The Electoral Campaign

BY common consent the campaign now almost closed has been one on behalf of candidates of irreproachable personal character, and the contest resolved itself into one of fitness by reason of natural qualifications, ability and aptitude, and one of the endorsement or rejection of certain Government policies. On the former ground it is no reflection on Mr. Brewster to say that the wide experience and the commanding position of Mr. Flumerfelt in the financial circles of the Dominion render him an ideal candidate, especially when it is remembered that his election would mean that he would be endorsed as Finance Minister. If there are no objections to Mr. Flumerfelt on personal grounds, and none have developed, then it is obvious that the City and the Province have more to gain by securing him as Finance Minister than by putting Mr. Brewster into the House as Leader of the Opposition. This is more obvious than ever since the election of Mr. Macdonald, who is a very capable man, and is bound to be an effective critic of all Government Measures.

LIBERAL MUD-SLINGING

While these are the general considerations affecting the personality of the candidates, it is greatly to be regretted that the Liberal press and prominent Liberal speakers have not been able even in these sober times, to refrain from indulging in those campaign tactics which have always characterized their party in British Columbia. Mr. Flumerfelt has been slandered in respect of his ancestry, in respect of his relations with the workpeople of large industrial enterprises with which he has been associated, and in respect of the action of companies with which he is not actively allied, and over which he has no control. Not content with making false charges under these heads, Liberal speakers have indulged in disgraceful innuendo, but without in any instance producing a tittle of evidence in support of their suggestions. Undoubtedly this is one of the worst features of public life in Canada. It would have been difficult to find a man of cleaner reputation than Mr. Flumerfelt, yet in the hope of making a little political capital, and possibly catching a few votes, the Liberal Party has stooped to the attempt to discredit him in every relation, and to defeat him, not by proving that he was unfit, either in character or by reason of his policies, but simply by endeavoring to create an atmosphere of suspicion.

HOW MR. BREWSTER HAS BEEN TREATED

When we think of the good times that are coming in the future, we cannot but cherish the hope that among the many things in store for us will be the immunity of decent public men from slanderous, suspicious attack. The attitude of the Conservative Party towards Mr. Brewster has been entirely different, not one reflection has been cast upon his character by any responsible person, and when any of his business or political actions have been reviewed, it has been done in a spirit of extreme moderation and fairness. Certainly Mr. Brewster can have no complaint to make of his treatment at the hands of the Conservative speakers or press.

THE QUESTION OF POLICIES

When we come to consider the question of policies, The Week takes the position that given a decent and suitable candidate the most important consideration at the moment is not the past record of the various Conservative administrations, but the policies which are pledged by the candidates and the Government for the immediate future. In a true sense the present bye-election is for temporary purposes, the verdict can only stand for a few months, when it will have to be revised. Parliament is already in Session, there are three Measures of prime importance which the public want, which are ripe for operation, and to which the Government has pledged itself. These are the Agricultural Credits Act, Aid to Ship-Building, and the Workmen's Compensation Act. (Prohibition is dealt with in another article.) All these must be dealt with during the present Session, and outside of them there is no important measure of first rank which need be considered. If this work is done, and the necessary appropriations made, the Province will be satisfied that the Session of 1916 has done its duty and done all that is expected of it at the present time. The urgent matter is to relieve business and trade conditions, and not one direct criticism has been levelled at the Measures to which the Government stands pledged for this purpose.

THE CANDIDATE'S PLEDGE

The Liberal press and speakers have tried to meet these practical policies by professing disbelief in their genuineness, and by regarding them as mere election "bluff." Such a position, whatever else may be said of it, is the best proof of the poverty of the Liberal arguments and the Liberal case. The Electors have received not only the personal pledge of the Premier, but what comes a little closer to them in the Bye-Election, the personal undertaking of the Finance Minister, their candidate, that if these policies are not carried out during the present Session of Parliament, he will instantly resign. No one doubts that Mr. Flumerfelt will keep his word. This review certainly justifies the conclusion that Victoria has everything to gain by electing him as its representative.

