Potentialities Of The Queen Charlotte Islands

Richest Group on the North Pacific Coast of America.

Article No. 1.

Editor Islander;—It would not be stating anything very remarkable if one should deplore the lack of interest taken by the people of British Columbia in the wealth, at their very doors, needing only exploiting. The writer of this article has been a resident of the Queen Charlotte Group for nearly two years and has been in a position to explore, by land and sea, almost every nook and corner. I have seen the Indians capture three thousand large Spring salmon, using only trolling lines and spoons, off the shores of what is now known as Langara Island. The Indians fished for four weeks and averaged about ten salmon per day, for which they received seventy cents each. The herring, off the same island, are large and in plenty. I have seen halibut over six feet in length and weighing two hundred pounds, and the Indians catch them by hundreds for their winter food. In the rivers, which are very small, the sockeye, coho, steelhead, humpback and dog salmon run and these fish are caught and put up by the Indians. The dogfish are caught and splendid oil extracted from them. Black cod can be caught in large numbers, and the only people who appear interested in the fisheries are the Indians and "poachers."

During my stay on the islands it has been my good fortune, to visit the oil plant at Tiahn village on the West coast of Graham Island. The seven men located at the plant were drilling through the best shale and are now working through limestone. There is every prospect of obtaining vast quantities of oil, and there is but one company at work. Along the beaches I have examined the tar and asphaltum, oozing out of the crevices in the rocks, and went inland to "stake" claims. True, it is a wild coast, during the winter months; but there are some good harbors towards the south end of the island, and Virago Sound is not very far away, overland, where oil can be piped.

Of the coal, I know very little, not having the opportunity to visit the mines. From the Indians and others, there is no doubt that good coal bodies exist in the interior of the island. It is true that there are lignite beds along the coast, whether they are of any consequence I am not competent to judge. The boring plants on the Yakoun river will indicate the value of the holdings of the various companies there. I have seen the coal extracted from the mines near Queen Charlotte, and it is of a superior quality.

The timber resources of Graham Island can only be seen to be appreciated. Spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar appears to be the best in sight. Why there is only one mill in operation on Graham Island the owners of timber limits can tell. The residents of Massett Inlet are importing lumber and shingles, while the shores are lined with timber that only requires cutting.

Of cleared farming land I saw very little. The settler must come prepared to do some good hard work. The land is good, but it must be cleared. The Prince Rupert market is open for the produce of the islands and Graham Island should be the garden spot for the inhabitants of the terminal city. I have grown strawberries, small fruits and vegetables, and they thrive. The season is late; but the fruit would go to the market when the California and other fruits are not in competition. Cattle roam over the Island all the year round; but this is no criterion. Cattle should be fed during the winter in this northern country, despite the fact that a number of wild cattle roam over the east coast of Graham Island.

The waterways through the islands will compare with any in the known world. Imagine a farmer rowing home for forty miles in a few hours. The tides run at the rate of six miles an hour and it is possible to drift for forty miles along the shores at that rate without exertion of any kind. One may visit the settlements on one tide and return home on the other. There are numerous small rivers cutting into Graham Island teeming with fish. The waterfalls, especially on Ain River, will ultimately be used to generate power and the other rivers can all be used for that purpose.

This is no advertisement, Mr. Editor. I do not state it is a poor man's country; because, until capital is brought in there is no work for the laboring man. To live on the islands and clear land one must have enough capital to exist on. It is the coming centre of large industries and the pity is that it will be taken up and exploited by those outside of the country, unless our people get over the prevailing "sleeping sickness."

Islands Will Be Stocked With Deer

Expected to Become One of Finest Game Preserves in Province.

With a view to further enriching the splendid game resources of British Columbia and to widening the field for sport for the large numbers of well known hunters of big game coming to this province every year, the provincial government has undertaken the stocking of the islands with deer. Already several fine specimens have been turned loose and more will be captured and conveyed here.

Mr. Bryan Williams, provincial game warden, in a interview recently, said: "The climate on Queen Charlotte Islands is eminently suitable for deer and we see no reason why these islands should not be made one of the finest game preserves in the province. We hope by turning out about eighteen or twenty head on the islands to provide a sufficient number to allow of hunters spending a very profitable season there. A few years ago several head of cariboo were found on Queen Charlotte Islands, altogether different from the species to be found in other parts of British Columbia and although several expeditions have been sent there, no trace of any cariboo has been obtained since then. The specimens secured on the islands have been presented to the museum."

Totem Pole For 'Frisco College.

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—A giant totem pole carved by the Haida Indians of British Columbia arrived yesterday on the steamer Montara and will be set up on a great hill overlooking Golden Gate Park in the campus of the Affiliated Colleges of the University of California. The pole is the gift of Mrs. Phoebe Hearst.

The Haida Indians live in the Queen Charlotte Islands and are considered the most expert wood carvers of all North Americans Indians.

