LOCAL MINES WORK AT TOP CAPACITY AS PRINCETON COAL GAINS IN POPULARITY

Local Mines Apear to Hold Key to District's Future

KING COAL sits mightily on his throne as upper Similkameen mines are working at the peak of production to satisfy increasingly heavy demands for Princeton basin's excelent domestic fuel.

Local mines report that they can dispose of all the coal they can comfortably mine and on occasion are being pushed to keep orders filled.

The Tulameen Coal Mines Ltd., an outstanding example of succesgful development of local coal property, are busy filing several important contracts won last summer, and caring for the demands of a syndicate of Varcouver dealers, as well as to the local market.

Pleagant Valey mine is off to a successful winter's start after a discouraging history to date. This fine plant wil some day be turning up from five to ten times the present output. They are working steadily, and report a satisfactory demand for the product.

Blue Flame Colliery, operating at Nine Mile creek, is operating on a larger scale than last year, but still wel within the limits of their possib- again obvious, the cost of trucking coal ten miles to Princeton for shipment being a considerable item. This is one of the major problems to be solved before this promising property, one of the best from point of quality of the coal, attains ist full development. Some years ago a railroad was started, but the project was abandoned after a few hundredyards of grading had been done. The road to the property was improved congiderably during the fall, and is in better than average shape for the time of year, and is expected to stand up to the heavy haulage demands of the season.

Coalmont Collieries at Blakeburn, producing a very high grade of steaming coal, and disposing of practically all of the output to the railways, are feeling the effects of the financial depresion ag reflected in diminished rail traffic, and the year's production will doubtles show a decline. This is, however, an excelent property, and the coal will always be in fair demand.

Prospecting and development work are going on at Princeton's newest coal prnperty, the former United Empire group now being re-opened by the Princeton Coal, Oil, and Gas Co. with T. Tonge in charge of operations. The property is on Hunter Creek. The headquarters of the cnmpany are in Spokane.

One of the best properties in the local field is stil standing idle. This is the Princeton Mining and Development Company's mine. It was the first of the local prnducers, and operated two different properties successfully. The original workings underwent a series of misadventures, chiefly in the nature of ally had to be abandoned. A new shaft surface and underground fires, and finwas driven near the center of the town, but a disagreement anring the shareholders in England prevented the voting of the necessary funds for an aditional development demanded by the Department of Mines. This property has a considerable acreage of excellent cnal, taping the well known No. 1 Princeton seam. It is only a matter of time before this property will be re-opened, either by the present holders or in new hands.

LOOK TO NEW MARKETS

The cold weather has greatly stimulated the coal trade. Local mines see big posibilities in the introduction of automatic slack burners in the larger buildings, as local coal is especially well suited to thig use. Twn mechanical stokers installed in Princeton are giving mhighly satisfactory results, and their convenience and economy will be used to encourage their installation elsewhere. These give sale for slack coal which is otherwise a wagte product.

Expansion of the local market is also anticipated. The Okanagan and North Washington fields are expected to become big customers of the local mines in the near future.

Chic Chapeau

HERE'S THE LATEST, LADIES! ESTELLE TAYLOR, who recently returned to the stage, is not in mourning, but merely wearing one of the smart new half-veils with her chic little black and white hat. It's not an Empress Eugenie model—but there is more than a hint of that wistful French lady about it.

KEREMEOS LANDMARK BEING TORN DOWN

One of the oldest landmarks in the Similkameen is disappearing as workmen demolish the "Big Store", until recently occupied by Messrs. Coleman and Co. It was erected twenty-four years ago.

First Coast Built Plane Flies Over Princeton

A Vancouver built Boeing mail plane pased over Princeton Friday, the first such plane to be built in Western Canada. En route to Lethbridge Pilot Roy stiff headwinds over the Coquihalla and was carried a considerable distance off his course, landing in Washington. He hopped off again and awaited more favorable weather at Grand Forks. The plane wil be used in the mail service between Lethbridge and Winnipeg.

The new dwelling on Riverside Avenue recently constructed for Mr. and Mrs.G.G.Lyall is ready for occupancy, and is a creditable addition to the many fine homes in Princeton. Well laid out modern manner, by Townley and Matheson, architects, it provides every reasonable requirement in a minimum of space, and reflects credit on the workmanship of the contractor, J.C. Neff. and various artisans-excavators,cement men, bricklayers, carpenters, electricians, plumbers, painters,tile-setters,and furnace men, hardwood floor workers, shinglers, and lathers.

It is of the small house type, of pleasing design,; shingled walls, with full cement basement.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyall announce that they will be at home to those desirous of inspecting the premises on

Extravagance Of Camps Is Attacked

Local conditions did not escape the scathing criticism of Wm. Dick, the fiery Vancouver critic of his own party In an address last week Mr. Dick quoted a letter form Mr. A. E. Howse, of Princeton, who gave the information that men in the relief camps on the Hope-Princeton road had oranges and apples and bananas and similar luxuries to eat, as well as spring beds, and delco lights.

Mr. Howse offered to pay the Vancouver member's expenses up to Hope to see conditions in the work camps.

RIVALS DIVIDE OPENING GAMES

Keremeos Ladies and Princeton Men Win First Games

Princeton and Keremeos basketball teams broke even in a double-headr in their first meeting of the season here Saturday.Princeton men and Keremeos ladies won, just as they have done in years gone by.

Low scorin g featured both contests, with the players checking hard, and the shooting eyes being none too well developed.