Prohibition

ALTHOUGH the announcement of the Premier on Tuesday night that the Government had decided to accept the principle of "direct legislation" and submit a "referendum" to the people on the subject of Prohibition came as a surprise to all parties, no one can deny that the policy he announced was conceived in what he and his advisers believed to be the best interests of the Province. He was probably influenced by the large Prohibitionist vote in Vancouver, which apparently convinced him that public feeling was running strong in the direction of Prohibition. The views of The Week on the subject remain unchanged. This paper has endeavored to set before its readers certain phases of the question which have not been dealt with in any other paper locally. Its Editorials have been directed more to a discussion of the prominent features of Prohibition than to an active propaganda. Months ago, when it commenced the discussion, The Week stated that while there were two parties holding directly opposite views, and while each party was strictly within its rights in publishing and advocating those views, the matter must ultimately be settled in the only

PREMIER MCBRIDE'S PROMISE MUST BE KEPT

constitutional manner possible, viz.: at the polls. It went further and said that the promise of Ex-Premier McBride to grant a "plebiscite" on the subject should be honorably carried out by the new Government, and that whatever the result of the "plebiscite" might be, it would be the duty of the Government to give legislative effect to it without a moment's delay. From this position The Week has not receded. Premier Bowser has gone further than Premier McBride, and has substituted a "referendum" for a "plebiscite." It is a new departure, and one which will not be looked on with universal favor. Among many objections to it there is one, which in the opinion of The Week is unanswerable, viz: that in making the concession the Government abrogates at any rate a share of its proper and natural functions, and the danger is that once this system is tried it may too often be resorted to as a substitute for the traditional and constitutional methods which have hitherto prevailed in British countries. However, this is "en passant," the fact remains that the Premier has pledged himself to this course, and has done so from a sincere desire to promote the best interests of the Province, although there will be many who think that it is a doubtful policy. It only remains to give effect to the undertaking of the Government in a proper manner. In working out the new policy there is to be co-operation between the Government and the advocates of the measure. The Week has always maintained that these gentlemen were as sincere in their desire to effect a reform as the Premier is in his desire to give effect to what he believes to be the wishes of the Electors. This premises that the subject will be approached in that spirit of fairness and consideration by which British people have always been characterized. The Week does not believe that the men to whom Mr. Bowser has entrusted the responsibility of sharing in the preparation of a Bill will be unmindful of the interests of those who will be so directly, and from a financial point, disastrously affected by a Prohibition Bill, which in the event of being endorsed by the Electors will come into effect as early as 1st January next. Washington State, adjoining, gave the trade two years notice, less than a year will seriously cripple it in Victoria. If the advocates of the Prohibition Policy are of opinion that no compensation is due, not even such compensation as would be afforded by a longer notice, they should at least remember that the trade has been created and maintained under the laws of the Province, and that apart from the capital invested directly in the trade itself, there are many thousands of dollars placed on mortgage on licensed premises by persons who have no interest whatever in it; the investment of Trust and other general funds. These investments would be either destroyed or subjected to serious depreciation by any hasty destruction of the trade. The Week feels sure that the Prohibitionists have no desire to precipitate further financial disasters during these strenuous times, and that the points suggested by The Week and others which will develop, will receive due consideration when the Measure is being framed. If, as we must assume, all parties are seeking to work together for the best interests of the country and the Empire, at a time when those interests are being so seriously threatened from without, there must be no unfairness and no antagonisms developed within. The spirit of reasonableness must prevail and such a Measure be submitted to the Electors as they can fairly vote upon. The Week commends to the consideration of all parties the admirable exposition contained in the London Spectator, and the attitude assumed by a Liberal paper, which has always been characterized by breadth of view. The attitude of the Spectator is that everything must yield to the necessities of the War, which would conduce to the victory of the Allies, but that in dealing with such a subject as Prohibition the Public must decide whether it is to be a "War" Measure, or a permanent Measure. If the latter, it is all the more incumbent to frame it upon lines which will have due regard for all interests affected, and which would not, in the name of Justice, inflict a permanent injustice. It is as much the duty of the Government to provide for this as to give effect to the wishes of the electors should they vote in favor of Prohibition.

