Union Rejects Company Offer

Princeton-Allenby Section Local 649 Backs Bargaining Committee; 4 Cent Hourly Raise, 48 Hr. Week "Provocative"

Union To Attempt Further Negotiations With Company Before Deciding on Vote On Question Of Strike Action

Declaring the offer of the Granby Company at Copper Mountain, to be of a provocative nature, intended to foment strike in the mining industry, Geo. W. Anderson, Business Agent of Local 649, stated that "It is the unanimous opinion of the Bargaining Committee, that the offer of a settlement on the Union's 'eight point program' made by the company, is so ridiculous that it cannot be considered seriously by the Union."

The company has made an offer of four cents an hour all around but has denied all other points on the program. The proposed increase would amount to slightly better than $8.00 per month raise in pay. The union had demanded a 29c an hour overall increase and a 40 hour week. The company proposes to retain the 48 hour week.

The offer was unanimously rejected by the Allenby-Princeton section of the union at a packed meeting Wednesday night in the Orange Hall, Princeton, and is to come up for consideration before the miners at Copper Mountain, Thursday evening, May 9th. Mr. Anderson said, "There is little doubt as to the reception it will receive at the hands of the underground workers."

"The Granby Co. along with other hard-rock mining companies throughout the country, are evidently bent on having a strike in the Industry," stated Mr. Anderson. "They will try to break the strength of the unions, at the same time make a killing on the stock markets by forcing the prices down through fomenting of work stoppages. The fluctuations of the market the last few days is a good indication of the mine owners' intent to make fortunes out of the misery of their employees."

At Sudbury, Ontario, the union has completely rejected the companys' offer of 8 cents an hour overall wage increase.

The Copper Mountain union will proceed in an attempt to negotiate further, and failing a settlement, will immediately vote on the question of strike action.

Chicken Shoot To Be Held July 1st

One of the attractions of the first of July celebrations to be held in Princeton will be a chicken shoot being planned by the Princeton Rifle and Pistol Club.

Plans have already been laid to hold the shoot beginning at 1.00 p.m. on the site where the turkey shoot was held last December.

All classes of rifles will be allowed to compete, but special shoots will be arranged for ladies and for those using target rifles.

Airport Now Has Mower, Snowplow

A modern three ton truck,with snowplough attachments and a small tractor equipped with a mowing machine have been added to the equipment of the Princeton airport. The new equipment was driven to Princeton from Abbotsford by Mort Erskine, caretaker of the local field, who flew to Abbotsford to take delivery of it. The equipment was former RCAF property.

FIRE DOUSED BY GARDEN HOSE

A cabin located behind the Hotel Princeton, owned by A. D. Broomfield and occupied by Mrs. I. Rowden was extinguished with little trouble Thursday morning at 10.30. Embers blown from a nearby unprotected rubbish fire is believed to have been the cause. Members of the local fire brigade brought the fire wagon to the scene, but it was not required.

Game Club Derby Being Restricted To Local Sales

Latest reports from the committee in charge of sale of tickets for the Princeton and district game club's first annual barrel derby on July first indicate that local sales are satisfactory, but they point out that since there is a limited number of tickets available, persons intending to buy tickets should do so soon in order to avoid disappointment. The club is endeavoring to restrict sales as much as possible to its own district, but outside clubs are selling a considerable number of tickets and will likely soon be wanting more. If such is the case, it will be necessary to send tickets out of the district, reducing the chance of local participants to win the cash prizes.

The barrel will be dropped into the Tulameen river at Coalmont at 10 a.m. July 1st. Length of the course is 13¼ miles and speed of the river is estimated to be 2 miles an hour at that season. Game club members will accompany the barrel on its way down stream to prevent any impediment to its progress. It should arrive at the finish line at the bridge across the river at the east end of Bridge Street in time to make a fitting climax to a day of sport and revelry planned for July 1st in Princeton.

Elks, Teen Town Plan For July 1st

The Princeton Lodge No. 280, B.P.O. Elks and Princeton Teen Town are preparing for a three day celebration June 29th, 30th and July 1st, to be climaxed by the crowning of a Carnival Queen, chosen by ballot from among four Princesses to be chosen by Teen Town.

A dance will begin the festivities on Saturday, June 29th. On Sunday, Wallace Field will be the scene of a fastball tournament, and on July 1st, there will be a parade, the crowning of the Queen, a track and field day and a huge dance in the evening. Other events, such as a horseshoe pitching contest, rifle competition and various other attractions will be offered, and the finish of the game club's barrel derby will be another added attraction on the holiday.

