Fire Hazard Very Serious

Over Seven Hundred Fires in Province; Conditions Generally Dangerous

Fire Warden Victor Ryder has been kept on the jump during the last two weeks by timber fires. The most serious of these was the blaze north east of Tulameen on the north branch of Bear Creek, where about 1000 acres of second growth was destroyed. The prompt action of Fire Warden Ryder with four assistants, however, put the fire under control thus saving a large area of fine spruce timber, which the fire had almost reached. The cost of fighting this fire was about $113. This is first fire this year in the district that has caused the Government any expense.

While Mr. Ryder was away in the Bear Creek district another fire broke out close to town on the second grade on the west side of the Tulameen river. Constable Evans was notified and he immediately proceeded to the scene and put out the fire.

The fire above Allenby, near Camp 7 is still burning, owing to Harry Allison, Fire Warden of that district, being called away to attend to another fire. Other men were left in charge but it appears that the fire got the best of them. Mr. Allison came down today to enlist the services of his coworker Mr. Ryder. No doubt these two experienced men will soon have the fire under control.

VICTORIA.—Commencement of the hazardous season is shown by seven hundred and five timber fires that have been reported to the forest branch of the provincial department of lands, while the cost of fighting them has absorbed the sum of $55,208, according to an announcement made by the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands.

Conditions generally throughout the province have become extremely hot and dangerous, with the exception of Prince Rupert.

Nine fires were reported from the Vernon district, with not and dry climatic conditions prevailing throughout the neighborhood of the wooded areas. At Prince George hot and dry weather has made the situation dangerous. Conditions have improved in the Nelson and Cranbrook sections.

Long Fight at Erie

F. L. Bosworth, manager of the Erie Lumber company reports that his company's limits are so far safe but they have had a hard fight to keep the forest fires out of them.

They had to put down four fire lines and to keep a crew of men constantly busy to keep the fire out of the good timber.

On Snuday night, says Mr. Bosworth, a bad fire broke out along the eastern portion of the Salmon river, and that is still burning but at the same distance from Erie. A crew was taken up Monday and another yesterday, to keep the fires from spreading, but if the wind continues "the fires are going to sweep an awful bunch of country," Mr. Bosworth adds, "and the only hope of saving the timber is a heavy rainfall."

Objects to Use of Bolshevism

Southwark Mayor Addresses Winnipeg Imperial Press Luncheon

George A. Isaacs, mayor of Southwarfl, London, Eng, speaking of Assiniboine Park at a luncheon tendered the visiting delegates of the Imperial Press conference, said: "The revolution we want is the revorution of the Ballot box."

Mr. Isaacs, who is president of the printing and kindred trades federation of England, said he had spoken as a Labor man and a believer in Labor principles. He described the use of the word "bolshevism."

"Bolshevism," he said, is not a menace if the press does its duty."

"If the press sits on the safety value of the public opinion something is bound to happen and the outlet is in form of the I.W.W. and O.B.U., and in revolutionary societies.

If the press fails to recognize the aspirations and the ideals of the common people, it is playing into the hands of the extremists. The heart of labor in Great Britain and in this country is just as solid for the British Empire as is any other class."

Mr. Isaacs appealed for the building of a bridge of understanding over the differences between classes. We are trying to do this by industrial councils," he went on. "The first attepmt will fail, but some of the foundation will remain and eventually there will be no misunderstanding."

FINED $100 AND COSTS

Mrs. Hetty McBride was up before Justices of the Peace E. Waterman and C. E. Thomas on a charge of keeping a disorderly house at Coalmont. Constable Evans prosecuted. The defendent was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $100 and costs or serve three months imprisonment. The fine was paid.

Ray Chapman Killed By Pitched Ball

Mays is Exonerated; National League Ordered to Fly Flags Half Mast

NEW YORK—New York baseball fans paid final tribute to night to Ray Chapman, shortstop of the Cleveland American league team, who died early today from the blow he received on the head from a pitched ball in the game between New York and Cleveland yesterday. Tonight Chapman's body was put aboard a train for Cleveland, where it is to arrive early tomorrow.

At her hotel, Mrs. Chapman, who arrived from Cleveland several hours after her husband breatned his last, refused to receive the proffered consolation of her husband's friends and teammates. Except for Tris Speaker she would see no one.

The post-mortem examination of the body brought no new information. According to the autopsy surgeon, Chapman died from a blow in the left temple, which fractured the skull, depressing part of the bone which caused an inter-cranial hemorrhage.

While the death of Chapman has caused sorrow among baseball magnates, players and fans, none seemed as deeply grieved as Carl Mays, the New York pitcher, who delivered the ball that resulted in Chapman's death. After the game yesterday Mays went to his room and denied himself to all. He paced the floor during the night and when word came today that Chapman had died he broke down and said he desired to give himself up as soon as possible.

On his visit to the district attorney's office, Mays was accompanied by Charles McManus, business manager of the Yankees; Manager Tris Speaker and Secretary Walker of the Cleveland club. Mays made his statement to Assistant District Attorney Joyce. The pitcher's eyes filled with tears and he was barely able to tell his story. He said:

"It was a straight fast ball and not a curved one. When Chapman came to bat, I got the signal for a straight fast ball, which I delivered. It was a little too close and I saw Chapman duck his head to get out of the path of the ball. He was too late, however, and a second later he fell. It was the most regretable incident of my career and I would give anything if I could undo what has happened."

After hearing Mays' story, Mr. Joyce said he thought Chapman's death was accidental.

Manager Speaker of the Cleveland club talking with Col. Huston, part owner of the Yankees, said the accident was unavoidable.

"I do not hold Mays responsible," he added. "I have been active in discouraging my players from holding Mays responsible, and in respect to Chapman's memory as well as for the good of baseball I hope all talk of this kind will stop. I can realize Mays feels as deeply as man could, and I do not want to add his burden, I do not know what prompted the action of the Boston and Detroit players. For my part I think it is deplorable."

Speaker referred to the report from Boston that the players would not play in subsequent games with Mays.

Grief for the popular shortstop cut deep into the hearts of his admirers as soon as it became known that an operation failed to save his life. The thought that the diamond tragedy would spoil the chances of the Cleveland and New York teams for the American league penant was general.

John A. Heydler, president of the National league announced that flags at all National league parks would be flown at half staff for the remainder of the week and that players would wear mourning insignia.

Most players here discount reports from Boston and other places that there is serious opposition to permitting Mays to play in subsequent games.

Fix Date for By-Election

Great Fight Expected by Government Against United Farmers of Ontario

OTTAWA.—The by-election in East Elgin is to be held on November 22. Nominations will take place on November 8. The vacancy in this riding was caused by the death of the sitting member, David Marshall, some six months ago.

No action has yet been taken in regard to Yale, B. C., or West Peterboro, the other two vacancies which are to be filled by the by-election route. The former was caused by the apponitment of Hon. Martin Burrell to the post of parliamentary librarian, and the latter by the resignation of J. H. Burnham, which took place shortly after prorogation.

The East Elgin riding holds chief interest, however, as it is there that the government, it is said, will make its greatest fight against the United Farmers of Ontario.