CO-OPERATIVE LEGISLATION

FAIR PLAY AND A SQUARE DEAL

THE DUTY OF THE GOVERNMENT

When Mr. Parker Williams Was a Socialist

THE WEEK has a certain admiration for Mr. Parker Williams, M.P.P., as its readers are well aware, but that admiration does not run to an unshaken belief in his consistency. Of course he may have seen "a great Light," but this would not accord with his own explanation of why he has temporarily deserted the ranks of Socialism, which he has adorned for so many years, to join the Liberals. He has told us that his sole reason is to assist in putting the Conservatives out of power. Mr. Williams may believe that this is the true explanation, and The Week would be much more inclined to believe it if his defeat in his old constituency was not a practical certainty at the General Election. His majority has dwindled year by year, and the last time he defeated Dr. Dier by only twelve votes. However, this is talking politics. The Week does not insist that the consideration had any weight with Mr. Williams. It is, however, permissible to suggest that there must be some other reason than the one he has given, and the best evidence of this is to be found in the opinion which he expressed of the Liberal Party less than three years ago, when he was advising a "Comrade" how to proceed in matters political. The letter follows without any further comment—it needs none.

CLARION, NO. 718, SATURDAY, MAY 3rd, 1913

From Parker Williams to Comrade Knight, Lethbridge, Alta.
Ladysmith, B. C., April 7th, 1913.

Comrade:—

I read in the last issue of the Fernie Ledger that a "Labor-Liberal" Candidate is being nominated in the effort to prevent the workers of Lethbridge electing a Socialist, yourself, to the Legislature. In British Columbia, until recent years, whenever the workers' candidate seemed to have a fighting chance, the Liberal Party nominated no straight party candidate. Instead of this, with the cunning of the fox, and the unscrupulousness of the hyena, they selected a man who had attained some prominence in the ranks of labor, someone whose vanity or cupidity was stronger than his manhood, and at the disposal of this thing, they placed the Liberal machine and the funds to carry on a campaign, funds contributed by the same men that the workers strike against, by the exploiters of the worker. This game to defeat labor was carried on under the wing of Liberalism until in self-defense the workers were compelled to devote more time to the Liberal opposition, than to the Tory Government. It has ended by the wiping out of the Liberal Party from the scene altogether in B. C.

Apparently our experience is to be yours. Toryism fights in the open, with a spiked club. Liberalism steals up in the guise of a friend, and by purchase, by bribery, by fraud, and by duplicity, endeavors to defeat us.

If there is any affinity between Liberalism and Labor, you should be able to detect it by the Legislature of the Alberta Government in recent years. What is the record? If Liberalism thinks that Labor is entitled to representation in Governmental Assemblies, how comes it that of all the number of members appointed to the Canadian Senate during the fifteen years of Liberal Rule, not one Representative of Labor has been appointed? Representatives of every other interest, whether legitimate or illegitimate have been appointed, but from Halifax to Victoria during fifteen years the Liberal Party did not deem it necessary to appoint a representative of the Great Class, THE WORKERS. Only when the workers show signs of electing a man who knows something of the fundamentals on which society is based, does the Liberal Party awake to its great love for Labor.

I have sat three years in the Legislature, along with a Liberal-Labor Member, but was unable to detect the slightest difference between the said gentleman and an everyday Liberal or Tory.

There is another side to this matter. Liberalism cannot put this trick through single handed. The Kingpin of the whole perfidious deal is a Judas in our own ranks, someone whom Labor has trusted must become a renegade, must prove false to his own class. As time goes on the struggle for bread grows more bitter.

The unscrupulous among us, finding it so, instead of doing a man's share to end the struggle, they sell themselves to the devil, and their class to a deeper hell of slavery, in the hope that as a price for their perfidy they may be assisted to climb out of the pit.

Whether corporation, thug, or agency spy, scab or harlot, that lends himself to divide the workers on Election Day by masquerading in the garb of a Liberal-Labor Candidate, all are the shameless tools used by the House of plunder.

Friend, as a Welshman, I am going to ask you a favor. If there is any bitterness, any caustic in your tongue, quit Socialist Economics long enough to sandpaper the Welshman who would sell his own class.

