The Duty on Zinc Has Been Abolished.

It Means the Revival of Mining and Prosperity for Sandon.

New York, Feb. 11.—The Board of Supervisors appointed by the U. S. treasury to take testimony at Kansas City as to what duty should be charged on zinc ore imported into the States, have reported to Washington, and an official announcement has been made that "calamine embraces carbonate, oxide and silicate of zinc, and is therefore not dutiable. Sulphide of zinc, known as Black Jack, is not a mineral within the meaning of the American customs regulations, and is therefore not liable to duty."

The above despatch is without doubt the most cheering message which ever came to Sandon.

It means that all of our zinc mines will once again resume with renewed activity. It means the resumption of work at the famous Lucky Jim and the Slocan Star, and it means that the only market on this continent for zinc will be thrown open for B.C. ores in general and Sandon shipments in particular. It would be impossible at this moment to estimate the number of tons of this ore on sight around the Sandon camp. W. R. Ingalls, the greatest authority on zinc extent conservatively estimates 30,000 tons of A1 zinc in the district. At the Lucky Jim we doubt if even Mr. Hughes, the virtual owner, could figure the amount broken down and on sight. Men who have worked there say there are over 2,000 tons in the two glory holes and that everywhere is blocked with ore. There are seventeen cars of Lucky Jim ore now lying at Kaslo. This and other properties have been closed down pending the settlement of the duty question, and as this has now been settled to our intense satisfaction, we have the best of reasons for asserting that mining activity will ensue in the district never before equalled.

Prior to the termination of the case mentioned in the above despatch, any zinc ore imported into the United States from British Columbia, a duty of 20 per cent had to be paid thereon. In consequence of their being no Canadian market and the prohibitive duty on zinc in the States, the zinc mining industry in the Slocan has been absolutely dead for some time. Now for the revival! The principal smelters in the States to which zinc has been shipped from the Slocan have been at Pueblo, Colo., and Iola, Kan., but we venture to predict that from now on the twenty-nine smelters in the States will vie with each other to secure B.C. ores in preference to the higher-priced Joplin and other Kansas ores.

There are many mines around the Sandon camp which have a large amount of Black Jack stowed away, and some of our smaller leasers, too, are in for a good thing. The boys who lately took a lease on the Payne have five cars ready for shipment. Yesterday practically a white elephant, to-day a valuable product.

The Lucky Jim and the Slocan Star are the heaviest shippers to date. Geo. Hughes is at this moment a multi-millionaire.

The Slocan offers unrivalled inducement for capital at this moment, and as there are numerous properties with large bodies of this ore on sight, we confidently anticipate a big rush the forthcoming spring.

As denoting the trend of capital towards Sandon, a well-known group of Chicago financiers are negotiating to purchase the land grant owned by the K. & S. railway Co.

A number of capitalists from Donnybrook, N. D. are about to visit this camp and other points in the Slocan.

The future prospects of Sandon are as bright as it is possible to conceive. The tide has turned, and capitalists are invited to come in and help themselves.

By JAY-JAY.

Mr. C. Cliffe, the well-known editor of the Sandon Review of bygone days wrote us from Saunt St Marie, telling of the satisfaction the return of McBride and Hunter has brought to him.

Times must be getting better. We saw a poker game going on one night this week, with one of the players holding a Winchester repeater across his knees. Old Nick was playing so perhaps that had something to do with it.

We were relating some rather tall stories of the sagacity of our collier "Mike," last Friday, when Conductor Prunk, who has already secured several biscuits for veracity, happened to join the crowd.

"I have a dog," he said, which makes your dog look like thirty cents worth of liver. I generally feed him myself after breakfast, but one day last fall a friend dropped in and the poor beast slipped my mind. After the meal we went into the garden. The dog scratched up a flower and laid it in my feet with the most yearning look in his eyes—it was a forget-me-not."

Then the snowslide started.

