the Chief will neither be wheedled nor wooed, and he hands the exuberant Minister the "mitt," or perhaps, to be thoroughly up to date, it would be more correct to say "a lemon." Surely the illustrious party lacked a sense of humor or they would never have placed themselves in such a position. It is quite certain that no insult was intended to be offered to the Chief, but it is singularly unfortunate that his uncultured mind should so have interpreted the situation. When the Songhees Reserve has ceased to be a shuttlecock, bandied from one political battledore to another, it may be possible to effect a settlement. But this will only be brought about by men who have some knowledge of human nature and some tact.

Many August Weddings Are on the Tapis



Therefore it is not amiss perhaps to say that the first essential towards good housekeeping is an up-to-date Gas Cooking Apparatus. The benedict-to-be should see that his bride will experience the joy of a stove that is always ready, an oven that is always right and a heat that can be regulated scientifically. Wisdom in this because it will save money, time and trouble.

A Gas Range means that one can cook any meal of the day, summer or winter, with ease and comfort. Let one of our men set up a Gas Stove or Range in your kitchen and you will find that you have the most modern and convenient cooking equipment of the age. The cost of its maintenance is far less than fuel for a coal range.



We would like all Victorian near-future-benedicts-to-be to call here at our new Salesroom on Yates Street, and inspect our unrivalled stock of Gas Ranges, Gas Stoves, Gas Radiators, Gas Water Heaters, etc. Every one warranted to be as we say or money refunded. We can sell a new Gas Cook Stove for $20, connected free. Easy payments if desired.

Porcine

The cleaning out of the "blind pigs" at Prince Rupert goes merrily on. During one week seven additional convictions were recorded.

In Memoriam

A mountain in the Cascades heretofore unnamed although rising to a height of 10,000 feet, is to be named Mt. Tatlow, if the Dominion geographical Board will agree to ratify it.

Forest Reserve

Two survey parties have been sent out by the forestry department to delimit the boundary of the new Rocky mountain forest reserve and when the work is completed it will be submitted to parliament for enactment.

New Industry in View

Dr. Schumacher, a German capitalist, has visited Cloverdale in company with Vancouver financiers and looked over the country with the end in view of starting a factory for the refining of sugar from the sugar beet and to see what the different farmers could do in the matter of raising the beets to keep the plant going.

B. C. Fruit

According to a late report of Mr. J. C. Metcalfe, British Columbia's market commissioner to the prairie provinces, dated at Edmonton, without exception the opinion throughout the territory in which British Columbia's fruits are being packed this year, is highly commendatory, the same opinion being expressed to the condition in which these fruits arrive at all market centres.

Invite Premier

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Creston board of trade held here on Wednesday morning it was decided to ask Sir Wilfrid Laurier to make a short stay at Creston on August 30, when his train passes through here going east from Nelson, for the purpose of addressing residents of Creston and it is expected that his train will be held a few minutes for that purpose.

Canine Rights

The rights of dogs on the public highways of Nova Scotia will be tested by an action just brought by Judge Meagher of the supreme court. The judge had a favorite dog which was run over and killed by an automobile driver near the city and he is sueing for $100 damages. The accident happened on the Deford road and the action is brought against the owners of the car.

To Paddle 600 Miles

Not only will Earl Grey be the first Governor-General of Canada to make the rugged overland trip across the country to Hudson Bay, but if the plans which are now being made at the mounted police department do not miscarry, he will probably achieve the distinction of making the trip in record time. Earl Grey leaves Ottawa on August 3 and is timed to arrive in Fort Churchill on August 15. The entire distance to be covered is about 2,240 miles, of which about 600 miles will be made by canoe and portage, the first stretch of 1,640 miles being covered by rail.

Game Regulations

Hunters throughout the province in another month will be preparing for an invasion of the game districts of the country, for according to the regulations issued by the government the first legal day when the quest of game may be undertaken is September 1st, when ducks, geese and snipe may be shot on the mainland and islands adjacent thereto, but on Vancouver Island the season will not be open till September 15th.

