SPLENDID RESPONSE SENDS FUND TO $9000

LIBERAL SUPPORT FROM OUTSIDE; GRANBY DONATION SWELLS FUND; PRESS BACKS DRIVE

At 3 p.m. Thursday afternoon, Sept. 4, the Blakeburn Relief Fund had reached a definite total of $9746.40, with no doubt a considerable additional sum not reported when the relief headquarters tabulated the following statement.

Everywhere, and especially at home, the fund is meeting with enthusiastic support, and hopes are high that the objective of $25,000 will be attained. The closing date of the drive has been set at Sept. 30, all subscriptions to be in the hands of the committee by October 5.

GRANBY

Copper Mountain-Allenby subscriptions, augmented by the Granby Co. cheque and personal cheques of the officials, total nearly $1500, a splendid send-off.

PRINCETON

With the local canvass far from complete, the Princeton committee had definitely collected nearly $1250, and considerable more has been promised, while there are several calls to be made. Employees of the two Princeton coal mines had given nearly $500. Hedley's contribution, reported last week, was nearly $1000.

OUTSIDE SUPPORT

Hundreds of appeals have been mailed, and the results of this work have hardly started to snow. In almost every part of the province the appeal is receiving organized support.

MEETING TONIGHT

To go into important matters concerning the administration of the fund an important meeting of local members of the central committee will be held tonight in conference with the employees' committee at Blakeburn. The employees' committee met Tuesday and went into matters of distribution.

Though support has been encouraging, the amount subscribed as yet is only a pittance as to what will be required, and organization has been laid to handle at least five times this amount.

LOCAL BENEFITS

A packed house greeted the benefit picture effort at the Capitol Sunday. Over $20 0was realized chiefly due to the work of Miss E. McLeod.

Benefit dances will be given at Princeton Tuesday and Copper Mt. Friday. In the former case Rhythm Boys have donated their services. At Copper Mt. the Athletic Association is paying the orchestra and the company is donating the hall. There will be no expenses. Mrs. J. Forsyth is supervising a benefit concert by Princeton kiddies.

OUTSIDE BENEFITS

Nearly $400 was realized by the Kelowna benefit show and though Penticton has not reported it is known that at least this sum was realized. Merritt donated about $400 from the Labor Day proceeds, and also held a whist drive. Vernon, Victoria, Nelson and possibly Nanaimo and other towns are planning benefit concerts or shows.

ATHLETIC

At Nanaimo a special football game was played for the fund, and a similar game is being arranged at Powell River.

PRESS SUPPORT

Nearly every paper of importance in B.C. is behind the fund. Among them enthusiastically backing the drive are Vancouver Province, Sun, Star, Victoria Colonist, Penticton Herald, Kamloops Sentinel, Vernon News, Revelstoke Review, Salmon Arm Observer, Rossland Miner, Nelson News, Armstrong Advertiser, Chilliwack Progress, Grand Forks Sun, Powell River News, Merritt Herald, Princeton Star.

THE PULPIT

Support will also come from the church. At the annual presbytery meeting of the United Church in Vernon a strong resolution of sympathy was passed, and an appeal will be made for support from the pulpit.

IS ADMINISTRATOR

Appointment is announced of Leonard A. Dodd, gold commissioner, government agent, registrar of vital statistics, magistrate, etc., of Princeton, as official administrator for that portion of the county of Yale situate in the Similkameen electoral district, west of the 120th meridian. This is a new creation, this section formerly being under the administration of the Merritt office.

The above classification is for sake of convenience only, and represents the various sub-accounts of the fund. Princeton collections are handled by a separate committee, as are those at Copper Mt., Allenby, Hedley, Nanaimo Herald, Free Press; Vancouver Sun, Star, Province; Victoria Colonist; Kamloops and Merritt are each making their own collections, as are several other towns not yet reported. This miscellaneous fund is for cheques sent direct to the Princeton headquarters of the fund; the McKinnon a-c is for similar cheques sent direct to Mr. McKinnon. The local benefit account for sake of convenience.

In the case of the Vancouver Sun only an approximation is possible as the Sun has been including in its list several other contributions variously allotted.

This list is only an approximation, but represents accurately the amount subscribed to date and reported to Princeton headquarters, though not necessarily the total amount subscribed, or the amount in the bank to the fund's credit.

CALL HOSPITAL TENDERS

Tenders are now being called for an addition to Princeton hospital and the construction of a nurses' home adjacent.

RECORD ENROLLMENT AS NEW TERM OPENS HERE

Enrollment at Princeton school is considerably ahead of the total at this time last year. To date approximately 225 are enrolled in the public school with at least another 10 expected. In the high school the present total is 50 with five additional students expected.

