VARIED RESOURCES, VAST MINERAL DEPOSITS : Invest

BUILD PERMANENTLY FOR B.C. COPPER CO. STAFF

MINES AND MINERALS.

The B. C. Copper Co is erecting substantial, yet artistic, residential quarters for its official staff at Princess camp, headquarters of the company. Experts are of opinion that Princess camp will be the largest mining proposition in the province when fairly under producing conditions. Eight million tons of positive ore are in sight, blocked.

Fred Keffer, mining engineer, arrived from Greenwood in the B. C. Copper Co's. car on Tuesday and went to Copper mountain.

Oscar Lachmund, general manager of the B. C Copper Co. at Greenwood, is now in New York city.

E. F. Voigt returned from New York Wednesday.

A. N. Cantril, manager of the Coalmont Collieries, was in town this week on a business visit.

F. R. Weeks, consulting expert for the B. C. Copper Co , is at Princess camp.

C. F. Lee, placer mining engineer, is employing men on the Snowden hydraulics and will make a thorough test of the ground for gold and platinum.

A. P. Seymour, mining man of Cobalt and Porcupine, Ont., arrived last Saturday and will spend some time here investigating the resources of the district.

Sharp & Irvine, members of the Spokane stock exchange, in a recent circular letter have the following to say regarding the B. C. Copper company: "We are at last advised that the reorganization plan of the British Columbia Copper company for the purpose of financing the property, has been completed. Some 51 per cent of the stockholders having consented to exchange their stock for shares of the Canada Copper Corporation, Limited. Authorized capital one million shares, par value $5, also one million, 10 year, 6 per cent convertible debentures. We are advising our clients to exchange their stock and subscribe for $1 in debentures for every share of stock they hold, principally because we think that later on Canada Copper Corporation will be an active issue and British Columbia Copper inactive, and that the latter will correspondingly sell off in the market. Moreover, the position of a minority interest is never as pleasant as a majority. The Canada Corporation is organized under the laws of Virginia. With its high capitalization and debentures will need a substantial sinking fund which, if properly attended to, will not allow of any larger payments to stockholders than they were receiving from B. C. Copper. For that reason we do not expect an advance from an increased dividend cause but do expect an advance from the position the new company will be in financially, which is a great improvement over the condition of the British Columbia Copper company. We favor the purchase of British Columbia Copper for the exchange into Canada Coper Corporation at once, and will be glad to help our clients execute this move."

Those who live north of a line drawn from Washington to Indianapolis will be able to see a partial eclipse of the sun, if clouds do not intervene, at sunrise on April 21st.

RAILWAY POINTS.

W. S. Garrison is hauling a carload of coal for McDougall & Co , to be used in steam shovelling.

J. J. McDonald, contractor on the V., V. & E., is getting ready for new work.

The 'digger' steam shovel is at work near the cement works and the dirt is certainly flying now. Seven diggers will shortly be throwing the stuff into grade.

It is still conjectural where the K. V. will hit Princeton. Lines have been run like a spider's web all over the place.

Crooks & Co. have a large slice of grading on the K. V. near Gibson's junction.

A spur will be run to the limestone deposits near Summers creek.

The contractors on the G. T. P., having finished their work, are arranging with Bulkley valley farmers to feed their stock until the P. G. E. work north of Fort George is started.

Unclaimed sums lying in the Canadian banks amount to well over $750,000.

Automatic pianos have been installed on the restaurant cars of one of the principal railways in Argentina.

THE WEEKLY GRIST OF EVENTS TOLD IN BRIEFLETS

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Mrs. J. A. Brown was a recent visitor to Princeton.

Mrs. Neil Thompson is visiting friends in Princeton.

D. O. Day, one of the early citizens of Princeten but has resided at Eugene, Ore., for the past four years, will shortly visit these parts. Mr. Day was an invalid when he left here, suffering from a stomach derangement which baffled the skill of local doctors as well as eminent specialists in the States. He has recovered health by the internal use of plain, common white sand and now weighs 185¾ pounds. Many friends will be glad to see him in the flesh once more.

E. Barr Hall leaves on the 6th prox. for England on a visit to relatives, returning about the first of August. During his absence his motherinlaw, Mrs. Perry, will visit with Mrs. Hall.

Roy Sharp, commercial man representing Wood, Vallance Co. of Nelson, was taking hardware orders on Wednesday.