The Marine and Fisheries Department have notified the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company that it is contrary to the regulations to carry gasoline on the vessels plying between the islands and the mainland. A petition is in circulation requesting that this regulation be not enforced. There are a large number of gasoline boats on the inlets, and it is a hardship to prevent them from carrying on the trade that is springing up between the settlements and the various camps.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Miller and daughter returned yesterday from a short holiday in Washington.

A petition is being largely signed by residents of Queen Charlotte and Skidegate requesting the Provincial government to appoint a Justice of the Peace for this district. We all know the reason why there has never been an appointment made so far. The matter has been allowed to hang fire too long and the time has arrived when this important matter should receive the attention of the authorities. Many instances are known of how residents have suffered in business through no magistrate being resident here. During the recent election a great many drawbacks had to be contended with and only for the presence of J. P.'s from Prince Rupert and Massett, to use an expression we would have been up against it. The name of Mr. T. R. Davey, we believe, is being recommended for the appointment, and we think that no better name could be put forward, as he is competent in every way.

The opening up of the coal and oil properties on Graham Island marks another section of the rich province which will bring before the world the potentialities that have been awaiting the construction of a railway. Two companies are at work on the Yakoun river, building roads and working diamond drills. At Tiahn point a drill is boring for oil at the rate of thirty feet a day and is down 500 feet. They have passed through the surface shale and are now in the limestone capping. Oil is met with and every indication evident of the existence of vast oil properties over the territory extending from Frederick Island to Otard Bay. The whole of the west coast of Graham Island has been staked, one individual recording no less than 180 claims.

Hospital Society Reorganized.

A meeting was held last Wednesday night in the hospital for the purpose of reorganizing the Hospital Society. Mr. Barge, who presided, said that it was about time they were doing something in regard to putting the Society on a more solid basis. He suggested that the secretary write for particulars re incorporation and report. It was agreed to make the membership fee $2.00 per annum. The following officers were appointed: President, W. J. Smith; vice-president, D. Cochrane; auditor, J. L. Barge; secy.-treas., J. M. Campbell; trustees, Messrs. E. M. Sandilands, G. D. Beattie and T. R. Davey. Dr. Winter, who has had large practice in the coal district of south Wales and lately of the Columbia Hospital, Van Anda, is in charge of the hospital.

Queen Carlotte Spruce

Is World Famed.

Mr. J. E. Corlett, managing director of the Moresby Island Lumber Co., who spent the past week at Queen Charlotte on business in connection with his company, left yesterday for the south. In a short interview, Mr. Corlett said he was well satisfied with the work done this season. Owing to present conditions it was impossible to get ships to come here and load lumber, as Comox was the only port in the north that ships could clear from with insurance. As soon as Prince Rupert was made a clearance port for ships, which would be in the near future, the lumbering industry on the islands would be no small affair. His company were prepared to run their mill night and day as they had a market in Australia for all the spruce lumber they could cut. Mr. Corlett stated that a consignment of ten car loads of spruce for Boston would be sent east and another of 200,000 feet of clear spruce for Victoria was ready for shipment.

Fine Exhibit Of Vegetables.

The "Islander" office last week was decked with all kinds of garden products grown by two local men. W. Sandison of Lena Island had some excellent carrots, parsnips and potatoes on exhibit. The potatoes were very large and nine of them weighed over 10 lbs. J. L. Barge had also a fine exhibit of cabbage, cauliflower, parsnips, carrots, turnips and potatoes, all of fine variety and large size.

Developing The South-Easter Mine.

A force of eight men, under the superintendence of T. R. Davey of this city, are at work on the South-Easter mine which is situated east of the Skidegate Indian reserve. We understand that a cook house and dining room, 26 x 16, and other necessary buildings have been erected. Surface work, such as tracing the various veins through the property, and underground development of the mine is being carried out and we understand everyone is pleased with the outlook. The property is owned by A. J. Gordon, et al, and was bonded recently by J. D. Sword, M.E., of Seattle, and associates.

Reindeer For Northern Wilds

Department of Interior is Making a Novel Experiment with Reindeer from Lapland.

Edmonton, Oct. 5.—Three car-loads of Lapland reindeer from Northern Newfoundland was the remarkable freight which arrived in Edmonton today on the C. N. R. from the east. There were forty-three reindeer in three cars and the fourth car was stocked with reindeer food, moss and frass. The reindeer are the representatives of the species with which the department of the interior has planned to stock the district of Mackenzie. The animals are to be used for carrying purposes in the long reaches of the north in place of dogs.

The consignment of reindeer left Newfoundland on September 8.

The reindeer will be taken by rail as far as Stony Creek, sixty miles north of Edmonton, and from that point they will be taken overland to Athabasca Landing. Some that have been well broken will be led and others will be conveyed in wagons. At Athabasca Landing the animals will be placed in scows and floated down the Athabasca river to Fort Smith, which is their destination. They will have travelled fully five thousand miles by the time their journey is at an end.

Had Married Thirteen Times.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 5.—Wooded and won by thirteen braves, Nellie Lane, a good looking Siletz squaw, is now the bride of Moses, her fourteenth who has been married four times himself. The woman made this admission cheerfully before the grand jury when she appeared as a witness in an investigation into the sale of liquor on the Siletz reservation.