The lapse of two weeks between the dates of nomination and election in the East Elgin contest is provided for in the new Dominion franchise act officials here state.

The writ for the Yale Cariboo by election has not been issued so far.

An apology is due the Ladies' Auxiliary of the G. W. V. A. from the Star. It appears that the Whist drive and dance given in aid of the G. W. V. A. a short time ago was handled entirely by the ladies, whereas the Star gave the credit of the successful dance to the veterans.

The Star was honored this week by a visit from Mr. A. L. Almstrom, Mayor, Postmaster and Merchant of Phoenix. Mr. Almstrom has been a resident of Phoenix for twenty years, coming when that town was in its infacy, following its ups and downs, and like the skipper of a sinking ship standing by until the last. Mr. Almstrom is making a tour of this district in search of a suitable location. He is very favorably impressed by Princeton and believes it has a prosperous future.

Mr. Tom Richardson, ex-member of the British Parliament, will address a public meeting in the Court House here on Monday evening, Aug 23rd at 8 o'clock. The subject of address will be "Prohibition and Public Welfare." Everyone should make it a point to attend this meeting to better enable themselves to decide how they shall vote when the referendum is taken this fall. Tom Richardson is the working man's friend and whatever he advocates should be given careful consideration.

Memorial Church Planned for Lens

Professor and Mm, Bieler Endeavor to Raise Interest Among B.C. People

An appeal to the churches of Canada to share in the rebuilding of the Church of Lens, the nearest important Protestant community to Vimy Ridge, that spot made sacred to all Canadians through the great and heroic effort made there by her brave soldiers, is being made by Professor and Mme. Charles Bieler, both of whom are at present in Victoria. Dr. Bieler is Professor of the French Department of the Presbyterian College of Montreal, and is at present lecturing at Westminster Hall. At mid-day Saturday Mm. Bieler, who is quite as ardent and eloquent an advocate of the scheme as her husband, addressed a meeting of ministers of the various denominations of the city on the subject, outlining the plan for the proposed memorial. It met with very hearty endorsement, among the ardent supporters of the proposal being Rev. Dr. Sipprell, of the Metropolitan Methodist Church, and Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick, of St. John's Church. The latter thought such a plan should make a very strong appeal to the sentiment of all Canadians; the former thought that $500,000 instead of the $150,000 asked would not be too small a contribution for Canada to make.

Others present at the meeting were Rev. William Stevenson, of Emmanuel Baptist Church; Dr. Unsyorth, Moderator of the Victoria Presbytery; Rev. William Baines, and Rev. Dr. Clay, pastor of St. Andrew's Church.

Thousand Churches Destroyed

"Before the war there were about one thousand Protestant churches in France," explained Mme. Beiler. "These were nearly all destroyed. A survey has lately been taken by the Federation of French Churches, so that the rebuilding should be divided fairly between the freiends of France in Great Britain, Canada, the United States, Holland and Switzerland. An interdenominational day is proposed for Sunday, November 14, when it is proposed that an offering should be taken in all the Protestant Churches this Dominion, and a sum of about $150,000 presented to the Protestants of France for the rebuilding of their institutional church in the important mining centre of Lens."

The propsal is to make this church fraternal gift to the French, and at the same time make it serve as a memorial to the Canadian soldiers. It would' says Mme. Bieler, prove an important headquarters for social work in the district.

How utterly the district was devasted may be gained from Mme. Bieler's statement that when a search party was sent out after the war to discover the place where one of the most important churches of the city stood nothing could be found. It was only with the help of an old man who came up from a basement that they were able to learn the site of the runined building.

Need of Church

"At present pumping operations are being carried on and the flooded mines are being emptied as rapidly as possible of the water. But until this is complete it will not be safe to build. Once the conditions are right, however, a site will be chosen, and a temporary wooden church will be erected. After two or three years or as soon as the ground settles properly a permanent memorial church will be erected. It is for the funds for this that we are appealing," she stated.

Mms. Bieler pointed out the necessity for the church. The bars and estaminets had lost no time in establishing themselves on the ruins of the city. The church should come and combat their influence. Curiously enough, all through the war irregular services were held in the cellars of Lens, and two "pietist" Germans, Mme. Bieler says, were among the most faithful of those who attended. The service was conducted by a wealthy professor, a grandson of Napoleon, who was immured in the city and turned his forces in this direction.

Effects of War

Four of the sons of Professor and Mme. Bieler served with the Canadian army during the war as the family had been living in Montreal for several years prior to the outbreak of hostilities. Her eldest son was private secretary to Sir Herbert Ames in the League of Nations. Another son won scholastic distinctions; another is still suffering from disabilities incurred through the war. She herself lectured incessantly throughout the war, making no less than four lecturing tours in the United States, and speaking in all cities of importance in the East from Quebec to Miama, Florida.

Mme. Bieler did not say there was a religious revival in France. But she says there is a distinct turning away from materialism towards the spiritual idea.

"Seventy-five per cent of the men of France were skeptics before the war; today, more than the AngloSaxon even, the French have seen God through their terrible experiences of the past few years. There has been a sweeping away of nearly all the etheistic clubs that were so noticeable all through France before the war. Both Catholics and Protestants are gaining ground."

The ministerial Association in Victoria will hold a meeting sufficently in advance of November 14 to arrange the details of the appeal that is to be made on that occasion for the proposed memorial.—Daily Colonist.

C. "Curly" Pease Receives Sad News

Brother Morgan Drowned While Bathing in Fraser River Near Marpole

The sad news was received on Monday last by Clarence Pease, engineer of the mine, of the death by drowning of his brother Morgan, who recently obtained a position with the Royal Bank of Canada at Marpole.

The following account of the tragedy appeared in the Vancouver Province:

BRIDGEPORT—Two Lulu Island youths lost their lives on Sunday afternoon while swimming in the North Fraser, close to the Lulu Island traffic bridge, between the Dominion Cedar & Shingle Company's mill and Ducks Island—James Evanson Hunter and Morgan Juston Pease, both of Bridgeport, aged 16and 18 years old. Another boy, John Service, who was swimming with them, managed to struggle ashore after a vain attempt to save his companions.

The youths had been bathing around in the river for some time on Sunday, trying first one place and then another until about 4 o'clock they got into a spot at the head of Ducks Island, as the mud flat over which Lulu Island bridge passes is called. Here the undercurrents proved too strong for the lads, though Morgan Pease was a good swimmer. Young Service was the only one able to reach shore.

An alarm was given and help soon arrived, but too late to save Hunter and Pease who by this time had disappeared.

Chief Constable Waddell and Constable Johnson superintended dragging operations, the bodies being recovered about 10 o'clock on Sunday night in the spot where a tide whirlpool had dragged them down. The bodies were taken to T. Edwards parlors, Vancouver, where an inquest will be held Tuesday. The lads were chums and will be buried together.

The Pease family had only recently come to reside on Lulu Island and Morgan was employed as a clerk at the Royal Bank of Canada, Marpole.

Jimmy Hunter was born at Eburne and like his unfortunate companion was a very popular lad. Much sympathy is felt for the families. Jimmy Hunter, who handled circulation for The Province in the district, leaves five brothers and one sister, besides mother and father. There are three other boys and a daughter in the Pease family.