Now that the election campaign has cooled off we have got down to our own level again of shovelling snow, bucking wood, and incidentally, printing a newspaper. She was a hot one while she lasted, and we suppose we can do our hat to the gentlemen around us who aver we are responsible for the return of McBride. Alone we did it. We still wear a 0% hat and smoke hay.

The latest edict of the Postmaster general, is that all newspapers must be no larger than 24 x 34 in., and must be folded to at least one-eighth this size before being received by postmasters. The document adds: "Publishers will be given until the 1st of March next in order to arrange for the necessary addition to their presses or otherwise provide for conforming to this regulation." Now, wouldn't that cork you! How are we to raise about $700 between now and the 1st of March to graft a patent officially ordered folder on to our old $100 slap-it-on and squeeze-me-tight? Gentle reader bring in your ads before we succumb to the autocratic edict.

Local and General.

Picked up by Butting in Everywhere.

Owing to the prevalence of a gripe throughout this section of his diocese, Bishop Dontaewill has obtained a special dispensation of the usual Lenten fasts from His Holiness Pius X. Father Jeanotte makes this announcement so that his parishioners scattered throughout the Slocan and Kaslo districts might be the sooner apprized. The same days of abstinence will only be kept as is usual throughout the year.

It is with profound regret we have to record the death of Mrs. Hugh Niven, which occurred at Victoria, B.C., on Sunday, the 3rd inst., after an unsuccessful operation for which she was taken there. The sympathy of the whole Slocan and surrounding country is being extended to Mr. Niven on his sad bereavement.

F. Liebscher, the Silvertown tailor, is in town on business.

Sandy Cameron left for Silvertown this morning to work at the Standard.

Services will be held in the Methodist Church on Sunday conducted by the pastor.

A most successful hop was given by the New Denver Hockey Club at the Boston Hall on Shrove Tuesday. Simkin's orchestra supplied the music in their own inimitable style.

J. Fleishman, the well known jewelry dealer was relieved of a satchel of jewelry on Monday morning at Kamloops, valued at nearly three thousand dollars. Mr. Fleishman was on a trip through the interior, and got off at Kamloops to have some refreshments at the station restaurant. On his return to the train he discovered the loss of the satchel and at once notified the authorities. The satchel was found in the neighborhood of the C.P.R. yards, but the valuables had been removed, save for a few rings, etc.

After being without railway connection for three days, engine No. 401 with snow plough attached fought its way through the "beautiful" on Sunday and reached here about 12 noon.

Dr. Gomm has struck a foot of shipping ore in the Ya-Ya. In the tunnel he has also got six inches of galena, and a body of carbonates. Whether the latter runs into feet or inches the Doc. is too modest to say.

Every available man was put to work on Saturday by Chief Lyons to clear the sidewalks along Front Street. The boon is greatly appreciated by every pedestrian.

The babies were crying for milk several days last week. A snowslide which blocked Cody avenue prevented the dairymen from coming into town.

Billy Tattre was on the roof of a building at Cody last Friday shovelling snow, when he noticed a slide start high up the hill. After shouting to some men below to run, he threw himself flat on the roof and encircled the flue with his arms. The slide did not strike the house, but the spray covered him for the depth of two feet. It was worth a guinea a box to see Billy's head peaking round the flue when the danger passed, and his friends grinning fendishly below.

News from the mines is practically nil just at present. The danger from slides prevents men from attempting to reach town.

Once again the Angel of Death has visited our peaceful city, and on this occasion carried away the soul of John J. Grant, an old-time prospector of this country. He had been suffering from pneumonia, but his death resulted from exhaustion. He was 67 years of age and was a strong, hardy old fellow. He came into the country in 1869, from Glengarry, Ont., and was an uncle of Neil and Robt. McDonald, who famously owned the Balmoral Hotel here. He was interested with J. R. Cameron in some mining properties in the district. He leaves a wife, three sons, and two daughters, who now reside at Lumsden, Sask. He died peacefully this morning at 2.20 at the Miners' Union Hospital. The deceased was a Catholic, and he died fortified by the rites of the Church. His relatives were communicated with at once.

