CHRISTAINS AND MOSLEMS

IN ARMENIA THE FORMER ARE KILLED AND OUTRAGED BY THE LATTER.

Russia the Only Nation in Europe who will Make the Christian's Cause its Own, and the Action May Precipitate a European War.

LONDON, October 19th.—The storehouse of inflammatory matter, usually called the eastern question, but more properly described as the Turkish empire, is just glowing at two separate points. The troubles in Crete and in Armenia are dangerous in different degrees to the tranquility of Europe, yet it seems that Europe finds it no easy matter to put an end to them. The case of Armenia is simple, in so far that there is a complete unanimity among trustworthy witnesses as to its nature. The same story is told by English travelers in Armenia and by Armenians daily arriving from that unhappy country. The province of Armenia is an integral part of the Ottoman empire, and is governed according to Turkish law. Of this law the corner stone is the Koran and Mahometan tradition. The first principle is that there is a great gulf fixed between the believer and the giaour or infidel. The infidel, in which category the Christian occupies a chief place, is a dog, he has no rights and exists only on sufferance. Under pressure from Europe, the successive sultans have made magnificent promises. Mahomed the Second, after exterminating the Janissaries in 1826, declared he would henceforth recognize Moslem only in his mosque, Christian in his church, and Jew in his synagogue. He was denounced as a giaour padishah, that is, an infidel sultan. His successor in 1839 promulgated the "hatti-scherif of Gulhane," a charter of equal rights and liberties for all his subjects. It was from the first a dead letter. A similar charter, the hatti-humayoun, was promulgated in 1856 for the benefit of the powers signatory to the treaty of Paris, and it had the same fate of its predecessors. Armenia, besides these still-born charters, enjoys the benefit of two treaties. The stipulations of the first is contained in article 61 of the treaty of Berlin: "The sublime porte undertakes to carry out without further delay the improvements and reforms demanded by local requirements in the province inhabited by Armenians, and to guarantee their security against Circassians and Kurds." A second, a clause in the convention of 1878 between Great Britain and Turkey: "In return for the engagement to defend the sultan's victories in Asia by force of arms against Russia, his imperial majesty, the sultan, promises England to introduce the necessary reforms to be agreed upon later between the two for the protection of the Christian and other subjects of the porte in these territories." The treaty promises are, of course, of no more value than the sultan's charters. They leave the government what it always was, the domination of the Moslem over the Rajah and the rule of the Koran without the modifying humanity of its Arabian authors, to the ordinary amenities of Turkish rule; that the Christian can get no justice, and that no Moslem judge will hear his evidence against a true believer. A peculiar addition is made for the Armenians. The Kurds are quartered upon them. The Kurds kill, steal, ravish, and destroy. There is no protection for them except by the Turkish soldiers, who likewise steal, kill, and ravish, and have no appeal except to Turkish officials, to whom Kurds lie and Turks lie, is more potent than the Armenians. The same crimes enacted in Armenia were not long since perpetrated by Turks in Roumania, Greece, Servia, and Bulgaria, and the cries of the victims being unheeded by Europe, Russia gave them a helping hand in throwing off Turkish rule. The Muscovite power seems determined as a signatory power to the treaty of Berlin that Armenians shall have justice, even at the risk of offending the triple alliance. A dispatch this evening from Erzeroum states, notwithstanding the hint from Berlin, that the invasion of Armenia by Russia would probably be the beginning of a long dreaded European conflict. A Russian army of Caucasus is being rapidly concentrated on the Armenian frontier, and extensive military preparations are taking place on the frontier districts. The army of Caucasus consists of two army corps, each of three in infantry divisions, and one or two Cossack divisions. The first corps has its usual headquarters at Tiflis, and its divisions at Kutais, Tiflis, and Alexandropol, and that is all south of Caucasus. The second corps is normally stationed north of Caucasus. Its divisions being at Kuban, Vladikavkaz, and Daghestan. The two last named divisions and several regiments of Cossacks have been moved to the south of the mountains, where there are, therefore, five instead of three divisions, making a total of 75,000 men. The cavalry in the whole district has been brought up to its full strength, and the artillery is already in excess of its normal establishment and more heavy field guns are daily arriving. The works of Kars are being strengthened, as if the engineers expected a more formidable enemy than the Turks. The road from the fortress of Kars to Ardahan has been put in order, and the road leading from Kars towards Erzeroum is being repaired as far as the Turkish frontier. Close to the frontier on this road a force of 40,000 men is quartered.

The Cronin Case.

