Minutes of the Previous Meeting

Dean Gage)
Dr. Kania) That the minutes of the third regular meeting of Senate for the Session 1963-64, held on December 18, 1963, having been circulated, be taken as read and adopted.
Carried.

Recommendations from the Senate Executive Committee

A series of recommendations from the Senate Executive Committee, and documents providing the detail on the proposals, had been circulated in advance of the meeting.

Dean Gage)
Dr. English) That the recommendations from the Senate Executive Committee be approved.

The Chairman then called for comment or discussion on the individual recommendations.

Business Arising from Minutes of Previous Meetings

The Executive Committee recommended that items of business arising from the minutes of previous meetings

(representation of the B. C. Teachers' Federation on Senate, proposed change in name of the Department of University Extension, proposed division of the Department of Economics and Political Science into two departments, proposed Fine Arts Studio programme, and curricular changes recommended by the Faculties for 1964-65) should again be deferred for later consideration.

Faculty of Dentistry

The Executive Committee recommended approval of the following proposals from the Faculty of Dentistry:

> "That the academic requirements for admission to the Faculty of Dentistry (programme leading to the degree of Doctor of Dental Medicine) be the same as for admission to the Faculty of Medicine (programme leading to the degree of Doctor of Medicine);
> "That the regulations on attendance, examinations, advancement, etc., be those of the Faculty of Medicine;
> "That the first year course requirements in the four-year programme leading to the degree of Doctor of Dental Medicine be Anatomy 400 and 401, Biochemistry 400, Physiology 400, Oral Biology 410 and Restorative Dentistry 411;
> "That the following new courses be established:
> Anatomy 400 and 401. Human Anatomy (Dentistry)
> Oral Biology 410. Dental Morphology
> Restorative Dentistry 411. Methods and Materials."

Dr. Birney inquired whether one course each in English and Mathematics was adequate for a student entering a professional field. Dean Leung replied that the requirements were based on those for Medicine, since the programme for the first two years was essentially the same.

Dr. Friedman pointed out that the amount of formal training in English was no criterion of the degree of literacy; Dr. Cowan stated that members of the Department of English had adopted the attitude that they were teaching literature, not literacy. The President suggested that entrance requirements to the professional schools might be one of the questions examined by the Committee on Academic Goals.

On a suggestion from Dr. Naegele, it was agreed that at an early meeting, Dean Leung should be invited to give a general account of the thinking leading to the development of the programme in Dentistry, as representative of a professional school new to the University of British Columbia.

Faculty of Medicine

The Executive Committee recommended approval of the proposals of the Faculty of Medicine that the number of supplemental examinations permitted in any given session be reduced from three to two, and that a comprehensive written examination set by the clinical departments be required at the end of the Second Term in Second Year (Interdepartmental Regulations 426. Introduction to Clinical Medicine).

Faculty of Graduate Studies

The Executive Committee recommended that proposals of the Faculty of Graduate Studies with respect to course changes be approved, but that new courses be held for consideration at the May, 1964, meeting of Senate.

Report of the University Librarian, 1962-63

The Executive Committee recommended that the report of the University Librarian for 1962-63 be received.

Calendar Statement on Attendance

The Executive Committee recommended that the statement on attendance proposed by the Committee of Deans be approved for inclusion in the Calendar to replace the previous statement. The President commented that the revised statement emphasized the responsibility of the students for keeping up with their academic work and assignments, rather than specifying the proportion of classes to be attended.

Prizes, Scholarships and Bursaries

The Executive Committee recommended that fellowships, prizes, scholarships and bursaries be awarded as indicated on Lists Nos. 9 and 14 for 1963-64, that the following new awards and changes in awards be approved, and that appropriate letters of appreciation be sent to the donors:

Committee to Recommend Rules and Regulations Governing the Establishment of an Executive Council of Convocation

The Executive Committee recommended acceptance of the report of the Committee to Recommend Rules and Regulations Governing the Establishment of an Executive Council of Convocation, and approval of the proposed statute.

Mr. Caple, Chairman of the Committee, stated that the purpose had been to maintain the Convocation as a body which could be called together and could function effectively when required, but which would not necessarily hold annual meetings.

