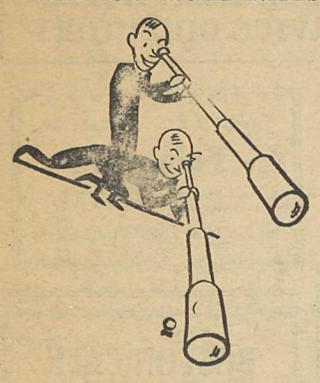
COMMENTS ON WORLD EVENTS



A CARTOON in a contemporary American daily impresses us as an apt motif in the crusade against war which is a vital interest of present day civilization.

It represents Mars, brawny god of conflict, resplendent, like the Asyrian of old in the purple and gold of war, and the diminutive tailor remarking "what you need is a uniform with a little less gold and glitter."

Behind that cartoon lies a deeper truth than we are wont to reckon. For all the brave hearts that beat their last for sheer patriotism, there is a sinister commercialism, the eal driving force of war, that makes a mockery of this sacrifice.

How true it is that war is a costly sacrifice. Pay! Yes, many pay, but a few wax rich on the sacrifices of the many. What is their meat is the world's poison.

Take the profits out of war—remove the commercial lure, and perhaps you will have done more than twenty Fords or fifty Locarno's.

OBITUARY

Meausette

Mr. H. B. Meausette, well known throughout the whole valley for many years, died suddenly at his home Monday forenoon. He had been seized with illness while at work, and was rushed home, but passed away before medical aid could be summoned. His passing leaves a distinct gap in this community.

Henry Brown Meausette came of French and Irish parentage, and was born at Manitoulin Island, Ontario, 28th June, 1874. After the usual public school education he was articled as apprentice tinsmith. So well did he learn his trade that he became widely known as one of the best tinsmiths in the country.

In 1897 (27th October), he was married to Miss Hilda Wydeman at Kenora, which was then known as Rat Portage. From there the young couple moved to Alberta, then to B.C., taking up residence first at Lacombe, then at Vernon.

They came to the Similkameen valley in 1908, reaching Keremeos in the spring of that year. Two years later Mr. Meausette came to Princeton, where he was joined by his family in the fall of 1912.

The first tinsmith shop at Princeton was in the building now occupied by J. D. Saunders, but the shop best known to the rising generation will always be remembered as "the" shop.

A man of wide and varied interests, Mr. Meausette was a keen sportsman, a member of several fraternal societies, and actively interested in political and community affairs. The week before he died found him busy with plans for the organization of a local association for the protection of forests and game.

Several fraternal bodies had counted him as a member, but of recent years his lodge duties were confined to the Orange, under whose auspices funeral services will be held.

The Board of Trade and the Hospital Board both counted him as a valuable member for a number of years. Only last week he was again elected to a place on the Board of Management of St. Paul's United church. He was interested also in political affairs and had identified himself with the local C.C.F. group.

We pause to pay tribute to a busy life so largely spent in the interest of our com-

TEAR UP FLOOR OF RELIEF CAMP HUT

Eleven Men from Hope Road Camp Put On Quaint Display

SENTENCED

Men Refused to Work and Grew Hostile

TEARING up the floor and smashing lamps were tactics employed by disgruntled relief camp men at camp 408 Hope Road project, 17 miles from Princeton, this week.

Eleven men were expelled from camp. Officials state they refused to work.

When they did leave, they refused to turn in their issue of mackinaw coat and boots and in consequence were arrested and sentenced for theft.

They tore up boards from the bunkhouse and burned them in the stove, and generally proceeded to wreck the building in which they were quartered.

Four, Robert Jackson, John Rogni, William Ferguson, and Joseph Szendrey were given ten days and the remaining seven, five. They were James Fowler, George C. Black, James McMillan, Wm. G. Storie, Wm. J. A. Robinson, Geo. Coffey and Andrew Payson.

Mrs. D. J. Innis Heads Keremeos Institute

THE annual meeting of the Keremeos' Women's Auxiliary was marked by an unusually large attendance. The presidency again rests on the shoulders of Mrs. D. J. Innis, with Mrs. H. C. McGuffie vice president.

The financial statement was particularly gratifying, showing a balance of $90.00 n the treasury.

Two letters brought considerable pleasure to the meeting. Both were thankful acknowledgments of Christmas gifts one from Mrs. E. M. Daly to whom a radio was sent in honor of the memory of her daughter; the other from Miss D. LeLievre now in Tranquille.