CHICAGO, October 19th.—Efforts to complete the last panel of jurors in the Cronin case were resumed this morning, and the examination of veniremen taken up. Attorney Forrest of the defense asked for the addresses of three women witnesses for the state, and was again informed by state's attorney Longnecker that as yet he had no time to get them. State's attorney Longnecker and sheriff Matson both pronounce the story in the papers that there is a plot to rescue Burke and Coughlin, as a "fake." Attorney Longnecker also said the report that he would bring no more evidence in the jury bribing case before the present grand jury because he suspected certain members of it being in communication with the defense, an untrue and a great injustice to the members of the grand jury. Continuing, the state's attorney said as soon as he had any new evidence he would bring it before the present grand jury, and not call a special jury. The unknown man who was arrested last night on suspicion of having been implicated in the Cronin murder, was released this morning, witnesses for the state having failed to identify him.

OTTAWA, October 19th.—[Special to Truth.]—An application will be made to parliament at the next session for an act to incorporate the "Alberta Colonization Railway Company" with power to construct a railway from Canmore, on the line of the Canadian Pacific railway, thence westerly to Bow river at or near Grass island, thence across Bow river to the mouth of Crow's Nest pass, and through Crow's Nest pass to the Pacific ocean.

Immigration Statistics.

MONTREAL, October 19th.—[Special to Truth.]—An examination of the figures of the dominion immigration bureau has been obtained in advance of official statements, and from which it appears that the total number of arrivals amounted to 24,092. The number last year was 33,414, a decrease for 1889 of 9322. One reason for the falling off is the withdrawal of government aid since last year.

A Verdict in the Poisoning Case.

ST. JOHN, New Brunswick, October 19th.—[Special to Truth.]—The coroner's jury at 1:30 this morning returned a verdict of wilful murder against William J. McDonald for poisoning were. McRae by strychnine sent through the mails. The coroner in a two hours address charged strongly against the accused.

Premier Mercier and the Local Elections.

QUEBEC, October 19th.—[Special to Truth.]—The general feeling here is that premier Mercier will bring on the local elections before the meeting of the house. The majority for Mousseau, Conservative, in Richelieu, is 334.

Irritated at Press Attacks.

BERLIN, October 19th.—The emperor has permitted count von Waldersee to give free vent to his irritation at the attacks of the press upon his suspected aspirations for political power. Writing to the National Gazette count von Waldersee protests against these insinuations. He declares that he serves the emperor as a soldier, that he is no party organ and that he does not want to be dragged into political discussions. The letter is associated with a general overturning of the ultra Conservatives. The North German Gazette makes the leaders of the ultra Conservatives responsible for statements of their party organ, the Kreuz Zeitung, which fix upon count von Waldersee the stigma of co-operation in intrigues with Bismarck. The Cartel newspapers do not hesitate to tramp upon the fallen foe. They are not content with the withdrawal of baron Hammerstein from the Conservative committee and the submissive attitude of the ultra Conservatives, but demand nothing short of the dissolution of the extreme right and its absorption into the Cartel party. Meanwhile the ultra Conservatives, thoroughly disorganized and cowed down into silence, await the reassembling of the whole group after the opening of the reichstag, when an effort will be made to reorganize under new leaders.

Pastor Stoecker has reappeared from his retirement and has resumed in defiance of the emperor his political agitation in the electoral district of Siegen.

CREAM OF THE TELEGRAPH.

WASHINGTON, October 19th.—The treasury department has received a letter from the secretary of state transmitting a letter from the United States minister at China regarding the opening of Long Hoy or Red river to trade and the establishment of custom houses. Foreign goods imported by this route are to pay seventy per cent of the import duties collected by customs at coast ports in China; and that Albert A. Fulton, of the American Presbyterian mission, has gone from Canton to this port to establish a hospital.

HAMILTON, October 19th.—Although the grand jury threw out the bill for murder against Hawkins, for shooting James D. Douglas in a boarding house, three weeks ago, and the coroner's jury acquitted Hawkins of all blame, the police commissioners today ordered Hawkins to be placed under arrest on a charge of manslaughter. The condition of senator James Turner, who has been seriously ill for some time, was much worse last night, and it is doubtful if he will survive through the night.

GLEICHEN, Northwest Territory, October 19th.—During lord Stanley's visit here yesterday, whilst the Indians were in the midst of a most interesting part of the programme, an accident occurred which may result fatally. Two Indians were riding one pony, when the animal stepped into a badger hole and fell heavily, throwing the rear Indian and kicking him severely, causing internal injuries. The injured Indian is a son of chief Whitepup.

ST. LOUIS, Missouri, October 19th.—The rumor that W. H. Newman, late third vice-president of the Missouri Pacific railway, was to take the position of second vice-president of the Chicago & Northwestern road was confirmed here today. Newman will have charge of the traffic department of the Northwestern road, assuming his new duties on November 1st at Chicago.