It may be found necessary to appoint a third teacher for the high school. Schools throughout the valley opened Tuesday with many changes in the teaching staffs.

Helping Along . . .

Community Spirit

is something more than mere enthusiasm. It is easy to profess loyalty. You have always been proud of your home, your surroundings. You are proud to live in the Similkameen.

How much does your community really mean to you? That can be measured in terms of sacrifice.

a vital part of our community, there has beena tragic visitation. There is and will be distress.
Never was there a better tie for a true profession of loyalty. There is so much to be done, and so little time for explanation.

Every opportunity is, however, given you to assist. No one is denied the chance to help along. No one will interfere with you; you may give sa much o. as little as you please. You measure yourself by your own standards. There is much to do. Decide, honestly, your share, and proceed to fulfill your assignment. You will have truly satisfied your loyalty to your community.

WATER AND CAVE BLOCK RESCUE WORK

Pumps at Work in Flooded Level In Blakeburn Mine

A huge cave at 15 level, and presence of water in No. 6 right working of No. 1 slope, is all that prevents the completion of recovery work in the No. 4 tunnel of Blakeburn mine, scene of the explosion which killed 45 men August 13.

The obstruction in the level, a principal traffic-way, is so huge that three shifts have been steadily employed for several days. Tronsportation has been restored to this point, but only a limited number of men can work in the tunnel. It will likely take several days, and until the debris is cleared one or two bodies thought to be inundated there may be held.

In the flooded portion signs are more hopeful. Compressed air lines have been restored, and a pump was installed, but it was found to be unequal to the task, and is being replaced by a new pump. This is the portion of the mine into which all the water drains. It is expected that four or five days' steady pumping will clear th's working, revealing five or six bodies.

Whether coal will ever be mined in the tunnel aagin is a problem that only time can tell. Though comparatively a new working, officials fear signs of spontaneous combustion may be so numerous that it will be no longer possible to continue work. This is a question which neither manager nor government officials, but only the mine itself can settle.

Meanwhile coal is being mined in Wilson slope. No. 5 is making good progess.

Pleading guilty before His Honor Judge J. R. Brown at a special session of county court Thursday, John Joseph O'Neill was sentenced to six months in Oakalla prison for theft of blankets from the Tulameen Hotel to the value of $39.00.

Evidence taken at the hearing showed that O'Neill had appropriated the blankets and had endeavored to dispose of them at a local store. A. S. Black appeared for the crown.

IS TAKEN

Clarence V. Smith, who had been in Princeton only a short time, was arrested on information laid by the Vancouver police, and escorted to that city on a charge of forgery.

FORMER COPPER MT. MAN IS KILLED IN BRAWL

A brawl in the 100 block, Powell Street, Vancouver, proved fatal to Erling Skolvik, formerly of Copper Mt. According to police, who arrived before the man died, the man engaged in a fight on Powell Street. He was taken to his home, 330 Dunsmuir St., in an ambulance. He was taken to Vancouver General Hospital where he died.

John Johnson, 1895 Georgia St., was identified by detectives and charged with manslaughter, as Skolvick's assailant.

An altercation followed a drinking bout, it was adduced at the coroner's inquest. Skolvick is alleged to have struck the first blow. Deceased was employed at Copper Mountain for several months and was known as the tallest man ever employed by the Granby Company.

Obituary

SMITH

News has reached Princeton of the death at Bend, Oregon, August 16, of Mrs. J. O. Smith, well known to local old timers. Mr. and Mrs. Smith resided here several years before leaving about 9 years ago. They visited two years ago. Mr. Smith is known as a real old timer. He drove a stage in the early days and later worked at the Princeton Collieries mine. Mrs. Smith was aged about 50. There were no children.

HALE

Last rites for Ralph Hale, one of the victims of the Blakeburn explosion, were held at Merritt, and were marked by impressive scenes. Rev. W. R. Walkinshaw officiated, and the K. of P. Lodge assisted.

BRADBURY

The funeral of Josiah Bradbury, one of the 45 Blakeburn explosion victims, was held in Vancouver under the auspices of the I.O.O.F. lodge, interment being in Mountain View cemetery.

The work of putting on the Gyproc on the ceiling of the school has been completed. The contract was awarded to C. H. Martin, who was assisted by Neil Huston of Princeton.

W. R. Wilson is a visitor in Princeton.

Edward Floyd will leave next week on a visit to the old country.

FINDS PIGEON

W. H. Holmes, who resides on the Blakeburn road, about two miles from Coalmont reports that a blue pigeon with band on right leg, bearing No. 37 on either side of the band, colored green, flew into his chicken yard. The bird, evidently a racing pigeon, is quite tame, very hungry, and seems to have travelled a long distance.