Okanagan Valley On Daylight Saving

At midnight, Saturday, May 4th, most of the towns of the Okanagan Valley, including Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton went over to daylight saving time. The decision was made by councils of the various municipalities and towns, in some cases over strenuous objections of the rural populations.

This move on the part of the Okanagan places a majority of B.C. towns on 'fast' time. Keremeos, Hedley and Princeton are remaining on standard time, since all three centres are governed by government agents, and have no power to put clocks ahead. Persons travelling either to the Okanagan or Vancouver and most of the Lower Mainland will find it necessary to adjust their watches according to 'fast' time.

Reports indicate that most of the larger towns and cities of the province have accepted daylight saving time for the summer months, but the situation is still confused and disorganized.

Woodwork Display By School Students

From May 10th to 13th there will be a display in the window of Ewart's Hardware of work done in the industrial arts department of the Princeton School.

There will be samples of work done by students in grades 7 to 11, and also models made by adults at night school during the past winter. Evening classes for adults will be resumed early next Fall.

Trains May Meet At Princeton When New Schedule Set

Reports that the elimination of stop overs at Nelson and Medicine Hat on the C.P.R. Kettle Valley line after June 10th, with trains leaving Vancouver two hours earlier, at 6.15 instead of 8.15, indicate that in the near future east and west bound trains 11 and 12 will meet at Princeton at the usual time of arrival of Train 11 from the east. A new, faster schedule has been announced by the General Manager of Western Lines at Winnipeg, but no official word has been received here as to how the change will affect Princeton. Previously, when the Coquihalla route is open, the west bound train arrived at 2.11 a.m. and the east bound came in at 4.10.

The new service is designed to provide faster service for east bound passengers and for food products of the Okanagan to the prairies, and will reduce the time required to travel from central B.C. to Calgary by nearly 12 hours.

As soon as information is released about the new train service as it affects Princeton, the news will be carried in the Star.

Unofficial reports indicate that the Coquihalla Pass will probably open some time late this month or early in June, but at the present time, nothing definite has been made known. A great deal of heavy repair work is being carried out on the snow sheds of the route. Heaviest snows of many years in the mountains has caused the trains to use the longer Spences Bridge route since February.

FAST DRIVING TAKES TOLL OF GAME ON HIGHWAYS

Game Club Plans To Erect "Go Slow" Signs On One Mile, Hedley Roads To Request Drivers To Help Conserve Game

A considerable number of deer and game birds are killed each year by fast driving motorists on the Hedley and One Mile roads, and the Princeton Fish and Game Association is planning to take action to reduce this loss of game life by erecting signs at intervals along these highways, warning motorists against excessive speed which endangers game crossing the roads. There are certain crossings along the roads much used by wild life, and the club feels that if these are clearly marked with signs, much avoidable destruction of game can be prevented.

The decision of the club to take this step was made at its regular monthly meeting in the Parish Hall on Monday evening.

Fishing reports coming from various club members and other local fishermen who have gone out fishing since the opening of the season May first, indicate varied success. Some have reported good catches in the same lakes that others have found spotty.

For instance, last Sunday Kenny Morgan landed fourteen nice fish at Hornet lakes, while Ivor Knudson, fishing the same lake caught only one fish. Kenny was using a Carrie Special, letting it sink and moving it in slow, short jerks. Between them, on Hornet lake late Sunday, Ernie Gray and Jim Logan caught 16 trout. Other fishermen enjoyed a variety of luck on that lake.

High water due to a heavy Spring run-off has raised the level of the lakes and the fish are not taking too well lures in their present well fed state, some fishermen believe.

W. I. Nelson and party are reported to have made a fair catch on Sunday at Alleyne, while Stu Baillie, energetic secretary of the game club was "skunked" at Boss and Davis lakes. On the other hand, George Mitchell and Pete Lockhart reported very successful trips to Boss, Kentucky and Alleyne. At Alleyne, Max Young and Norman

Local Anglicans To Raise $1,510

The part Princeton is being asked to play in the nation-wide Advance Appeal of the Anglican Church has been outlined by Rev. P. J. Brownlee, vicar of St. Cuthbert's Anglican Church.

Rev. Brownlee explains that the appeal has a twofold objective:

1. The deepening and enriching of the spiritual lives of our people that our church may make a more effective witness for Christ and a more effective impress on Canadian life.

2. The furnishing of the "tools" to the extent of $4,300,000, that the church may better get on with the job. The Parish of Princeton has been asked to bear a $1,510.00 share in this great task.