A slide came down up the gulch on Thursday. Dan Hurley and his team had a very narrow escape.

The shipping mines in the Slocan for the past two months were: Last Chance, Sunset, Sovereign, Great Western, Goodenough, Whitewater, Water Deep, Bismark, Montezuma, George Aylard, California, Standard, Wak-field, Vancouver, Colonia, Eureka and a few small shipments by leasers.

A. D. Copen, owner of the Colonial, a heavy shipper last fall, has returned from a trip to Spokane.

All the big slides are down.

C. E. Anderson arrived from Vancouver on Monday night to take charge of the nursing staff of the Miners' Union Hospital. Mr. Anderson is reported to have gained considerable nursing experience in the U.S. army. He is a druggist by profession, a nurse by choice.

Robt Cuning and sister are in Spokane.

Billy Parham will be the new deputy mining recorder unless we are very much mistaken.

Mrs. W. J. McDonald is down with la gripe. Mrs. W. Davidson is also on the sick list.

Ed. Bloomfield was in from Mackinac on Monday night.

Scotty Thornburg has returned to town after three months absence. He has been working at Power's logging camp near Burton.

Joe Martin, lessee of the Forgetan, near Rosebery, was in town on business on Monday.

Col. S. V. Pierson was a visitor from Halcyon on Tuesday. The colonel looks as kindly as ever.

The K. & S. train crew rendered yeoman service as rescuers at the snowslide last Friday. Conductor Prunk found buried in the snow a Plymouth Rock chieftain three days old. It was quite dead, but warm when found. How it got their is considered to be a mystery.

The official count of the balloting in the Kaslo riding was as follows: McKay, 283, Keen, 189. Majority 44.

Mr. Harding has gone to the Wakefield near Silvertown, to work.

H. J. McDonnell has joined the crew at the Bachelor.

Good progress is being made on the Selkirk contract by W. Findlay and J. Beaton.

Howard Pepin was a visitor from Three Forks on Thursday.

J. Sprunk, J. Brown, J. Points, and P. Smith, are names which appeared very frequently on the Reco register this week. It tells the tale of the storm bound K. & S. train crew.

There was a rumor around town a few days ago, to the effect, that Mr. J. T. Moir, the popular and businesslike agent for the C.P.R. here, was about to leave for some point on the main line to which he had been promoted. This, we are pleased to report is inaccurate. Everybody would be glad of Mr. Moir's deserved promotion, but he is too valuable an agent here for us to wish to see him take his departure.

The mortal remains of Warren Wetmore, whose death from acute inflammation of the liver we recorded last week, were conveyed to their last resting place at New Denver on Tuesday morning last. A funeral service was held in the Methodist Church prior to the departure of the train, and a large number of citizens gathered to pay their last respects. The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. F. J. Ruthford, who also preached an eloquent sermon on the uncertainty of life. Quite a number of the deceased's friends accompanied the remains to the cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. O. V. White and family, old friends of the deceased, were the chief mourners.

The first mail to reach here from the coast since Tuesday the 5th arrived on Sunday. It was not until Tuesday, however that the heavy sacks arrived. Then there was something doing.

The Wilner Outcrop has ceased publication. "Brer W. P. Evans, the editor and proprietor, goes to Gleichen to produce a new weekly with his fertile brain and excellent pen. "The Gleichen Irrigation Age" will shortly appear.

A dollar bill has an average life of about 15 months. A $5 bill lives on an average 2 years before it is worn out and the government is called upon to replace it. Ten-dollar bills last about three years and $20 bills more than 4 years. Two-dollar bills, not being so actively used in most quarters, last on the average about one day at the Review office, but it ensures the paper reaching you regularly for 12 months.

The Nelson News of the 10th inst says: Blake Wilson returned to the city last night after a fortnight's visit in the States. He brought the news that the United States authorities have held that carbonates, and silicates of zinc are not subject to the one per cent tax. The decision was on a case from Mexico, but it will affect Canadian zinc ore and will be good news to all B. C. zinc mining men.