LETTER OF FAREWELL

Dear Folks:—I could not change my residence to the coast from amongst you without expressing my sincere appreciation of your good fellowship and goodwill during my stay as general manager of the Ashington Coal Company Ltd.. This office I have resigned but my interest in the above company will keep a very close association with Princeton and I trust my duties on the coast will afford me the pleasure to be with you often. To the gentlemen who very kindly offered me a position so that I may still reside amongst you. I am grateful, but my duties call me away for the present. When I say thank you to my workmen I know they will understand that to separate from them in active service is no easy task.

Grateful and happy memories,

TO OUR MEMBER

Enlightened as we are, we have not yet attained utopia in social legislation. Forty-five an sacrifices at Blakeburn, with an aftermath of sorrow and inevitable want, impress only too clearly the inadequacy of state provisions for fatalities in the more dangerous industries.

Though no one at this time would cloud the main issue that of substantial relief, this experience only serves to emphasize for the future the injustice of reliance on charity in such cases.

The men employed in a hazardous industry has a right to proection for his dependents in case of his death, just as much as he has to police protectiin in civil life. The idea is an inherent principle of British justice jast as much as is the right to vote.

British Columbia is well advanced in social and labor legislation, by comparison. But comparisons, where human suffering is concerned, are odious. Right should govern.

There are many Blakeburn,s and the descendents of every man employed in a hazardous industry has as much right to protection as our own folk.

At this time, represented as we are by the minister of mines and labor, and having gained only too deep an insight into the matter, we seriously commend to the attention of our member, and to the next session of the legislature a means of state insurance which would, in cases such as the present, remove the necessity of piling shame upon sorrow.

COALMONT NEWS

Mr. F. J. Cumming's steam shovel operator employed by the Granite Creek Drilling and Dredging Co., suffered a painful injury eo his lefe arm on Thursday evening last while being at work. The injured man was in the act of greasing a belt when in some manner his arm got caught between the belt and the pulley, breaking the forearm in three places. Dr. Whitworth was called and placed splints, etc. Mr. Cummings left on Friday's train accompanied by J. Carter for Vancouver where he will receive further attention. Later word has been received that Mr. Cummings' forearm is broken in five places and is suffering intense pain.

New Wsetminster beat Vancouver.

New Westminster beat Edmonton 17-0.

New Westminster beat Winnipeg Argos 8-6 and 8-2.

Brampton, Ont., beat Montreal 4-1.

Final

New Westminster 8, Brompton 4.

New Westminster 5, Brampton 4.

ARGOS SWAMPED

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—New Westminster Salmonbell'es hurdled another obstacle in their path towards bringing back the historic Mann cup, emblem of tht lacrosse supremacy of the Dominion, by eliminating Winnipeg Argonauts in the playdowns by a margin of nine goals in a two-game series. The British Columbians won tonight's contest 8 to 2, while the first also resulted in a 9 to 6 triumph, thereby giving them th eround 17 to8.

As a rtsult of their triumph the New Westminster team leaves for he East Wednesday, where they will play Brampton Excelsiors Saturday and Monday in the finals.

The stor yof the game was just too much class. Backed by a stonewall defense that was seldom beaten and a speedy home led by the goal-getting Johnny Vernon, the British Columbians dominated the play from tht start and afer he first 20 minutes never looked like relinquishing their margin.

Mann Cup Finals—2nd Game

GOLF

EQUALS PAR

A perefct 36, the first time old man par has been equalled on the scenic new Princeton golf course, was turned in by Ernie Gray, ace of local followers of the royal and ancient game, Tuesday, Aug. 26. He was playing with J. L. Coles, Jack Coles and E. Meeker (Merritt) at the time.

His performance, with par in parenthis was: 1st, 3 (3); 2nd, 4 (4); 4th, 4 (4); 5th, 4 (5); 6th, 5 (5); 7th, 3 (3); 8th, 4 (4); 9th, 4 (4).

Mr. Grey is rated as among the best of local players, and if he could only maintain consistently the form he occasionaly shows he would be a match for all comers.

MINIATURE COURSES

Vernon and Kamloops now have miniature golf courses and Penticton may also shortly get the bug. A Kelowna man is negotiating for lease of ground in the south Okanagan town.

FAIL IN SPENCER

Princeton again vied, though not so strongly, to win the coveted Spencer cup in the annual Labor Day tourney at Penticton. Alf Sorenson of Princeton competed.

HORN-LATTA

Kelowna meets Penticton golfers this week-end in another of the series of contests for the possession of the Horn-Latta trophy.

SPOT KICKS

OLD COUNTRY

King Soccer got away throughout the length and breadth of the British Isles Saturday, and it was evident that there are o be he usual series of ups and downs. The Wdenesday played like champions o win their opener, but dropped the mid-week game to the Villa. Arsenal started like potential champions.

