Granby Company Assumes Control

TRANSFER OF CANADA COPPER CORPORATION'S HOLDINGS TO NEW COMPANY WILL BE COMPLETED TOMORROW; ASST-GEN. MANAGER ON WAY HERE

Jack McLaughlin who has been spending the past two weeks at Anyox at the request of the Granby Company acquainting himself with the company's method of mining and reducing ores, returned to Princeton yesterday.

He brings back word that the Granby Company will take over the control of the new company, that recently bought the property of the Canada Copper Corporation, on May 19th but that this does not necessarily mean immediate operation.

Mr. McLaughlin was accompanied by his wife on his trip to Anyox. The weather was fine and they enjoyed the outing very much. At Anyox, he states, officials of the company, who are to be transferred here, have their effects packed and are somewhat impatiently awaiting the word to move. Re-opening of the works will see many oldtimers back to their jobs both at Allenby and on the Mountain.

While Mr. McLaughlin carefully refrained from any definite statement in respect to the commencement of operations at an early date, he stated that while in Vancouver on his way home on Wednesday he was informed by Mr. Quinn at the Granby's city office that Mr. Clapp, assistant manager, who is to be in charge of the work in connection with resuming operations here, had received instructions to proceed at once to Allenby. When Mr. McLaughlin left Anyox, Mr. Clapp had not received any intimation as to when his services would be needed here and this new bit of information is considered a very favorable indication, as Mr. Clapp would not likely be coming in unless everything was in readiness to begin work.

Mr. H. R. Plommer who has been spending the week in Vancouver in connection with the transfer of the Canada Copper Corporation's holdings to the new company, is expected home today.

"Where Every Prospect Pleaseth"

Keremeos.—Let us climb to the shoulder of this mountain, so that we may view the valley from above. Look! still higher, to the south, rises a rugged peak, three thousand feet of massive grandeur, ever changing in the sunlight and the shadows of the day. Scarred with the erosions of the centuries, which year by year with frosts and rains eat into its seemingly indestructible ramparts.

Now we have reached our point of eminence, though far below the towering summit, still high above the beautiful valley spread out before us. The soft green foliage of the springtime, stretches away in the distance, in poplar, birch and willow. Flecked among these stand the stately pines and firs, blending their dark and somber green, with the lighter hue of their more fleeting sisters.

Amid this billow profusion of nature, like squares upon a mighty chess board, stands out the works of man's industry. Here lies a square of brown soil, fresh turned, reclaimed, where soon in even rows his hand will tend and train some plant for his sustenance. Here upon another area his marshalled fruit trees stand, now breaking from their winter sleep in massive blooms of white, filling the air with perfume to induce myriads of tiny pollen hunters to perform their duties, and so bring forth the harvest of the autumn months.

Now we see the fields of alfalfa, with their incomparable green, set like emeralds there amid the grey-brown sagebrush wastes, showing forth the fertility of this seeming waste when supplied with moisture by the guiding hand of man.

Winding in and out like a great serpent, now showing its turbulent waters, fast swelling from the melting snow above, now lost to view behind some dense clump of foliage, again reappearing where least expected, flows the Similkameen. Angry and dangerous in the flood season, full from bank to bank. Dancing and light-hearted in the summer months, as it shrinks back, its flood exhausted, a little stream.

The slanting rays of the setting sun bathes all in a soft and glorious light. Peace and quiet reigns over all this beauteous scene; surely here the soul of man may rest content.

Soon the sun sinks behind the distant hills and darkness falls. Then the night-winds come racing down the valley, leaping along in mad puffs and flurries like a troop of pranking goblins. Dragging at the tree tops, whistling round the eaves and chimney tops, howling along the wires like a mob of excited elves. All night they dance and race along, tugging and pulling, twisting and turning into every nook and cranny. Then with the sunrise they gurgle and laugh for a time at their pranks of the night, then die away. "Then the day breaks and the shadows of the night flee away."