The board of trade quarterly meeting was held on Tuesday evening at which matters of public interest were discussed and reports received. Much of the work of the board is in the preliminary stage and results are looked forward to.

The lacrosse match, Keremeos v Princeton, Easter Monday on the athletic grounds resulted in victory for the visitors 4-3. Following are the players: Keremeos — Armstrong, Hope, Brown, Grainger, Daly, Petrie, Townsend, Huntee, Etches, Keeler. Princeton — Russell, Brown' McLeod, McLean, Mc Curdy, Lyall, Peacock, Hertell, Bromfield, Avery, Waddell. R. H. Carmichael was referee and his decisions were given with judicious fairness.

Mrs. J. Gellatly left on Tuesday for Innisfail, Alta., where she will visit relatives.

Don't miss the Pierrots, all local talent, in the I. O. O. F. hall at 8, next Friday, April 24. Secure your tickets early. See program.

Miss Daly, Miss Corrigan, Mrs M. Bailey and daughter, of Keremeos, came up to Princeton on Easter Monday to take in the lacrosse game and the hockey club dance.

THE PRINCESS

The Princess theatre has been showing fine films during the past two weeks and the audiences are all pleased. The picture dramatization of Pickwick by Charles Dickens was most entertaining and vividly recalled the celebrated Pickwick Papers by this most human of all writers of fiction. The Princess will always be popular with a repertoire of genuine, clean amusement such as has been on the canvas during its existence. Cheap and refreshing entertainment is provided by Dignan Bros, proprietors, who cater successfully to the wants of the public in the moving picture line

RATEPAYERS AND ELECTORS ASSOCIATION

The spread of ratepayers associations throughout Canada and the good work which they have begun and are continuing in framing and working out the welfare and destines of the towns, cities and districts in which they are active, is sufficient reason for devoting time and space in this issue of Star to making readers familiar with them. Each association is a separate unit of what will eventually become, it is hoped, a provincial association with statutory foundation and incorporated powers. At present the local associations draft their own rules and regulations and enunciate their principles in simple form so that anyone intending to become a member may see at a glance the necessity for uniting with a body whose sole aim is to benefit the community and the country. Every owner of property and every voter, either of these qualifications being necessary to membership, should not fail to identify themselves with a movement which depends largely on members for vitality and strength and which aims to put every such citizen in direct touch with the governing powers and authorities. The association is merely a mouthpiece for everyone who has a suggestion, a grievance, a reform, or an improvement which is worthy of consideration and of general benefit. The association exists to give force in political matters all that concerns the public, recognizing only such of them as are genuine and helpful. In united effort is strength, individual effort lacks in that strength and force. A politician or high official may trifle with the individual but he cannot afford to ignore the voice of a hundred united ratepayers. Following is the foundation of the Princeton Ratepayers and Electors Association:

1. As electors and ratepayers we unite in obtaining all that pertains to the public welfare and offer assistance to this end to our representatives in the federal and provincial legislatures.

2. To discuss all matters of public interest, guard our rights as citizens, obtain redress of grievances, preserve united action on all questions concerning our progress and general welfare.

3. No question to receive recognition or endorsement of this association except it be in the interests of the people as a whole.

4. To prepare the way for municipal government when our population and industrial growth shall warrant it and to sift the various modes of taxation with a view to betterment.

Following is an address by J. R. Brown recently before the Vernon Ratepayers Association:

President Knight and Fellow-Ratepayers:

Among the elements necessary in any community for solid municipal foundation work and reliable superstructure are good citizenship, adequate advantages, congenial occupations and good government. To complete the edifice, these should be cemented, developed and adorned by efficient, progressive education, commenced in the home, continued in the school and conducted in after life through intelligent co-operative effort. So far as the mastery of municipal matters is concerned, ratepayers, associations, or similar organizations, have been found to be of great benefit to citizens, especially those taking an active uart in the work of the associations.

The words, "citizen," "civic," "civil," are derived from the Latin and "politics," "political," "police," from the Greek. The root words "civis" and "polis" have a similar signification. To be a Roman citizen meant much to the person enjoying the consequent freedom, privileges, powers and opportunities. Civics and polics primarily signified the science of government of a city. Each has to deal with the now restricted rather to municipal usage while the latter is applied more generally to provincial, state and national affairs. A secondary meaning has become attached to the word, "politics," which is little better than mere partisanship. In this article, the words are used in their primary sense.