Everton will realize they face a hard task in the second division Burnley, their companions in distress, have taken two severe whackings. By winning 7-1 against Reading and 8-1 against Burnley Tottenham 'spurs take the spotlight, and must have something like a record for the two opening games.

IN SCOTLAND

In Scotland, where the season opened three weeks ago, Rangers dropped their first point to Motherwell, leaving Hamilton Academicals at the head of the parade with a full quota. Dundee Unitel keep up their threat to return o the higher circle.

REVELSTOKE OUSTED

Revelsoke lost all interest for this stason in he Robertson cup series, when they found it impossible to line u pa team for their tie with Lumby, who thus get a free passage into the final, to meet Merritt. Prior to this each team had won a game.

ROYALS STRONG

Aiming at bigger and better things, after struggling to the Dominion title in spite of troubles aplenty in their camp, New Westminster Royals have lined up a very strong executive for the coming season. At the helm is Don McLeod, under whose guidance the Royals first attained real fame.

VANCOUVER SOCCER

With the four outstanding teams, Nanaimo, St. Saviors, St. Andrews and Royals lining up in a new attemp a a Pacific coast league, Vancouver football has undergone another upheaval. Several clubs have been automatically promoted to maintain numerical strength in the upper two divisions in he Vancouver and district league. The first division contains six clubs, the second eight and the third at least eight.

SKI MEN PREPARE

Though it is still months off the ski season, thoughts have already turend to the new winter sport. A work party was called to perform at the ski hill Labor Day.

KEREMEOS WITH SYKES IN FORM TROUNCE CAWSTON AGAIN

When Jimmy Sykes cut loose with some high powered hurling, and sent nineteen of the much touted Cawston sluggers away by the strike-out route, it just abou absolves us from telling the result of the last Cawston-Keremeos struggle. Keremeos won 14-1, and thus take the lead on the series 5 games to 3.

Sykes started off by whiffing the first three Cawston sluggers, and had them tamed all the way. Just when he was a team in himself, his mates were at the top of their form, and Keremeos was as safe as Gibraltar.

For two innings it looked like big league ball, but the home batsmen got to Johnson in the third and after they tasted blood there was no stopping them. Johnson was eventually replaced by Lang, but he suffered a like fate. Sykes had a shut-out until the ninth.

STARLIGHT

Close-ups With Ye Sports Ed.

It's just one doggone thing after another. At one time it was cutting off men's heads, and by Queen Vivs' time it quietened down to ping-pong and diddle-de-winks. But they're at it again, and now its miniature golf. Interior towns are falling one by one and the lawyers are busy. To play on Sunday or not to play is the question. No one has thought of asking why play at all, but why bother about being original.

At Powel street they take sport matters seriously. There is a mighty throng of beedy eyed sons of the Orient in Vancouver's Near East, and some of those little Orientals have taken o our spors like ducks to water. Chinese students (soccer) and Asahis (baseball) are now fireside names. A season or so back the students developed a sweet center-forward, and the better he got the more attention he received. His loyal compatriots resented attentions to him, and there were some near demonsrations. When Mazelow, in wild moments "beaned" two Japanese stars in successive games, there was nearly a riot at Powell street.

Mr. ——— was ill for a long time, but, because he had a Confederation Life Policy with Total Disability Benefits, he received $50 a month income . . . and his insurance was kept in full force without payment of further premiums while receiving such benefits.

Confederation Life Association,
Dear Sirs:

Please accept my sincere thanks for the prompt attention given my claim, regarding the Disability Clause in my insurance policy. The $50.00 monthly income will be of great assistance, as I have had such enormous expense in connection with my long illness.

I wish to express my appreciation for the courteous manner in which the Company has always transacted business with me.

I heartily recommend Life Insurance with the added Disability Clause, as it is one of the safest and best investments I know of.

Yours sincerely,

We earnestly recommend you to write for particulars of the Confederation Series of Policies, with Total Disability and Double Indemnity Accident Benefits, and participating in profits. They provide the most economical form of insurance to be had. The coupon above is for your convenience.

Bill Ross Made Supreme Sacrifice In Vain

LATER DEVELOPMENTS REVEAL VETERAN FIREMAN TO BE REAL HERO

The heroic epic, which reverealed Thursday, became the outstanding feature of the Blakeburn mine disaster, and which told of the wonderful intuition of twelve traped miners who barricaded themselves in the only possible dead-end in the mine, only to be cheated by after-damp was now, it became eviden from further findings of rescue men, only half told.

The second part is even more wonderful than the first. It is that of outstanding valor and self-sacrifice on the part of a veteran fire boss, William Irving Ross.