It was agreed that proceeds from the tea should again be sent to aid the preventorium.

Doctors R. J. and G. E. Wride were expected to give an address on the health insurance plan. The address had been awaited with interest but unfortunately the Doctors were unable to attend.

A lovely tea was served by Mrs. Green and Mrs. F. Sorge and daughter Mary.

Six Hundred Men In District Relief Camps

MORE THAN 600 men are concentrated in relief camps in this district. Of this number 91 are in two camps on the One Mile road and 499 in six camps on the Hope Princeton road. In addition to the 590 men taken care of by the federal government there are 20 men employed on machines by the British Columbia government. Here are the figures:

335	O.M.	Taylor Lake	75
460	H.R.	Red Buck	102
408	H.R.	Friday Creek	61

Broaden Scope Of Cawston Hall Society

ALL PROPERTY OWNERS of Cawston are henceforth eligible for membership in the Cawston Community Hall Society. A motion exthe annual meeting on Monday tending this privilege was passed at evening. Miss E. J. Dunnett and Messrs A. P. Pettipiece and A. S. Wainwright were elected directors for a two year period.

A dance is planned to raise funds for new chairs and other proposed improvements.

Disappointed That Richter Pass Ignored

KEEN disappointment is felt in the lower Similkameen over the provincial government's failure to provide for improvements to the section of the trans-provincial road south of Cawston, in the list of projects recommended to the dominion government. Cawston people are supported by many others, in the Similkameen and abroad, in support of the Richter Pass route.

"It must be that the member for Similkameen has been remiss," remarks a Cawston resident.

BLAKEBURN IN HOCKEY FORM

Colliery Boys Have Edge In Opening Series With Princeton

WITH fire in their eyes and dynamite in their padded elbows, old friendly rivals in Princeton and Blakeburn connived to cross sticks and pry the lid of King Winter's hockey pie; and the boys from the hill came out with the best lather. In a double - barrelled double - header Blakeburn got five of the eight imaginary points at stake.

At Princeton Saturday the intermediate squads fought each other to a 3-all standstill, but on the following night in his own den Gilmore roared more loudly, and sent the Princeton tiger back to gnarl his teeth on a 2-1 shellacing.

What are generally termed as the hockey players of tomorrow, but who, if you ask them, have arrived right now had their own private feud. An array of new uniforms was just too much for the up-country boys Saturday amply jointed thumbs of the

Hockey Club Names MacDonald President

PRINCETON HOCKEY enthusiasts are preparing for a short but busy season. The hockey club met last week and three days later its teams were on the ice.

It is the intention to sponsor three teams this year, intermediate, junior and junior and juvenile, and there is a possibility that one or more teams will be entered in the provincial playoffs.

Officers of the club for the 1934 season are:

President—H. G. MacDonald.
Secretary—M. Gregory.
Treasurer—G. Campbell.
Executve—W. S. Garrison, F. Gerald, T. Wilson.
Intermediate Manager—P. Lambert.
Junior Manager—P. Kelly.

PARALYSIS SITUATION

INFANTILE PARALYSIS has appeared in the Similkameen. Strictest precautionary measures are being invoked, but there is no need for alarm.

Dr. G. E. Wride, medical health officer, is maintaining a diligent watch on the situation, and requests that it be taken seriously yet sensibly.

At this time there are two cases of paralysis, one in Keremeos, one (suspected) in Hedley.

Extreme precautions have been taken to isolate the infection.

Source of the contagion in both instances is suspected to be from the outside. The Keremeos victim took ill after attending a dance in Oliver; the Hedley man, a linesman, has been in Kelowna and Penticton.

Immediately the disease was identified, strictest precautionery measures were taken. The Keremeos case is strictly qurantined at home. The district nurse is keeping careful check on all absences from school and investigating them immediately.

The Hedley case was reported Wednesday. A special nurse arrived on the westbound train, and serum from the coast on the eastbound. Both proceeded to Hedley the next morning. The Hedley case is absolutely isolated in the upper storey of the Hedley hospital.

Nearly Thousand On Voters' List

ELIGIBLE to vote in Yale riding under the registration of the federal voters' list recently completed are 21,437 persons. The new figures show a considerable increase in the voting strength of the riding.