As citizens, we occupy several different relationships. First, as citizens of Vernon we are a co-operative corporation having certain powers; privileges, duties and responsibilities conferred upon us, the proper exercise of duties of citizens, but the former is which should tend to our individual and collective benefit and progress. Every member of the corporation should be versed in the municipal law so that intelligent action may be taken in dealing with civic affairs.

Next as citizens of the Okanagan, we are interested with the residents of all other parts of our far-famed valley, in alluding to its general advantages and attractive features as well as emphasizing the special factors that give outstanding prominence to our progressive district.

As citizens of the Province of British Columbia, we have a wider outlook. Our home municipality and district, with other municipalities and districts, extending from the United States boundary on the south to the 60th parallel of latitude on the north and from the Rocky Mountains and Alberta on the east to the Pacific Ocean and Alaska on the west, form what was until two years ago, the largest of the Canadian Provinces. In area, we now rank third, but in some more important points of comparison we are easily in the first place. During the last decade our population has increased so rapidly that when the Redistribution Bill, now before the Dominion Parliament becomes law, provision will be made for almost doubling our present representation.

As citizens of Canada our scope is still wider. It includes our own "Last Best West," and extends from the Pacific Ocean and Alaska on the west to the Atlantic Ocean and Newfoundland on the east, and from the United States on the south, northward to that point from which one can start only southward. The immense area of our country, its unsurpassed advantages, its wonderful resources of wealth in the produce of the mine, the farm, the forest, the fisheries, the factories, etc., and its almost illimitable possibilities need not here be enumerated. They are patent to us all. By the way, the word, "farm," recalls a remarkably unique political peculiarity. We are constituents of the Hon. Price Ellison, member of the Okanagan in the Provincial Legislature and Minister of Agriculture for British Columbia. We are also constituents of the Hon. Martin Burrell, member for Yale-Cariboo in the Dominion House of Commons and Minister of Agriculture for Canada. This is the first instance of the kind in Canadian history and Agriculture is the most important Canadian industry; also Yale-Cariboo is said to be the largest constituency of any Province in Canada, probably in the world. Among the future probabilities are a union of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland into one province, and that Canada with its many coming millions may yet be the seat of the British Empire and the British metropolis be what is now a rising young Canadian city.

LOOK FOR RADIUM

There is little doubt that the Similkameen district contains variety and quantity of mineral resources sufficient to create important industries and thus contribute to that advancement so much desired by every progressive person. The geologist tells us that he believes great revelations will be made if the observed conditions on the surface are at all borne out by scientific exploration beneath. We tread on great wealth and unseen forces are buried, no doubt, in the bowels of the earth in this district. The latest surprise was the discovery of diamonds in the Tulameen section, a discovery that set mineralogists thinking of the hidden treasures yet to be uncovered by scientific research. Platinum, gold and silver are here in commercial quantities and it remains for capital, guided by the skill and intelligence of the geologist, to extract them from their native deposits. In all probability radium ores are to be found in this section and it is to this particular field of investigation that the attention of both the geological and mines departments of the provincial and Dominion governments is directed. In assigning to the geologist for this portion of the upper Similkameen the duties which in past years have borne such valuable fruit, it is respectfully suggested that specific instructions be given to inquire into the probabilities of the existence of radium in this section and as a further incentive to discovery and stimulus for the prospector, free assays by the governments should be given all ores presented. This would be good business for the government in the event of radium being found, the royalty upon it being sufficient to reimburse all outlay. Pitchbleude is a well known radium bearing ore and float of it has been found in Princeton district. Any scientific investigation or ordinary prospecting that would lead to the discovery of the lode or a deposlt of pitchblende would be a source of large revenue to the province and of wealth to the country. The quest for radium is now so intense that governments are offering large sums of money in bonus for the discovery of this rare and most valuable of all minerals. Aside from its value as an article of commerce, quackery attaches a very great value to it as a sort of cureall for the myriad ailments of mankind. Be thas as it may there is undoubtedly no fiction in its marvelous emanations of light and force, penetrating the more opaque solids with a luminosity that renders them perfectly transparent. The vast possibilities of radium are beyond present knowledge and that is what makes it so bewitching for the scientific investigator. The geologist who first discovers or leads to the discovery of radium ores in the Similkameen will not only leap into fame and wealth but will confer a lasting benefaction on humanity.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