But the soul of man is not content. He learns not this lesson but carries his hobgoblins all through the day, and again into the night.

SPORTS

GOLF

Sunday last marked the official opening for the season of the Princeton Golf Club, when a team drawn by the president played the vice-president's team, the result being an easy win for the president's side. In justice to the "vice," however, it should be mentioned that in his drawing he picked several beginners. These starters are making excellent progress, and Vice-President Jack Nathan assures the president that in three months, with the same teams matched, there will be a very different story to send to the Star.

The course is in splendid condition; a bunker has been constructed near the fourth green ("Waterloo"), and plans for placing further bunkers are mooted.

Lady members are practicing assiduously, and in the course of the next few weeks a rival to Mrs. S. C. Sweeney, lady champion of B. C. may be uncovered on the local links.

Next Sunday the monthly medal and sweepstake event will be run off and all players intending to participate should be at the first tee by 8 o'clock (A. M.)

Members will please remember the monthly meeting next Wednesday in Mr. Nathan's store.

Penticton is seeking new golf links and word has been received here from J. A. MacKelvie, M. P., and from J. B. Harkin, Dominion parks commissioner to the effect that D. C. Scott, head of the department of Indian affairs is inclined to think arrangements can be made to lease part of the Indian reserve on the west bench for the purpose.

TENNIS

Blue Birds Tennis Club

The finishing touches have now been added to the "Blue Birds" tennis courts. They present a fine appearance and are a credit to the town. The formal opening will be held tomorrow, Saturday. All members and intending members are invited to attend. The "Blue Birds" will act as hostesses and serve refreshments.

Princeton Tennis Club

As a rule it requires nice weather and light to play tennis, but despite bad weather conditions and poor light such as we have experienced during the past week one could always find the budding "Mallorys" and "Tildens" swinging the stringed stick. The two men representatives of the Princeton club are getting in some hard practice and promise to separate the Keremeos club from their silverware. Here's hoping they do and that at least one trophy of the big sports celebration will come home. Hedley and Penticton clubs have accepted the invitation of the Princeton Tennis club and promise to send along teams to match the locals in the near future. Slogan for tennis, "Leave the dishes till the morning."

COULD NOT MAKE THE CLIMB

After Trying For Two Hours Aviator Fails to Cross the Divide

Dr. Gerhard, who left Wenatchee yeterday morning at 8.30, via airplane, for Hedley, where he was summoned by officials of the Great Northern to attend Joe Beck, the brakeman who was badly scalded in the collision at Keremeos on Wednesday, arrived at his destination via motor car at 5.15 p. m.

As soon as the airplane left Wenatchee, word to that effect was wired to the hospital at Hedley. Computing the speed of an airplane and the distance between tthe two places, residents of Hedley looked for its arrival about 10.30. When it failed to arrive uneasiness was felt as to its fate till about three o'clock when a telephone message was received saying that it had passed Osoyoos about 1.30. A later message stated that the machine had landed at Penticton and that the drive from Penticton was being made by car. The latter report was not quite correct.

The plane had followed up the Okanagan as far as Oliver and then attempted to cross the divide into the Similkameen. Two hours is said to have been spent in a vain effort to cross the mountain range. Then a landing was made and the trip completed by car.

There appears to be a little discrepancy in the hours mentioned above. If the plane did not pass Osoyoos until 1.30 and wasted two hours trying to cross the divide it would leave scant time for the auto trip from Oliver to Hedley. Five hours would also be too long a time between Wenatchee and Osoyoos unless forced landings were necessary en route. It would also appear that had the pilot followed up the Similkameen valley from Oroville he would have stood a better chance of getting through.

Those interested are reminded that all miner's licenses expire on May 31.

G. N. Train Wreck Near Keremeos

WEDNESDAY'S TRAIN CRASHES INTO FLAT CARS—BRAKEMAN BECK IS IN HOSPITAL SEVERELY SCALDED

Joe Beck, head brakeman on the Oroville-Princeton branch of the Great Northern is lying in the hospital in Hedley, suffering from a severe scalding by escaping steam received on Wednesday forenoon, when the regular tri-weekly G. N. train from Oroville to Princeton collided with five flat cars standing on the main track two miles west of Keremeos.