Penticton comes forward as the new giant in Yale, with 3,040 registered names.

Princeton lists 932 names, Keremeos 401. Other Similkameen points are not listed in the initial summary.

Following are figures for some points in Yale: Penticton, 3,040; Kelowna, 2,805; Vernon, 2,554; Summerland, 1,192; Armstrong, 1,001; Grand Forks, 954; Princeton, 932; Oliver, 604; Enderby, 507; Beaverdell, 187; East Kelowna, 278; Greenwood, 351; Keremeos, 401; Midway, 143; Naramata, 218; Okanagan Falls 252; Osoyoos, 209; Peachland, 256; Rock Creek, 170; Westbank, 245; Westbridge, 81; Winfield, 288.

COLD SNAP HITS VALLEY

Early Part and Tail End of Week Bring Real Winter

A gentle but bitter wind came up Thursday afternoon to make the day one of the coldest of the winter. Slight flurries of snow fell but it was much too cold for a fall. By morning the thermometer went down to 25 below, with the weather fine and clear.

KING WINTER put a gnarled finger to his teeth as the week turned and blew an icy blast that sent the mercury scudding down and Similkameen housewives carrying coal and emptying ashes.

The cold spell came on quite suddenly, temperature taking a sharp drop Saturday night. The air never began to warm up Monday, and before morning the thermometer dropped to its lowest in three years, at 30 below in Princeton, and 28 below on the official thermometer at Mrs. Hunter's.

Tuesday's sun, however, was far warmer, and there were distinct signs of moderating which continued, until by Wednesday it was quite pleasant again.

The cold snap took the prognosticators quite by surprise, but was fairly general throughout the west.

It occasioned no damage and no great discomfort locally, though East-bound trains have been behind schedule for the last three mornings, the first disruption in service this winter.

CHARGE AGAINST CONSTABLE DISMISSED BY MAGISTRATE

McCauley Responsible, Says Magistrate Rowlands In Acquitting Const. Thomas Britton of Blame for Discharged Camp Man's Injury

A CHARGE of grievous bodily harm brought against Const. Thomas M. Britton of the Princeton detachment, provincial police, was thrown out of court on Tuesday.

In dismissing the complaint Magistrate P. E. Rowlands made it clear that his sentiments, where the status of the law is in question, are entirely with the authorities; and where a man chooses to defy the officers of the law, he takes the consequences in his own hands.

Thus a two-day attack on the officials by admittedly radical forces came to an inglorious end, insofar as achievement is concerned, at any rate.

The complaint was that of Alex McCauley, alias Frank McNeill, an expelled relief camp man against whom serious charges are pending.

McCauley was ejected from Hope Road Camp 411 for distributing forbidden literature, intended to foment discontent. His failure to comply with an order to leave resulted in a scuffle, in which McCauley was struck on the head with Const. Britton's baton, and the officer suffered a broken rib.

After McCauley had arrived in Princeton charges were laid. McCauley was charged with resisting an officer, and, his record being investigated, with fraudulently obtaining relief, it being found that under another name he had been expelled from a camp at Vernon.

He is now on $10,000 bail awaiting trial at the Vernon spring assizes.

McCauley in turn laid a complaint charging Const. Britton, and also relief officers H. C. Whittaker and N. Hedley with occasioning actual bodily harm. Charges against the two relief officers were subsequently withdrawn.

Vindicates Officer's Stand

The trial was virtually a repitition of the hearing against McCauley in December with the attacking point reversed.

The only new evidence decisively favored the officer's case. It was a frank account of the entire incident as witnessed by J. O'N. J. Russell, time-keeper at the camp, who witnessed the incident as one of the ejection party, but took no part in it.

Russell said that 21st November, he heard Mr. H. C. Whittaker, district relief supervisor, dismiss McCauley. McCauley answered, "Whittaker, I am not leaving camp. Shortly after 5 o'clock the next morning Mr. Whittaker returned, bringing with him Const. Britton. They, with N. Hedley, foreman, the store-keeper and himself, went into the building where McCauley and some eleven other camp men were sleeping. McCauley was sleeping at one end of the room, near the entrance. Albert Cran, the store-keeper, lit the lamp and camp officials roused McCauley. The latter greeted Const. Britton with "Hello Corp." and enquired if he was under arrest. Const. Britton answered, "There is no question of arrest yet.". McCauley then sat on the bed and fumbled in his pockets as if for a cigarette paper. Hedley gave him one. He continued to loiter, and Mr. Whittaker told him to get his blankets together and take them to the office.