The infant daughter of R. E. Allen is seriously ill at Slocan.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING.

City Clerk's Salary Is A Thorn In Side of Ald. Waite.

A special meeting of the City Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday night, there being present: The Mayor (J. R. Cameron), and Aldermen Hurley, McLeod, Towgood and Waite.

Several communications were read by the City Clerk and ordered to be filed.

An account submitted by the Sandon Waterworks and Light Co. for water supplied to Fire Department was discussed at length. Ald. Towgood observed that the matter should be adjusted without delay. The Mayor concurred. Ald. Waite explained the nature of the contract with the Waterworks Co., a d also a contract account for unpaid taxes. He said the contract for supplying water had not been lived up to. The account now submitted to the Corporation for payment was a complete one to date at the rate of $75 a month and now amounted to $3,700. He said the city could not meet this debt. It was as much as they could do to pay the Clerk's salary and—

The Mayor: Please leave out these personalities and submit a motion if you want to.

A large quantity of legal correspondence bearing on the matter was then read, after which a motion was adopted which asked for all cases of taxes in arrears to be placed in the hands of a solicitor at once.

The School Trustee submitted a detailed statement and estimate of expenses for running the school. On motion the report was adopted.

Ald. Waite wanted to know the reason that the school had been shut down since December 22nd. He said he recalled seeing about nine applications for the position of teacher.

The Clerk explained that the School Trustees had selected a candidate from the number who applied, and he had been notified of his appointment by telegraph. A few days later an answer was received to the effect that he had accepted an appointment elsewhere.

The Clerk said it was a difficult matter to secure a teacher to fill the position owing to the scarcity of teachers in the province. Alderman Waite and the citizens could rest a surd if the trustees were trying their hardest to secure a competent teacher.

The report of the Chief of Police for the month of January was adopted on motion of Alds Waite and McLeod.

Ald. Waite: Should there not be a report forthcoming from the Returning Officer for the recent municipal election?

City Clerk: I have never submitted one hitherto unless something of a specific nature demanded it.

Ald. Waite: I see the city has been put to considerable expense by having the sidewalks shovelled clear of snow. That's a very good thing—if the city can afford it.

Mr. P. W. Ward then arose from the general public benches and said he would like to draw the attention of the Council to the fact that the horse cart which was rescued from the recent slide had been placed in the fire hall in front of the house. Owing, he said, to the nature of the roads, there were not enough horses in town which could pull the horse cart through the snow in the event of an outbreak of fire. He asked that the positions of the apparatus be changed or that the horse cart be mounted on the sleigh.

The Mayor informed the speaker the matter would be settled that night. He would like to draw the attention of the Council to the fact that the horse cart which was rescued from the recent slide had been placed in the fire hall in front of the house. Owing, he said, to the nature of the roads, there were not enough horses in town which could pull the horse cart through the snow in the event of an outbreak of fire. He asked that the positions of the apparatus be changed or that the horse cart be mounted on the sleigh.

The report of the Finance Committee was next adopted on motion of Alds Towgood and Hurley, and the following amounts were ordered to be paid:

C. E. Lyons, Jan. salary	$100.00
Teacher's salary, Aug. '06	60.00
C. E. Lyons, sundries	114.30
E. M. Randall, insurance	138.00
W. F. Lawson sec. Fire	1.00
A. J. Knappe, advt.	61.00
P. O. Box rent to march	3.00
B. C. Gazette, advt.	2.50
Mining Review, advt. and sundry printing	21.50
To snow shovellers	50.00

The unfinished business of the previous Council meeting was then taken up, and after some discussion it was decided not to grant the three months' leave of absence asked for by the St. Peter's magistrate.

The matter of the Clerk's salary was then introduced, and Alds. Towgood and McLeod put in a motion to leave the matter in abeyance until a full board of aldermen could be present. Carried. Ald. Waite being the only dissentient.

Towgood-Hurley: That the Board of Works be authorized to arrange the placing of the fire apparatus on the city sleigh. Carried.

