OUR LONDON LETTER

THE LICENSE QUESTION IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Mr. Ritchie, M.P., Asserts That Excessive Drinking Causes the Greater Number of Criminal Offences in the East End of London—Africa Excited—Lord Wolseley on the Efficiency of the British Army—The Gravest Elections—London Notes.

LONDON, May 10.—The license question engrosses the minds of the British public almost to the exclusion of every other subject. It agitates the whole kingdom, for nearly every Englishman is more or less affected by it. Heretofore the licensing of public houses has been in the hands of magistrates and that means the gentry or squirearchy. Now it is proposed to confer the power of granting licenses on county and municipal councils; it is also proposed to permit the inhabitants of each parish to vote as to whether licenses shall or shall not be granted in that parish—a two-thirds vote being required to prevent licensing. This means local option. At present the only places in England where liquor selling is prohibited is in a few factory towns where the owners refuse to permit its sale. For instance, the Fraser family at Middleton own the larger part of the town and prohibit the sale of liquor or beer within their own bounds and prevent it as much as possible among the rest of the community. The government proposes in the bill presented by the ministry to permit the licensing authority to grant compensation where a license is not renewed. One reason for this is that beer-houses are largely the property of, or maintained by, brewers, the occupants being merely agents for brewers. The latter are, of course, subject to a loss when the license is denied. This powerful trade acts as a rule with the Conservatives. Again, the plan for compensation is highly satisfactory to all the beer and liquor trade whose members prove their deep interest by their attendance as seldom equalled at a debate in the Commons. The local option amendment, for which Lord Churchill is responsible, arouses the strongest opposition as something heretofore unheard of in England and inconsistent with the constitution of the United Kingdom. Exactly how or why it is inconsistent is not explained and this feature stands little chance of being accepted in England for some time to come. The discussion has brought out interesting facts in connection with beer-houses and their influence on public morality. It is asserted that the British tap-house is a failure so far as diminishing the consumption of ardent spirits or improving the quality of beer is concerned. Mr. Ritchie, M.P., declares that in the East End of London he can assert with the utmost confidence that the evils of excessive drinking are at the root of all crime and pauperism. He admits, however, that there is a smaller amount of drunkenness than 20 years ago.

SECTION ARMY SEVEN TO EIGHTEEN.

Viscount Wolseley asserts that the British army was never in a more efficient condition than today and soldiers are as good physically and mentally as at any time in England's history. He speaks of the English army at home as simply a grand depot for recruits, where a raw young man is taken into it fully trained and then sent to one of the various stations maintained in all parts of the world by England. He declares it is an absurdity for England to think of contending in numbers with the armies of foreign states. That the navy of Great Britain ought to be the greatest and most powerful in the world and behind the navy a small well trained army to garrison and protect the ports and coaling stations abroad. The Viscount laughs at the idea, however, that Great Britain would be forced to succumb even in the event of disaster to her navy. He maintains there is always a considerable amount of provisions in the country and that no blockade could be so efficient as to prevent Austria from sending supplies. This hint of dependence on America in a time of need does not prevent England from straining every nerve to retain the lion's share of the South American commerce and mercantile circles are rejoicing over the idea that the recent pan-American Congress was a failure so far as concerns extending trade of the United States with South America.

ANGLO-SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE.

Notwithstanding the unprecedented expenditure contemplated by the Government in their Irish Land Purchase scheme, additional subsidies are proposed for the South American steamship lines—for although England has no foothold in that region, except in Guiana, Great Britain has almost a monopoly of the commercial traffic, which, altogether is estimated to be more profitable to this country than of any other possession. English investors are grasping eagerly the stock of the Grace Peruvian syndicate, which will virtually control that republic, as Morgan once controlled it, and will have within its exchequer the yet unexplained resources of the land of the Incas. As to Chili, the foreign trade of that prosperous republic is almost entirely English and the same may be said of the Argentine states and Brazil.

AFRICA COVERED.

A congress of those European powers which have territorial possessions in Africa is rapidly becoming a necessity if serious complications and troubles are to be avoided. There are all the elements of a great outbreak in the unrest and pervading spirit of territory which is going on in that country, often in defiance of distinct lines of boundaries and treaty obligations. Some of these conflicts in interest have undoubtedly arisen out of imperfect maps which leave out the important lines of division in question, but they are too frequently traceable to a spirit of aggression which threatens mischief. The friction which lately arose between England and Portugal was only an illustration of what may occur at any moment between other powers. The policy of Germany is in fresh hands. Bismarck was known to be averse to doing anything that would tend to interfere with English interests in East Africa, but his successor, General Von Caprivi, is not so favorably disposed toward maintaining intact the agreement of 1887, hence a new expedition, of which Emin Pasha is in charge, renders it more necessary that there should be a clear understanding as to the precise boundaries of the British and German territories, if serious trouble is to be averted. England's recent trouble with Portugal and the present uncertainty as to the intentions of Germany clearly show the need of a better understanding than now exists between all the powers interested in this position of the Dark Continent, which on being carried out are methods more or less dangerous and aggressive.