S. S. Picnic is Thoroughly Enjoyed

E. Berryman's Seeds win High Reputation—No Misses Growth Healthy

FIVE MILE—The Sunday School picnic was held on Friday last and was thoroughly enjoyed by everybody, children and adults alike. A regular feast, tipical of the good things produced in the district, was provided by the ladies. Foot races, wheel-barrow races, married men's races, married ladies races and a host of other races were productive of much merriment. The crowning event of the day was the baseball game when S. R. Gibson and J. A. Long took the conceit out of the young players by giving us a exhibition of how the game should be played. The result of Fridays game will probably be the formation of a team for the district calculated to challenge the supremacy of the crack teams of Princeton and Allenby..

Binders have commenced operations and harvesting will be the order of the day for some time to come. Due to the intense heat of the last few weeks itis anticipated that the wheat yield will be slightly under that of last year. An excellent grade, nowever, will make up in part the defficiency in yield.

E. N. Freding and C. K. Cunard have completed a bridge on the main wagon road at Separating Lake. Both gentlemen are artists at the job, and are to be complimented upon the neatness of the work done.

The Trustees are having necessary work performed upon Killarney school preparatory to the re-opening at the end of the month.

As is widely known one of the most successful seed-raising industries in the Province is situated at the mouth of Five Mile Creek, on the Hedley road. The proprietor, Mr. E. Berryman, is fast developing into a seed wizard. Berryman seeds have already won a high reputation in the district. The difference in quality s plainly discernible when seen alongside seed shipped in from the outside. There are no misses in the Berryman product, and the growth is immediate and exceptionally healthy. Mr. Berryman's inventions ror harvesting, threshing separating the various varieties grown are ingenious in the extreme. A visit of inspection is in itself a liberal education and is time well spent.

According to the latest reports the French and British Prime Ministers have again embraced after their recent little misunderstanding. They seem to act like a couple of undeveloped school kids. We are getting somewhat tired of the misconceptions that are constantly arising between them, as well as the explanations that invariably follow. This time France jumps the fence and creates General Wrangel, uncrowned king of Russia without having the courtesy of informing Britain. Certainly it doesn't look very encouragain for the future and gives one the impression that France is playing a game that might be designated by a term, "the opposite of straight." Nor does it seem consistent on the part of Lloyd George to have advised only that Poland keep her hands off and her armies out of Russia, and then when Russia gives Poland what was coming to her, to threaten blockades and all the rest of it when the redmen enter Poland by way of reprisal. Why not have stopped the Poles in the first place by the use of the same instrument now threatened against the Bolshevists. Sauce for the Soviet gander should have been good enough for the Polish goose.

All farmers, and sympathizers with the farmers' movement, are reminded of the meeting to be held at the Court House on Saturday the 28th Inst. at 2 o'clock. A largely attended gathering is very desirable as business of importance will be up for discussion.

CONNECTION WITH THE INTERIOR

What has become of the controversy about building a highway to afford communicaton between the coast section of British Columbia and the interior? This used to be a live topic, capable of provoking an argument any time between the friends of the two rival projects. Has everybody concerned abandoned hope and concluded to let the matter drop? Or have they just paused for breath?

There are, as everybody knows, two schemes, as to the relative merits of which much has been written and said. The provincial minister of public works, not wishing to give offence, disposed of the matter temporarily a couple of years ago by promising to make an enquiry. There was no need whatever for any enquiry, as the facts were already well enough known, but in the then state of the treasury the great object was to gain time.

This excuse can hardly be pleaded now. The provincial revenue is flourishing. The provincial credit is good, as is shown by the ease which millions are being obtained for various purposes. Moreover, there is a handsome grant from the Dominion government available for road construction.

Something ought to be done. If the rival claim ants cannot be otherwise placated, let both road be built. They both will be needed anyway before many years shall have elapsed. Meanwhile the inability to motor from one part of the province to the other is discreditable, as well as involving financial loss. If the supporters of each road were to combine and demand both, they might stand a chance of getting something done.—Vancouver Sun.

CONSERVATION AND DEVELOPMENT

Has the rural policy in Canada in the past had conservation and development of life as its final aim?

The land question ,and all questions of conservation of natural resources, are fundamental questions, because they have to do with life itself, its preservation and increase in quantity or quality or both.

Conservation means economy and development at the same time. To conserve the forests means to prevent waste—for without that preventation there cannot be economy—and, simultaneously, to develop new growth. To conserve land resources means to prevent deterioration of the productive use of the land that has already been equipped and improved, and simultaneously to develop more intensive use of such land ,as well as to open up and improve new lands. To conserve human resources means to increase the quantity and quality of human activity that can be applied to production; to social evils and injury to health under established conditions—a matter of economy—and simultaneously to develop conditions in the future which will remove the human and natural resources means not only to prevent waste in what we have but also to plan and develop for future growth. Considered in that sense nearly every social problem in Canada is a problem of conservation.

Our natural resources may be said to be unlimited in extent, subject to proper conservation and development and the main railways may be regarded as capable of meeting demands for many years to come. But, while there is practically an unlimited quantity of natural resources, and of railways to distribute them, we are limited in the economic use to which we can put them. Wealth is produced not from the existence of natural resources but from the conservation of these resources into some form for human use. Canada is seriously limited in actual resources by the extent to which it lacks sufficient population to apply the human activity necessary to adequately use and distribute its resources. Hence there is nothing so vital in the interests of production in Canada as to conserve and develop human life—not merely to conserve the physical qualities, but also to develop the intellectual qualities.

WAR VETERANS NEWS

DEATH OF LIEUT.-COL DOHERTY

By the death of Dr. C. E. Doherty the Province of British Columbia loses a most valuable official, whose qualities as a scientist together with a breadth of mind and a great human sympathy won for him a high place among all classes. Dr. Doherty's death is a calamity which will be felt particularly by veterans of the Great War whose disabilites necessitated them coming into contact with him in his official capacity.

After being confined to his bed for two months Lieut.-Col. Doherty superintendent of the Mental Hopital at Essondale succumbed to Bright's disease on Saturday afternoon last. The funeral will be held on arrival of Hon. Manning Doherty, a brother who is en route from Toronto, and will be held under the auspices of the 4th Battalion, and the Great aWr Veterans' Association branches at New Westminster, Vancouver and the Fraser Valley.

The late Colonel Doherty, M.D., son of William Doherty of Peel County, was born on Nov. 29, 1873, and was educated at the public schools and Toronto University where he graduated in medicine and completed his training at the Toronto General Hospital. Leaving for British Columbia in 1898, he joined the staff of the Kootenay General Hospital, shortly after being appointed assistant medical officer of the Crows Nest Pass Coal Company.

At the early age of 32 he became medical superintendent of the New Westminster Mental Hopsital. During his fifteen years as head of this institution he rapidly became known as one of the foremost alienists of America and his demise comes as a shock and an untimely end to a brilliant career.