It is a matter for regret that the department of public works for Canada should be so tardy in extending the telephone line to Copper mountain where a large mining camp is in process of formation. It would be a great convenience and a constant source of helpfulness to the B. C. Copper Co. and its employees to have telephonic connection with Princeton and the other towns of the Similkameen. Were the line to be built via the transprovincial road to Ashnola, thence to Copper mountain, a large section of mining country including Kennedy mountain, Whipsaw creek and Roche river would be brought into immediate touch with the telephone. Now that the government is aware of the necessity for the telephone line, it is sincerely hoped that no further time will be wasted in ordering its construction. By so doing, the government will not only retrieve waning reputation for prompt service but will encourage an energetic and reputable company in the establishment of a large productive industry.

Kaiser William of Germany may rule an empire alright, alright, but he seems deficient on home rule. His son Fred gave the old man a few uneasy half hours recently by kicking up his heels in a very boisterous and unconventional manner. Boys will be boys and no amount of restraint will check them until, like the busted broncho, they are thrown and conquered. It takes some of the spirit out of them but often they make fine and useful citizens.

Only by hearty cooperation and harmony can a town be built up to a thriving, prosperous city. Dissension and blind opposition will destroy the foundations and delay the communal structure—a strong broadminded leader is then needed.

MAIL ORDER HOUSES BUY NEWSPAPERS

From The Dry Goods Review

The big department stores continue to extend their interests in or control of the daily newspapers in Toronto, Montreal, and Winnipeg. A large interest in, if not the control of, another Tornoto daily has just been acquired This makes three dailies in Toronto in which these mail order houses are financially interested. In Montreal it came out in legal proceedings recently that one of the oldest daily papers there passed some months ago into the hands of the chief owner of a rising mail order house which aims to monopolize the trade in Eastern Canada. There are now nine dailies in Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg, which are known to be owned, or controlled by, the big store and financial interests, and while posing as the mediums of public opinion are the organs of these interests. The trade of these houses has grown enormously in these cities where these dailies circulate, but in the other cities and smaller places where there are good local newspapers, they have not made the same gains, because the local newspapers are well edited and are loyal to their local merchants and refuse to carry the advertising of the big city store. The only way in which the big dailies can make headway is by cutting their prices. They get $3 to $5 a year in Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg, but sell in other cities at 50c to $1 a year. This does not pay for the white paper on which these newspapers are printed, but the heavy deficits are made up by subsidies through big advertising contracts and in other ways, and by the low postal rates. The merchants and newspapers outside of these three big centres should get together and insist that no newspaper should have the privilege of the mails which has a lower subscription price outside than in the centre in which it is published or which sells at less than the cost of the paper used.

THE HOG THE MORTGAGE PAYER

In these days of the high cost of food and especially of meat, when the packers are despairing of the meat supply and the price of fresh food is proceeding steadily upward, farmers would do well to pay heed to a section of Samuel W. Allerton's book an "Practical Farming," entitled, "The Hog the Mortgage Payer."

Mr. Allerton says that this is what the hog is known as on Illinois farms and he believes that it is an eminently correct designation. He gives much practical advice regarding the successful raising of hogs and points out that the only serious obstacle to success is hog colera.

But this may be avoided by proper feeding of the animal, his idea being that cholera is produced by overfeeding of corn. He therefore advises ground barley as a change of feed, and also suggests, in order to prevent the spread of the disease in case any animal upon a farm should become infected with it, that hog coops be constructed and scattered over the farm so that infection may be confined to a few of the animals as possible and the loss minimized.

Mr. Allerton shows that by proper care hog raising is not expensive, and it is unnecessary to point out that in these times of high prices it brings large returns. He shows, in addition, that besides the direct value of hog breeding in the profit of the animals themselves, hogs greatly enrich the land upon which they run, and thus their presence on the farm makes for the betterment of all crops by supplying natural fertilizer.

Farmers should know all these things not only for their own benefit but for the sake of the entire consuming public of the nation. If it were realized how profitable hog cultivation really is, there would be many more hogs raised and the meat problem would be by no means so acute.