THE GENERAL ELECTIONS.

It can no longer be doubted that active preparations for the general elections are now in progress. The Conservative organizers received the "tip" a few weeks ago, and the first use they made of it was to circulate some hundreds of thousands of a leaflet on the Parnell Commission's report, headed "Found Guilty." This is followed by other literature in the same vein. The Liberals are busy selecting candidates by means of new committees and stimulating local organizations to greater activity. Even if the appeal does not come this year it will next, so that the time for necessary preliminary work is short. The political committee of the National Liberal Club is also active and taking steps to obtain a list of members who are willing to canvass the work, lend vehicles, and speak in London or elsewhere.

LONDON NOTES.

It is learned the Archbishop of Canterbury has written his judgment in the case of the Bishop of Lincoln. It is rumored the judgment is against the use of altar lights, but it declines to deal with the question of making the sign of a cross in the act of blessing, or the question of ablutions—these being purely personal acts, not authorized or forbidden by the Book of Common Prayer.

The appeal for a sum of money to "cheer the declining years" of Mr. John Noble, which has just been issued, recounts his political services since 1843, when he was engaged in a political warfare in Boston. He was a member of the Anti-Corn Law League and it is stated that he has been actively associated with every movement in the direction of financial reform.

Reformers in Parliament and the press urge the demolition of Kensington Palace, on the ground that it is unsightly and useless, occupying valuable space and only affording housroom to certain royal pensioners and hangers-on. There is always a revival of this sort of language when a vote for repair of the palace comes up in the estimates, but those who indulge in it are perhaps unaware that the Prince of Wales is resolved, if he ever has to choose between the two, to inhabit Kensington and turn Buckingham Palace into a museum.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA.

Ireland Immigrants—Dredging at Nanaimo—The Columbia & Kootenay Railway Grant—Exper. Dun y on Logs—4 Parts Acton.

OTTAWA, May 10.—There is a strong feeling among the Conservatives of Lonsdale that Rykert ought to be opposed. The Liberals will put a candidate in the field and probably the Equal Rights.

Provost Body, of Trinity University, cables from London that neither Oxford, Cambridge nor London universities signed the memorial regarding Trinity's musical degrees. The Provost says that everything is favorable to Trinity.

The House cannot authorize the accountant to deduct from members' indemnities arrears of dues for speeches printed in the Parliamentary bureau. Blake suggests that the names be posted.

It is understood that a special effort will be made by the Department of Agriculture this year, with the increased vote, to attract more immigration from Iceland. The latest advices are that the whole population of that island would like to emigrate to Canada, if means were available for the transport of their goods and chattels.

The Manitoba members are blue at the prospect of the Hudson Bay Railway receiving a subsidy. It is thought the Grand Trunk Canadian Short Line will receive a grant.

Gordon last night called the attention of the Minister of Public Works to the necessity of dredging the entrance to Nanaimo harbor. Sir Hector promised to consider the matter.

The railway subsidies amount to $376,000. It is proposed to vote for the Columbia & Kootenay Railway $112,000 for thirty-five miles from the outlet of Kootenay Lake to a point on the Columbia River.

A discussion on the fast Atlantic service took place in the House last night. Sir John said that there was no doubt that the Anderson syndicate surrendered the contract because the Canadian Pacific Railway withdrew their support.

The Government will remove the export duty on pine and spruce logs in the event of Congress reducing the import duty on saw logs.

Morin, the Quebec murderer, will hang. The Government have decided to allow the law to take its course.

It is stated that Mr. Tarte, of Le Canadien, has given instructions to his lawyers to enter an action for $100,000 damages against Hon. Thos. Mayerovy for having sat in Parliament contrary to the law since 1887.

The Prince Edward Island Legislature has passed a resolution declining the address of the Legislative Council to forward an address to the Governor General on the subject of the trade relations between Canada and the States, on the ground that while action for free trade with the States the Government of that country has shown no disposition to grant it.

Mr. Earle will leave for home on Wednesday next.

Their Pay.

NEW YORK, May 9.—The tilemakers struck on May 1st for $4 per day instead of $3.50. A dozen leading employers met today and offered the men $3.75 per day. This was positively rejected by the men. Employers say they cannot afford to pay more and will make no further concessions.

Give Him the World.

FALL RIVER, Mass., May 9.—Edward Howland of Little Compton, R.I., who has recently become possessed of a large amount of property at Little Harbor, has made claim to the entire beach which has hitherto been free and is a source of village attractiveness as a summer resort. He has fenced the beach and numerous lawsuits will doubtless result.

