Dear Sir:-

As already advised there will be no action for Trespass by cattle breaking in unattended where there is no legal fence. There is an action for bringing the cattle upon the premises, that is, where they were attended by the cattle men, but I presume the actual damage directed ^{by} ~~you~~ ^{due} to this Trespass was very small.

Re. Cattle. Taken damage feasant. Let me have the memo of damages done in this way with your charges for feed, etc., and I will make a formal demand preparatory to advertising for sale.

Yours truly,

R. H. Rogers