For some weeks past the railway company have been rip-rapping the river bank at various places along the line as a preventative against damage during the coming flood waters. The custom is to load a number of flat cars at some convenient point along the line. The loaded cars are brought down on the eastbound train; left where required; unloaded by the sections crews and the empty cars taken back to the loading point by the next westbound train.

Last Monday's train took down the last load required this season. They were left at the point where the river cuts into the bank about two miles west of Keremeos. Tuesday they were unloaded in readiness to be picked up by Wednesday's westbound train.

How the smash occurred is difficult to understand. The engineer had his orders to pick up the cars at the specified point and the brakesman was sent forward when the train pulled out of Keremeos to be ready to make the necessary coupling. For a mile and a half, or more, the track west of Keremeos is perfectly straight followed by a very slight concave curve, permitting the flat cars to be seen for a long distance ahead.

Apparently the speed of the train had not been checked when the impact came. The nearest flat car was raised and crashed through the locomotive for a distance of about six feet, driving back the steam pipes and causing an escape of steam through the fire box. Although the brakes were set on the flat cars three of them were forced back by the impact for a distance of over two hundred feet. Strangely enough not a car left the track and while the first, third and fifth cars were badly wrecked the second and fourth cars were only slightly damaged. The engine was badly wrecked.

Owing to all the cars remaining on the track and it not being disturbed the work of clearing away the wreck was quickly accomplished once an engine and crew were brought from Oroville. By ten o'clock the train was able to proceed on its way to Princeton, fireman Bradbury acting as engineer. Engineer Williams, who was in charge at the time of the collision, was scalded about the legs and returned to Oroville. Bradbury escaped injury entirely. The train arrived in Princeton shortly after midnight and remained here till noon next day.

In all there were about a dozen passengers on the train at the time of the collision. One of them was T. W. Coleman of Keremeos, who informed the Star that the jolt precipitated him over the seat in front and gave him a severe shaking up. Mr. Coleman was able to render first aid to the injured, having had considerable experience in that line in the past. The sufferer was relieved of his clothing, when it was readily apparent that his injuries were of a very serious nature, his face, chest, arms and legs being severely burned. The absence of anything in the way of a "first aid" outfit on the train, was severely commented upon by Mr. Coleman, who said that it prevented him from giving the scalded man the relief he otherwise could.

A car was procured as quickly as possible from Keremeos and the injured man taken to the hospital at Hedley. Thursday forenoon word was received here that he had passed a good night and that an airplane was on its way bringing in a specialist from Wenatchee. Faint hopes, however, for his recovery are held out.

Mr. Beck, more familiarly known as "Little Joe" has been on the Princeton run at various times and for the last month has been making it regularly. He was married only recenly. His father is the cashier-operator for the Great Northern at Oroville.

Dave Wililams, engineer on Wednesday's train, has also made this run many times but had not been over it for some time prior to this trip.

PRINCETON RACING AND ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION HOLD ANNUAL MEETING—ALL OLD OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

The Princeton Racing and Athletic Association, Ltd., held their annual meeting on Monday evening. Apart from members of the organization there were few in attendance though it had been advertised as an open meeting at which would be discussed the matter of celebrating the first of July.

The financial report which follows shows the association to be in good shape. Little in the way of expenditure of funds will be required this season as the grounds are in good shape. It is the intention however to acquire right to use the water which was diverted from China Creek last year for use on the grounds.

Everyone present supported a motion that Princeton celebrate the first of July and arrangements were made for the holding of a public meeting this (Friday) evening for the purpose of outlining a program of sports and appointing committees to carry out all the necessary arrangements.

The old officers of the association were all re-elected.