AFTER MANY DAYS

THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF THE BRITISH COLUMBIA

Local Legislature Has Its Puny Existence Terminated by Official Announcement in the B. C. Official "Gazette," and the Elections Will Take Place on Friday, June 13th—The Matter Was Kept a Profound Secret Till the Very Last Moment Yesterday Afternoon.

VICTORIA, May 10.—An extra of the British Columbia Gazette was issued this afternoon, containing His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor's proclamation dissolving the Fifth Parliament of the Province of British Columbia.

The nominations will be held on Friday, May 30th, and the polling on Friday, June 13th.

These dates do not apply to Cassiar, the periods for which have been extended several weeks.

The writs are signed, and will be forwarded to the various returning officers throughout the Province without delay.

The matter was kept a profound secret till this afternoon.

Bradstreet's Business Budget.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's report substantial gains in the movement in general merchandise, notably at western and southern points, also an exceptionally favorable report from the Northwest, higher prices for farm products stimulated trade and made collections easier in some regions; however, frosts affected the previously bright crop outlook, while in others rains have had an opposite influence. San Francisco advices are that the signal service wheat crop reports from California to Washington present too gloomy an aspect. On May 3rd San Francisco resumed the shipment of breadstuffs to Australia, a significant fact, sending to Sydney 17,248 quintals of corn and 225 barrels of flour. Stock speculation at New York is active and strongly bullish and public interest is increasing. Industrial stocks were the feature of the first day's of the week and at its close the range of shares began to make up on the supposed improvement in the western railroad situation. The number of strikers during the first nine days of May exceed all previous records for a similar period. They number 145, involving probably no fewer than 50,000 strikers. There were 63 strikes on May 1st alone. Thus far the strikers have made substantential gains. The carpenters strike for a shorter day has practically succeeded, meeting at New York and Brooklyn hardly any opposition. Illinois' 100,000 coal miners have obtained an advance and will resume work. Exports of wheat and flour from both coasts this week equal 1,873,270 bushels, against 1,273,045 bushels last week. The total shipped from January 1st till date is 92,555,848 bushels, against 79,555,548 bushels in a like period of 1889-90. Stocks of available wheat on both coasts are slightly in excess of total held a year ago, but American-European and afloat stocks of wheat, as especially telegraphed to Bradstreet's, decreased 10,200,000 bushels during April as compared with a decline of only 3,000,000 bushels in March last. Dry goods are in fair demand from jobbers in the regular way. Cotton goods are strong in price with agents and tend upwards. Print cloths have advanced one-eighth. A large number of buyers have been attracted to New York by the flannel sales on May 9th, 13th and 15th; in all 28,000 pieces are advertised to be sold. Raw wool is firm in price at eastern markets on steady but conservative buying by manufacturers and limited stocks. Business failures reported to Bradstreet's number 152 in the United States against 133 last week, and 174 this week last year; Canada had 23 this week against 23 last week. The total number of failures in the United States from January 1st to date is 4,290 against 4,570 in a like period of 1889.

Jewish Students in Germany.

BERLIN, May 9.—In the Upper House of the Prussian Diet today, Count Pfeil, of the Extreme Right, moved that the Government take measures to remedy the evils arising from the large number of Jewish pupils in superior schools. He declared that the existing condition constituted a social danger. Herr Von Gosler, Minister of Public Instruction, said it was impossible to exclude Jews from any educational establishment. Such an attempt would force this faction into a position leading to disruption instead of union. The matter should be considered as a purely technical question of education and not as the subject of a general political demand notwithstanding the opposition of Herr Von Gosler, the motion was adopted.

A Shower of Stones.

VICTORIA, May 10.—Considerable excitement was caused this morning on that portion of Government street on which operations for the new hotel are going forward. A heavy charge of dynamite was fired in the rock. The chains which held the logs covering the blast parted and the logs were displaced; the result was a perfect shower of large and small rocks for a radius of half a block. The carpenter establishment of Bishop & Sherborne, the Windsor hotel, and the outbuildings and other buildings in the vicinity were perforated like sieves by flying rocks. One young lad in Bishop & Sherborne's was hit and carried away insensible. He is not, however, seriously injured. The contractor will make good the damage done.

Deadly Cyclone.

PARKERSBURG, Ky., May 10.—Two people reported killed and others injured by the cyclone which prevailed in this county yesterday afternoon. The wires are prostrated and it is hard to get news, but it is reported that the killed are Mrs. Frank Gliddes, Harvey Watts, and the injured are Mr. Gliddes and child.