How Ross gave his life to save others, and yet failed to save them, forms a pathetic story tantamount in its element of tragedy only to the story of the twelve men who so cleverly barricaded themselves in an atmosphere which was as deadly as that from which they had shut themselves off.

That it was not Ralph Hale who was the general; but rather that there was a new and more heroic hero was disclosed as a result of further findings by rescue workers.

Rescue men investigating at the face of the new incline, where bodies were found of twelve men who had formed a remarkable barricade in hope of shutting out the foul gas, which, however, had already penetrated the incline, today came across a coat. It was found to be that of Bill Ross, veteran fireman, the oldest man in the mine in point of years and service. This discovery re-opened the whole case. Handwriting on the post, whose cryptic message directed rescue men to the barricade, was carefully re-examined, and officials were satisfied beyond all doubt that it was Ross's and not Hale's.

Ross's body was found on the main level at the foot of the incline and not with the others behind the barricade.

Ross's heroism is only too evident. A veteran of more than one explosion, a keen technician and perfectly acquainted with the mine, it was undoubtedly he who schemed to save the lives of the twelve men found behind the stopping.

He had evidently collected the workers as they rushed up the level from her places in No. 2 slope, and had directed them to the top of the incline. He had personally supervised the erection of the barricade, but before it was completed, he had left, sacrificing what chance of life it held in order to go back to the main level to direct other works to safety.

The refugees had sealed themselves in, leaving him without. He had been overcome by gas in his effort to save others, while, as fate would have it, the twelve men he schemed for also lost their lives, for gas hsd already filled the level, and when the barricade was made the men had shut themselves in a chamber where the air was as bad as it was outside.

In Ross's coat was found a report book, a grocery bill, and other papers, and a pencil. He had evidently been overcome suddenly, or he would surely have left a message, officials opine.

His safety lamp, used for testing methane content of the air, was found nearby. It was in perfect shape, but the gauzes were rusted from water vapor, a product of the combustion of methane which caused the explosion. Papers found on his person give no inkling of the cause or nature of the explosion. His cap-bag was found nearby, indicating he had been making his round to fire shots at the time.

It was evident from findings of rescue men that the men behind the barricade heardly realized their plight, and were taken unawars by gas they did not know existed. Some had brought their lunch pails, contents of which were found to be untouched.

The two men found Saturday on the counter-level, who had been working in the incline, had evidently sought escape by this means early after the explosion and had gone before Ross could direct them. Officials believe that if they had had presence of mind, as Ross had, to barricade themselves off, they might have bene saved, for at that time gas would not have reached that part of the mine.

Had the explosion occurred a fortnight later, Ross would probably have been living a quiet life of retirement. He was well-to-do, and for years had planned to leave the mines. Only a day or so before he had gone to Coalmont to buy a lot.

GRAND MISTRESS ENTERTAINED

Miss Williams, grand mistress of the L.O.B.A. of British Columbia, was entertained at a function in her honor at the Orange Hall Wednesday evening, in the course of an official visit to the local lodge.

BACK TO FIRST PRINCIPLES

When life becomes too easy, it is bad for us. John H. Patterson used to say that should the time ever come when his business ceased to be beset by problems and difficulties he would no longer be interested in running it. Many throughout this land had become obsessed by the notion that old-fashioned virtues had ceased to be virtues and that a "new era" had dawned, an era in which the easiest and surest way to fortune was merely to buy stocks on margin and sit back and see them increse bewitchingly in market value. Bewhiskered axioms of the "nothing" "nothing without industry" theme excited only derision. To suggest that true-blue success could be achieved only by long-sustained, painstaking effort, by study, hard work, loyalty, judgment, foresight, perseverance, initiative, stick-to-itiveness, and so forth was to proclaim one a hopeless old fogey. The post-war generation had learned a trick worth dozens of these. They were cocksure they had discovered a royal road to ease and boundless wealth, namely, stock speculation. Why should Morgans and Mellons and Bakers and Durants and Astors and other rich gentry be the only ones to wax fat by buying securities? Few little fellows were too dumb to catch on: the smart thing to do was not to buy bonds or preferred stocks or to toil laboriously at the daily grind, but to get aboard the glorious bull movement and be carried, escalatorwise, towards millionairedom.

Well, there will now be a return to first principles. The weekly pay envelope will cease to be luicrously unimportant. The daily job will again attain respectability. Patient plodding, stick-to-itiveness, energy, enterprise will assume their old-fashioned aspect. Speculation will no longer be regarded as the only pathway to success. Attention to the daily task will displace attention to gambling.

Story Of Early Days Told In Diary Form

Sole Survivor

Johnny Parchello was the only one of 46 men in the mine at the time of the explosion to escape with his life. Johnny tells a thrilling story of his eperience. He has just left Princeton hospital after treatment for severe scalp wounds.