It was moved and carried that His Worship the Mayor be recommended to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor in Council for the appointment of Police Magistrate.

It was moved and carried that Mr. J. J. Athe on be recommended to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor in Council for the appointment of Justice of the Peace in and for the province. On motion the Council adjourned.

A DISASTROUS SNOWSLIDE.

Woman Who Was Buried Alive Relates Her Awful Experience.

Sandon was visited with a gigantic snowslide on Friday morning last which completely demolished some valuable buildings at the lower end of the town, and which nearly had a tragical ending for one of the residents of that quarter. Several citizens noticed the avalanche tearing down the mountain side, but so swiftly did it speed on its journey of destruction that a timely alarm was futile. In a moment it had crashed across the Reco Avenue, bearing on its crest huge timbers and miscellaneous floism gathered en route. Like a straw that substantial structure the Union Hotel was brushed aside, and it turned completely on end. Continuing it surged across the level roadway and stove in the facade of the restaurant, butcher and baker shops owned by Jas. Woods, and also did considerable damage to houses on the same side of the street. Before reaching the town the avalanche swirled across both tracks of the K. & S. railway and swept away the unoccupied cabin owned by Jas. Bell; it also struck some cottages adjoining the Union hotel, and these were completely buried. From there down the gulch a scene of desolation is to be witnessed, but it is a mercy that all of the cabins there were unoccupied. The slide reached to the doors of some of the tenanted houses opposite, and slight damage was done in places. The Kootenay Hotel, although but eight paces from and running parallel with Wood's store, stood unscathed, but it was completely covered with spray, much of which poured as a cloud into the bar. The fire shed a few feet away, which contained a hose reel and other apparatus, was completely buried.

Directly the avalanche was noticed, all the alarms in the town were sounded. Word passed from lip to lip that a woman named Macdonald who resided in a cottage adjoining the Union Hotel was buried beneath the debris, and instantly all was excitement. A hundred men rushed across the inert pile carrying shovels to engage in the rescue. Distant rumblings warned those operating on the debris that a second eddy of the avalanche might bear down upon and engulf them at any moment. A look-out gang was speedily established to cry a timely warning, and as bad luck would have it a heavy mist spread over the bleak mountain side just at this time, and the rescue gang below had their lives solely depending on the keen ears of the watchers. The chief Bennett then directed all energy on the fifteen feet of packed snow which covered the ruined cottage wherein lay the unfortunate woman. It was not thought for a moment that their efforts would be rewarded, but the gang worked laboriously with that object in view. Hundreds of tons of snow were shovelled away, but the object of search remained undiscovered for over an hour. At last the woman's hand was seen protruding from the snow, and on testing her pulse, wonderful to relate, she was yet alive. She was still pinned down beneath some scantling which was covered with five feet of closely packed snow. There was a great amount of labor to be expended before the woman could be released. Shovels and bars were piled vigorously for another five minutes, and then Chief Bennett by sheer strength primed up the woodwork which held her down and she was dragged out, alive—but unconscious.

It was quickly discerned that the impact of the avalanche had torn through the back of the house and crushed down the bedstead on which she was sleeping, and pinned her to the floor. Whilst she was miraculously left a few inches of breathing space, the pressure of weight above was so terrific, it is little short of marvellous that she withstood death for so long.

A few minutes in the fresh air and the woman regained consciousness. Upon being questioned she vaguely intimated she was the only occupant at the time of the disaster. She was a mass of bruises from head to foot, and as her nerves were in a shattered condition, she was conveyed with all speed to the hospital.

When the excitement had subsided, Mr. J. M. Harris observed to our reporter that catastrophes sometimes work around for the best. He intimated the fact that seven years ago the ground upon which the enormous pile of snow now laid was studded with dwellings. These were all wiped away in the disastrous fire of 1900. Had this point still been the residential section of the city, an awful holocaust would have had to be recorded. It has always been considered the only dangerous point in the city, and it consequently required considerable nerve of any person to reside in the zone of danger after a thaw had set in. Most of the families moved into the business portion of the city shortly after, and as it is considered to be as secure from a snowslide as a town on the prairie, a feeling of security was soon predominant. Towards evening the citizens noted with pardonable satisfaction that the mercury was rapidly falling, and ere the sun went down a hard frost had set in. It was a grateful populace which retired to sleep with a sense of security on Friday night.