Dispute Ends in Murder.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 10.—William O'Keefe, 43 years of age, living on Block Street west of the approach of the stone viaduct was murdered at noon today on the sidewalk. He attempted the release of his daughter from the clutches of a woman who was quarrelling with her over the right to use a hydrant that stood at the curb and had laid hold of the woman's arm. James O'Donnell, a young man, standing near, ran up and struck O'Keefe three times in the face, knocking him down. He then kicked him in the side twice as he lay prostrate. O'Keefe was carried into his rooms and died in a few minutes. O'Donnell ran down into the slums of the river district and escaped.

Ghastly Contents.

KANSAS CITY, May 10.—At the union station this morning in a pine box two feet long was found a horribly mutilated body of a woman, almost all the flesh being cut from the bones, and the head and face were mutilated beyond recognition. The body was packed in charcoal, and from appearances life could not have been extinct for more than 36 hours. The box was checked over the Wabash Railway from St. Louis last night and arrived early this morning. Coroner will examine the remains.

Killed Himself.

CLEVELAND, May 10.—Richard Butterliter, a barber employed in Keller's shop, No. 201, Broadway, suicided this morning while the shop was filled with customers and his fellow workmen busy at the chairs. He had a quarrel with his wife while intoxicated a few days ago, and about 10 a. m. she called at the shop where a reconciliation was effected. Shortly after her departure he placed a revolver to his temple and fired. Nearly half of his head was torn away.

Dastardly Assault.

THE DALLES, May 10.—A brutal assault was committed in the suburbs of this city on Thursday midnight upon the person of a lady over 70 years of age, it is supposed by a tramp. The old lady lived alone in the southern portion of the town and that night the door was broken in by an unknown man and she was criminally assaulted. Afterwards the villain stole a small sum of money from the house. If the tramp is caught he will likely be lynched.

Lake Tahoe Water.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—The board of supervisors received a letter today from the Nevada State Board of Trade, protesting against the using of Lake Tahoe water, and stating that no one has a right to drain the lake for the benefit of San Francisco; that a number of business interests in Nevada, which depend on their water supply from the lake would oppose any attempt to divert the water, and that the board will not consent to any interference.

Two moulders joined the strikers today, making nine since yesterday.

Solid Sympathy.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—During the week the striking iron moulders have received a number of contributions from various trades unions in the north, among them being cigarmakers and moulders of Portland, stonecutters and journeymen butchers of Seattle, and the longshoremen of Port Townsend.

Severe Storms.

SACRAMENTO, May 10.—The heaviest hailstorm ever known in this city occurred at 3 o'clock this afternoon. It was accompanied by rain, flashes of lightning and peals of thunder. It is probable much damage will be done to the fruit crop.

Train on Time.

LONDON, May 10.—George Francis Train arrived in London today on his trip around the world. He sails on Sunday on the Etruria for New York, where he takes a special train for Tacoma, his starting point. He is ahead of scheduled time and in high spirits.

An Inquest.

CLINTON, B.C., May 10.—Information is just received here of the accidental death of Michael Vesey, of Bonaparte, caused by upsetting his buggy. Coroner Foster has been summoned to hold an inquest—he leaves here tomorrow morning.

The "Chieftain" Launched.

The new steamer, built by Clark & Watson, of James Bay, for Cunningham & Son, of Port Essington, was launched on Friday evening. She is 85 feet in length, 16 feet beam, and 8½ feet depth of hold, and in model and style a counterpart of the tug Mystery, lately built for Messrs. Spencer & Earle, and will be fitted with engines made from the same patterns. As the new steamer did all but speak, she was christened the Chieftain by Miss Gertie Meyer, daughter of Capt. Meyer.

The Matsqui Dyke.

It was rumored in the street last night that a portion of the Matsqui dyke had given way, but the report could not be verified. Parties who came down on the Delaware yesterday say that when the steamer passed the water was not over the bank, and consequently not up to the foot of the dyke yet. Where the dyke runs across sloughs, however, there is some danger from the heavy pressure of water, but it had not given way then, nor was there any immediate likelihood of such a catastrophe.

THE MARRIED MAN.

EDITOR TRUTH: Sir,—The amusing bit of doggerel which you published yesterday headed "Spring Styles Abroad," has brought to my mind an equally amusing bit which I came across years ago in a young lady's diary:

"He'll come tonight, I know he will,
The moon is round and fair;
I'll wear the dress that pleases him best,
A ribbon in my hair."

The exuisiteness of apparel which the vicissitudes of rhyming corrigibled this young laty into a confession of, have often been the subject of much jesting at her expense, and for fear of trouble I will only sign myself

GOOD OLD FAMILY WAYS.

OLIVER OPTIC TRIES HIS HAND AT LOOKING BACKWARD.

A Chat of the Days of Wood Fires, Smoke Jacks and Tinder Boxes—The Grand Pot Spits for Roasting Meat—Some of the First Men Who "Blew Out the Gas."