Blue and Willow grouse may be shot in Kootenay from September 1st to December 31st. Prairie chicken may be shot throughout the province during October. Ducks and geese between September and February 28th.

Deer may be shot between September 1st and December 15th.

B. C. Poultry Association

The announcement is sent out from the department of agriculture at Victoria that there will be a meeting of all the poultrymen of British Columbia on Aug. 18 at the convention hall, for the purpose of considering the organization of the British Columbia Poultry Association and the adoption of a constitution and by-laws. Stated in a few words the chief aims and objects of the British Columbia Poultry Association is "Better Poultry and more of it." The field of work will engage every poultry interest. It will seek to disseminate throughout the province a thorough knowledge of the latest and most progressive methods of rearing and caring for domestic fowls. Its particular mission will be to secure a more widespread interest in thoroughbred poultry.

The chief agencies to be used in the furtherance of this object will be the poultry show and it is expected that the Poultry Association will hold an annual provincial show.

YACHTING NOTES

In view of the inaccurate statements in the daily papers concerning the Victoria Yacht Club, the readers of these notes are assured that the information contained therein is authentic and gathered from the most reliable source.

As there seems to be some confusion of the Macneill and Alexandra Cups, the following explanation may be welcomed by the uninitiated. The Macneill Cup was presented by Commodore Macneill of the Vancouver Yacht Club for yachts in the eighteen foot class. As there was only one entry for the last regatta the race was called off, but it is hoped that next season will find more entries in this class.

The Alexandra Cup was presented by Hon. James Dunsmuir, and was raced for by the "Spirit" of Seattle and the "Alexandra" owned by Captain Deane of Vancouver and designed by Fife. This Cup, which represents yachting supremacy in the Pacific North West is now held by the Alexandra.

It is probable that some member or members of the V. Y. C. will come forward with an offer to build a Challenger for the Alexandra Cup, to be ready for the International Meeting next year, but at the present time the matter is quite indefinite. In view of the manner in which the Victoria Yacht Club has come to the fore this season it is felt that Victoria should have a Challenger to make a bid for the coveted trophy.

The Victoria Yacht Club held a meeting of the Managing Committee on the 2nd of August to receive and pass the accounts of the International Regatta. The financial statement proved very satisfactory, and the Club is entitled to congratulations all round on the success of the regatta.

Arrangements are being made for a series of local races as there are a few handsome prizes on hand which were not competed for at the last gatta.

A handsome cup has been presen to the Club by I. Kirkpatrick to raced for by local motor boats, a the event is likely to prove very teresting.

A Club Cruise has been arrang for August 13th, destination bei Esquimalt Harbour, probably The Cove or thereabouts, thus ensuri oysters for supper and salmon f breakfast.

On the Saturdays following Augu 13th there will be races alternate for sailing craft and motor boats.

Victoria, B.C.

The above Company has acquired the right to prospect for, work and sell oil and gas on a tract of land situated at Muir Creek, near Sooke on the South-west coast of Vancouver Island, about 20 miles from Victoria. These rights extend over an area of 11,159 acres.

A well-known California oil expert, Mr. J. W. Frank, who is the Company's consulting engineer, has reported most favourably on this property as to its geological formations, and a contract has already been let to the Murray Drilling Company to prove the ground.

DRILLING OPERATIONS HAVE COMMENCED AND THE WELL IS NOW DOWN 250 FEET WITH MOST PROMISING INDICATIONS, SIMILAR TO THOSE FOUND IN THE PENNSYLVANIA OIL FIELDS

An issue of 30,000 shares of the Company's stock has been placed on the market for development purposes.

Application for shares made until further notice will give the shareholders an option to apply for three shares at par for every share now applied for after oil is found, and the shareholders will be at liberty to take up this option within thirty days after due notice has been given them by the Directors.