"Ploughing the sand" is the figure of speech used to denote useless labor, but "Ploughing the sand" is no more hopeless or useless than looking for good results from a scheme born in treachery.

With hope for your success,

Fraternally yours,

PARKER WILLIAMS.

THE LATEST STYLE CREATIONS

With the advent of a few sunny days, and general optimism over the war, every woman feels the desire for the new spring wardrobe, which is a delight to herself and others.

The new suit is the first consideration and a number of the smartest and daintiest creations direct from New York are now displayed at the well known fashion emporium of Finch's, Limited, Yates Street. Exclusive little suits in the ever popular blue serge have a dressy touch with the introduction of taffeta, that most delightful of materials, while the liserie braid trimmings which embody one of the latest fashion fads are much in evidence.

Clever little suits in black and white cheeks are much in demand, and Finch's have them in styles for every figure. One neat model has a detachable cape, a feature which is both convenient and smart. Several styles show revers of spotted foulard of colored silk lending a chic finish, the color tones of which can be followed on suite in the waist, or on the hat. An exceptional offering is a plain cut suit of blue serge of a good heavy weight, the model priced at only $19.75. Remarkably low prices obtain on these high class goods.

With the purchase of the new suit, the hat is the next consideration. Delightful new colorings include a tendency to pastel tones, very becoming to almost every shade of complexion. Finch's are showing some exclusive pattern hats, which are the last word in artistic creation. In addition to the more delicate pastel shades are "orchid" and "purple aster," two delightful colours which the matron will favor for her Easter chapeau. Hindu brown, and Java are also two good street shades which look well on all occasions. A tour of Finch's millinery attilar reveals a seductive array of dainty little hand made hats in the chic "chin chin" styles, and the "Mary Pickford" shapes, in a variety that will suit every taste and purse. Special mention must also be made of a huge assortment of the best panama shapes, priced up from $2.00. A pleasing variety of children's hats are seen in panamas, and fancy styles. Trimmings favor the liserie braids in many of the neat tailored styles, which appeal to every well dressed woman, and it is a simple matter at Finch's to turn out an expensive looking headgear at a price to suit the humblest purse.

BIG FEATURES COMING TO PANTAGES

The two acts which will head the bill at Pantages next week are "The Boarding School Girls" which is not a musical comedy nor yet a burlesque, and Al Fields and Company in "The Misery of a Hansom Cab," which promises to be the bright comedy feature. Starring in "The Boarding House Girls" is Miss "Tommy" Allen, comedienne. She is an artist of the Marie Dressler type and with a leading man and a chorus of six pretty girls. Al Fields, the well-known comedy star, with two male assistants, will present his vaudeville comedy classic "The Misery of a Hansom Cab." There is lots of nifty nonsense in the turn, but it evokes regular gales of laughter. In fact, grouch or gloom has no chance for a moment while Fields and his little company act under the title of "Song Sketches with Dance Trimmings." The feature of their act is a series of posing scenes in which Miss Earl appears to advantage in several stunning costumes. Reed, operatic basso, and Miss Wood, pianiste, present a combination of vocal and instrumental offerings. Miss Anita Heymann a titian-tressed song-bird who looks enough like Billie Burke to be a twin sister, will be heard in a repertoire of classical and popular ballads. Cook and Rother, two men, will pry open the entertainment lid with a combination acrobatic song and dance number.

A WASTER BARR!

Two Hackney youths, between 18 and 19, were waiting their turn to be attested at the local town hall. At last one of them stopped a new recruit, who had just emerged with a beaming smile and two and ninepence in his hand, and commented on the unanaemic delay. "I suppose it's the old doctor what's takin' such a time over the medical inspection, isn't it?" he asked. The new recruit explained that owing to the rush they were dispensing with the preliminary medical examination just then. Whereupon the boy turned to his companion, and said with concentrated bitterness, "Blimey! an' we've just tuppence on a barr!"