On the outbreak of war, Dr. Doherty proceeded overseas with the first contingent, and after a short service in France his organizing abilities were speedily recognized and he became A. D.M.S. with headquarters at London. While holding this position he came twice to Canada, being called upon to organize the Newmarket Mental Hospital. He returned to British Columba early in 1918 and shortly afterwards, with the consent of the Provincial Government, became A.D.M.S. of the of the hospitals of British Columbia, reuurning to his duties as medical superintendent at Essondale in 1919.

Back only a month or two in British Columbia on his return from the front, he recognized the ujstice of segregation for the military patients in the mental institutions ,and immediately worked to that end without waiting for officialdom to move, gaming the united thanks of all Great War Veterans' associations and every patriotic society throughout British Columba.

As superintendent of the mental institution, Dr. Doherty was the pioneer in the method of treating mentally afflicted patients by the outdoor method. It was with this in view that he so successfully prevailed on the McBride government to establish the Colony Farm on a large scale, since whch time he effected some remarkable cures in his patients. His views in this direction have now been largely adopted throughout the world. At the recent Canadian medical convention in Vancouver the chairman of the Dominion committee on mental hygiene declared that Dr. Doherty was without a peer in the Dominion or probably in America in his chosen work.

Col. Doherty retained the affections of Great War Veterans to a remarkable degree. No man was more popular with them in the West and only his failing health prevented his British Columbia comrades from proposing him for Dominion president at the Dominion convention at Montreal in March. In the fall of 1918 he was unanimously elected as the British Columbia representative on the executive of the G. W. V. A. at Ottawa, a position which his health forced him to give up at the beginning of this year.

Col. Doherty is survived by his wife and four children, two boys and two girls, the youngest being a little over a year old. His home life was ideal, and his family will have the sincere sympathy of thousands of Col Doherty's friends throughout the Dominion.

COMMUTATION OF PENSIONS

Pensioners who are receiving pensions for disabilities ranging from between five and fourteen per cent. will shortly be asked to state whether they wish to accept a lump sum as final payment or continue with the monthly or semi-annual payments. Such election will be purely volutary on their part. All cases affected will be delt with automatically thus relieving the pensioners of the necessity for writing to the Board with reference to this matter.

The following is an extract from the amendments to the Pension Act. The clause quoted becomes effctiv September 1st, 1920.

"Members of the forces disabled to an extent between five and fourteen per cent. may elect to accept payment in lieu of the pensions set forth in this schedule. The amount of such final payment, in cases of disability between five and nine per cent. shall not exceed three hundred dollars and in cases of disability between ten and fourteen per cent. shall not exceed six hundred dollars and shall be determined in accordance with the extent of the disability and its probable duration. Members of the forces permanently disabled between ten and fourteen per cent. shall received six hundred dollars. Members of the forces permanently disabled between five and nine per cent, shall received three hundred dollars. If an election has been made to accept a final payment, such election is final unless the disability of the member of the forces concerned becomes greater in extent in which case the pension shall be adjusted for the past period in accordance with the extent of the disability and the amount paid as a final payment shall be deducted. If married pensioner desires to elect to accept a final payment the consent of his wife must be secured. Members of the forces who are in receipt of a pension for a disability of less than fourteen per cent. in extent who elect to accept a final payment shall not be entitled to any payments of their pensions after the first day of September, 1920, and any payments which have been made subsequent to that date shall be recovered out of the final payment."

RISING COSTS CAUSE PUBLISHERS CONCERN

Survey of Industry in Okanagan Shows Profit of Five Per Cent. on Cost

Publishers of the Okanagan and neighboring districts, including Kamloops, Salmon Arm, Revelstoke, Enderby, Armstrong, Vernon, Kelowna, Summerland, Penticton and Princeton met at Vernon last week to consider the printing and publishing situation in this section. Constantly rising costs have worried the printing and publishing firms to no small extent and as a consequence the meeting was arranged in order to talk matters over.

The average profit over cost made by the publishers of the district for 1919 was only five per cent., which it was agreed was far too small to make the business a safe one, considering the fact that printing is a manufacturing industry, requiring a reasonable margin in order to meet the heavy items of payroll and paper expense.

The investment in machinery and paper alone in the twelve plants involved was shown to be $107,685 with a mechanical payroll for the year of $52,504, departmental and overhead expenses reaching $82,143, and material and outside purchases $26,522. The total cost for the year was $161,169 and the total sales $169,221. The profit for the twelve shops was $8,05. or about five per cent. on cost. The figures for 1920 as to cost are expected to be considerably larger and while sales are also increased there will probably be little if any difference in the percentage of profit.

The owners of printing and publishing businesses in the valley are anticipating further increases in the cost of doing business as paper is constantly rising, machinery is almost out of sight and wages for union employees will also likely go up at the expiry of the present contract.

Recently Mr. E. J. Conrad, representing the United Typothetae of America, an organization of the master printers of the United States and Canada, made a survey of the printing plants in this vicinity with a view of giving the owners clear and definite figures as to the condition of the business. The recent meeting was held in order to receive his reports. He has just completed organization work in Vancouver and New Westminster and will go from the Okanagan to Victoria.

As a result of his findings the publishers agreed that if they are to continue printing news papers, advertising and circulation rates must be further increased. Job printing is more flexible and follows the trend of costs from month to month. In the newspapers, however, the advertising and circulation charges are altered infrequently in some cases running without changes for years although expenses go up almost every day.

Every paper in the district from now on will charge $2.50 per year subscriptions rates and advertising charges will be scaled according to circulation etc. The change in advertising rates is to come on November 1 and at that date The Herald contract rate for display space which is at present forty cents will be advanced to fifty cents Other advertising will be advanced proportionately.

The following were present at the Vernon convention: E. J. Conrad, representing the United Typothetae of America, Canadian division, to which the members of the Okanagan Press Guild belong; M. L. Jewell, manager of the Okanagan Press Guild; L. J. Ball, Vernon News, re-elected president of the Guild; J. Leathley, Kelowna Record, re-electtd vice-president; R. E. White, Summerland Review, re-elected secretary; G. C. Rose, Kelowna Courier; H. M. Walker, Enderby Commoner; M. D. Billings, Kamloops Standard; W. Watson, Armstrong Advertiser; H. E. Moore, Salmon Arm Observer; R. J. McDougall, Penticton Herald and Princeton Star. Representatives of the Kamloops Telegram and Revelstoke Review were absent.

VICAR OF KEREMEOS WEDS

Pleasing Ceremony in St. Saviour's Church, Penticton

Keremeos, Aug. 14.—The wedding of Rev. Leonard A. Morrant, vicar of Keremeos, and Miss Mary Eleanor Lane, of Surrey Centre, Cloverdale, B. C., was solemnized on Monday last in St. Saviour's church, Penticton. The ceremony was beautifully conducted by Rev. J. A. Cleland, vicar of Penticton, and, according to the old English custom, was followed by the celebration of Holy Communion. Only the immediate friends of the bride and bridegroom were present. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

Mrs. M. W. Grey, of Penticton, gave the bride away and Mr. Jack Kitson was in attendance upon the groom as best man. The bride was attended by Miss Kathleen Grey.

The bride was attired in a gown of white voile, wore a large picture hat, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas

The rectory was placed at the disposal of the bridal party and breakfast was served in a manner characteristic of the kindness of Rev. and Mrs. Cleland and family.