AT THE PITHEAD

Two bodies were brought out from No. 4 tunnel at 2:55 Tuesday, the first to be taken from the lower workings. Three more bodies were located today, in addition to the ten found last night. This makes five bodies recovered, eleven more located, twenty-nine still unaccounted for.

SATURDAY MORNING

As far as possible only single men are being allowed down the mine as rescuers.

Hon. W. A. McKenzie, minister of mines, has received a wire tha his attendance is essential at an executive meeting in Victoria Tuesday morning.

Paul Fleischman, one of the entombed men, leaves a child three weeks old. There are more pathetic cases still.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Signs of fire in the lower workings of No. 4 tunnel forced abandonment of rescue work shortly after 1 p.m., Friday afternoon. A meeting of officials and members of the miners' committee decided this evening that pending a new survey of conditions Saturday morning it would be suicidal to leave any one in the mine. Forty-two men are still trapped, and hope has been abandoned for their safety.

Inquests were held today on Clifford Alexander Smith and Albert Cole. An inquest will be held here tomorrow under Dr. Daniel McCaffrey of Princeton on Harry Edwards, whose charred body was taken from the mine today about 9 a.m.

The funeral of Albert Cole will be held in Princeton Sunda yat 2:30. That of Harry Edwards may be held at the same time. Relatives cannot be located up to this time. Arrangements for the funeral of Clifford A. Smith are being held pendnig the arrival from Union Bay of his father.

The coroner's jury is Wes Rossiter (forman), Coalmont, B.C.; Harry Johnson, Coalmont; Bob Miller, Coalmont; David McIntosh, Coalmont; Fred Pope Princeton and Walter Holmes, Blakeburn.

The inquest today was adjourned until such time as all bodies have been recovered or it has been decided to abandon search. In case it is decided to seal up the workings because of fire, an inquest will be held on the last body taken out.

Though a respite has been called in rescue work, hope has not been abandoned of reaching the trapped men. It was considered highly dangerous to continue work under the circumstances. A fire or fires are assuredly burning and with so much gas present there is a distinct possibility of another explosion. The J. Rhodes family has been ordered to abandon their house which it is considered may lie in the path of the force of the explosion. Watch is being kept during the night and another attempt will likely be made soon after daylight.

SATURDAY 11 A.M.

At 11 a.m. Saturday conditions in the No. 4 tunnel were such that Chief Inspector James Dickson and assistant James Strang felt justified in taking Hon. W. A. McKenzie, minister of mines, down the tunnel as far as it is clear. He will make personal observations.

Working conditions are good, and the air is so clear that only only thirty minute safety apparatus is being taken in, the Gibbs machines not being used. The small machines are only for emergency.

Dickson and Strang will withdraw for a well earned rest.

There were over thirty rescue men in the mine at eleven o'clock. A new plan of operation is being made. An effort is being hoist in shape which will greatly made to get the main haulage facilitate rescue work

The center of rescue operations will be moved as soon as possible to a point several hundred feet down the mine, greatly speeding up the service.

Air was very good, but there is still danger of fire and this must be watched. Ventillation must not be allowed to be too good for fear of spreading the fire. Workers were alwhen a halt was called Friday, and ready to the point where they were it is expected that with so large a force real speed will be made.

This information was supplied by James Dickson, who said that it was quite possible that more bodies would be recovered at a very short notice. Horses and motors are being used.

There were four men in the 15 left, two men cleaning track, one stationed at hoist, six men building casing. Mechanics were at work on the cable, and electricians restoring lights and phone service.

SATURDAY 2 P.M.

A 2:30 Saturday afternoon highly satisfactory progress was being made in rescue work at Blakeburn, and the outlook was most satisfactory of any time since the bump Wednesday.

Manager George Murray stated that air conditions at No. 15 level, to which the work party, nearly forty strong, has advanced at its extreme outpost, were as favorable as at the surface. Canaries are being used for safety.

Coroner's inquest on Harry Edwards called an adjournment until further bodies are recovered. Jury as reported.

A Penticton priest conducted mass here at 3 o'clock.

A pathetic case is that of Mrs. Paul Fleishman. Besides two other children there is a three weeks' old baby. It is believed only a very few of the entombed or dead men carried any insurance. The aftermath will be pathetic.

An emergency hoist has been installed at the knuckle, 1500 feet down, and good progress may now be expected. There seems to be little danger of a recurrence of the fire menace. A severe mountain storm has been sweeping over Blakeburn today.

Dr. McCaffrey, coroner, announced a full account of evidence of the inquest when held would be taken in shorthand.

SATURDAY 3 P.M.

Coroner's inquest on Harry Edwards' body recovered 9 a.m. Friday, adjourned after hearing body until such time as inquest has been held covering all deceased.