One who has lived long enough to do so is fond of looking back fifty or sixty years, and is greatly astonished at the marvelous changes in the manner of doing things in every day life. Sixty years ago in Boston anthracite coal was not in common use, if it was in use at all. In certain sections of the city there were wood yards, where people from the country, coming to town with a load of wood, waited for customers. The best of pitwood brought $8 a cord, which is about the price of the best wood at the present day, though that of inferior quality was sold at a lower rate. Such a thing as a cook stove was hardly known, and all the cooking was done with wood in an open fireplace. Biscuit and buns were baked in a bake kettle, which had a cover with a rim around it, so that coals or hot ashes could be put on it. In hotels and large private houses meats and poultry were roasted before the fire. A "smoke jack" was used in the former, and it did its work a great deal better than any oven can do it. Roast beef and roast turkey at the present time are misnomers, as a rule, for they are really baked.

THE SMOKE JACK.

My young friends, and very likely many of my older ones, do not know what a smoke jack is, and I have not seen one for forty years, though possibly there are still in use in some large hotels. Its construction is very simple. In the flue of the kitchen chimney a flange wheel, something like the propeller of a steamer, is placed so that it will turn readily. When a smart fire is made the hot air rushes up the flue and turns the wheel. It may have been supposed that the smoke turned it at a time when young people did not study physics in the day school, and this may have been the origin of the name. The axle of the wheel projected out through the chimney and into the room, about six feet above the hearth. On the end of the axle was a drum with four grooves in it over which a chain could be passed.

Long spits, with a grooved wheel at one end, were provided, over which the chain, eight or nine feet long, fastened together so as to form an "endless chain," passed. An iron stand, to which four hooks were attached, held up the other end of the spit. Another stand was placed near the ground wheel by which the dripping from the fire could be regulated. The fire was made in a grate not more than six or eight inches deep, not from one to two feet high. From one to four spits were used as the case turned very slowly all the time. Pans were placed under the spits, from which the cooks did the basting. Roasting is never done with this apparatus that it can be done in an oven, for the reason that the continued turning of the spits does not permit the juice of the meats to run out, as when they are at rest.

Passing by a certain shop in the Latin quarter of Paris, I used to stop to look at it in the window, for at the back of it there was a great fire, before which were several spits on which chickens were roasting. The windows always had on display for sale plenty of cold roast chickens, and they were cooked in the old fashioned way. The French seem to believe in the method of former days, for I saw an ingenious contrivance for roasting in a window in the Avenue de Clipers. It was a spit, on which was a dozen chickens roasting before an imaginary fire. The bird was kept turning all the time by an apparatus composed of springs, which had to be wound up like a clock. But the curious part of it was the appliance for basting the chickens. Over the spit was a small trough, with minute holes in the bottom, through which the basting dropped very nicely. The trough beneath the spit was inclined so that the liquid ran down to one end, where it was taken up by a couple of revolving scoops and emptied into the trough above the roast. It was an admirable device, and could not fail to do its work well as long as the machinery was kept in working order.

FORGET THE COOK STOVE.

The first decided improvement on the open bake kettle that I remember was the tin "baker," as it was called. It was on the plan of a "tin kitchen," which was also largely in use in the old time, in which the spit was occasionally turned by a crank at the end. The baker was set before the fire with the biscuit or loaf in it. The cover was inclined down from the fire, so that it would reflect the heat upon the bread. This and the tin kitchen did their work very well as long as no open fires were available, but of course at much greater expense for fuel. The cook stove has nearly superseded all these appliances, though the old ladies of sixty years ago fought against it for a time as a useless innovation; but they learned to use it and like it in the end. At first wood was generally used in it, but when coal came into general use it was the fuel generally used in cooking. This also had a hard struggle to obtain a footing in houses in those days. My father hired a raw man from the country and told him to make a fire in the morning in the grate. When we got up there was no fire. The man had "given it up." He could make a fire, he said, as well as anybody out of anything that would burn, but he could not do it with stones.

Gas was in use at this time, but I used to be amused at the comments of people from the country upon the lights in the office of the hotel where I was brought up. They all wanted to know what it was that burned. It was air or in the form of air, but they would not believe it, and evidently thought there must be some deviltry about it. The man that "blew out the gas" was even more common then than now.

I can remember when I was a boy of being actually alarmed, or at least startled, when I saw a man rub a little stick against the side of the house, obtain a light and ignite his cigar from it. It looked like a specimen of the black art. Now what should we do without matches that we buy at a cent or two a bunch? We used to rake up the fire nights and keep a bed of coals to start the fire in the morning. If we lost the fire we had to use a flint and steel and hammer away at it until we sent a spark into the tinder. Even then there was an outfit that could be bought for a quarter at the apothecary's called phosphorous matches. It consisted of a round box, six inches long and an inch in diameter. In the top were the matches, and in the bottom was a small vial into which they had to be thrust to procure the light. Before present sort of matches were in being they came in oblong boxes, each containing a doubled piece of sandpaper upon which to light them.—Oliver Optic.