EVENING ON THE SIMILKAMEEN

One eve I stood on the river's brink,
And looking upward saw serene above,
The silvery moon, in stilly splendor float,
Light fleecy clouds that scarcely veiled her face,
Were drifted upward by the autumn breeze
And as the lacy veil of some fair bride,
O'er her soft shining tresses now upflung,
Revealed to mortal eyes her bright, calm face
Surrounded by attendant sister stars.

But though so stilly bright in heaven, the moon,
Her image in the shallow stream beneath
Danced gaily while the gliding water broke
Into a thousand waving ripples.
From out the shallow depths a song arose,
A murmuring song of joy and gladness.
So fair the scene, it seemed a joy to be.
A joy it would have been to gaze for ever
Without a thought of the world's pain and care.

While yet I gazed, a wolf's discordant cry
Resounded hideous through the evening air,
Like to a soul in agony and pain,
Recalled me from a trance of mute delight.
I thought of restless ghosts and dying men.
Anon--a pack of fierce mountain wolves,
Loud echoing their scouts unnarthly cry,
Rushed panting by, a mad ferocious crowd
Their shadows in the moonlfght hard and cold,
Stretched long and ghastly, flitting through the pines.
Methought 'twas hell broke loose, and all the fiends
Pursuing some poor soul with wild halloos.

And thus for me the witching spell was broke,
The glory of the glorious scene was marr'd,
The moonlight changed from fair to hard and cold,
The river's voice too, grated harsh and loud
It told of floods and death and friends bereaved,
And all life's sorrows rushed upon me now
Loosed by the demon wolf infernal cry.

And wild and weird, the solitary place
Was now bereft of all its former charms,
Environed by stern mountains, now I felt
Pent in hell's darkest, deepest prison walls,
The ghoulish wolves in hatelul concert, now,
Filled the cool air with fiendish, thrilling cries,
Hell's carnival—trembling fled the place,
But the awakened thoughts I could not fly.

Miss Keen—Too bad that your friend Algy has brain trouble. Are they doing anything about it?

Cholly—They cawn't locate it, you know.

Miss Keen—Which, the brain or the trouble?

'She's an experienced portrait painter.'

'Is that so? I never saw any of her work.'

'Just take a good look at her some time.'

Mistress—Would you like to come on trial for a week?

Applicant for Cook's Position—Sure, Oi can tell whether Oi will like yez in twenty-four hours.

The spectacle of Aunt Chloe, an aged colored woman smoking a plpe was too much for the new minister, who, fresh from school, was bursting with reform. 'Aunty,' he said, 'do you think you are a Christain?' 'Yes, brudder, I 'spects I is.' 'Do you believe in the Bible?' 'Yes, brudder?' 'Do you know there is a passage in the Scriptures that declares that nothing unclean shall inherit the Kingdom of Heaven?' 'Yes I'se heard it.' 'Well, you smoke, and there is nothing so unclean as the breath of a smoker. So what do you say to that?' 'Well, when I go dere I 'spects to leave my breff behind me.'

There were some deficiencies in the early education of Mrs. Donahoe, but she never mentioned them or admitted their existence.

'Will you sign your name here?' asked the young lawyer whom Mrs. Donahoe had asked to draw up a deed transferring a parcel of land to her daughter.

'You sign it yourself an' I'll make me mark,' said the old woman, quickly. 'Since me eyes gave out I'm not able to write a word, young man.'

'How do you spell it?' he asked, and poised above the proper place.

'Spell it whatever way you please,' said Mrs. Donahoe, recklessly. 'Since I lost me teeth there's not a wurrd in the wurrld I can spell.'

5,000 FACTS ABOUT CANADA

Do you know Canada? A novel and unique mine of information is found in the popular booklet, "5,000 Facts About Canada," just issued for 1914, and compiled by Frank Yeigh, the well-known statistical authority on things Canadian. This new edition shows a marked advance over previous issues in an increase of new data, a handsome cover, a revised map, and improved paper. The publication contains all the essential facts of Canada's progress in a year, under such chapter heads as Agriculture, Area, Banking, Census, Mining, Manufacturing, Trade, etc., while striking tables of comparisons present a measuring rod of our national development. Its wide circulation is easily understood when its value is realized, for it presents the Dominion in a nutshell a ready reference encyclopedia of facts and figures. It may be had by sending 25 cents to The Canadian Facts Publishing Co., 588 Huron St., Toronto, or from news dealers.