McCauley answered, nodding at his bed, "There they are." The superintendent reminded him that when a man left camp he was required to turn his blankets in at the office, whereupon McCauley retorted, "I am not leaving."

There was an impasse of perhaps half a minute, then Mr. Whittaker said, "You had better make a move." He stepped forward and gripped McCauley by the arm, and they struggled. Mc Cauley freed one arm and Hedley stepped in to assist. Const. Britton then said, "Leave him to me' and stepped in. He struck McCauley what witness described as a few light jabs. Meanwhile, Mr. Whittaker and Mr. Hedley stood beside the stove, and did not interfere in any way. Witness said he was never more than twelve feet from McCauley, and was a witness to everything that happened. The constable did not strike one real blow with his fists.

McCauley lay back on the bed an planted his feet in the officer's chest. They were in a crouching position with Const. Britton over the complainant. The constable put his hand into his back hip pocket, and McCauley shouted to the other men, who were by this time spectators, "Evidence, boys, evidence."

Const. Britton struck Mc Cauley one blow on the head with the baton. McCauley did not lose consciousness at any time. Const. Britton assisted him to his feet and outside. He slumped to the ground outside the door, the officer saying, "Come on, get up on your feet." He did.

Under cross-examination, Mr. Russell said that he at no time heard anything said to convey that McCauley was under arrest. He said that the officer might have used a little more force than was necessary, but at the same time he exercised much restraint. "If it had been me,

Call Meeting Of Board of Trade

A MOVE to revive the public interest in the Princeton Board of Trade is being promoted. Vancouver Board of Trade plans a tour of the southern interior this year and if the Similkameen is to benefit by this contact, it is felt that something should be started at once. President P. W. Gregory has called a general meeting for Tuesday 29th January.

SKI JUMP SET FOR FEB. 15

Two Day Winter Sports Carnival Planned For Princeton

FRIDAY, 15th February is the date set for the Similkameen's annual ski jump. The usual two day winter sport carnival will be held, with cross country races on the Thursday and the big jump on the Friday afternoon. As usual there will be several extra attractions.

Selection of these dates is a matter of some importance as it is hoped to stabilize them so that the jump will be held at that time each year, which should give the Princeton event an established status. Ski club officials state that the big hill, being on the north slope, is sure to be under snow at this date, and, coming so late in the winter, it is an especially desirable one from point of attendance.

It is expected that several of the leading stars of the north-west, from both sides of the border, will compete.

Committees were appointed at a meeting of the Princeton Ski Club held Tuesday night and arrangements are coming along nicely.

THE compass of the editorial pen in its vastness has oft included mightier, but never more deeply human, interests than that to which we now pay tribute. For, let armies pass and fortunes fall, the focusing point of civilization will always be the human heart, and that which is closest to it.

We have just finished setting in type a report of country society—it might be any one, anywhere.

"The secretary read the annual report, showing a total membership of 14, with a(n) average membership of 10. During the year eight papers were read. The — ladies were entertained at the May meeting. Two travelling libraries were sponsored for the use of the community. Money was contributed to the Crippled Children's Hospital, and cash prizes were given to the two students . . . ."

That type of copy would not sell out the noon street editions of the city dailies. But, a thousand miles from home, which paper do you reach for—the black banner lines of Wall Street crashes, or the little, simple ties with home?

And the more you buffet about the world, the madder your heart beats to the rush of the world abroad, the deeper the significance of those little touches of home.

Mighty soldiers, captains of industry realize most potently the place above all else that these homely joys hold in life—a want nothing material can satisfy. They are the very soul of literature music, art—the breath of the "Elegy" and "The Deserted Village."

Thank God for the Ladies' Aids, and the sleighing parties, and for the birthright of the country weekly to report them. They are the salt of the earth.

Charge Against Officer Dismissed

Wished To Avoid Trouble

There were only two other defense witnesses, H. C. Whittaker and N. Hedley, respectively district superintendent and camp foreman. Const. Britton did not take the stand.

The officials said that they realized the situation contained the elements of trouble, and they wished to avoid it. McCauley was not entitled to remain at the camp, and it was best to get him out with the least possible alarm. They had reasons to believe that McCauley planned a scene.