Coroner D. McCaffrey is arranging to have a complete stenographic account of all evidence of the inquest.

Father Carlyle of Penticton said mass this afternoon.

Conditions at the mine reported hopeful as to recovery work, though little chance any men alive.

SOME STRANGE NOISE STARTLED THE PEOPLE OF PRINCETON LAST WEEK

Tommy said it was the Scotch bagpipes; he knew it because he didn't like that kind of noise. George said no, it was the printer's devil with his tin whistle; he knew, because it kept him awake two nights a week for the past three years. Kit says it is not, it is a Chinee fiddle; I know it is because I helped to pay a Chinee cook for fifteen years. Jim says somebody dead, boys, I heard that same wrangeshea in Ireland the time the old cow died. Andy said it sounds like osme Swede yodelling. Curley came along and says, "Did you hear the fire alarm, boys. Ain't it a pippin." As no one would believe him, the noise, what there is of it, is still a myster.

Princeton Paragraphs

Rev. Mr. Robinson and Mrs. Robinson motored to Hedley Sunday.

Dr. R. S. Manson has returned from his summer vacation.

Joe Emmerson is spending a few days at the coast.

Mrs. H. Knighton is under the weather for a few days.

Miss Kathie Oxley spent Labor Day in Mreritt.

Gordon Bromfield spent Monday in Merritt, taking in the celebration.

Wes Rossiter paid Princeton a flying visit Wednesday.

Bob McKelvie has returned after a few days fishing.

Mrs. W. A. Wagenhauser returned from Vancouver on Sunday.

Jimmy Sykes motored up from Keremeos Friday and spent the afternoon in Princeton.

H. H. Avery is opening an office in the building occupied by the Princeton Tire Hospital.

Walter Scott of the Christie Biscuit Co. is on one or his periodical visits to Princeton.

Chief Engineer Andrew McCulloch of the K.V.R. is on a visit to Princeton.

Comt and hear the kiddies do their bit for the Blakeburn Relief Fund at the Parish Hall, Saturday, Sept. 4th; admission 10c. -1

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Bailey and family returned last week after an enjoyable holiday at the ocast. Tom brought back a high powered lizzie.

Canning season is away to a good start at Keremeos. It is being materially accelerated by the presence of Annie Mitchell and Mae Hughes, who are working their way to fame.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Robinson arrived in Princeton Friday. They were accompanied by Rev. Mr. Robinson, who had gone down to Vancouver Tuesday.

Cecil Ritchie will spend the coming year at Varsity. Kelowna will have a nice basketball team at the college.

Mrs. Laughton, who was the guest of Mrs. S. R. Gibson for a few days, left Saturday for her home in Des Moines, travelling via Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle and Spokane.

George Clerihew has taken a few days respite from chasing stray hairs on bald heads and is chasing the furry monsters. George wonders why fish aren't furry.

Fred Schisler of Allenby, who underwent a serious operation at Vancouver recently, is reported to be making a splendid recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lucas and child, now of Powell River, paid Princeton a welcome visit at the week-end, and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stitt.

Mr. Charles Bocking, president, and Mr. H. C. Smith, assistant general manager of the Granby Mining, Smelting and Power Co., returned to Vancouver on Wednesday's train after a local visit of inspection.

Mrs. E. Beer has returned from a motor trip which took her into the Cariboo country and as far as Prince George. Mrs. Currie, who had been relieving at the Quality Store in her absence, has returned to Vancouver.

The Wsenidge family, formerly of Vancouver Island, have taken up residence in Princeton, occupying the house vacated by the Sampsons. Mr. Wesnidge is employed at the Wilson mine.

Percy Wilson of the Bank of Montreal handles a lot of money, but not so much of it sticks. On Monday, however, he got a forty to one shot and it is rumored as a result he is contemplating matrimony.

Mrs. J. Strang of Victoria has been the guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. W. Strang. She has had, however, a rather unpleasant holiday, as she has been taken ill and will return to the coast tomorrow with her husband, who has been at Blakeburn in carriage of his duties as deputy inspector of mines.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Ralston and their two sons who are on a motoring trip through the province spent Sunday evening here. Mr. Ralston is a partner of E. P. Davis & Co., solicitors tnd barristers, Vancouver. The scenery around Princeton is wonderful and when the Hope to Princeton road is completed we will be up here much oftener, he said.

Amongst the cheques in this morning's mail for the relief fund was one from the Restmore Manufacturing Co. Ltd. for $75.00. Princeton people have still in their memory the generosity of this firm in their donation of two beds for the Princeton hospital and their contribution to the fund for the victims of the Copper Mt. fire. Through the Princeton Departmental Store they supplied the whole of the furniture for the renovating of the Princeton Hotel after the fire.