Both the bride and groom being strangers to Penticton a brief honeymoon was spent at the Incola hotel, visits being paid to places of beauty and interest around the town.

Rev. and Mrs. Morrant were the recipients of many charming presents.

SPENT NIGHT IN MOUNTAIN

Miss Violet Honeywell Returns Safely From Hunt for Horses

Keremeos, Aug. 14.—Mr. and Mrs Honeywell experienced considerable anxiety and alarm on Wednesday night through their daughter, Violet failing to return from a search for two horses on the Barcello range.

She left home on Wednesday morning on a trusted saddle horse in search of the two missing animals and spent the day searching. Her efforts were rewarded toward evening when she located the horses, but it was then too late to get them down before dark She therefore tied her horse and spent the night alone on the mountain, returning home on Thursday.

In the meantime her parents became anxious regarding her, for although a good rider the possibility of her horse falling in some of the bad parts of the mountains and throwing her was fully realized. Mr. Honeywell patrolled the roads from the forks to the other end of the range and Mr. Barcello went into the mountain. The grit of Miss Honeywell was fully demonstrated by her remaining on her errand so long a time without food or shelter.

HORN SILVER MINE NEWS

What might have proved a fatal accident occurred at the camp where gasoline exploded in the house belonging to Mr. James Fuller. The instant the house was in flames, Mr. Fuller seized two suit cases and dashed for the door, while Mr. Alex Blaine, who was outside at the time of the explosion, rushed in for his suit case which contained valuables. In the excitement, he did not realize that his other suitcase had been taken out and made another dash. This second trip might probably have proved fatal had not Mr. Fuller and Mr. Jack Cassidy gone to his rescue and beat out the flames which had caught his clothing. As it was, he was badly burned about the head and neck while his right hand received serious injury. Mr. Dean Wilmot and Mr. Conlit applied first aid and then he was rushed to Keremeos in E. P. Bromley's car to Dr. McEwen. Mr. Blaine is now doing nicely. The house and all the contents were totally destroyed.

The Song of a Settler in B. C.

I'd like to be an Indian with a tall commanding form,
With a good old government blanket to shield me from the storm;
I'd like to be a Siwash, a Blackfoot or a Yute,
I'm tired of being a white man, the unprotected brute.

I'd like to be an Indian, I'd have to pay no tax,
Use no pick or shovel, no crow-bar or an axe;
The government would make my irrigation ditch, my fence and wagon road,
Which would relieve my shoulders of an awful load.

If I was just an Indian I need not work at all;
I could lay around and smoke my pipe from spring time until fall;
The choicest of game would be my meat, bread and cream, and honey;
All the English language I'd need, would be "Government give me more money."

CLOUDBURST STALLS KETTLE VALLEY TRAINS

Plays Havoc With Roadbed and Destroys Water System at Spences Bridge

Merritt.—Though this is the "dry belt," and we are supposed to be working under a "dry" law, tempered by prescriptions, even the clouds are in the habit of going on spasmodic and irregular bursts, and they do considerable damage in the few minutes that the fury of the outbreak lasts.

The latest cloud-burst in this neck of the woods selected Spence's Bridge, the junction point of the Kettle Valley railway with the C. P. R., as the scene of its little spree, and, when the tattered remnant of the black, lowering storm-cloud rolled by, after discharging a veritable deluge within a radius of two or three miles of the railway plexus at "The Bridge," it was startlingly apparent that both railway lines had been put out of business for a while, and the Spences Bridge water system put completely out of commission for some time, on the side.

The catastrophe occurred about five o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and stalled No. 22, the local mixed passenger and freight bound for Merritt, about half a mile on its way, so it could neither advance nor retreat —neatly trapped between two washouts or slides, fortunate indeed that it was not swept from the track.

When stock had been taken more in detail of the damage done, it was found that there was a washout right at Spence's Bridge, about twenty feet in length by eight feet in depth, and that there were slides, averaging from four to five feet in depth and from 75 to 100 feet in length, extending from Spence's Bridge to a distance of three and a half miles on this side, along the line of the K. V. R. Besides this, the main line of the C. P. R. was favored with six small slides. So that the Kettle Valley railway was a good deal the hardest hit.

The C. P. R., with its relatively small damage and of course, larger and better equipped working force, had the main line put to rights Tuesday night. The Kettle Valley railway managed to clear and repair its track so that the first delayed train got through from Spence's Bridge to Merritt at 11.55 a. m. on Wednesday, and Wednesday's regular, due at 7. p. m., was about an hour and a half late.

The water pipes at Spence's Bridge having been unearthed and demolished by the washout, and not restored at latest accounts, there was no water in the railway tanks, and trains had to get their supply elsewhere, pending the reconstruction of the destroyed water system, which would be pushed with all possible dispatch.

New Manager for Howse Firms

Merritt.—Jas. S. Leslie, recently of Vancouver, but who is well known throughout the interior, has been appointed to the general management of the Merritt Mercantile Co. store, this city, and the A. E. Howse Co., Ltd., Princeton, C. A. Howse continuing as local manager of the Merritt Mercantile business. Mr. Leslie has been connected with the management of some of the largest business concerns of the interior for years and is familiar with all parts of the interior portion of the province particularly. He recently severed his connection as travelling representative with the Korker Shoe Co. of B. C., to accept the general management of the Merritt Mercantile and A. E. Howse Co.