A Play Is an Animated Picture.

I remember that during the rehearsal of "The School for Scandal" I was impressed with the idea that the performance would not go well. It is always a difficult matter to bring a company of great artists together for a night and have them act in unison with each other; not from any ill feeling, but from the fact that they are not accustomed to play together. In a fine mechanical contrivance the ease and perfection with which it works often depend upon the fact that the cog wheels have their different proportions. On this occasion they were all identical in size, highly polished and well made, but not adapted to the same machinery.

Seeing a hitch during the rehearsal in one of the important scenes, I ventured, in my official capacity, to make a suggestion to one of the old actors. He regarded me with a cold, stony gaze, as though I had been at a great distance—which I was, both in age and in experience—and gave me to understand that there was but one way to settle the matter, and that was his way. Of course, as the company did not comprise the one regularly under my management, I felt that it would be becoming in me to yield, which I did, not, however, without protesting that the position I took was the proper and only one under the circumstances, and when I saw the scene fall and virtually go to pieces at night, I confess that I felt some satisfaction in the knowledge that my judgment had been correct. In fact, the whole entertainment, while it had been a financial success, was an artistic failure. People wondered how so many great actors could make a performance go off so tamely.

Harmony is the most important element in a work of art. In this instance each piece of mosaic was perfect in form and beautiful in color, but when fitted together they matched badly, and the effect was crude. An actor who has been for years the main attraction in his plays, and in all occasions the central and conspicuous figure of the entertainment, can scarcely be expected to adapt himself at once to being grouped with others in one picture; having so long performed the solo, it is difficult to accompany the air. A play is like a picture: the actors are the colors, and they must blend with one another if a perfect work is to be produced. Should they fail to agree as to the value and distribution of their talents, then, though they be ever so great, they must submit their case to the care and guidance of a master hand.—Joseph Jefferson in The Century.

Not Fat Enough.

History has recorded that a foreign princess to whom Henry VIII of England offered his hand in marriage sent back the pointed answer that "if she had two heads she would gladly have placed one of them at his majesty's disposal." This allusion to the fate of Anne Boleyn and Katherine Howard was a good specimen of the epigrammatic smartness of that period; but, says Mr. David Kerr, an equally creditable performance has been furnished by our own age.

Just at the time when vague reports were beginning to creep abroad that Germany was meditating fresh extension of her frontier at the expense of Holland a Dutch official of high rank happened to be visiting the court of Berlin, where he was handsomely entertained. Among other spectacles got up to amuse him a review was organized at Potsdam.

"What does your excellency think of our soldiers?" asked Prince Bismarck, as one of the regiments came marching past in admirable order.

"They look as if they know how to fight," replied the visitor, gravely, "but they are not quite tall enough."

The prince looked rather surprised at this disparaging criticism. He made no answer, however, and several other regiments filed past in succession; but the Dutchman's verdict upon each and all was still the same: "Not tall enough."

At length the grenadiers of the guard made their appearance—a magnificent body of veterans, big and stalwart enough to have satisfied even the giant loving father of Frederick the Great; but the unbearable critic merely said, "Fine soldiers, but not tall enough."

Then Prince Bismarck fairly lost patience, and rejoined, somewhat sharply, "Those grenadiers are the finest men in our whole army; may I ask what your excellency is pleased to mean by saying that they are not tall enough?"

The Dutchman looked him full in the face, and replied with significant emphasis, "I mean that we can flood our country twelve feet deep."—London Tid Bits.

Whereas under authority of a By-Law entitled the "Railway Bonus By-Law 1889," passed by the Council of the City of New Westminster on the 19th day of October, 1889, the sum of $132,000 was borrowed for the purpose of assisting the Southern Railway Company by a bonus and otherwise.

And whereas the said sum of $132,000 has been placed on deposit in the Bank of British Columbia, where it now remains.

And whereas the said Southern Railway Company has abandoned all claims to the said sum of $132,000, or any part thereof, and the said sum is not required for the purpose for which it was borrowed.

And whereas the streets known pursuant to the Survey of the Streets Naming and Numbering By-Law as McKenzie Street and Lower Street, between Columbia and Carnarvon Streets, are now sufficiently wide to accommodate the present and prospective traffic, or to offer an efficient barrier to the spread of fire.

And whereas it is desirable that the said streets should be widened as aforesaid between Columbia and Carnarvon Streets.