Dean Curtis pointed out that the proposed statute did not specifically state that the Chancellor should be a member of the Executive Council, although this was implied since the Chancellor was by statute Chairman of Convocation. With this amendment, the statute read as follows:

> "Under powers granted to the Senate, and in accordance with Section 9 of the Universities Act, the Senate of the University of British Columbia enacts as follows:
> 1. That the Executive Council of Convocation shall consist of the Chancellor and the fifteen members elected to the Senate by Convocation.
> 2. That the Treasurer of the Executive Council shall be elected by the members thereof.
> 3. That the Executive Council shall meet at the call of the Chancellor.
> 4. That the Convocation shall meet at such times and places as may be fixed by the Chancellor and the Executive Council.
> 5. That an extraordinary meeting of the Convocation shall be called by the Chancellor on the requisition of twenty-five members of the Convocation; the requisition shall state the objects of the meeting to be called, and no matter shall be discussed at such meeting except the matters for which it is convened.

"6. That at least seven days' notice of an extraordinary meeting of the Convocation shall be given by advertisement in a newspaper of province-wide circulation, or by advertisement in the Alumni Chronicle, or by letter to each member whose address is known.

7. That no question shall be decided at any meeting of the Convocation unless at least twenty-five members are present; and all questions shall be decided by a majority of the members present."

Representative of Senate on Board of Directors of Health Centre for Children

The Executive Committee recommended the re-appointment of Mrs. H. F. Angus as Senate representative on the Board of Directors of the Health Centre for Children for the period April, 1964 to March, 1965.

Incorporating the amendment in the statute governing the Executive Council of Convocation, the motion approving the recommendations of the Senate Executive Committee was carried.

Members of Senate Elected by the Joint Faculties

The Senate Executive Committee pointed out that two members of Senate elected by the Joint Faculties would shortly have to be replaced: Dr. K. D. Naegele since he had been appointed Dean of the Faculty of Arts as of April 1, 1964, and would be a member of Senate in that capacity; Mr. A. W. R. Carrothers since he had resigned from the University as of June 30, 1964.

The Joint Faculties had agreed at their meeting in September, 1963, that if replacements were necessary in the members they elected to Senate, the individual next highest on the list in the election should be chosen. However, in the subsequent election for nineteen members, there had been a three-way tie for the twenty-first position. The Executive Committee was of the opinion that the Joint Faculties should hold a new election to fill vacancies.

The Senate felt that it should not make a decision on this question. The President therefore suggested that he might call another meeting of the Joint Faculties to decide what action should be taken in case of a tie in the elections.

Committee on Honorary Degrees

Dean Myers presented the following recommendations from the Committee on Honorary Degrees for degrees to be conferred at the regular Congregations in 1964 if the individuals could be in attendance:

Spring Congregation, 1964:

Dean F. H. Soward - LL.D.
Dr. Arthur Dill Kelly, General Secretary of the Canadian Medical Association - D.Sc.

Spring or Autumn Congregation, 1964:

Mr. McGeorge Bundy, formerly Professor of Government and Dean of Arts and Science, Harvard University; now Special Assistant to the President of the United States of America on National Security, and Director of the National Security Council - LL.D.

Dr. H. Rocke Robertson D.Sc.

Mr. Cecil Green, Chairman of the Board of the Texas Instrument Company (a former student at the University of British Columbia) D.Sc.

Dr. Gerhard Herzberg, Director of the Division of Pure Physics, National Research Council of Canada D.Sc.

Dean Myers)
Dean Scarfe) That honorary degrees be conferred as recommended provided that the individuals are able to be present to receive the degree.

Carried.

Committee on Memorial Minutes

Dr. Robbins as Chairman of the Committee on Memorial Minutes read tributes to two former members of Senate who had died recently:

THE VERY REVEREND DR. HENRY CARR

The death of the Very Reverend Dr. Henry Carr on November 28, 1963, at the age of 83, brings vividly to the minds of those fortunate enough to have known him the memory of a man who brought to this university and this Senate a distinguished reputation and personal gifts of a high order.