Invalid Rescued In Keremeos Fire

An invalid was rescued from possible death by fire at Keremeos on Tuesday, April 30, when the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tweddle was destroyed by a blaze started by a chimney spark.

Mrs. Tweddle, ill in bed at the time, was taken to safety by neighbors who rescued most of the furniture.

A famous landmark, the house was built by the late Frank Richter in 1893.

AIR CADETS PARADE FOR AVM'S VISIT TO PRINCETON

High Air Force Officials Here Monday To Inspect Corps; Boys Praised By Officers; Told Of Benefits Of Air Cadet Training

Air Vice Marshal J. L. Plant, CB, Air Officer Commanding Western Air Command, inspected and reviewed the cadets of Princeton Squadron 217 on Monday afternoon at 4.15. The cadets conducted themselves smartly all through their drill, and won words of praise from the AOC for themselves and their instructors.

The AOC flew in from Vancouver on Monday afternoon, accompanied by GC. Duncan Bell-Irving and FL. K. Handley, Personal Staff Officer to the AOC.

FL. E. G. Symonds, Command Cadet Officer, and Mr. E. Peerless, secretary manager of the Provincial Committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada, travelled by car to be present for the occasion. These officials, with Mr. E. A. Eastcott, chairman of the Princeton Air Cadet Committee, took the salute in the march-past.

The twenty-three cadets and NCO's of the squadron were entertained at a banquet held in the Travellers' Cafe hall Monday evening at 6 o'clock.

After the banquet, AVM. Plant was introduced by Mr. Eastcott, and delivered an address to the boys. He congratulated the cadets and their OC., FO. S. Heywood for their excellent showing, then he went on to tell the boys of the part they will have an opportunity to play as air cadets in the future of Canada.

"Most of you lads are younger than the cadets who recently belonged to the Air Cadets, during the war, and who went into the RCAF on completion of cadet life, and you don't know what war means," the AVM said. "We are thankful that you were spared from the war." He told of what our lot would have been had we lost this greatest war in history, and told how the war had cost three trillion dollars, or enough to house every family in the world and give every child a university education. The war cost more than the world has spent on schools and hospitals and other useful public institutions since the time of Christ.

Cadets are showing a fine spirit by belonging to the Corps in time of peace, he said. Canada is the best and finest country in the world, and so long as we realize it, and are prepared to defend our way of life, perhaps no one else will try to start another war.

In closing, the distinguished visitor promised his full support of the Air Cadet League as head of the Western Air Command of the RCAF.

Student Teachers At Local Schools

Three Princeton girls, training as school teachers at the Provincial Normal School, Vancouver, have reached the portion of their courses that requires them to go out as student-teachers to gain actual teaching experience before returning later in the term for final examinations at Normal. They are Margaret Kovalcik, Beth Hamilton and Mildred Haverley. Miss Kovalcik is teaching Grade 2 in the Princeton Elementary School, Miss Hamilton is teaching at the Allenby Elementary School and Miss Haverley is at the Tulameen School.

Elks' Carnival Here This Week End

The annual B.P.O. Elks' Spring Carnival is being held this Friday and Saturday in the Elks' Hall in Princeton. The Brother Bills have lined up a lot of good, clean entertainment with games and concessions to amuse those of every taste in midway fun.

Proceeds of the two evenings will go to community benefits in which the Elks in Princeton have interested themselves, including replacing the public drinking fountain destroyed by the MBB block fire last December 18th.

C.P.R. Safety Drive Meeting Held Here

On Tuesday afternoon at the C.P.R. station in Princeton, employees of the C.P.R. gathered to hear Mr. J. L. Palethorpe, divisional superintendent, Penticton, Mr. D. Shepherd, Vancouver, district safety agent and Mr. E. Davidson, Penticton, divisional safety agent. The meeting was part of a national campaign to encourage safe operating practices on the railway. The railwaymen have a slogan, "No Accidents This Month," and will endeavor to make May a month free for accident or injury.

As is the case with most big enterprises, the C.P.R. is following a general policy of educating and instructing its employees in safe operating methods, and encouraging them to study their own particular jobs so they may carry out their duties in the safest and most efficient manner possible.

First Regular Weekly Luncheon Of Princeton Rotary Club Held Monday

First regular luncheon meeting of the Princeton Rotary Club was held Monday, May 6th, in the new banquet hall of the Travellers' Cafe, with Harry Gilliland, of the Department of Education as guest speaker. In town on departmental business, Mr. Gilliland was introduced by K. F. Alexander, principal of the Princeton School.