ST. PETERSBURG, October 19th.—The Official Messenger states that a plan was made to wreck, near Zeassy, the Roumania train, on which ex-queen Natalie of Servia recently traveled to Belgrade. The train started ten minutes earlier than the time announced for its departure, and it was owing to this fact that the plan of the conspirators was frustrated.

LISBON, October 19th.—King Carlos the First of Portugal has issued his proclamation. He promised a faithful observance of the political institutions, to try and merit the affection of the people, follow the example of his father, maintain the Catholic religion, and concludes by declaring that it is his pleasure to have the present ministers remain in office.

LONDON, October 19th.—It is now said the reason messrs. Anderson & Anderson cancelled the contract with the Canadian government for a fast Atlantic steamship service is that sir George Stephen and sir Donald A. Smith withdrew their names from the share list and the scheme, therefore, fell flat on the London market.

GREENVILLE, Alabama, October 19th.—A young man named Roberts, who was connected with Burke's horse show, quarrelled with a negro helper early this morning. The negro poured gasoline over Roberts' clothing, and another negro set fire to the fluid. Roberts was literally roasted and is in a critical condition. One negro was arrested but the other escaped.

DUBLIN, October 19th.—A circular letter has been sent to all branches of the national league in county of Tipperary, asking that six delegates be sent to represent the branches in the coming convention of the national defence league at Thurles. All the priests in the county are wanted to attend the convention.

CONFLUENCE, Pennsylvania, October 19th.—A work train on the Confluence & Oakland railway running to Oakland while taking workmen to work this morning was wrecked. Joseph Fitzpatrick, fireman, was killed and twelve men are reported fatally injured. The names of the men are unknown.

QUEBEC, October 19th.—The federal authorities have decided on demolishing two hundred feet of that portion of Dufferin terrace which is constructed on the detached portion of the cliff, but nothing has been arrived upon as to the threatening rock itself. It may fall at any moment.

PITTSBURG, Pennsylvania, October 19th.—This morning John Hochenrothe's abbattoir ice house and smoke house, located on Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny City, were totally destroyed by a fire of unknown origin. Loss $15,000; insurance $7000.

WASHINGTON, October 19th.—The comptroller of currency has declared the first dividend of thirty per cent in favor of the creditors of the First National bank of Anoka, Minnesota, which failed April 6th, 1889, amounting to $70,136 on claims proven.

MARSHALLFIELD, Wisconsin, October 19th.—Forest fires are raging in many places in this vicinity, some of them being in dangerous proximity to the mills and lumber yards. The air here is filled with smoke, and hourly growing more dense.

NEW YORK, October 19th.—A Times special cablegram from London says that the prince of Wales has been warned by his physicians that he has Bright's disease. The startling statement is made that the prince may not live a year.

LISBON, October 19th.—The king, who has been ill for some time, died at 11 o'clock this morning. The duke of Braganza, eldest son of the king, who succeeds to the throne, will assume the title of Carlos I.

SOREL, Quebec, October 19th.—The election for the commons for Richelieu took place yesterday, resulting in the election of Mousseau, the conservative candidate, by over two hundred majority.

MIDLAND, Ontario, October 19th.—The schooner Imperial, corn laden from Chicago to Midland, struck a rock in Georgian bay and sank in two hundred feet of water. The crew escaped.

PARIS, October 19th.—The strike of coal miners at Lens, France, has been settled, the masters conceding the demands of the men.

ST. PETERSBURG, October 19th.—The czar and czarina arrived at Gatchina this morning.

Balfour's Opinion of Home Rule.

LONDON, October 19th.—Chief secretary Balfour addressed a large meeting at Manchester tonight. He denied that home rule was the real motive power in deciding the recent elections. The success of Gladstonians were due to socialist agitation. The Irish tenants, he declared, wanted home rule in order to obtain power to appropriate property belonging to somebody else. Mr. Gladstone might not look beyond home rule, but Labouchere and others cared less for home rule than they did for social spoliation.

Burglars in North Carolina.

CHARLOTTE, North Carolina, October 19th.—Bill Alexander, colored, who was arrested ten days ago for burglary, was tried in the criminal court today and found guilty this afternoon. The penalty is death. The jury were out only three minutes. Alexander was at the head of a gang of petty thieves and burglars in this county, who committed thirty burglaries last spring, and about $1000 worth of goods were stolen.

STRIKE PREDICTED.

ANOTHER TRADE SOCIETY OF LONDON WITH A JUST GRIEVANCE.

Bakers Compelled to Work One Hundred Hours a Week in Dirty and Unhealthy Rooms for a Mere Pittance.