Ordained priest in the Basilian Order in 1905, Father Carr taught at St. Michael's College in Toronto for more than twenty years. He became Superior of the College in 1915, and was the founder and president of the Pontifical Institute of Medieval Studies, which became known throughout the world for its scholarship and attracted such distinguished figures as Jacques Maritain and Etienne Gilson. He later was elected Superior-General of the Congregation of St. Basil, and founded several educational institutions, including St. Thomas More College at Saskatoon, an affiliate of the University of Saskatchewan. Retiring from the principalship, he came to Vancouver in 1951. He taught at the University of British Columbia as a special lecturer, first in Classics and later in Philosophy, from 1951 to 1956, and during 1961-62 was an Honorary Lecturer in Religious Studies. In 1956 he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from this university, and from 1957 to 1962 served as a member of Senate. He founded St. Mark's College, in affiliation with the University of British Columbia, and was its principal until 1961.

A career marked by such achievements as those of Father Carr indicates an unusual capacity for leadership and a striking degree of initiative. Yet these qualities in him were unobtrusive. What aroused respect and affection in his colleagues and his students was his happy blend of gentleness and warmth, often moving them to use the word "lovable" when speaking of him. The erudition of the writer and teacher, the talent of the administrator, the skill of the athletic coach that on three occasions carried college football teams to Canadian championships -- this range of interests and abilities revealed a man in whom the demands of the contemplative and the active life were harmonized. The departments of this university in which he taught were the richer and happier for his association with them; in awarding him an honorary degree, the university was itself honoured; and the Senate, recalling the contributions made by Father Carr, pays grateful tribute to one of its members who applied his Christian beliefs and training to the ends of enlightenment and brotherhood.

Dr. Robbins)
Dr. Warren) That this memorial be spread on the minutes of Senate, and that copies be sent to the immediate family and to St. Mark's College.
Carried.

MYRON McDONALD WEAVER

On December 25, 1963, in Schenectady, New York, the death occurred of Myron McDonald Weaver, first Dean of Medicine at the University of British Columbia. Many members of Senate will recall his service on this body during the term of his Deanship, from 1949 to 1956, and the honours accorded him by a grateful university. In 1956 he was made Dean Emeritus; in October, 1961, he was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Science, and presided at the opening of the Medical Science Buildings. He came to us in 1949 after a distinguished career in the United States as teacher and administrator, including five years as Assistant Dean of the Minnesota Medical School. During the seven strenuous years spent in organizing and developing the Medical Faculty at the University of British Columbia, he added to an already impressive list of memberships in learned and professional societies, and served on a large number of medical Boards and Committees, both provincial and national in scope. At the time of his death, he was Dean of Graduate Studies at Union College in Schenectady.

A colleague who worked most closely with him in the early formative years of our medical faculty describes Dean Weaver as a "remarkable man", remarkable in a rare combination of deep convictions, gently persuasive ways, and self-less dedication. He was uniquely equipped to foster a unity of purpose, and to overcome the disparity of interests that has been known at times to hamper the growth of a professional school. The co-operation that was early achieved, and that promises to continue, was largely owing to Dean Weaver's ability to attract good men, as well as to those personal qualities summed up in the citation for his honorary degree as "courage, integrity, insight and wisdom".

These tributes to his character are matched by admiration for his educational philosophy. Seeing the study of Medicine as part of the whole corpus of the Arts and Sciences, he maintained reciprocal contact between disciplines in all the undergraduate years, and encouraged the writing of graduating essays on topics which related the Humanities and Medicine. This inter-disciplinary breadth, the essential humanism that must bridge the gap between the so-called two cultures, was happily recognized in the scholarship established in his honour by the Medical Board of the Vancouver General Hospital. It was also recognized in the terms of the citation for his honorary degree. Paying tribute to his vision and leadership, the citation makes special reference to Dr. Weaver's belief "that the science of medicine is a humane one, and that medical students, teachers and practitioners must always strive to be both humanist and scientist." Because he so believed, "he gave this Faculty, at its beginning, aims and principles that have guided its youth and are leading it to a mature greatness."

Dr. Robbins)
Dean Soward) That this memorial be spread on the minutes of Senate, and that a copy be sent to the members of the family.

Carried.

Public Administration Training Course for Provincial Civil Servants

Since 1956, the University had been conducting a Public Administration Training Course for Provincial Civil Servants. In recent years, the programme had been supervised by Dr. D. V. Smiley, who had requested that he be relieved of responsibility for it.