The fire brigade got to work during the afternoon around the demolished fire shed, and although most of the equipment was destroyed, the hose reel was perfectly intact.

By the total destruction of the Union Hotel and its contents, Ben Lawson is a loser to the extent of $6,000. The hotel was open for business up to the 15th of January last, when it was closed down for the balance of the winter. $500 is the extent of the damage to the business house of Jas. Woods, and it is estimated that $1,000 would cover the damage done to Miss Macdonald's cottage and the cabins and outbuildings mentioned.

Our reporter visited Miss K. Macdonald at the Miners' Union Hospital on Monday, and although she was still in bed she was almost convalescent. Speaking of her frightful experience, she said she had been timid of a snowslide for the past few days, and in consequence it was very late before she could make up her mind to retire to her bedroom the night before. A year or so ago a slide had occurred at the same place, when the spray from it covered her cottage. The snow being deeper this year than on that occasion she was genuinely alarmed in consequence. She said, "I had made up my mind to change my quarters; but I kept putting it off and putting it off, until"—and she smiled feebly—"it was too late." I laid awake for a long time, but when the crash came I was asleep. The first thing I realized was that I was struggling for breath and a tremendous weight was grinding me down. I was fully conscious and I guessed that my worst fears had been realized. I had no idea what time it was, and my great fear was that it was too early for anybody to be around and that I could not last out until assistance arrived. I could not move a muscle, and shortly afterwards I was battling with approaching unconsciousness. Oh, it was awful, awful; bells were ringing, bands were playing, and a sledge hammer was pounding my poor head. I must have revived again, because I have a vague notion of telling somebody—a man, that my legs were stuck. It must have been brought about by most of the weight being taken from above. I must have fainted again, for the next thing I remembered was that a man was trying to pour something between my lips. I am so grateful to all the boys who rescue me. Please thank them for me in your paper; you won't forget? I realize I was saved in the nick of time, and I cannot express my gratitude as I would like."

BLAME THE WEATHER.

Cut off from communication with the outside world for a number of days, Sandon was practically isolated until the snow-plow got through after a laborious trip on Sunday morning. It was a welcome sound when "401" was heard pounding up the gulch, and every resident felt a sense of relief that the siege was ended. The last train to leave Sandon was on Wednesday the 6th, which pulled out several hours late, but it failed to force a passage through the heavy snow which had swept the track south of Hill's siding, and in endeavoring to do so the engine was derailed. To make matters worse three slides came down between the three Forks and New Denver, and travelling by hand car was therefore not to be thought of. Telegraphic communication with the outside was kept up as far as Nelson, but the system of the K. & S. system was out of gear from White-water down to Kaslo.

Great difficulty has been experienced in transportation on the lakes. The tug "Sandon," which is well equipped for breaking ice has been constantly grinding since Monday, the 4th inst, making a haul on the steamer "Slocan," which carries passengers and freight, making connections at Rosebery for the main line. From Rosebery to Nakup the train crew have a double of their own, combating snowslides which cover the track in places. The snow plow was injured and put out of commission for several days, but a locomotive was sent from Nelson which did good execution. From Nakup to Arrowhead the lake is frozen over, and passengers have been dragged over the ice on sleds. The ice breaker was damaged and rendered useless on Wednesday. A combined effort of the "Roseland" and "Kootenay" was successful in breaking through to Arrowhead on Sunday, and main line connection was once more established. The steamer Slocan has been converted into a floating hotel for the convenience of storm bound passengers.

On the K. & S. line a big slide came down near McGuigan last night, and the 1.30 train for Kaslo on Tuesday was unable to get through. It put back to the depot here, where it laid until Tuesday last. The total work worked on the pile of snow for several days previously, and eventually succeeded in forcing a passage.