LIQUOR PROSECUTIONS AT PENTICTON

Penticton.—Charges of infringing the Liquor Control Act preferred against A. Coy, an officer of the Okanagan Club; A. B. Farrell, who was employed there for a short time as steward and Louis Prevost, of Osoyoos, heard in the municipal police court, on Thursday and Friday, excited considerable interest.

Farrell was found guilty of selling beer at the Okanagan Club but sentence was adjourned sine die. A. Coy was sentenced to one month's imprisonment with hard labor for allowing Farrell to sell beer, but notice of appeal was given and bail was fixed at two sureties of $1000 each and his personal surety of $500. Louis Prevost was fined $50 and costs for having liquor in possession while being an interdicted person. The money was paid.

Arising out of the Farrell case J. Carmichael, more generally known around town as "Candy Jack," was charged with wilfully attempting to obstruct a witness and was sent up for trial, this being an indictable offence, under section 189 of the criminal code. This case is causing a great deal of comment as some of those in court were of the opinion that the accused was ejected from court too summarily when he caused a disturbance.

Another feature of the proceedings was the laying of an information against Government Liquor Vendor F. L. Roe, charging him with supplying an indicted person, Louis Prevost, with liquor, contrary to the provisions of the Liquor Control Act. This case was adjourned until next Thursday Mr. Roe explaining he had to communicate with the attorney-general and receive a reply before he was prepared to go on with the case.

FEW APPLICATIONS FOR REDUCTION IN ASSESSMENT

Judging from the small number of appeals made at the court of revision held here last Monday by Judge J. R. Brown citizens of Princeton must be pretty well satisfied with the work of assessment done by Mr. S. T. Larsen.

Mr. T. White sought relief from taxation owing to the distance of his ranch from the school and the expense incurred thereby. The judge pointed out that as the school levy was already made for this year it could not be changed and that there was a strong possibility of a readjustment and the formation of a new school district before another year.

Mr. A. S. Black, appearing for the Princeton Coal & Land Company, secured a substantial reduction in the assessment on some 600 acres of coal lands held by the company.

During the past week things have been very quiet in Coalmont and district and, consequently, there is a paucity of news. This quietude is not caused by slack times at the mines for, as a matter of fact, the outlook at present is better than it has been for some time. Last week the mine worked full time, a statement which does not convey any extraordinary meaning, unless one is acquainted with the fact that this is one of the few mines in the province that did work full time last week.

The Coalmont Gun Club held its third weekly shoot on Sunday. Ten members turned out and keen competition was the order of the day. Duncan Fraser was easily high man, with eight out of ten birds. Jim Smart, Fred Pope and Ernest McKay had to shoot off for second place, McKay winning out. Jack Rhodes, Sr., Frank Barnes and Dr. Sheffield shot off for third place, Barnes winning out. The final standing was: Duncan Fraser, Ernest McKay, Jim Smart, Fred Pope, Frank Barnes, Jack Rhodes, Sr. Dr. Sheffield, Bill McKay, Colin Malcolm and Jim McKiernan.

BILL AND SAM

Old Bill and Sam, they shared a shack
Not far from Tulameen.
Sam was the cook, and had the knack
To keep Bill's belt from getting slack,
Tho' Bill was rather lean.

Bill was inclined to sit and fret
When feeling kind o' blue,
And oftentimes he'd doze and let
The day go by, and quite forget
That he had chores to do.

Said Bill to Sam "I wish I had
A half a million beans.
I'd pack my grip and glam my wad
And beat it out of here, By Dad,
And head for other scenes."

Said Sam to Bill "I seldom wish;
It never does much good,
For wishing never caught a fish,
Nor boiled a spud, or washed a dish,
But—I wish you'd chop some wood."

Trans-Canada Road Should Be Located

PRESIDENT OF THE CANADIAN AUTOMOBILE CLUB URGES COMPLETION OF HOPE-PRINCETON SECTION OF TRANS-CANADA HIGHWAY

While the Princeton board of trade are resting on their oars at present in the fight for the completion, at an early date, of the connecting links of the transprovincial highway, the matter appears to be attracting increased attention throughout the country generally. From all indications the public have accepted the Hope-Princeton route as the one which will eventually connect the coast with the interior of B. C.