Mr. Gilliland told the Rotarians they were to be congratulated for forming a club here. "Rotary for Princeton is an augury of progress, of wider vision," Mr. Gilliland stated. He then began the main text of his address on education in British Columbia, and told how Rotary could play a part in this, especially at the present time, when school districts have been enlarged and many "snags" beset the school boards who have shouldered the responsibility of administering them.

"Education is moving forward in British Columbia," the speaker stated, "and already there is evident a spirit of wide vision and co-operation. There is still need for the homely touch—for close co-operation between each community and its school—a Rotary club can find many ways to do small things for the school."

"The local Rotary club is gradually getting organized and finding its way to becoming an integral part of the community life of Princeton," Eugene MacDonald, secretary, explained to the Star. "It is forming committees for club, community, vocational and international service and is preparing itself to undertake various responsible parts in the life of Princeton. Still in an organizational stage here, it is endeavoring to hasten slowly."

V-E Day Anniversary

Just a year ago, victory came to the Allies in Europe when Germany laid down its arms in unconditional surrender. Col Gen. Gustav Jodl, chief of staff of the German army signed the terms of surrender stating "With this signature, the German people are, for better or for worse, delivered into the victors' hands." Thus, five years, eight months and six days of the most devastating war the world had ever known, a war that claimed forty million casualties and untold suffering, was brought to a close.

Since that day, the war against Japan has also been brought to a successful conclusion, and the world has settled into an uneasy peace, that already, in less than a year, has heard voices raised again in a cry that war is inevitable.

V-E Day is a time or celebration, for thankfulness that death and destruction is no longer rampant, but it is also a time for deep and careful thought, a time for individual re-dedication to the cause of peace and humanity.

The world has paid dearly for the peace it has won. Today humanity stands at the threshold of a new, bright world It will enter into a better world only if people are as willing to place the energy and effort into peacetime reconstruction that they put forth in war and destruction; to be as unselfish and purposeful now as in the blackest days of the war.

That is the test of our civilization, and this first anniversary of the end of the war in Europe is a good time to realize that fact, first as individuals, then as communities and whole nations.

Daylight Saving Dilemma—and Solution

Today in British Columbia we have a perfect example of what happens when small autonomous groups are allowed to settle an issue involving a whole province. It is the dilemma of daylight saving. To be or not to be? That is the question, to paraphrase Shakespeare.

Recently the city councils of the centres of population in the province decided to adopt daylight saving. At the time, the remainder of the towns and cities of the province seemed satisfied with standard time. But the sphere of influence of the big centres made itself felt in the immediate rural areas, and gradually some other cities and municipalities have swung over to 'fast' time, while others stayed with standard time. The result is today that the province is spotted with a rash of two time standards. It is most confusing, and is, at the same time, entirely unnecessary. It is entirely obvious that the battle is divided between the city dwellers, whose hours make daylight saving pleasant, and the agricultural population, who find it more convenient to remain on standard time.

There are two solutions to the problem. One is for the B.C. Government to decree either 'fast' or 'slow' time over the entire province, and the other is for those areas desiring to set the clock ahead to simply get up an hour earlier and declare that during a certain summer period, all businesses would open and close an hour sooner.

That arrangement would give city people daylight saving, without disrupting rural time. It would be daylight saving without the candy coating.

Manning Park Survey Planned Again This Year

Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum at Victoria and G. A. Hardy, museum botanist, plan an extensive continuation of their survey this summer of the flora and fauna of Manning Park, which straddles the Cascades and adjoints the U.S.-Canadian boundary.

Dr. Carl said he hopes to list every animal and plant to be found in the park—and they are many. Manning Park, named after the late chief forester, E. C. Manning, killed in an airplane accident while on government business, is less than a two-hour motor drive from Vancouver. When the Hope-Princeton Highway is completed, the beautiful park will be easily accessible to the residents of British Columbia's greatest city.

Residents of Princeton and district will be interested in the discoveries of this party of government experts on plant and bird and animal life in the park. The park has for many years been a favorite place for hiking, fishing and trail riding. The opening of the Hope-Princeton road will make it more accessible to residents of the Interior, but for many years out-door sportsmen here have appreciated the beauty of nature in this lovely park land. It was formerly known as Three Brothers Park, named after the three huge glistening peaks that raise their heads high enough to be clearly seen from points of vantage near Princeton.