It is believed she has the Pacific Coast matrimonial record cinched and the only one who even approached her mark, is dead. He was Peter West, a Perleton attorney, who died after he had wed his thirteenth.

How Did He Cast His Vote

Colliers Wonders to What Extent the British Born Cry Affected the British Born.

"If the election returns are ever analysed it would be interesting to find out what the British born did with his vote. By the British-born is meant the newcomer from England to Canada—in Australia they call him a new chum—as compared with the people who came here long ago and built up the country. Of course, we are all British-born who are born within the Empire and all equally proud of it. But a special appeal was made, for party purposes, to the recently arrived British-born as a person who might be influenced, because he was ignorant of Canadian politics, to help deliver Canada from the danger of free food exchange with the United States.

"Of course, the best service anyone can do the British-born is to assimilate him to the people and conditions of the new land that he is making his home; but in this case he was picked out as a special rescuer, and told that his place in the general election was to save a Liberal Government, born and bred on the spot, from making an unpatriotic and disloyal fool of itself.

"As a rule, the British-born we get over here belongs to the working classes, and it is true that here, as in the Old Country, most of the workingman's blessings have flowed from a Liberal Government. It is also true that Premier Asquith said reciprocity was good for business and for the Empire, and Lloyd-George, the friend of the poor, said it was crystallized common sense, and British Ambassador Bryce helped to make the agreement, but all these things may not have counted against the representations on the other side.

"What did the British-born do? Did he cast a ballot for common sense and cheaper living? Did he rally to the side his bread is buttered on? Or did he do something else?"—Canadian Colliers.

SELECTING A HUSBAND

Mlle. Mallery Wants a Man Who Can Lift More Than She Can.

Mlle. Mallery who has just received the Rosiere's Prize at Vinay, near Grenoble, is a maiden possessed of all the virtues, on whom, on that account, a dowry is bestowed, either by the Mayor and Corporation of her native place, or by some benevolent donor. The prize enables her to find a husband, even if her virtues do not. There are innumerable Rosieres annually in France, almost one for every hamlet, but Mlle. Mallery stands out from the rest. She is very strong, is six feet tall, and tills the fields with her father, a farmer. She lifts weights, and can easily juggle with one or two hundred pounds. Her feats of strength are many. One of her father's farm hands drove up with some sacks of wheat. One of them was too heavy for him, and he asked for help. Mlle. Mallery smiled and brushed him aside. She lifted the sack, weighing over 400 pounds, as if it were a feather, shouldered it, and carried it into the granary.

She has just been awarded for her virtues the sum of $400 in gold pieces, left annually by a merchant of the south to the most deserving girl of the village. In spite of her virtues and her dowry she has not yet found a husband. She is looking out for one, but will not put up with a weakling. She says the man of her choice must be able to lift more than she can.

MASSETT NEWS.

A wireless station is urgently needed in the vicinity of Massett Inlet. The nearest means of communication with the outer world is Dead Tree Point, over eighty miles from Massett, and but one steamer arrives at the north end of the island during each fortnight through the winter months. The hundreds of residents are completely cut off from the outer world and keenly feel the want of better service.

Twelve men are at work at Langara Island constructing the lighthouse that will stand on the extreme limit of the last land between America and Asia, the structure is being erected on one of the most dangerous sections of the coast of British Columbia, and will aid in the navigation of vessels between Alaska and Prince Rupert.

Five deer have been turned loose on the west side of Massett Inlet. The animals will not be disturbed by wolves or other wild denizens of the forest, the islands being clear of every other species with the exception of black bears. Some years ago a number of Indians secured three Caribou on the island, and recent land stakers saw the track of one Caribou near Frederick Island.

The result of the vote at Naden Harbor, where the whaling station is located, showed that but one voter in that district—the returning officer. With a large number of men employed and vessels engaged in capturing whales, it was the subject of comment that all employees neglected to register or were recent arrivals. The large majority of workmen are Japs and Chinese.

At the new townsite of Massett a wharf is urgently needed. The structure now serving as a wharf is in a dilapidated condition and is liable to fall at any time. Unfortunately, the residents of Massett are divided over the location of a new wharf, for which the Dominion government has passed a liberal appropriation. Considering that the large volume of business is carried on at New Massett, several persons who were favorable to the construction of the wharf, in another locality, having signed the petition favoring the placing of the structure at the new settlement.

The Graham Island Oil Company has been incorporated and is awaiting development at the plant of the B. C. Oilfield Company. The owners of the property are all residents of Massett and Prince Rupert. At a recent meeting the following officers were elected: Dr. Kergin, president; G. D. Tite, vice-president; Chief Vickers, sec.-treas.; Messrs. Patmore, Deasy, Brown, directors. The company own a large number of claims on the west coast of Graham Island, and are confident that the future oilfields will develop into one of the largest industries in the neighborhood of the new city of Prince Rupert.