Dean Chant had discussed the future of the programme with the Chairman of the Civil Service Commission, who after consultation with other Government officials had approved a proposal that the programme be transferred to the University of Victoria if that institution were prepared to undertake it. The University of Victoria had indicated its willingness to supervise the programme, and the transfer would accordingly become effective as of September, 1964.

This report was received for information.

Appointment to Part-time Faculty Rank of Staff of Government Offices and Laboratories

The President stated that he felt it would be valuable to the University to develop closer relationships with the Government laboratories situated on the campus. This he believed might be accomplished by appointing appropriate members of the Government staffs to part-time positions on the University Faculty. The Board of Governors had approved a policy of appointing individuals with suitable academic qualifications to academic rank appropriate to these qualifications. The appointments would be part-time, on an annual basis, renewable; appointees would be expected to make a significant contribution to the programme of the University by sponsoring graduate students in University or Government laboratories, sharing in research or teaching programmes, etc. If it were in the interests of the University, and if the Government Department approved, the University might contribute to the salary; at present, however, the Government would not permit supplementation of salaries of individuals whom they employed on a full-time basis.

Following review of his qualifications by the Committee on Appointments, Re-appointments and Promotions, one scientist in a Government research laboratory had been appointed a Professor, Part-time, in the Department of Biochemistry for one year as from July 1, 1964.

Mr. Bowers suggested, and the President agreed, that where appropriate such appointments might be open to members of Government laboratory staffs in other areas of British Columbia who took an active part in the teaching programme of the University, especially in the supervision of graduate students.

The President stated that the policy would be reported in the University Gazette and that Departments concerned could recommend appropriate appointments to their staffs.

Letters of Appreciation

Letters of appreciation for emeritus status conferred on them had been received from Mr. J. H. Creighton, Miss R. Humphrey and Mr. F. M. Knapp.

Academic Board

The President reported, for information of Senate, that the Academic Board established under the Universities Act had been constituted with the following membership:

Appointees of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council:

Dr. H. L. Campbell
Mr. T. N. Beaupre
Mr. Harry M. Evans

Nominees of the Senate of the University of British Columbia:

Dean S. N. F. Chant
Dr. I. McT. Cowan

Nominees of the Senate of the University of Victoria:

Mr. R. J. Bishop
Mr. R. T. D. Wallace

Nominees of Simon Fraser University:

Mr. R. J. Baker
Mr. R. M. Lester.

Dean Chant had been elected Chairman.

The first meeting of the Board had been held at the University of Victoria; the next two would be at the University of British Columbia and Simon Fraser University.

Dr. Norris inquired about the nature of the representation from the universities. Dean Chant stated that this had been made quite clear at the first meeting of the Board: the Board was an independent body, but the only source of members knowledgeable on university affairs was the Universities themselves. The appointees of the universities were not intended to act as representatives of those universities.

Report on Bilingualism and Biculturalism

The report of the Committee to Prepare a Brief for the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism, including a number of proposed recommendations to the Royal Commission, had been circulated. The Committee had been invited to attend the Senate meeting to present the report and answer queries on it. Dr. Healy as Chairman introduced the following members of his Committee:

Miss S. M. Boyles
Dr. G. L. Bursill-Hall
Dr. S. M. Jamieson
Mr. K. M. Lysyk
Dr. K. D. Naegele
Dr. W. Opechowski
Dr. G. R. Tougas.

After a long and active discussion of the report, with respect to some of the wording and the nature of some of the recommendations, it was agreed that a summary of the points raised should be given to the Committee for its further consideration, and a revised report should be submitted to Senate either at the May meeting or early in the autumn.

Referring to the high standard of the Department of French at the University of Victoria, Mrs. Angus moved

Mrs. Angus)
Dr. Cowan) That the University of Victoria be invited to join the University of British Columbia in presenting a brief to the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism.
Defeated.

Retirement of Dean Chant

Dr. McGregor read the following tribute to Dean Chant, who was retiring from the University as of March 31, 1964:

DEAN S. N. F. CHANT

"Tonight's is the last meeting of Senate that Dean Chant will attend as Dean of the Faculty of Arts. Because he has served this body with exemplary distinction since 1948, when he was appointed Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science, it is appropriate that our salute to him should be formally inscribed in the minutes; but because he will continue to serve education in another capacity our farewell should be gladly optimistic.