WEDDING

CULLINAN — HOLMES

A wedding of interest in Nanaimo and Princeton was solemnized in Vancouver on May 2nd, when Mildred Lillian, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Holmes, Vancouver, formerly of Princeton, became the bride of Capt. Walter Arnold Cullinan, eldest son of Capt. and Mrs. T. L. Higgs Nanaimo. The wedding was performed by Rev. R. E. Moses in First United Church, Gore and Hastings Streets, Vancouver.

Capt. Cullinan is well known as a coastal tugboat skipper at Nanaimo, where his father is also engaged in the same trade. Mrs. Cullinan was a popular Princeton girl before her family moved to Vancouver some time ago.

The young couple spent several days of their honeymoon visiting in Princeton, before returning to the coast.

Indian Tomahawk Found By Spring Near Golf Course

W. F. Eddy, who has for years operated a ranch down the Similkameen River a few miles from town has discovered a tomahawk blade, an interesting relic of undetermined age, near the spring that bubbles on a favorite picnic ground 300 yards from the golf course.

The blade appears to be of wrought iron, about 3 inches wide and deep. It is rusted and beaten to a rough but sharp point. It has been snapped off at the point where it would be affixed to a handle. The ancient weapon may have been an early pioneer's hatchet, but it appears more probably to have been a product of Indian origin.

Mr. Eddy intends to turn it over to historical authorities as a matter of interest.

District Teachers Plan Altered Ass'n.

Members of the Princeton and District Teachers' Association are holding a meeting on Saturday evening, May 11th, in the Princeton school to discuss various types of re-organization of their association, made necessary by the altered school district arrangements occasioned by the introduction of the Cameron commission report on education.

Formerly, the Similkameen division of the B.C. Teachers' Federation included teachers from the small school districts of the entire valley, but this arragnement is no longer practical since Hedley is now incorporated in the Keremeos school district and Princeton and district is another school district entirely.

Chairman of the meeting will be D. Smith, president of the Princeton and District Teachers' Association. S. J. Heywood, of Princeton, a delegate at the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association meeting recently at Kelowna will give a report of that meeting and also of the more recent Easter B.C. convention of the B.C.T.F. held at Vancouver during the Easter holidays and at which he was also a delegate.

Why Tweed?

Tweeds were originally homespun from Scottish Cheviot wools. For many years they were called twills. But Scottish tongues pronounce twill as "tweel." In a certain lawsuit, it was read as "tweed," by one James Lock, of London. It was the word "tweel," blotted or imperfectly written, which gave rise to the now familiar name. This was appropriate, since it was made almost exclusively on the banks of the River Tweed, in Scotland.

In EATON'S Catalogues, there's no doubt about whether a fabric is twill or tweed. Experts in EATON'S Research Bureau are constantly testing and examining merchandise, to ensure that descriptions are accurate. When EATON'S says it's all-wool tweed, IT'S ALL-WOOL TWEED!

Princeton Meat Market Opens On Bridge Street

After several months of serving his customers from the former Simpson Grocery building on Vermilion Avenue, following the MBB Block fire on December 18th, Stan Wilson, owner and operator of the Princeton Meat Market, began business on Tuesday in a new store in the Britton Block, which has recently been completely renovated by its present owner, H. H. Avery. The new location of the Princeton Meat Market, plus its new equipment and larger floor space will enable this progressive merchant to serve Princeton better than ever before.

The other half of the reconditioned building will be occupied later in the month by a grocery business owned by Ernie Dallow and Ed Cook. The two businesses, located as they are on Princeton's main street, will tend to give the downtown business section a more compact and attractive appearance.

I.O.O.F., Rebekahs Hold Church Parade

Members of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs Lodges of Princeton gathered at the I.O.O.F. Hall and paraded to St. Cuthbert's Anglican Church last Sunday evening, May 5th, to hear Rev P. J. Brownlee deliver an address especially prepared for the occasion.

"The world today," the Vicar told his audience, "is run on a cheap edition of the Golden Rule."

He suggested that, "We should look to the teachings of Jesus Christ for the true attitude towards our fellowmen." He pointed toward the parable of the Good Samaritan as the essence of practical Christianity, and affirmed that it was the work of fraternal organizations and service clubs to carry out this teaching, but that they could not do so without drawing their spiritual power from Jesus Christ Himself, through His church.

PRINCETON Air Cadets were one of the best Flights at the Air Cadet Camp at Patricia Bay last summer, and officers in charge of the camp expressed the opinion that boys from the Interior were the healthiest.

When Air Vice-Marshal Plant visits Princeton next Monday to inspect the local Flight, he'll probably be very much impressed with the discipline and health of the Princeton boys. There's a reason or their health and vitality. They get lots of good wholesome food made of Five Roses Flour.