The manager of an office had advertised for an office boy. In consequence he was annoyed for an hour by a straggling line of boys of all sizes, claiming various accomplishments.

"Well," he said to a late applicant, "I suppose you can read anything and use the typewriter a little, and—"

W. W. Jacobs has said that it is only their surprises that make his stories take. To illustrate what he means, he told a story of a lawyer defending a man accused of house-breaking, who spoke like this: "Your Honor, I submit that my client did not break into the house at all. He found the parlor window open and merely inserted his right arm and removed a few trifling articles. Now, gentlemen, my client's arm is not himself, and I fail to see how you can punish the whole individual for an offence committed by one of his limbs."

The Potato. If there were but one potato in the world a careful cultivator might produce 10,000,000,000 from it in ten years and thus supply the world with food again.

A LAND OF BLIZZARDS

THE FIERCE GALES THAT SWEEP AND WRECK SEISTAN.

These Terrible Windstorms Always Blow, as They Have Done For Ages, From the Same Direction—A Pandemonium of Noise, Sand and Dust.

Every one who has visited Seistan or written about Seistan has mentioned its celebrated wind, called the "bad-sand-o-bist roz" or wind of 120 days, which blows in the summer. Few of these have had the misfortune to experience it, but as we went through two seasons of this kind we are able to say something about it. It more than justifies its reputation. It sets in at the end of May or the middle of June and blows with appalling violence and with little or no cessation till about the end of September. It always blows from one direction, a little west of north, and reaches a velocity of more than seventy miles an hour. It creates a pandemonium of noise, sand and dust and for a time gets on one's nerves, but it is in reality a blessing in disguise, for it blows away the insects which from April to June make life in Seistan a perfect purgatory.

The extraordinary frequency and violence of the Seistan wind and the regularity with which it blows from the same quarter are very remarkable. That it has blown from the same quarter in past ages is proved by the fact that all the ruins of Seistan are built at the same angle, with their front and back walls at a right angle to the same angle as the wind. No wind can blow with such violence and frequency without leaving its mark on the country. Its effects are everywhere visible in Seistan. Everything looks wind swept and wind-stricken. Over the greater part of the country not a single tree exists.

The present villages and habitations are all built with their backs presenting lines of dead walls on the windward side. The old ruins are oriented at exactly the same angle on account of the wind. The effect of wind is everywhere visible on these ruins. Their bases are undercut by wind as though by water action. The thickness of the walls, the excellent quality of the burned bricks made and used by the ancient inhabitants for the lower courses of their buildings and the extreme hardness and durability of the Seistan soil when made into the sun-dried bricks of which the upper portions of the ruins are composed, have withstood the destructive effect of the wind in a wonderful manner, but in the older ruins we often find that the walls facing the wind have entirely disappeared, and only the side walls remain, while in still older ruins only one or two solitary pinnacles remain to mark what were once large, massive and extensive buildings.

The wind has buried large tracts of the country under sand. Many of the old ruined towns are wholly or partly buried in sand, and this burying process goes on all the year and every year and is covering up not only valuable lands, but inhabited villages. In Seistan, as elsewhere, the invading army of sand is preceded by lines of skirmishers in the form of travelling "burkhans," horseshoe shaped sand hills, which steadily advance until they meet some obstacle which retards them until the reserves come up to their support and bury all before them under hills of sand.

On our arrival in Seistan we found Kilaunau, a big and flourishing village, built on the south side of a high ridge for protection from the wind. Before we left the sand had attacked that ridge, surmounted it and buried the village, forcing the inhabitants to build a new village elsewhere. An example of still greater rapidity was afforded at the village of Kilaokoba. Up to June, 1904, this village had a large, deep pond on its northern side. By September—that is, less than three months—this deep pond was converted into a sand hill some ten feet high.

