MINES AND MINING

Leadville Looms Large and Lusty for a Young Mining Camp.

Experts Predict Great Mines Following Development of Vast Ore Bodies.

A. Phillips, of Spokane, spent two days of this week at Leadville, formerly kuown as Summit Camp, and he is more than pleased with all the mineral showings he saw there. He has large interests in the B C. Leadville Co., owners of the Indiana Group of claims. Andy Jensen ia making good progress on his contract of 350 feet tunneling. He ls now in 130 feet and is in ore showing a total of 38 inches of solid galena. Provisions are laid down for continous work all wint r. The trail from Tulameen is in good condition and will be kept open all winter.

John W. Arthur, mining man of fortv years experience, was at Leadville recently, and in his opinion the giggest camp e has ever seen is now in the making. He saw concentrating and and solid silver-lead ore which amazed him with its richness and quantity.

Patsy Clark, the Spokane mi lionaire mining man, will shortly operate in Leadvill and other camps in Princeton district.

The result of the work done on the Slocan Star is highly gratifying. Things are looking up in the mining line all through the Silvery Slocan, and this latest development will add further impetus to a movement which is already becoming a legitimate mining 'boom.'

Only a light business was done in cop per last week, with steady markets. Domestic consumers have requirements well covered for the next 30 to 60 days, and only small lots have been saleable even to the smaller smelters Large production and heavy smelting continue to be the main features of the trade. In Europe, however, there has been less buying and apparently some decrease in consump tion; but not enoug to be of special interest. Electrclytic copper has been sold to a moderate extent between 17.70 and 17.75 cents delivered in 30 days in this country, and about £81 15s delivered in Europe.

Among he mining items which are considered worthy of mentioning, as well as giving the men representing the B.C. Copper Co. due cr dit for their splendid efforts in producing only the very best, is a Turkey Dinner enjoyed by all who had the opportunity to take part of the bird, including wine for everyone present. The ..C. Copper Co., has the reputation of doing the right thing with its employees and all the officials here and at Greenwood are popular.

The Nickle Plate of Hedley has paid $180,000 this year, and a total of $638, 520. The last dividend of 50 cents was paid on September 30 last.

Mines Active in B. C.

H. B. Brown, of Vancouver, mining director of the Vancouver exposition, who is attending the American Mining congress, in discussing the possibility of a mining revival, says:

'The coming year is to see a new lease of life for mining in British Columbia; there is mo e English money at the present time seeking mining investments than at any time in the history of the country.

The Interprovincial motor road that is being built from the coast through British Columbia is going to be a big factor in mining investments; the section over the Hope mountains is being constructed at the present time from both ends of the line; a 16 foot face is being given, and at only one or two points does the grade rise to 5 per centr

'The mining people are to make an effort to get Spokane auto owners to join with the boundary so that we may keep up the old business connection with our cars, instead of depending upon the rail. The Columbia Copper Co., at Princeton, in which Spokane people are largely interested, will be able to make shipments by motor truck to Princeton.

'On the B. C. Copper company's development on the Voigt properties on Copper mountain nearly 100 men are employed. The results have been the blocking out of an ore body second to none in the province.

'The Whipsaw silver lead properties are showing up to good advantage, and a wagon road is being built to allow of shipments the coming spring.'

KENNEDY—MACKENZIE.

The wedding of Mr. James Edward Kennedy, of Vancouver, to Miss Hazel Mackenzie, of Okanagan Falls, was celebrated at the home of the bride on Wednesday, 4th inst., the Rev. Mr. Cleland, of Penticton, officiating. There was a large attendance of friends and relatives of both the bride and groom, and the presents were numerous. The bride is a fair daughter of one of the oldest families at the Falls, and is very popular. The groom is a son of Jas. H Kennedy, chief of construction on the V., V &.E, and has many friends in Princeton. Star joins in the deluge of congratulations and bids the handsome couple a happy and prosperous voyage over the sea of life.

Will the lady who took by mistake from the dance hall, Nov. 29th, a black throw over fur kindly return to M. Chas. Harrigan, at the Tulameen hotel, Princeton, B.C.

MAIN LINE OF K.V.R.

Goes Through Princeton, giving Direct Competition to Coast.

V., V. & E. and Kettle Valley Lines Use One Roadbed, but Two Distinct Tracks.

From a reliable source it is learned that the main line of the Kettle Valley will run through Princeton and tha until it is completed down Coquihalla pass access to the coast will be given over the V.,V. & E. when completed to Coldwater junction next year thence over the C.P.R. via Merritt to the coast.