BY THE LOUNGER

I have many times patted myself on the back because in spite of the proclivities of my Chief, I have managed to keep out of politics. For many years I have been asked political questions, and my reply has invariably been, "you know I am no politician." This has saved me a world of trouble, and a host of anxiety, compared with which my troubles with my landlady, with my laundryman and with my tailor are a mere bagatelle. I have never been quite so pleased with myself on this score as during the past few weeks, because I realize that things are coming my way, and that the man who really exercises a little influence is not the politician, but the one who can say with truth: "I know nothing about politics, but I am a business man." Among the many remarkable waves of sentiment which the great War has started moving, some of them fanatical, and many of them emotional, I am prepared to maintain that not one is more obvious and wide-spread than a feeling of intolerance for the mere politician. In Great Britain political parties have gone into the "melting pot," and the Government of the Empire is being carried on by a group of united loyal Britons, who at any other time would be flying at each others' throats in the political arena. It is practically the same in other parts of the Empire, especially in Australia and New Zealand, and it will soon be the same in Canada.

WATERED STOCK LIMITED COMPANY'S AND THE COSTER-MONGER'S BEER

Courtenay, B. C.,
February 29th, 1916

Editor The Week.
Sir—You are a good old sport for enabling Courtenay through your columns to tell the Watered Stock shark that he deserved a black eye, and I'm right glad to read that the Hon. Sir Thos. White, Federal Minister of Finance, will do this by including in his Budget, Courtenay's recommendation that he should be taxed much higher than the existing scale calls for.

As regards the Beer, my ole sport, the Coster, as again avksed me 'ow I'm gettin' on erbout it, and I ave told 'im not ter worry; that the Prohibs are sorfin in the roof, an' would-n't succeed in cuttin' it off; it would be cruel to do so, even its vittles an drink to 'im, an' one of God's creations if the House of Laymen elected by the convention of the Archbishops are ter be believed. Wot's more, they say these Prohibs always spoil their chance by going too far. I quite expect they'll say its a lie an' quote Kansas, forgettin' the aint our flag. Wot's more, ther's thet cruel Jonathan wot put the hotel owners ter the expense of adding 30 rooms an' now wants ter put 'em out of business without compensation.

I 'ope, dear Editor, you'll pawden me for bein' so John Bull, an' shall be much obliged to yer of yer'll not throw this in the waste paper basket, same as yer did another letter.

Yours truly,

WM. IDIENS.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

319 Vancouver St.,
Victoria, B. C.,
February 23rd, 1916

Dear Sir—
I shall very much appreciate it if you will be good enough to insert the following in your next issue.

A gathering of all the Sunday School workers of Victoria and District to discuss methods of teaching and Sunday School problems has been arranged, and will take place on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 7th and 8th of March, in the First Congregational Church. The speakers will include the General Secretary of the B. C. Sunday School Association, Mrs. D. M. McKay, the Elementary S. S. Superintendent for the Province, and the Rev. J. G. Inkster, the Rev. F. Stapleford, and the Rev. C. F. Sykes, of Victoria.

Included in the programme will be a demonstration of an organized model Bible Class in action, under the supervision of Mr. W. J. Walton, Superintendent of the Victoria Adult Bible Class Federation. S. S. workers and others interested in the children and young people of the city will find it much to their advantage to keep both these dates open and to endeavour to attend as many sessions as possible.

A complete programme will appear in these pages within a few days.

AUBORNE HOYLE,

Vice-President Victoria and District Sunday School Assn.