The wind, however, did not confine its energy to burying only. While it covers some tracts deep in sand, it also sweeps some tracts clear of sand, rendering valuable land available for cultivation and exposing long buried ruins once more to view. These are, however, only the milder effects of wind action. The Seistan wind in its more destructive moods has in places removed not only sand from place to place, but has scoured away the whole face of the country. Everywhere we find the sides and banks of the canals which irrigated the lands on which the dwellers of the old ruins depended left standing like walls high above the present surface of the surrounding land. These banks, having been hardened by water, have withstood the action of the wind better than the surface of the land, which has all been blown away to a depth of several feet. This depth in places is very considerable, and we find the outlines exposed of still older canals which existed at some yet earlier age and which must have been buried deep in the ground when the canals above them, old as they are, were in use.

The idle always have half a mind to do something.

No crowned head ever pilloved itself for a night's lodging with the satisfaction of knowing that under the same roof were a thousand persons paid to look after its safety, comfort, and luxury, unless that crowned head found itself in a modern New York hotel, where a regiment of "help" is employed, consisting of clerks, waiters, porters, cooks, meat cooks, bakery men, soup cooks, detectives, watchmen, engineers, electricians, plumbers, carpenters, laundrymen, doormen, porters, painters, waiters, stewards, wine and cigar experts, decorators, messengers, waiting maids and chambermaids.

Any person with four dollars in his pocket can have the advantages of this regimental array of servants for one day by paying the price of a room at any of the greater hotels recently constructed in the metropolis, though, of course, four dollars is the lowest figure. Many of the rooms cost double that sum a day, and some of the state apartments, with bedrooms, gorgeous parlor, private dining-room and bath, are not let for less than $100 to $125 a day. Even the four-dollar rooms have baths, but in no case does the price of room or apartment include meals. There are but two real Broadway or uptown hotels in New York that adhere to the American plan—room and meals for a fixed price—and they are the Fifth Avenue Hotel and the Broadway Central.—Remsen Crawford, in "Success Magazine."

It is suicide to neglect your cold. Try the cheap experiment of ridding yourself of it by using Bickel's Syrup, which is a simple remedy, easily taken, and once used it will always be prized as a sovereign medicine.

Editor and Publisher.

The Review is in receipt of a copy of the report of Capt. A. P. Low on the cruise of the Neptune to Hudson Bay during 1903 and 1904. The report is written in narrative form and constitutes an exceedingly interesting story of exploration. Much intensely interesting information is afforded.

In the Labor Gazette for January, which is published monthly by the Dominion Government, there appears the following summary of conditions, under the heading "Nelson, B.C. and District":

The Queen Victoria group of copper claims located near Beasley siding, has been purchased, and the contract for the construction of a Tramway from the mines to the railway has been let while a force of men is now employed in the construction of a bankhouse and other outhouses so that in course of six weeks time it is expected that a force of at least fifty men will be employed in this mine. This will materially aid in the development of the district. The Eureka is on the "Slocan Star" lead and its successful operation will cause prosperity in the Sandon camp.

The correspondent who penned the above epistle to the Labor Gazette, should be more specific. What connection there is between the Eureka mine at Sandon, and the Queen Victoria group near Nelson we fail to discern. It is so uncomprehensive that we ask the correspondent, Mr. A. B. Dockstader to rise and explain.

Mems. from Slocan City

Jesse Tipping and sons were down from the Midnight, on election day. The property, which they are leasing, is looking wonderfully well, and ore is being taken out regularly.

R. J. Kirkwood, who went East about six weeks ago, is back in Slocan. While away, Mr. Kirkwood visited his sister, Mrs. C. E. Smitheringale, of Vancouver.

Mrs. Ferguson, who has been at the Arlington mine all winter, has returned to her home here.

John St. Denis, of Winlaw's, visited his brother, D. St. Denis, last week.

A most unusual amount of illness prevails in Slocan, nearly every family suffering with la grippe.

For the first time in many years, the lake here is frozen over. The str. Slocan had to cut her way through the ice one day last week, leaving a path of water through the expanse of ice.