Say Attack Unprovoked

McCauley and five other prosecution witnesses had an entirely different version. McCauley insisted that he did not resist the order to leave. John Laird, Frank Barber, Wallace Lambert, Robert Miller and Robert A. Haywood each gave his account of the affair. They slept in the bunkhouse and were awakened by the noise They insisted that the officer's attack was unwarranted and that he was distinctly the aggressor.

Some of the prosecution witnesses said that Messrs Whittaker and Hedley held McCauley while Britton hit him.

Some of the prosecution witnesses swore that they were sure Hedley lit the lamp Officials, backed by Russell, said it was Cran.

Dr. D. McCaffrey gave evidence as to the injury of McCauley, a gash on the head from the baton, and of Const. Britton, a fractured rib.

Evidence Pact

There was much in their evidence, however, that was in conflict, despite their admission of an 'evidence pact'

They said that they discussed the incident and decided on the evidence they should give "to send the bull over the road."

Defense attorney M. M. Colquhoun also pointed to the evidence of several witnesses, "Evidence, boys, evidence", to indicate that Mc Cauley planned a charge in advance.

Was Up To Him

Magistrate Rowlands did not mince words or allow the issue to be clouded. The manner in which government officials went about their duties w: he said, always open to question, but in this case the responsibility for the trouble, in his opinion, lay with McCauley himself. He knew that the camp officials had due authority to discharge him from the camp He placed himself in a wrong position by failing to obey them, and must therefore accept most of the responsibility for what happened as a consequence of his attitude.

BLAKEBURN

Blakeburn Teams In Winning Mood

Hockey fans who were interested enough to brave the cold on Sunday were rewarded by seeing both home teams come out on top. There was no stopping the juveniles. They gave all they had, and defeated Princeton juveniles 2-0.

The intermediates played a close game, with the score 1-0 at the end of the second period. Near the end of the game Princeton tied the score, and the Blakeburn boys had to hustle to break the tie and efeat the visitors 2-1.

There will probably be another game with Princeton this week.

LATEST BULLETIN!

Scrubs vs. Ladies

Monday night the Scrubs went to work in earnest and after a great effort, beat the Ladies' team 5-3. Both teams were short some of their regular players and picked up substitutes, which no doubt made quite a difference in the results. Anyhow, we're still betting on the ladies!

For The Bride-to-be

Miss Agnes Rice was honored on Monday night with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. J. Edwards. Miss Rice has been staying with Mrs. Si Smith and will leave 22nd January to wed Mr. H. N. North of Coalmont.

Pipes Frozen

Blakeburn was more or less frozen up on Sunday and Monday—at least most of the water pipes were. The thermometer was down to 27 below Monday morning. Luckily, it did not last long (touch wood).

CAWSTON

Mr. and Mrs. R. Murray spent the week-end in Vancouver.

Miss E. J. Dunnett and Messrs A. P. Pettipiece and A. S. Wainwright were elected for two year terms to the directorate of the Community Hall Society, at the anunal meeting, held Monday.

Miss Verna McDonald left Saturday for Vancouver, to visit her daughter, Mrs. C. Laurensen.

STAR SPORTS

HOCKEY MAY BE FEATURED

Intermediates Get Draw and Win; Juniors Win And Lose

PRINCETON has visions of a revival in hockey conquests. There is a decided revival in interest, chiefly among the players, and with a good array of talent there is no reason why teams can not be placed in the field capable of doing honor to the Similkameen's proud name in the winter sport.

The intermediates have a likely looking lot, chiefly lads who have grown up in the game here, with one notable acquisition in the person of Bob Rennie, a youngster who shows real class in goal. He has played in smart company in the East, and it is said that he was last year with the well known Toronto St. Michael's. He is a brother of Mrs. (Dr.) Naden, until recently resident here.

In Bert Lawrence, a home product, the club has a lad who will make Rennie show his best to hold the job.

It is hoped that Johnny Pesut will be induced to turn out soon,but meanwhile Ken Garrison and Nick Oreskovich are teaming up to form a sound defence.

One or two of the former front line men are not yet in harness, but to date the first string finds Joss at center and Lindsay and Kelly on the flanks. The second lien has not yet been definitely worked out yet, but Mike Oreskovich, Dodd and Coles have all had a try, and there is still plenty of timber in the woods.