As Professor and Head of the Department of Philosophy and Psychology (1945), then as Dean (1948), he helped to guide the Faculty and the University through the difficult days of the late 1940's, when enrolment increased suddenly and academic problems acquired a new complexity.

"Although registration soon returned to normal, the problems did not disappear, for the building of a more comprehensive and greater University had begun and Dean Chant occupied a prominent seat among the planners of those academic changes and innovations that have ever been the primary concern of Senate. At the same time, he administered with justice and benevolence the affairs of his Faculty, the academic core of the University.

The second half of the decade 1950-1960 brought the realization that the University faced a new and formidable increase of students over an indefinite period. Registration in 1954 was 5600; in 1964 it will pass 15,000. Academic planners turned their attention not only to the University's facilities and programmes but also to the public schools. When, as a result of persistent agitation by those concerned with higher education, the Minister of Education appointed a Royal Commission to investigate the curriculum and the administration of the public schools, it was no surprise that Dean Chant was asked to serve as Chairman.

The Chant Report was published early in 1961. No document has had such an impact upon education in this province. Exhaustive, critical, and constructive, it became and remains the blueprint for the spectacular improvements and reforms now being introduced into the schools. These, of course, have and will have an impact upon the University.

Clearly, higher education required similar examination and in 1962 President Macdonald undertook the task. Dean Chant at once became a member of the team that produced early in 1963 the Macdonald Report, the basic document in the plans even now being implemented for the reorganization and expansion of opportunities for higher education.

The University is at present engaged in an examination of its own academic goals. Naturally, Dean Chant is a member of the small committee that is undertaking the fundamental research and writing.

All these responsibilities have been accepted by the Dean on behalf of the province as a whole, as well as the University and its Senate.

"Internally, the years brought other changes. In 1962-63, the Faculty of Arts and Science numbered just under 7000 students, a tremendous burden - with a tremendous budget - for a single Dean. Dean Chant nevertheless maintained his equanimity - he likes to point out that he administers through autonomous Heads - and the Faculty, in significant ways, was not neglected. The evolution of the many new Departments and programmes that are appropriate to his Faculty reflects the Dean's progressive and effective leadership and has brought into viable existence a broad and liberal range of study in which the University, and especially its Senate, may have pride. One might argue that common sense finally dictated a division of an unwieldy Faculty. Yet the recommendation to divide (in 1963) was not unanimous, and this reluctance was certainly a tribute to the Dean and to the respect and affection that he commanded among his Heads and his Faculty.

You will realize, Mr. President, as will the members of Senate, that a full recital of Dean Chant's activities is impossible, even inappropriate, this evening. I do remind Senate of the countless committees on which he has sat, of the countless times that we have asked his advice and not been disappointed, of the countless occasions on which he has saved us from error, of the way in which he has represented us and the University across the country, also on countless occasions.

It cannot be denied that we shall miss Dean Chant at these meetings. Still, the future is bright, for we now learn, with pleasure but not surprise, that he has been elected Chairman of the Academic Board whose sensitive understanding will be so vital to the Universities and Colleges of the province in the exciting years to come. Thus Dean Chant will retain his place as one of Canada's leaders in education, and we of this University and this province, as we look ahead, may feel confident anticipation.

In 1961, upon the thoughtful recommendation of Senate, Dean Chant received the degree Doctor of Laws, honoris causa. Tonight, Mr. President, on behalf of the members of this Senate and former Senates - I am tempted to say future Senates - I ask Dean Chant once more to accept

"our gratitude for his devotion to our affairs, for his patience, for his wisdom, and, in this room, for his brevity."

This was followed by hearty and prolonged applause.

Moratorium on the Introduction of New Courses, Expansion of Programmes, etc.

The President reported that the University had learned from the Budget Speech of the Minister of Finance that the full operating grant requested from the Provincial Government for 1964-65 would be provided. This, he understood, was the first time the full request had been met.

He anticipated that the Board of Governors, at its next meeting, would be able to recommend that any moratorium on expansion of courses and programmes related to financial restrictions could be removed.

The meeting adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

Secretary.

Chairman.