Dr. Doolittle of Toronto, president of the Canadian Automobile Association, while in Vancouver last week end on his way to Victoria to interview Dr. Sutherland in reference to the project, stated that "the vision of an all'Canadian highway to connect Vancouver with Halifax is growing constantly nearer to realization."

His optimism is the result of interviews with the governments of all he provinces from Nova Scotia to Alberta. They have all pledged themselves to do their utmost to hasten the completion of an all-Canadian road that will connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. To urge upon Dr. Sutherland the importance of definitely deciding upon the connecting links in the B. C. portion and securing from him a promise of early construction, was the object of Dr. Doolittle's visit to our capital.

Just how successful he was in his mission has not been disclosed but at a luncheon tendered him by the Rotary Club in Vancouver on Tuesday he referred to the advantages that would accrue to Vancouver and the whole of B. C. by the building of the Hope-Princeton road, or some other that would permit United States motorists to pass freely from east to west to the coast.

P. A. DeFries, a Chilliwack correspondent to the Vancouver Province, while apparently suggesting an alternative new road between Hope and Princeton, is in reality advocating the old Cleveland route. He does not seem to know that the present proposed route is a compromise one between Dewdney Trail and the Cleveland survey, in which the best portions of each will be utilized and the objectionable features eliminated. In an open letter to the Province he says:

"It would appear to be the opinion of the public and perhaps of the Provincial Government that the only feasible route for the trans-provincial highway to Princeton is by way of the town of Hope and the old Princeton trail. It is the object of this open letter to bring to the attention of the provincial department of public works and to the knowledge of the public, the advantages of an alternative route, which those who know the country intimately are satisfied is well worthy of careful investigation before the location is finally decided upon.

"Leaving the Chilliwack-Hope trail about two miles west of the latter town, which in nowise would prevent the highway serving that settlement, the road would follow Silver Creek to the Kilqua Valley, cross the Skagit and ascend Muddy Creek. This route would be some six miles longer than the Princeton trail, a small drawback when compared to its many advantages; the heavy snowslides and washouts, which would be a necessary source of trouble and expense on the Princeton trail, would be avoided; the grades would be less, and in general, a better road could be built.

"The reasons given should alone enlist the active support of motorists and travellers generally. In addition, the suggested road would open up a very rich mining and agricultural section, at present unserved by transportation, a country of scenic beauties unrivalled even in beautiful B. C., a land of abundant sport for angler and hunter and a paradise for the camper and nature lover."

HOUSEHOLD SCIENCE LECTURES

Miss A. Macmaster, a graduate in household science, of Saskatchewan University, will hold a series of lectures in the Parish hall next week, commencing Tuesday, when she will demonstrate her improved methods of bread, pastry and cake making before all those who can attend. These demonstrations, which are free to the public, are of real practical value to the women who attend as Miss Macmaster shows how the actual baking is done. She shows all the steps in the preparation of cakes, scones and bread from yeast to the crisp brown loaf that is turned out of the oven.

RECIPROCITY WE BELIEVE IN

In the minds of the oldtimers of the Similkameen the twenty-fourth of May is associated with Keremeos; the First of July with Princeton and Labor Day with Hedley. Pleasant associations they are. Memories of many happy gatherings; good sports; reunions of oldtimers. During the past few "lean years" the old order of things has been more or less disrupted but it is an augury of better times ahead that they are about to be resumed.

After several years during which circumsances did not seem to warrant the holding of a celebration, Princeton has again announced its intention to celebrate our natal day. We are all anxious to make it a big success. To do this we will require the co-operation of our sister towns up and down the valley. The lower valley has expressed a preference to co-operate with us rather than with any competing town on the outside. Let the citizens of Princeton foster that feeling by looking upon the 24th as "Keremeos Day" and assisting them in celebrating it. We can confidently expect them to return the compliment. It was done in the old days when means of travel were much more laborious and slow than now. Let us do it again.