A good deal is expected of the junior team. These are all local boys who have simply grown into the positions of improvement. Indeed, aland they are showing plenty though it was hardly a criterion, they trounced the intermediates in the opening practice game.

Bert Lawrence is the man for the nets, though Rennie is still within the age limit.

Among the other candidates are Angelo and Frank Caruso, Frank Oreskovich, Bill Garrison, Adam and Alex Broomfield and a number of other good prospects.

The juveniles also have a team that is making good in its own company, and gives plenty of promise for the future.

Single Point Margin In Curling Match

VICE-PRESIDENT E. Barr Hall is lording it over his chief, W. B. Ewart, as a result of a victory in the annual curling opener. But it was by the scantest of margins—a single rock.

CURLERS OFF TO GOOD START

Inter-Rink Competition Well Under Way; Ladies Join Rinks

CURLING got off with a with a relish this week, and made up for a lot of lost time with a full card.

The curtain-raiser provided an unusually close finish when the margin of vice-president E. B. Hall's victory over president W. B. Ewart was a single rock, 57-56.

There are twelve rinks in play. The ladies decided not to form their own club, and their members are scattered among the rinks.

The inter-rink competition is now under way, and several games have been played which is all to the good, as this series, where each rink meets every other, makes for a heavy schedule, with so many rinks and a shortened season. Ice has been splendid and some excellent curling has been witnessed.

Arthur, as usual, Avery, and Nichols are setting the pace in the early stages, but it is too early yet to select a likely winner.

There are several more competitions to be run off, and the ice will be kept well occupied as long as it lasts.

League Hockey For Similkameen Planned

LEAGUE hockey may be revived in the Similkameen, after a lapse of some years. It is just a question of a little organization. There is plenty of interest.

Blakeburn, Hedley and Princeton are the likely contenders. All boast of good teams, evenly matched.

Keremeos also has a team and is anxious for games, but there is always a question of ice. The paralysis threat has proven a damper to intended league warfare, and with the season advancing, a start will have to be made soon if at all.

Published reports notwithstanding, teams at this end of the valley at least are not considering a league to include Penticton.

BASKETBALL LASSES IN FREE THROW TEST

WITH nine and eight converts in ten tosses, Helen Miller and Jessie Adamson put a new complexion on the free throwing competition Monday night, and jumped far into the lead. There is still time for anything to happen, however.

night, but by the time their Sunday dinner had settled they were sufficiently recovered from their color-blindness to reverse the verdict in surprising fashion, converting 1-8 into 2-0. Such is hockey, marriage and the way of all flesh.

Princeton 3; Blakeburn 3.

The veteran Jim Littler, who has trod highways and by-ways of hockey for many winters and in many climes (all of them frosty) uncorked the season in champion (or champagne) style, grabbing off two goals while the rest of the field was still at the post. From then on a ding-dong struggle ensued. Goals by Ernest and Ken Garrison made it even-Stephen before the first ration of rum, and it was not until 13 minutes of the final period had elapsed that Nick Oreskovich succeeded in sifting through. Princeton led only four minutes, however, Conn knotting the count.

Princeton 8, Blakeburn 1.

They held on well during the first period but as the tide became stronger their resistance weakened, and in the final period it was a procession to the Blakeburn net, with spirited but spasmodic counter attacks.

Blakeburn Wins Two

On home ice the Blakeburn teams will be a tough proposition for any, as the two Princeton squads can testify. They take their hockey serious-like up Blakeburn way. Both were hard fast games on slick ice and were watched by an enthusiastic crowd.

Blakeburn deserved both their victories. The men had a small edge and crowded it home, while the youngsters were an entirely different team from that Princeton had walked over the previous night.

There were plenty of thrilling plays in the intermediate game, but what few penalties there were savored of nothing more than the usual knocks of hockey.

QUICKEST METHOD TO RELIEVE A COLD

Follow Directions to Ease Pain and Discomfort Almost Instantly

1. Take 2 Aspirin Tablets.

2. Drink full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

3. If throat is sore, crush and stir 3 Aspirin Tablets in a third of a glass of water and gargle. This eases the soreness in your throat almost instantly.

Just take Aspirin and drink plenty of water . . . every 2 to 4 hours the first day—less often afterward . . . If throat is sore, use the Aspirin gargle.

But be sure you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin Tablet. Aspirin is the trade mark of the Bayer Company, Limited.