Therefore, the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of New Westminster, in council assembled, enact as follows:

1. It shall be lawful for the Council to appropriate for the purposes of the Railway Bonus By-Law 1889, and apply to the widening of the said streets, the sum of $132,000 borrowed under the said By-Law, or so much thereof as may be required, to the widening of the said streets.

2. In the event of its being found that the said sum of $132,000 is more than is required for the purposes mentioned in the said By-Law, the Council may by resolution declare that the said sum or any part thereof is not required for the purposes of the said By-Law, and thereupon the said sum or such part thereof as is not required for the purposes of the said By-Law shall be applied to the redemption of the debentures issued under the said By-Law.

3. This By-Law shall come into force on the 24th day of June, 1890.

4. This By-Law, before the last passing thereof, shall receive the assent of the electors of the city in the manner provided by the New Westminster Act, 1888, and amending Acts.

5. This By-Law may be cited as the Street Widening By-Law, 1890.

Passed and read a first time on the 24th day of April, 1890.

Parliamentary Election 1890

To the Electors of New Westminster District:

GENTLEMEN,—In view of the near approach of the election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of our late representative (the much-respected D. Chisholm) and as I have stated in my card to you that I am a candidate for that honor, I will now lay before you some of my views on the leading questions which I consider will arise in the near future for consideration.

I have been asked what I mean when I announce myself as a Liberal-Conservative; I reply, "That by nature and education I am a Conservative, but a residence of over 30 years in this Province and much intercourse with our American cousins has had the effect of changing many of my views, and given me liberal ideas, therefore, I claim I am a Liberal-Conservative." Owing to the fact that party lines are not defined in British Columbia as they are in the older provinces, I consider that our representatives are not in duty bound to give a slavish support to any party, but they should go to Ottawa prepared to give a generous support to all good measures which may be brought before them, and to consider the prosperity of the Dominion as a whole, but our own Province in particular, and should a measure come before them which they consider in any way detrimental to the interests of this Province they should take their stand like true men and vote against it.

I am opposed to a certain extent to the Tariff, or National Policy, as applied to British Columbia. We are a long way from the centres of manufacture in the East, and many articles of every day use to our Farmers and others, and which we cannot produce at home, can be obtained more readily and at shorter notice from our near neighbors over the line, and in many cases the articles are better adapted to our needs than those brought from the Eastern Provinces; in fact, much of our Farming and Mining Machinery, Wooden Ware and other articles are brought from the States, although the duties are so heavy. Again, regarding our food supply; we do not raise enough to supply our wants, and are obliged to cross the border for it, and are met with such heavy duties that loads of families in this Province pay more than ten to one compared to their compeers in Eastern Provinces. We have had example to the point during the last three months. If we had not received a good supply from California there would have been a most famine; as it is we are now and have been paying 25 cents per pound for mutton, which is more than ordinary mortals like to pay, and the same state of affairs is likely to obtain again after any long and severe winter, for in spite of "Protection" for the last eleven years our stock runners are little better prepared to meet hard winters than they were before, and to my mind the only ones who have reaped the benefit of the N. P. are the manufacturers. As a true Britisher I would like to see "Free Trade," but as that is out of the question, I would advocate "Reciprocity" in many articles which are at present in the Tariff list, as I think it would be beneficial to both countries, and the workingman would not have to go down so deep into his pockets to buy what he needs to eat and wear. I am aware the Government must have a revenue to carry on the affairs of the country, but I would have "luxuries pay more, and get at the pockets of the richer classes, who can better afford to pay taxes.

Owing to the long continued sickness of the late Mr. Chisholm, he was unable to be in his place this session, and very little during the previous one, so we of this District have been practically unrepresented, and our local wants have not been brought to the notice of this House. Had the Mr. Chisholm been in his seat, I do not think the Postmaster-General would have been left so much in the dark concerning the necessity of regular mail facilities on the Lower Fraser as he seems to have been when he proposed to cut off the mail entirely from the important route, and there are other places in the District which need better facilities, which I consider should receive that government's earliest attention.

I hope that in the near future our District will result that point that we may look for it to be divided and receive another representative. At present I think it is the largest constituency in the Dominion, containing over 1,500 miles of territory, and when the census returns are in I think the increased number of population will be found to demand such additional representation.

The protection of the river banks at Chilliwack, Sumas, Barnston Island and other places should receive my earnest attention, also the works for improving the channel at the Sandheads, in view of the expected increase in our shipping interests.

I consider the Province should have control over all railway charters and privileges within our borders.

Our fishing interests, being of such great importance to this District in particular I feel should receive more than ordinary attention.

I would urge the cutting of a canal through the Delta lands from the mouth of the Serpentine to Fraser River, also to acquire into the question of cutting one from the Fraser River to Port Moody, which has often been suggested to me.