HAVE THEY GOT WHAT THEY WANTED?

Penticton easily takes the gold medal for law enforcement. During the month of April it scored one hundred per cent. convictions in its numerous police court cases. Many of these cases were prosecutions (or rather persecutions) of motorists from neighboring towns for measly, paltry offences. Now the business men of the town are beginning to realize that such a rigid enforcement of laws and by-laws is driving business away from their town and are appealing to the commissioners to "ease up." There is reason in all things; or should be.

Asked by the Star representative, Mr. McCulloch, superintendent of the K. V. R., on his way through to the coast yesterday, stated that so far he had received no instructions with reference to the commencement of work on the Copper Mountain branch line.

The summer schedule comes into effect on the Kettle Valley Railway on Sunday next. Trains, both east and west, will arrive in Princeton ten minutes earlier than at present. See time table which appears in another column.

WE HAVE WHAT YOU WANT
WHEN YOU WANT IT

To Our Customers

Dear Madam:

Do you realize the tremendous importance of sound, restful sleep.

Such sleep is not possible on a worn out and lumpy mattress, a spring which sags like a hammock or a bedstead which rattles, creaks and groans every time you move.

Won't you take a few minutes tonight to study your sleep equipment and then come down to the store tomorrow and see this special Simmons' bed outfit, which we are offering for thirty days only, at a price lower than an outfit of similar quality has ever been offered at, even in that much talked of pre-war period. The reason for this remarkable value is found in the fact that the Simmons people are producing this outfit in large quantities, and have requested their dealers to sell it to the public at an extremely low price, in order to bring it within the reach of as many people as possible.

This is an outfit that will give you many years of sleep comfort at the cost of a few cents a night.

Yours for a perfect night's rest,
A. L. WHITE.

P. S. We forgot to tell you that this exceptional outfit can be bought for $36.00.

Mrs. Chase and daughter, of Olalla, were enforced visitors in town over Wednesday owing to the accident to the G. N. train on that day. They were returning home from a trip to the coast.

Judge J. R. Brown held a session of county court here yesterday. A civil action Almstrom vs. Marino, and two naturalizations, John Dandrea and Thos. Burlon, both of Coalmont, was the only business before the court.

P. W. Gregory left for Salmon Arm Wednesday going via the Okanagan. Returning he will come by way of Kamloops and will be accompanied by Miss Angela Freeman, who will visit her sister, Mrs. Gregory.

Harry Armstrong motored from Keremeos to Princeton on Wednesday on his way to the coast. He passed the scene of the wreck on the G. N. just after it happened and brought three of the passengers into town with him.

Visitors to the Princeton General hospital are respectfully reminded that the visiting hours are from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. and 7 to 8.30 p. m. daily, only. It is also pointed out that it is contrary to hospital rules to see any patient without the consent of the nurse on duty. Secretary.

This week Mr. P. W. Gregory teased our palate by showing us a bunch of beautiful rainbow trout sent him by a friend from Missezula Lake. We have also heard, though we have not received any tangible proof that some good catches have been made in Five Mile creek.

Mr. E. Waterman returned Thursday morning from a trip to the coast. As a result of an interview with Dr. Doolittle in Vancouver he is quite optimistic over the prospects of the building of the Hope-Princeton road. Should the worthy Doctor accomplish the object of his trip to Vancouver a special act of parliament should be passed changing his name.

Adne Almstrom, who had the misfortune to lose the fingers of his right hand some months ago while in the employ of the P. Burns Company at Grand Forks, arrived in town the last of the week to spend the summer with his parents. At Penticton he met an official of the compensation board in reference to an adjustment of his claim.

KEREMEOS NOTES

Mrs. F. J. Carrick entertained a few friends at bridge last Saturday.

* * * *

Mr. H. B. Armstrong motored to Princeton on Wednesday to catch the train for the coast.