Extending from Otter summit to Myron's ranch, a distance of nine miles, the Kettle Valley railway aud the V.,V.& E. will use one roadbed with double track, each maintaining and owning its own line. This is part of an understanding regarding construction by the Kettle Valley (C.P.R.) of the line through Coquihalla pass. The estimated cost per mile through the pass varies from $90,000 bv the Great Northern to $100,000 same distance by the C P.R. The C.P R. receives a bonus of $16,000 per mile, whereas, the Great Northern has never received aid and is not seeking any.

J. H. Kennedy, construction engineer on the V..V.&E., was in town Tuesday on his way to Okanagan Falls, to attend an interesting marital event. He had been at the summit of the Otter inspecting the line being revised by L. M. Hale and party.

J. G. McLean, railway contractor, is waiting for the re location of the line in Otter Valley to begin work.

L. M. Hale and party are working on survey on V., V. & E., near Otter Summit.

H. L. P. Chiene, formerly with engineering staff of Great Northern here, is located near Portland, Ore., on a fruit ranch.

THE HOTEL PRINCETON.

The Princeton hotel was the scene of a very pleasant dinner party given by the contractor, Chas Stanley, after having completed his part of the construction of this large, new and handsome building. In a sense the party was dedicatory of the hotel opening its doors to the public. Among those present were representatives of law, finance, commerce, industry and journalism. The after dinner speeches were largely congratulatory and what must have been very pleasing to Mr. Stanley were the remarks of the ladies, who proved their equality of the sterner sex in concise and laudatory remarks. The dinner was served in Mr. and Mrs. Swanson's best style, the menu affording the delectable oyster and chicken with all that goes to satisfy the taste of an epicure. The Hotel Princeton chef was indirectly the recipient of many favorable comments General regret was expressed that Mr. Stanley was leaving for Spokane, but all expressed the hope he might return to erect other buildings and if Providence so designed bring the future Mrs. Stanley also.

Mr. Stanley has made many friends here and his business relationships have been of the most pleasant character. It is his intention to keep in touch wtih Princeton, and as the town is sure to progress he hopes to identify himself with the building of the embryo city. At the dinner party there were present a score of gentlemen with their wives, besides prominent bachelors, who took occasion to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Swanson, also Mr. Stanley, upon the completion of such a fine structure.

Some details regarding the building will prove interesting to the public, as follows: The foundation, 100x100 feet, is laid strong enough to accommodate two additional stories. The basement contains the heating plant, laundry, storage and wine cellar. On the first floor on the corner of Bridge street and Harold avenue, is the bank of Montreal, next to which, on the avenue, is a private dining room, also office, sample rooms and side entrance. The main dining room is on the Bridge street front, beautifully situated, 21x56 feet. The entrance hall or lobby is reached through the vestibule, from which the main staircase leads to the first landing. The lobby has all the couveniences for public and private receptions, the office being handily located in the center with telephone exchange connecting every part of the building, also with the public exchange. Next is the barroom, 21x54 feet, finished in the latest style with tile, floor and threshold. On the main floor

NEWSPAPER BUSINESS.

In these days of strenuous competition and longing ambition to acquire wealth, it is little wonder if get-rich-quick methods are adopted in certain lines of business and by certain unscrupulous promoters. Whether it be by graft, acceptance of tip for the performance of some public duty, deception, exaggerated and high colored advertising, all are surreptitious gain and therefore condemnable. Lying will defeat its own ends and aims; like the trail of the serpent, always its effect is distinct and marked and must spell failure and disgrace sooner or later. Truth, and a just measure, weight or principle carried into any business spells success—money obtained any other way results in the loss of priceless good name and that respect, honor and influence due from fellowmen. Newspapers have advertising space for sale which is subject to the control and use of the purchaser. That is what he pays for. The idea is untenable in law or equity which would hold a newspaper responsible for exaggerated and deceptive statements appearing in its adverising space. All it can do is to guard against infringement of the law touching obscenity and immorality. As to exposure of deceptions it is optional with the editor, who for business reasons or otherwise, refrains from criticism. The clerk, or proprietor of any article or commodity, who would show or expose any defects in quality of these to a customer would soon lose his position and trade. The merits or demerits of goods or real estate are left to the supposed intelligence, good sense or judgment of the purchaser. If said purchaser finds he has been victimized recourse for indemnity lies in legal procedure and the ever ready legal advisor. The foregoing is suggested by advertisements running in certain coast newspapers, and which have caused some strong liquid to be poured out of the figurative tempestuous tea pot. Some genuine critics of newspaper ethics have a real, laudable desire to benefit all concerned and protect the unwary from the fascinating glamor of word painted ads., others, of the hypocritical kind, under the flimsiest pretext lose no opportunity to denounce the press for the sins of others and all kinds of imaginary wrongdoing. Pharisaic in their professions and conduct it would be more to the point if they would become paid-in-advance subscribers instead of reading borrowed papers or perusing without cost the news found at a news counter. It is too much to expect editors to smite the hand that extends help or redress all grievance. It is the duty of the pulpit as well as of the layman citizen to publicly expose wrong and institutte reform and purification of business methods. The press is not immaculate, and it objects to being held responsible for errors in which it does not sympathize nor participate.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