Keremeos girls found plenty of opposition in the locals, and won only by a 19-9 score, while Keremeos men played Princeton to a 16-10 margin,

Miss Lang was again the big factor in the success of the visting ladies, while Goldie Waterstreet, a newcomer made a conspicuous edbut for Princeton. Keremeos got away to a good start and the result was seldom in doubt, though Princeton fought back doggedly. The half time scorewas15-6.

Princeton men, with several newcomers in action, showed good form against the boys from the lower valley. Schofield especially is an acquisition.

Prnceton owed her victory to a good Prnceton pressed at the outset and before Keremeos could settle dawn had piled up a comfortable lead, chiefly as a result of Mc Alpine's marksmanship. Once Keremeos got started there was always a battle to it. The score at halftime showed Prnceton ahead 11-4, but the vstors outscnred them 6 to in the second period. There were no individual stars, but Schofield, Madore and Mc Alpine were the backbone of the Princeton team, with Crooker getting in a lot of good work for Keremens.

Both games wer very clean.

BAD MEN—NO THOROUGHFARE

The other week a correspondent, vexed at being questioned as to his identity when he had a local residence record of five years, complained in these columns of the over-diligence of a member of our local police force. The police, like the newspapers, are tossed about on the waves of public favor or disfavor, a fickle fancy. Like the papers, the police are an awful nuisance when we are indiscreet, but there are other times when we hail them as real public benefactors.

Enforcement of man-made laws has ever been an odious matter, and especially in these days when to drink is patriotic, but to be caught at it, criminal, but despite the distortions of modern legislators, there is a public consciousness that recognizes deliberate wrong, that differentiates, as it were, between "civil crimes" and "criminal" ones.

When a man shoots his neighbor's pesky dog that's probably civil; but there can be no mistaking the classification when a man shoots his neighbor. That is, as long as we have the old fashioned Ten Commandments to go by.

One of these time honored dictums makes it It is quite plainly set forth in one of those old fashioned dictums that it is a social wrong to take what does not belong to you. Lawyers have brought it up to date, and clothed it in a bewilderment of section and sub-section, and no doubt some more sophistication is required to accomodate Al. Capone et al., but the general public does not need a legal interpreter to know that breaking and entering, and other forms of robbery and burglary are something far more definite than wet or dry, and with none of the delicate shades of coloring. When force in the country springs to action, whether it wink at speak-easies or Republicans in the normal course of events

Princeton was the scene of a neat bit of police investigation last week that in the interests of public protection should not pass unnoticed. A house-breaker was collared in short order, and with typical dispatch of British justice, no time was lost in lodging him in the cells.

The real facts of how the police work are seldom aired, and this case, like most others of its kind, is veiled in obscurity as far as the deductive logic which led to the arrest is concerned. But after all the general public is not much concerned about HOW the police track down bad men; they are quite satisfied as long as they DO. After all, that's just what the police are for, and there shoul dbe nothing amazing about their besting a crook; but it is a very nice feeling to know that they are performing up to expectations

If detection of burglars can be taken as a criterion, the local detachment is remarkably astute. A series of burglaries in 1928 was solved by the arrest of a local man, and it was left to the local police to pick up an escaped American bad man after the P. Burns burglary. The only other reported burglary within recent months was that of the Light and Power Company's cash drawer last year, and this alone remains unsolved. On the whole it looks as if Princeton is not a very happy hunting ground for bad men. Burglars please note.

Is bribery going on in Princeton?

The open way they are trying to bribe the fire brigade to vote for Incorporation, with the promise of compensation, looks very much like it. Can the fire brigade be bought that way? Too Much ACID

MANY people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company since 1875.

Buy you saw it in The Star.

I Can't Afford It

CAN Henry Ford afford to throw away half a million dollars a year? Is it likely he would allow such a leakage?

But Henry Ford, with all his successful efficiency, spends this much and more on advertising very few months.

And yet the small business man says he can't afford to advertise. H should say "I can't afford to be without it."

SINCLAIR GETS RINK CONRACT

Favorable Terms Obtained By Athletic Association For 1931

Award of the contract to manage the skating rink for the 1931-32 season was this week made to Arthur S. Sinclair, whose tender was considered the more satisfactory of two filed with the Princeton Athletic Association .

The Association stands to clear more money than last year, when the rink was let o na straight per-centage basis. Mr. Sinclair ha offered $85.00 and ten per cent of league hockey games, with a liberal cash deposit. The Association is now hopeful of clearing its feet at a long last. It has been in debt since it was first launched.

Reduced prices for skating tickets and more consideration in the time-table wil come as good news to skaters. A reduction in the price of league hockey admission is also planned.

TICKET PRICES—
Children $1.50.
Ladies $2.00
Men $3.00
Man nad Wife $4.00
Family $5.00

SCHEDULE—
Adults— ....Every night after hockey games and practices; two clear evenings per week,and Sunday afternoon and evening on new ice.
Children— Hockey practices and games two afternoons per week, one being Saturday afternoon. Skating every afternoon, and till 8 p.m. on adults' skating nights.
Hockey Players— All open nights 6-8:30.
Rink open till 10 p.m.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hunter, Blakeburn, was, on Saturday evening, Nov. 14, visited by a few friends and well-wishers, in honnr of Mr. David Allan, who is residing there meantime A very pleasant evening was spent in dancing, etc. A special feature of the first half of the evening was a "stag dance." After a splendid supper had been served another special feature was a waltz number played on the harmonica by one of the party, in honor of Mr. Allan. Dancing was continued until the "wee sma' nors."The party concluded with the singing of "Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgot."