PRISONER BREAKS JAIL

Kelowna Man Makes His Get-away From Lockup

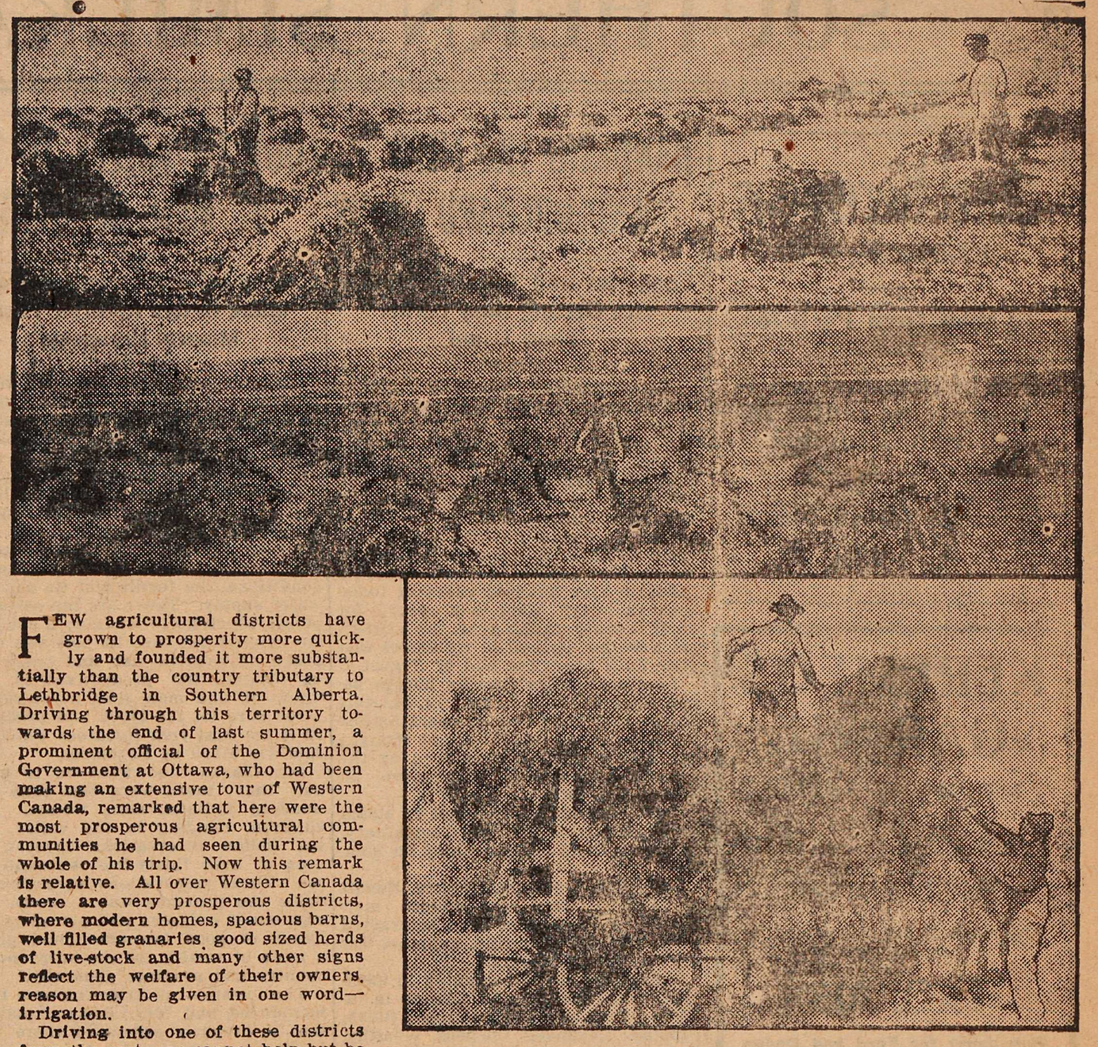
Kelowna.—Well up with the fashion of the rest of the province, Kelowna can now boast a recent jail breaking exploit and a lost prisoner. Archie Key Roberts, the man arrested thirteen days ago on a charge of stealing goods from Leckie's store on the night of the fire there, broke out of the city lockup between 8 and 10 o'clock yesterday evening and so far has made a clean get-away. Roberts pounded a hole through the roof of the cell into the main floor of the police office above, then forced open the door of the closet in which he found himself, drew the bolt of the door of the police station and walked away, no doubt blessing the municipal powers that be for their thoughtfulness in using an old and dilapidated bungalow for a jail. The strangest part of the affair is that the escaped man left behind him a six-page letter addressed to the mayor in which he tells him his reason for having broken out. Roberts is an American by birth; he is 31 years of age, just over 6 feet tall, of a fairly athletic build. He has a clear and healthy complexion, with almost black hair and grey-blue eyes, a straight nose and an oval face. The most noticeable thing about him is a very thick and heavy underlip. When he broke out of prison he was wearing a suit of dark grey clothing with a narrow stripe, heavy working shoes, a light shirt and a soft white collar.

RICHTER IS BOOSTED

Vernon News Stampede Story Praises Keremeos Cow Puncher

Vernon.—The splendid exhibition of horsemanship given by Hans Richter, of Keremeos, the trick riding of Charlie Still, not to speak of the wonderful display of roping given by Gus McGregor, of Kamloops, are on popular lines that appeal. It is not flattering to say that no finer specimen of manhood has ever bestrode horse than Hans, and no better rider and roper in the field for many a day, carrying with him as Richter does the traditions of an honored name in the southern country. Big handsome Hans, conspicuous in red shirt, was ever on the alert as pick-up man, happy and obliging always. His arduous work in the arena was splendidly seconded by Francois Gregory from the Head of the Lake, both fearless riders and expert with lariat, and ready to beat the outlaw in the most wicked mood. Better than the hundred dollars which Hans easily carried away as his share of the prize money in the calf roping competition is the hearty appreciation of the spectators and the wish that he will again feature the stampede.

Irrigation as a source of wealth



FEW agricultural districts have grown to prosperity more quickly and founded it more substantially than the country tributary to Lethbridge in Southern Alberta. Driving through this territory towards the end of last summer, a prominent official of the Dominion Government at Ottawa, who had been making an extensive tour of Western Canada, remarked that here were the most prosperous agricultural communities he had seen during the whole of his trip. Now this remark is relative. All over Western Canada there are very prosperous districts, where modern homes, spacious barns, well filled granaries, good sized herds of live-stock and many other signs reflect the welfare of their owners, reason may be given in one word—irrigation.

Driving into one of these districts from the east, one cannot help but be immediately impressed. The more compact settlement, the deep green fields of settlement, the deep green fields of alfalfa, in which hogs, sheep or cattle are pasturing, the substantial farm buildings, mostly surrounded by trees, the well fenced farms all these are evidence of a prosperity which is being built up on sound lines. A measure of the fast development of the whole of the territory east of Lethbridge is the village of Coaldale, for this village has grown with the district. But a very short time ago a railway siding only, Coaldale is now an active business centre, with a lumber yard, hardware business, general stores, hay market, elevator facilities, bank and other businesses. The community is also served by one of the best and most up-to-date consolidated schools in the West.

Probably no other community in Canada has received more settlers who have purchased lands at the high average price which has been paid by those who have settled among the Coaldale community during the last two years. Many of these settlers have come from the irrigated districts of the States, particularly from Washington, Idaho and California. An illustration will serve to show the value placed by them on the land in this territory. A settler who purchased a farm four miles west of Coaldale at $102 an acre, recently bought the quarter section adjoining him for $100 an acre. This was without any improvements except a timothy meadow. But the property could not be bought from its purchaser now for less than $150 an acre, and he has been heard to remark he would not care to sell at that price.

The number of tenant farmers throughout the Lethbridge district who are purchasing irrigated land at similar prices is a good illustration of its productive value. Men who have farmed land here for a year or two on a rental basis are purchasing it now at ninety and a hundred dollars an acre. Instances of such purchases during the last year or two are becoming numerous and the inference is that the buyers have made sufficient money out of their crops to be able to purchase the land on which they were grown. This is probably one of the most striking facts in connection with the development of the district, for the men who have bought these lands knew what they were capable of producing.

As for renting, the demand for land by tenants is unprecedented, notwithstanding the fact that rents have doubled in many cases during the last three years. Whereas at that time irrigated land was being rented at $5 and $6 an acre, as much as $10 and $12 an acre was paid in 1918; while owners who rented their land on the crop plan received much more than this in many instances.

The district has been favored by the arrival and settlement there of a large number of settlers of high average intelligence. Most of them have had experience with irrigation elsewhere and are able to make comparisons with other districts. The consensus of opinion of these men is that the facilities for irrigation in Southern Alberta equal or are superior to those to which they have been accustomed. A farmer who came from one of the irrigated districts in Idaho early this season was at first somewhat discouraged with conditions in Alberta. But business matters requiring his return to Idaho later in the season he had an opportunity to compare conditions and crops in his old community with those in the Lethbridge district, and he came back highly elated. "Conditions in Alberta are ever so much better," he said.