CAMPAIGN JOTTINGS

The argument most frequently used both in the Liberal canvass and on the Liberal platform in Victoria has been that Mr. Brewster should be returned to the Provincial Legislature, in order that there should be one Liberal Oppositionist to criticize the Government, and especially to arouse the Public Works Committee to a sense of their responsibility. That argument at any rate goes to the wall with the victory of Mr. Macdonald in Vancouver. Incidentally, it may be noted that with respect to the Public Accounts Committee, the statement of Mr. Brewster and his speakers has been just as wild and just as wide of the mark as most of their statements in the campaign. They have tried to convey the impression that the Public Accounts Committee has not met for ten years. As a matter of fact it has met on several occasions, and one in particular is recalled when it met at the request of Mr. John Jardine, then an active member of the Opposition, who expressed himself as perfectly satisfied with the result of the investigation.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, in his remarkable address in Vancouver last Friday night, coined a catch phrase, when he called on the electors to "end the orgy." The valiant knight spoke truer than he thought. Vancouver has certainly been indulging in an orgy. That it will end, all sane people hope and believe. That there is one man in Vancouver who could reasonably explain the vote of Saturday no outsider does believe. Elections are invariably uncertain, and lots of reasons could be found why it was quite on the cards that Mr. Macdonald might win. Neither he nor his supporters really expected this. The latest official reports of the canvass showed a majority of 500 for Mr. Tisdale. The enormous vote given to Mr. Macdonald was a surprise to everyone. The only feasible explanation, and that is merely a matter of opinion, is that by a remarkable coincidence everybody who had a grouse against the Government availed themselves of the opportunity to strike home, and they did it with a vengeance.

It was literally an orgy of vengeance. It was so sensational and far-reaching that the pendulum must and will swing the other way. It will not be a week before the far-reaching consequences of a vote so adverse to the Government will be realized, because whatever else the electors of Vancouver may have effected, they have turned down a capable honest citizen of thirty years standing, who had been created Minister of one of the most important departments, and they have done this at a time when it was not at all possible to effect a change of Government, or so far as they were concerned, or to put more than one single man into the ranks of the Liberal Opposition. If they think that it is worth paying this price in order to discipline the Government, or to show their displeasure with any member of it, that is their own concern, but with all respect to the newly elected member, the rest of the Province will be apt to think that Vancouver has made a bad bargain, and when the orgy ends many of those who were stamped into the Opposition ranks on Saturday will begin to think that second thoughts are best.

Victoria will make no such mistake as Vancouver has made. The Capital City has always led the Province in the matter of policies and will do so again. In order to convert a Liberal Opposition of One into a Liberal Opposition of Two, it will not make the mistake of refusing to be represented by a Cabinet Minister. In other words, Victoria will not cut off its nose to spite its face. The victory in Vancouver was in no sense a political one, not even the most extreme Liberal will claim that even a substantial percentage of Mr. Macdonald's vote was Liberal. It was a vote representing many non-political interests. It has been claimed by the Conservative speakers, and even by the candidate himself, that in the present election the issue in Victoria is much more a matter of business than of politics. The Capital City is not hysterical or flighty, and will not be stamped from the position that at the moment the most important policy for all parties is to seek to bring about an improvement in business conditions. The man who can do this is the man whom Victoria wants.

The present Government will under any circumstances continue this Session of Parliament and will remain in power for several months thereafter. During that time it will bring into operation the Agricultural Credits Act, and will give practical effect to the Premier's promise to bonus a ship-building industry. According to the announcement of the Minister of Finance, it will do more. It will lay down the keels itself, if it fails to make a satisfactory arrangement with private firms to do so. In any event it guarantees the building of the ships with all that that means of employment for many hundreds of men and greatly improved conditions for the wholesaler, the retailer, and the City generally. Providing the money for these important projects is the special function of the Minister of Finance, and the man must be pur-blind who cannot see how greatly it would be to the

By the Hornet

That the British War Notice is "we close at Won."

That our best aid to peace is Blockade.

That the height of folly is a Zepelin Raid.

That a typewriter battalion is being raised in Washington, and it is suspected that President Wilson is mobilizing it.

That any leaks in the blockade of Germany should be stopped with lead.

That the illness of the Austrian Emperor is causing grave anxiety—lest he should recover.

That the equipment for the Western Scots has left Ottawa.

That bye and bye, although not yet, the Western Scots will leave Victoria.

That the Bantams are doing fine recruiting.

That the age limit seems to have been lowered to enable them to get within the height limit.

That Colonel Prior has been instrumental in administering the quietus to the rumour that Victoria Battalions were to be sent to Sewell to complete their training.

That it would save a lot of unnecessary worry if the newspapers were more careful about printing fake rumours of this kind.

That Saskatchewan appears to have nothing "on" Manitoba in respect of graft in high quarters.