It has been pointed out before in these columns that inexhaustible resources of power, coal and hydro-electric, are present here and require only capital to apply them to manufacturing industries. The central and therefore distributing location of Princeton make it a choice place for any industry requiring power, light, abundant water and healthy climate. To induce manufacturing concerns to establish here it must be shown that ground space and the raw resources necessary are available and easy of access. There is no doubt that a campaign of publicity, without undue inflation, would assist very much in the aim desired. Citizens will need to think and act in this matter if they are not to be outdone by competitors.

The European war situation, though still grave, has brightened somewhat with the armistice now in operation. If the Kaiser will only keep his finger out of the pie permanently, peace may be obtained with honor and satisfaction to all concerned. At present Europe is a broiling pot, the contents of which may be spoiled by too many cooks. Nothing but universal peace and disarmanent will satisfy the peacemakers.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Easter falls particularly early next year—on March 23. It is forty-eight years since Eeaster fell so early, and it will be ninety-five years—2008—before it occurs on that date again. But, perhaps, before then we shall have the fixed Easter, which, it has been suggested, should be April 7 or April 14.

Rev. J. Williams writes from Hurst, Berkshire, Eng., stating that he expects to remain until April 1, and sends regards to many friends here.

M. C. Kendall, Major Naish and Frank Richardson, all of Penticton, are here looking over the possibilities of Princeton and district with a view to investment.

B. C. FORESTS.

Outside of the agricultural lands, those under water, covered with snow, or still unerplored, it is estimated that there is in British Columbia an area of 65,000,000 acres capable of producing merchantable timber. R. E. Benedict, chief of operation in the forest branch, stated recently that the amount of wood annually added to the standing forests through the natural process of growth is 100 feet per acre. Hence it would appear that six and a half billion feet of timber is being added as interest to the wood capital every year.

This is an amount considerably greater than that of all the lumbar cut in the Dominion in the year 1910.

Mr. Benedict places the value of this growth roughly at $100,000,000 per annum, but benefits in excess of this amount will accrue. At the present time, when only one-quarter of the annual growth is being cut, the returns to the community are over $28,000,000 a year. The circulation of new wealth in the Province is the factor which is playing a more important part than any other in developing this great, last west.

But there is one essential: Fire must be kept out of the forests. A dry season and a little carelessness might combine at any time to sweep a great part of the greatest of the Province's resources out of existence.

The efforts of all the fire rangers of the Province would be of no avail if a really large fire got under way. It is by care every day in the year that every citizen can help to reduce the fire loss, and build strong the basis of his own prosperity.

The foresters of the national forest of Arizona have printed a placard as follows: The six rules for care in the mountains:

If every member of the public strictly observes these simple rules the great annual loss by forest fires will be reduced to a minimum:

1. Be sure your match is out before you throw it away.
2 Knock out your pipe ashes or throw your cigar or cigarette stump where there is nothing to catch fire.
3. Don't build a camp fire any larger than is absolutely necessary Never leave it, even for a short time, without putting it out with waier or earth.
4 Don't build a camp fire against a tree or log. Build a small one where you can scrape away the needles, leaves or grass from all sides of it.
5 Don't build bonfires. The wind may come up at any time and start a fire which you cannot control.
6. If you discover a fire, put it out if possible; if you can't, get word of it to the nearest United States forest ranger or state fire warden as quickly as you possibly can.

Griggs—True! But too many wait until it begins to sprinkle before starting to do so.

timber Pacific states, sets the standard for forest fire fighting. Among its methods is the circulation among the people of hundreds of thousands of pamphlets, play cards, stickers and warnings, which are sometime appeals and sometimes warnings, as to the importance of the forests to the community at large and what a loss would be involved in their destruction.

Investigations recently conducted in the southwestern United States go to show that the bull pine (pinus ponderosa), such as grows in central British Columbia, will give an abundant supply of resin, which can be used in distillation of turpentine. H. S. Betts, in a forest product laboratory bulletin, entitled 'Possibilities of Western Pines as a Source of Naval Stores,' describes a series of experiments carried on in Arizona, Colorado and California, in which the trees tapped for resin under the ordinary cup and gutter system, yielded two-thirds the amount obtained from the pines of Georgia and Florida, where turpentiuing is an old and established industry.

The weather conditions naturally retarded the flow of gum but Forester [illegible] in time it is possible that the west will derive a new revenue from its pine trees. These facts are of especial interes io British Columbia, whose inland hills are largely covered with this species af conifer.