These facts about the Lethbridge district are interesting because they reflect the enormous possibilities of the other irrigable areas of Southern Alberta. From like conditions like results may be expected. And what is being accomplished at Lethbridge can be accomplished in other parts of Southern Alberta where similar conditions prevail. It is only during the last few years that people have begun to appreciate at their proper value the irrigable lands near Lethbridge, but since they have begun to realize their worth development of the country has gone on apace. The effect of this development has been an awakening of interest in other irrigable areas in the the province and a more rapid settlement of them. As these areas are considerably larger than the Lethbridge district the effect of their development on the prosperity of the province is incalculable.

Empire Press Delegates in Evangeline's Land

(2) The Statue of Evangeline just after the unveiling by Lady Burnham.

Five continents were represented at the unveiling of the statue of Evangeline, Grand Pre, Nova Scotia. Nearly all those present belonged to the Imperial Press Conference party, and the unveiling ceremony was performed by Lady Burnham, who said:

"Evangeline is the beautiful conception of an American poet whose verses we learnt to read on both sides of the Atlantic when we were children. History has shed another light on the Acadian story. We see today that British policy was not as black as it was painted. Whatever may be the truth of this story, as a woman, and an English woman, I shall always regard it as one of the most painful episodes in our annals. Thank God those cruel old days lie behind us forever, and from the fate of Evangeline has sprung a great wave of sympathy which has been carried on the healing hand of time. It is a good omen that the beautiful sun, God's healing hand, should be resting upon us all today, who are here to do honor to that sweet woman. Under those rays in your wonderful land so full of beauty and promise the old hatred is dead. I have now the great honor and privilege of unveiling the statue of Evangeline."

The statue, which is of bronze, is the work of Henri Hebert from a model by his father the late Philippe Hebert, a descendant of the Acadians of whom Evangeline was one. It is a magnificent work of art, and was presented to the Park at Grand Pre by the Dominion Atlantic Railway, which is now part of the C. P. R.

HANDLING THE FIELD AND ORCHARD CROPS

Canneries and Packing Houses Are Getting Busy Earlier Than Usual

Keremeos, Aug. 14.—The fruits of the season's labors are now being reaped and produce is rapidly pouring into the canneries and packing houses. Of course, the work of canning and packing is not yet in full swing, for it is only the earliest of the fruits that are coming in.

The Keremeos Packing Co. opened their cannery for work on Wednesday last and at present are canning from three to four hundred cases of tomatoes a day. This is a record for early tomato canning as the canneries were not opened in Keremeos last year until about the end of August.

Last season the packing houses began their work on August 12, but this season they have been in operation for the last five weeks. The first straight car load of fruit was shipped by the packing houses to Vancouver on Wednesday last.

The Dominion Canners got up steam today and tried out their machinery. They expect to begin canning on Monday.

It is understood that Messrs. Edgett & Gilland, wholesale produce merchants, of Vancouver, have contracted to handle all semi-ripe tomatoes for the Dominion Canners.

Apple packing is beginning in earnest. The varieties now coming in include Transcendent Crabs, Blush, Pippins, Alexander, Duchess, Wealthy, Gravenstein and Red Astrachan.

The Cawston cannery expects to open for business on Tuesday. The repairs and improvements have been completed and everything is ready for operation as soon as the tomatoes are ripe in sufficient quantities.

ENGLISH TELEGRAPH CUKES

Successfully Raised Out of Doors by Mr. Tidy at Keremeos

Keremeos, Aug. 14.—Mr. H. Tidy has succeeded this season in raising the English Telegraph cucumber in the open air. This variety of cucumber is the finest on the market and is grown in England in hot houses. It grows from eighteen inches to two feet in length, whilst its circumference is equal to that of the ordinary cucumber of good growth. The flesh is unusually fine grained and the seeds very small when compared with other varieties. The plant is of a climbing nature and requires careful training on stakes for should the blossom end of the young cucumber come in contact with any solid object it is caused to curl and spoils its appearance. This is the first time that this variety has been known to be raised in the open as it requires even temperature and a great deal of heat. Mr. Tidy attributes his success to the unusually warm nights experienced during the past few weeks.

Mr. Tidy is also shipping red peppers to Vancouver for restaurant use.

Improving Home Lot

Keremeos, August 14.—The woven wire fence with cement fence posts around Mr. W. H. Armstrong's home lot has been completed and makes a great improvement to the appearance of the property. Mr. Armstrong is also building a small neat garage near his residence. The work on the drilled well on this property has been at a standstill for a few days awaiting the arrival of more five inch casing. The necessary casing is now to hand and the well will be finished in a few days.

Well Driller Is Busy

Keremeos, August 14. — Professor Smith has contracted to drill a well for Mr. Quaedvlieg, of the Hygienic Dairy, as soon as he has completed the well for Mr. W. H. Armstrong.

LOOK TO VALLEY TO BE MINE OF WEALTH

Unused Land if Irrigated Would Make Better Returns Than Mineral Prospects

Cawston, Aug. 13.—That the Similkameen valley from Bradshaw to the boundary promises to be the most important portion of "the California of the Dominion of Canada," is the opinion of Mr. G. B. Clarke, of Penticton, who owns valuable property at Keremeos. The valley, he said, in the course of an interview, cannot be equalled anywhere in B. C. as regards its geographical situation, climatic conditions, the fertility of its soil and water supply. These are the essential points which go to make up a country He pointed out that its soil was composed of volcanic ash and could not be beaten for productiveness. He knew of one man who purchased a three acre lot for $1000 and produced on it the first year tomatoes which he sold for $1600 at Keremeos.

Mr. Clarke then went on to point out that there were less than one hundred Indians, men, women and children, residing in the valley, but the Indian reservations covered an area of over thirty-two thousand acres. These reservations were granted when the province was a crown colony, but if irrigated and placed in the hands of good farmers would prove a mine of wealth for the surrounding country and province generally.

The question of irrigation was then introduced and Mr. Clarke explained that if properly organized there was really no necessity for the valley to be dependent upon any outside company to supply power for irrigation or any other purpose. He pointed to the electric power obtained from the river by the Hedley Gold Mining company, and said that this could be duplicated wherever power was needed on down the river.

In addition to that a tremendous supply of water was available from the Ashnola, sufficient under a pressure system to irrigate all the bench from Keremeos to the International boundary. There was also a volume of water available from the mountain at the back of the Webster ranch. At a height of 1000 feet above the valley bottom a great spring of water gushes out but is lost among the rocks before reaching the bottom of the mountain. What, he asked, would be a million dollars spent on the project of a proper irrigation system for the Similkameen as compared with the large sums which have been sunk in mineral prospects which have proved failures.