Immigration, I consider, should be fostered, and encouraged judiciously. Just at present it is coming here fast enough; I would not like to see a large influx poor in at once, as many would be disappointed and go away disgusted, and probably give our glorious Province a bad name.

There are many other matters I would like to touch upon, but I would make this address too long. I hope to see as many as possible before the election, when I shall be prepared to lay my views more fully before them and answer any questions. As soon as possible after the arrival of the writs I will arrange for a personal canvass, and will send due notice of time and place of meeting.

During my long residence in the Province I have travelled through much of it, from Victoria to Cariboo, and have noted its growth and requirements, therefore, I feel fully competent to bring such matters before the notice of the House in a practical, business like manner.

Should I have the honor to be elected, I assure you I shall watch over the interests of this District faithfully and to the best of my ability, not forgetting that I go as a true British Columbian and to do my duty as such.

Yours faithfully,
WM. B. TOWNSEND.

Mr. Alfred T. Watt, eldest son of Mr. Watt, of Carleton, has just passed a successful examination in electricity, at the latter the University of Victoria College, Ontario, and received from that institution the degree of M. E. C. M., with honors in surveying and engineering.

Yesterday afternoon a Chinaman was caught by the thousands yesterday afternoon with a dipper along the bank of the river. They are evidently on their way from the spawning grounds to salt water, and keep along the shore for protection from larger fish.

Mr. J. A. Green, of Granville street, Vancouver, was in the city yesterday and expressed very much surprise at the improvements made since his visit in October last. Mr. Green has already taken town by the forelock and yesterday he closed some heavy contracts in real estate which at no very distant date will produce a handsome reward.

Mr. [illegible], from Kamloops, has been displaying his prowess as a pitcher in the Terminal baseball team with wonderful success. In their game with Seattle on Thursday he pitched magnificently.—The Province.

Yesterday's game was a very interesting one to watch. He kept the Seattle gunning up to the ninth inning and it was then Dr. Tate's team under any circumstances. During the game he was hit for a total of nine singles and six doubles, but they were all well scattered. His work, considering the fact that he was in without a day's practice in two months, was remarkable.

A Hint for Kootenay.

During the present summer the C. P. R. will extend its telegraph wires from Revelstoke down the Columbia river to Spences Landing, the nearest point on the line of the Columbia & Kootenay Railway to Nelson. Communication will then possibly be made with Spokane Falls.

The Prosperous Delta.

Everyone who is at all acquainted with the rich district known as Delta municipality must have recognized its great possibilities as an agricultural country. Its resources, however, up to the present, have been developed upon a very limited scale. Fortunately the rich land is now likely to be put to good and profitable use. Mr. E. T. Lander, who is one of the most energetic settlers in the district, was looking to a crowded train last evening in reference to the prospects ahead, which he considers very bright. The proprietors of the new Victoria flouring mills, now building at Ladner's Landing, are making arrangements to the effect that the distribution of the best Manitoba seed wheat throughout the Province, and a very considerable portion will be used by the farmers of the Delta this year. It is almost time now to sow spring wheat, and preparations have been put in hand. But if an early autumn should ensue the present indications of good crops will prove false, the yield will be often over 1,000 bushels. The greater part of this supply is destined for the Victoria mills. Mr. Lander is very sanguine in regard to the wheat outlook. So far as concerns himself, everything is going on well, growing a profitable market is in sight, and a new and better era in the agricultural history of British Columbia—as far, unfortunately very true—appears to be dawning. All that the Delta needs to ensure its permanent prosperity is a continuation of the average of success in the shape of favorable weather, and the unequalled common sense of all settlers of British Columbia better relative commendation.

A Strange Story.

A story has just leaked out in this city which is a little out of the usual. It seems that a few weeks ago there dwelt in Victoria a young man and a young lady who were greatly attached to each other, but met with opposition to their courting as the young lady's parents strongly objected to the young man's views. Love of course finally won the struggle, and everything was apparently gliding along smoothly between them, when they ran away and were married by the parental objections. One day, however, the young lady told her husband that she would have to go to Nanaimo as a visit to some relatives, and in his fond confidence he let her go. Weeks elapsed, during the knowledge of their correspondence would get to the old people. Of course the young man was somewhat puzzled being separated from his very love, and after the lapse of a couple of days thought he would take a run up to New Westminster, to see some personal friends and drown his sorrow in their companionship. He came, and on the first night of his stay here he got somewhat intoxicated and was induced by evil companions to visit the resort known as the "The Sawdust." They entered one of the notorious houses of the sisters, and there the young man [illegible] whom he supposed to be in Nanaimo. This terrible discovery proved for the moment to completely stupify the young man, who let go his hold and fell to the floor. The proprietress of the house, now nothing for Nanaimo, via Vancouver.