During the pictures on Sunday night at the Capitol Mr. W. A. Wagenhauser expressed the thanks of the Blakeburn relief committee to Nurse McLeod who sold $120.00 worth of tickets, to Mr. Towriss and Mr. Bailey, the proprietors, who donated their services and theatre, and the Regal Film Co., who donated the film. Similar performances took place in many other towns in the province. At Penticton, although the matinee had been filled to capacity, many were unable to gain entrance to the evening performance.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. R. A. Simpson, 2226 Shakespeare St., Victoria, desires to express her sincere thanks to the people of Blakeburn and Princeton for their kind assistance and sympathy in her recent bereavement and disaster. Especial thanks are due Mr. and Mrs. Pollock and Mr. and Mrs. Sherriff. 43-1pd

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cole of Louis' Camp etend their sincere thanks to their kind friends for the many expressions of dheepest sympathy, and for beautiful floral tributes, in the loss of a dearly beloved son. Especial thanks are due Rev. Goodfellow and Mr. Henry Foster for the'r splendid efforts at the funeral service. -1

CARD OF THANKS

On behalf of our dear mother and father in Scotland, we take htis opportunity to thank all those who sent messages of sympathy and floral tributes, and all those who paid last homage to our dear departed brother. 43-1 JAMES & ISABELLA SIM.

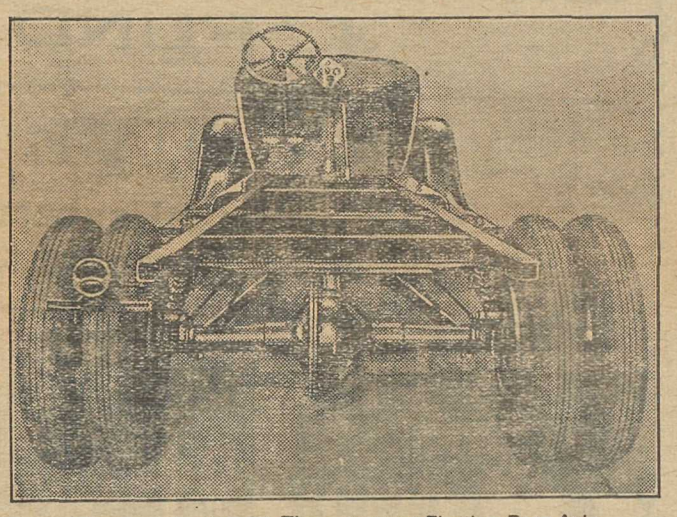
Many Improvements in New Ford Truck



Showing Housing for Three-quarters Floating Rear Axle and Dual Wheels of New Ford Truck.

AUTOMOBILE shows in Montreal, Ottawa, Quebec and Vancouver this year have witnessed universally an increased interest in the commercial exhibits. Visitors appear to have become more alert to the possibilities for greater utilization of motor transportation in business and agricultural activities.

In each city, attention has centered about the improved Model AA one-and-one-half ton Ford truck chassis.

Improvements in the Ford truck include, among others, the new four-speed transmission, the spiral bevel gear rear axle which is of the three-quarters floating type, larger and stronger front axle and springs, the torque tube drive and larger brake drums. The entire chassis also has been strengthened.

The four-speed transmission gives drivers of the Ford truck ample road speed for rapid, efficient transportation, together with an improved low-speed pulling power sufficient for moving capacity loads out of pits or on soft ground.

The new transmission is of the standard, selective sliding-gear type, providing four speeds forward and one reverse. Ball and roller bearings on both shafts reduce wear and friction and add greatly to the life of the transmission. There is a large size outlet on the right side of the transmission case for power take-off.

The new rear axle is of improved construction and has a spiral bevel gear. It is of Ford truck design with straddle-mounted pinion. Entire weight of truck and load is carried on the housing. This means that axle-shafts serve only to turn the rear wheels.

The new front axle is nearly twice as strong as formerly. The front spring is heavier with wider leaves. The centre cross member of the frame, which takes the driving thrust transmitted from the rear wheels, also has been made stronger.

Another major change is to be found in improved braking power. Brakes are larger, the braking surface having been increased to 474⅞ square inches. All brakes are fully enclosed.

An improvement that will prove of considerable economy and convenience to the truck driver is the dual rear wheel feature, designed to make the steel disc wheels interchangeable.

The principle of the famous torque tube drive used on the Ford chassis is that all strains and drive are taken up by the tube that surrounds the driving shaft.

Chassis dimensions are over-all width across rear hubs, 66½ inches; over-all width across dual wheel tires, 74¾ inches and over-all length, 183½ inches. The wheel base measures 131½ inches. The turning circle of the truck is 46 feet. Fuel tank has a capacity of eight Imperial gallons.