Another point spoken of was that of the inter-provincial highway. He believed it to be impossible for this highway to be built through the Fraser canyon and that eventually it would go through this valley. He assisted with the construction of the railroad through the Fraser canyon and appreciated the difficulties which were encountered. For this reason he believed that sooner or later the highway would be built along the proposed southern route.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES MEET

Teacher for Secondary Room at Cawston Engaged for Year

Cawston, August 12.—The regular meeting of the Cawston School trustees was held last night, Mr. C. E. MacKenzie presiding.

Mrs. May Fisher, of Vanvouver, was engaged as second teacher for the ensuing year.

The janitor having resigned, the Misses Grace and Daisy Silvester were appointed to take care of this work at the school.

The secretary-treasurer, Mr. R. B. Sheridan, was authorized to purchase a nine gallon sanitary bubbling drinking fountain for the school in accordance with the wishes of the ratepayers as expressed at the annual meeting.

The window awnings having arrived it was decided to have them erected forthwith.

The secretary was authorized to obtain a desk and chair for the use of the principal in the new room.

Another subject which received consideration was the matter of enlarging and fencing the school grounds. It was decided that the secretary should call for tenders for supplying fencing materials and erecting the fence as soon as the necessary arrangements could be made.

It was also decided that the secretary should call for tenders for the erection of a small storage building for the school.

SUCCESSFUL SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC HELD

Union Affair at Olalla Is the Best Ever Known in Similkameen District

Keremeos, Aug. 14.—The annual union Sunday school treat was held on Friday at Olalla, there being over one hundred children and their parents present. From start to finish the affair was the best of its kind ever held if public opinion is to be relied upon. A very energetic committee, consisting of Mrs. Bligh, Mr. Woolliams, Mr. Bligh, Mr. Crooker, Rev. W. C. Frank and Rev. L. A. Morrant, had the arrangements in hand and are to be congratulated on the result of their efforts.

Automobiles were supplied by numerous friends for the purpose of carrying the picnickers to the grounds and the first cars left town soon after ten o'clock. Dinner was served at noon, after which a long programme of sports was carried out, tea being served at the conclusion. A total of $21.30 was distributed in prize money. Great praise was due to Miss Moffett, a newcomer to the district, who collected $22.75 from the community toward the funds, including a generous supply of candy for the children. Miss Moffett was presented with a box of chocolates in recognition of her services. Ten gallons of ice cream was supplied by The Glen, Penticton. About one half of this was given to the children and the other half sold, the proceeds from which, together with a collection taken on the grounds amounted to $27.55. The total expenses were $57.65, the balance being made up from the two Sunday school funds.

Among the particularly interesting items on the sport programme was the tug-of-war which was pulled by two very evenly matched teams and won by the team captained by Billie Pearce.

THE COMMON TOUCH

By Edgar A. Guest

I would not be too wise—so very wise
That I must sneer at simple songs and creeds.
And let the glare of wisdom blind my eyes
To humble people and their humble needs.

I would not care to climb so high that I
Could never hear the children at their play.
Could only see the people passing by.
Yet never hear the cheering words they say.

I would not know too much—too much to smile.
At trivial errors of the heart and hand,
Nor be too proud to play the friend the while,
And cease to help and know and understand.

I would not care to sit upon a throne,
Or build my house upon a mountain-top
Where I must dwell in glory alone
And never friend come in or poor man stop.

God grant that I may live upon this earth
And face the tasks which every morning brings,
And never lose the glory and the worth
Of humble service and the simple things.

"Everything set for a good trip—the car running 'smooth as velvet'—plenty of Imperial Polarine in the crank-case and more available wherever we stop. With Imperial Premier Gasoline for fuel, we'll have a most enjoyable vacation."

Imperial Polarine Available Everywhere

WHEREVER you tour, throughout the length and breadth of Canada, you can secure the grade of Imperial Polarine you now use for lubrication—exactly the same uniform grades are sold by dealers everywhere from Halifax to Vancouver.

Imperial Polarine reduces your greatest expense—depreciation, yet costs less than storage, tires, repairs or gasoline. It reduces friction to a minimum, maintains a piston-tight seal under heaviest engine heat, helps the engine extract the last ounce of power out of gasoline.

Imperial Polarine holds its body, maintains compression—keeps the motor running smoothly and quietly. The Imperial Chart of Recommendations shows the grade recommended for your car. Ask to see it when you stop for oil.

Imperial Polarine is sold by good dealers everywhere in sealed one-gallon and four-gallon cans, half-barrels and barrels, also in 12½-gallon steel kegs, the handy size for the home garage. Buy the larger sizes to save money.

MODERN TRANSPORT AND INSECT PESTS

The fight against insect pests is hardly more than few decades old. It has been taken up energetically in the United States if little official attention is paid to entomologists in the United Kingdom, the dominions fully recognize their utility. Why, then, is the menace increasing? Because, says Professor Lefroy insect pests become dangerous outside their own home centers where the natural enemies are missing, and because increased communication facilities enable insects to find a new home. The war has made the immediate danger more grave, but is not directly responsible for it.

In the olden days comumnication was by ship; the snips were slow, and insects did not survive the long journeys. Now, ships are faster, but they start from docks far away from the breeding grounds of the insects. Railways come closer to those grounds and though carriages on inter-linked railways take us, our produce and our insects right across the continent, and might soon carry us without changing from England far out to the east into Asia and through it and to Egypt and to the Cape. Two important links in the connection are missing, the Channel tunnel and the Gibraltar tunnel. The railway lines along the northern coast of Africa, the Bagdad railway and the lines joining the west of Australia to the south and east were already complete or being built, and the airplane transformed journeys of days into journeys of hours, across lands and seas.

Prof. Lefroy pointed out that excellent accomodation and shelter a commercial airship may afford to travelling insects. When the machine landed at night the ligats of the cabin attracted them, and wnatever crawled on the ground found plenty of safe corners.

The dangers are, no doubt, real. Yellow fever—now almost confined to a few spots—malaria sleeping sickness, typhoid, are all propogated by insects and parasites, as Prof. Lefroy did not fail to point out. Scientists further have to see how international traffic can be safeguarded without being rifled, and the engineer ought to have a large share in framing and supervising the rules.—London Engineer.

STRIKING CASE OF GOOD DONE BY HERBS

Relief Obtained by Vancouver Man Who Suffered from Asthma for Years

A remarkalbe story, which will be read with interest by any person afflicted with Asthma or who has friends suffering from the disease, is told by Mr. H. S. Duncan, of 1368 Eleventh avenue west, Vancouver. The case of Mr. Duncan is well known in Vancouver and the wonderful manner in which Wonder Health Restorer relieved his sufferings has been a tremendous surprise to his friends, who had given up his case as hopeless. Mr. Duncan's own statement reads:

"I have suffered from Bronchial Asthma since childhood and frequently developed such bad colds I was obliged to take hospital treatments. I have passed sleepless nights and my daily duties were often a burden. Since taking Wonder Health Restorer I can say without fear of contradiction that I have slept perfectly and now feel fit as any man. I cannot say too much of the value of Wonder Health Restorer and strongly recommend its use by any sufferer from the disease."

Wonder Health Restorer is on sale in Princeton by Geo. G. Lyall.

Call and enquire about the remedy. Ask for a copy of "The Road to Health," which tells all about it and gives personal testimony of many who have used it.