That with an absentee premier, four arrested Members of Parliament, and four warrants for other parties of importance, there would seem to be an "orgy" of scandal in the Prairie Province.

That such revelations should do much to hasten the acceptance of Mr. Foster's challenge to the Liberals to meet him half way in abandoning the patronage system.

That judging from the tone of the Vancouver papers (with the exception of The Sun) thoughtful people are already regretting the turn down of Mr. Tisdall.

That it does not always pay to use the bludgeon when the rapier would be more effective.

That The Week has always argued in favor of a substantial Opposition in the House, but it is not the business of the Government to put it there.

That Mr. Macdonald and Mr. Parker Williams will make an energetic and capable brace of critics.

That it will depend very much on the impression they make during this Session, whether their following in the House is increased at the General Election.

That the electoral campaign in Victoria has unearthed one speaker of the highest class, Mr. Neil Mackay, the Member for Kaslo.

That Victoria audiences would be glad to hear him oftener, and would welcome his accession to the local Conservative ticket.

That the Woman's Canadian Club is ill-advised in persevering in the attempt to fasten another "tag day" on the City.

That as they are not in a position to contest the instructions issued from Headquarters, it is difficult to justify their action.

That it is to be hoped the City Council will see its way to negative the proposal, even though it is a Leap Year one.

That if one Bye-election causes such a rumpus, we shall all hope that there will be no hurry about the General Election.

That they are not worrying about elections in Great Britain these days, but about winning the War—and they are not counting the cost.

That Canada cannot begin too soon to mobilize her economic resources. They are boundless, and can be made effective.

That "Hornet" has nothing but contempt for people who send him insulting letters because he advocates such a policy, and are too cowardly to sign their names.

That a Victoria Ladies' organization is bringing a Madame Van Ogle from Seattle to entertain our citizens in the near future.

That this lady was brought here last year and featured as a "Hollander."

That The Week was informed then that she was a German, and notified certain members of the organization which brought her over.

That they admitted the fact and regretted that they had not known it before she was engaged.

That the King's Daughters are bringing a Seattle troop here to give a concert, and their agent has been selling tickets round the city for several weeks.

That the public ought to know on just what terms these alien aggregations trade on our local charities.

That Victoria seems to be an "easy mark" for musical "sharks", some of whom get away without paying even their local accounts.

THE BUSINESS END OF THE SUPERFLUITIES

Victoria, B. C., February 25th, 1916. Sir,—Thinking that the public of Victoria would like to know how this department is managed, we beg to give you the following particulars.

Every gift when it is brought in to us is entered into a book, and an official receipt given. This book is in a way, a stock book, and when anything is sold an entry is made against the item in the book. With each sale made, a duplicate entry is made, one slip is given to the purchaser, and the other is kept for record. A donor can at any time find his or her gift in the Superfluties Room or the duplicate of the receipt given for the sale. There is a more complete record of goods received and goods sold than almost any other shop in town.

The sale of a gift must be left absolutely at the discretion of the Committee, but it can be proven by past sales that very good average prices have been obtained.

There are practically no expenses attached to the sales. Rent, heating, light, etc., have been very kindly given, and show-eases and furniture have been lent. It is needless to say that all the work is obtained voluntarily.

(Signed) The Ladies' Committee of the Superfluties Sales. Canadian Red Cross Society.

"THE BANTAMS"

A good start has been made with the organization of the latest of the Overseas units mobilized in Victoria—the 143rd Battalion, B. C. Bantams, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Powley, who went from Victoria to the 7th Battalion in France, and, after being wounded, returned to take command of the Bantams. The battalion was mobilized on February 14th, and has already reached the 200 mark. Recruiting is proceeding energetically, and the energy and enterprise with which the work has been carried on has attracted much attention. A feature of the campaign to keep the Bantams before the public during the past week was the singing of an excellent marching song—the "Song of the Battling Bantams", at the Pantages Theatre. The officer commanding, Lieut.-Col. Powley, is now on a tour of the Province organizing recruiting centres for the battalion. Recruiting offices have already been opened at Victoria, Vancouver, Nanaimo and New Westminster in charge of officers of the battalion, and weekly drafts of recruits come from these places.