* * * *

Mr. S. F. Larsen, provincial assessor, spent a few days in Keremeos district last week.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Coleman made a flying trip, but by car, to Penticton last Saturday.

* * * *

Friends of Mrs. Geo. Baldwin will be glad to hear that she is making a slow but sure recovery after her recent operation in Vancouver.

* * * *

Mr. E. M. Hood, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, looks in the pink after his holiday spent in the southern sections of the Okanagan valley.

* * * *

The Saturday night dance again proved a great success, two cars coming from Princeton. There will be no dance on the 26th owing to the proximity of the 24th.

* * * *

On Thursday week last, Mr. G. A. Lewis was arraigned in court before Magistrate F. J. Carrick on a charge of common assault against Tom Sing. He was mulcted in the costs of the court and bound over to keep the peace for six months.

* * * *

Miss Allie Clark, our popular "hello girl," has been transferred to the office of the Government Telephone service, Penticton. She will be working on the long distance system. Her place will be taken temporarily by Miss Wilson, of Penticton.

* * * *

Raffles seem to be the order of the day. Mrs. Wm. Derry makes the preliminary announcement that she will raffle a pig on the 24th. We do not know whether the animal is a "Sally" or a "Bertie," but it is on show to those interested at the Armstrong Estate ranch.

* * * *

Mr. Shipton, of Cawston, has been busy for the last two weeks working on a commodious addition to Mr. Verrall's domicile. Dame Rumor has not yet vouchsafed a reason for this departure. Anyway, they say that an Englishman's home is his castle, so we should worry!

* * * *

May your correspondent, through your columns, plead for news of any kind about Keremeos? We fear that our knowledge of the doings of the society of the town is rather insufficient and we would be glad of any help. Is not co-operation the slogan of the present day?

* * * *

A few days ago one of our prominent residents was making his way home from Penticton, when he suddenly came upon a porcupine in such a part of the road that he had no room to turn out. Eye-witnesses vouch for the fact that he rode right over the animal, but avoided a puncture, so cleverly did he steer the car among the quills.

* * * *

While returning from Hedley last week, Messrs. Innis and Verrall encountered two rattlesnakes, which they promptly killed. Your correspondent, who accompanied them and who reported seeing one of these reptiles three weeks ago, is seriously thinking of resigning his position from the Star and hitting the trail for a part of the country which does not harbour rattlers. Seeing one snake may be alright, but two is beyond a joke!

* * * *

As the days pass, it grows increasingly difficult to pick the two gentlemen to represent the Tennis club in the men's doubles tournament with Hedley and Princeton on the 24th. The trouble seems to be that the male members of the club are for the most part in a class by themselves, which class none appears to know. A little fine weather and a few days more may serve to decide the question. Come and give our representatives a good hand and make the tournament a success.

* * * *

There was a grand pow-wow of tomato growers, shippers, canners and cannery inspectors on the 7th instant. The upshot of the negotiations appears to be that the canners have agreed to accept for five years the tomatoes produced only by those growers who have signed up with the Association under five year contracts, providing the association has 80% of the total acreage under its control during that period. This will not interfere with existing arrangements already made by certain growers for the 1923 season.

* * * *

There was a fashionable gathering at the tenth anniversary tea of the Women's Institute. Twelve tables, representing each month of the year, were tastefully decorated with emblems in keeping with the different months. The ladies in charge of the tables vied with each other in supplying the largest quantities of luscious cakes and sandwiches, and the result of this friendly rivalry might be called a dead heat. Mrs. Daly discoursed music during the festivities. Local lounge lizards included some of the prominent men of the town. (This is not written by our society editress. —Ed.)

* * * *

The Hedley Dramatic Society put on "The Village Doctor" last Friday night in the Victory hall, Keremeos. It would be invidious to single out anyone in particular, as the different parts were played splendidly. Great credit, however, is due to Mrs. J. A. Robinson, who so ably staged and managed the sketch. There was only a fair house, almost a total lack of advertising causing many empty seats.