LONDON, October 19th.—London is threatened with another formidable strike. Journeymen bakers have organized on every hand and are to be called out early in November, unless certain terms are granted. The question is a complicated one, and is not simplified by the presence of so many Germans and foreigners in the trade. The great strike of bakers in 1881 ended disastrously for the men, but this year they are thoroughly organized, and revelations disclosed by testimony before the sweating committee have won the sympathy of many leading and wealthy citizens. The journeymen bakers demand shorter hours and better wages. John Burns, a member of the London county council and a labor agitator, in a speech this evening at a meeting called in support of their demands, gave some details that are not a little startling, especially to London bread consumers. He told Londoners that the loaves they eat in the morning were probably made over night by men who had been at work in a dirty, filthy room, with the temperature at perhaps 120 degrees, for over twenty hours at a stretch, with their half naked bodies reeking with perspiration. Then, after a few hours of respite, probably spent in sleep of exhaustion, these same men would return to work unwashed to make tarts, pastry, and confectionery. This is an unpleasant picture from all points of view, and if anything like accurate, and as Burns claimed to have personal knowledge on the subject, justifies the assertion that there is no class of workers in London whose lot cries out for improvement more than that of the operative bakers. Their hours of labor range from eighty to one hundred a week, and owing to this and conditions under which they work, their physique is rapidly deteriorating, and the demands now put forward don't seem unreasonable. It is asked that sixty hours be a maximum week's work, and that overtime and Sunday labor shall be paid at the rate of time and a half, with the customary allowance of bread, and that the scale payment shall be six shillings per day for a foreman and five per day for other hands. At present the west end bakers do not earn more than twenty-four to twenty-six shillings for their eighty to one hundred hours, while in the east the men work one hundred and eight hours for for from eighteen shillings to £1 per week.

Alarmed Tories.

LONDON, October 19th.—From a condition of sleepy lassitude and utter indifference English politics have suddenly assumed tremendous activity and excitement. No other event of the year has sent partisan blood coursing through the veins of the body politic as it does now under the impetus of this week's election results. The Gladstonians have taken two seats away from their opponents and quadrupled their own majority in a third. Once more they are entitled to shout that the flowing tide is with them. The terrified Unionists face a gloomy demonstration that they will be simply wiped out of existence whenever a general election comes in. A fever of rejoicing pervades the Liberal camp, and there are numerous ardent spirits tonight who think the ministry itself must collapse under such stunning blows as this, and predict that lord Salisbury will dissolve parliament and immediately go to the country, but these optimists are greatly mistaken.

The gentlemen who now draw handsome salaries as her majesty's advisers are by no means fools. They have no mind to vacate these pleasant offices before it is absolutely necessary, still less do their unofficial supporters who find their seats in parliament too comfortable to desire to imperil them in such a ruinous measure as the next election promises to be. The house is as far off from dissolution as ever; that is to say it will scarcely come before 1892. Many things may happen before then. A great foreign war may come, dragging England out into deep water with overstrained cables and a threatening sea. Then, too, the Tories themselves may have passed a home rule bill. Much stranger things have occurred, even in recent history.

But, whatever the effect on the government may be, there is no mistaking in the effect on the rank and file of the two parties. The Tories and their allies are visibly in the dumps, quarreling with each other, angry with their leaders, despondent about the future. The Liberals, on the other hand, are as extravagantly elated that they are full of confident eagerness for the coming fight at Brighton. This fashionable villa has of late been heavily Tory, but of late the Liberals have got sir Robert Peel for their candidate and are attacking a solid adverse majority of 3000 with light hearts. Sir Robert is certainly an ideal candidate for such a place, a robust, handsome, jovial man, a splendid speaker, and with immense personal magnetism. He has distinction, too, as having been Irish secretary and as being the only man on the Tory side in 1886 who voted for mr. Gladstone's home rule bill.

The Tories are extremely nervous lest they should steal this powerful stronghold of theirs bodily away from them and so have, by unprecedented haste in hurrying forward the death certificate of the late member, provided that the election shall occur about a fortnight sooner than it ordinarily would. An interesting feature of this device is that the agent employed at the work is speaker Peel, own brother to the Liberal candidate at whom it is aimed against.

Spreckles' Sugar Refinery.

PHILADELPHIA, Pennsylvania, October 19th.—Claus Spreckles, the sugar refiner, will at once make preparations for opening his big refinery here. Spreckles said tonight that false reports to the effect that he will not operate his refinery have been put in circulation. He contradicted the reports and said that the refinery would not be built to be sold, although he had received several proposals to that end. That, so far as he was concerned, there has been no collusion, nor attempt at collusion, between the sugar trust and himself. He said further: "As long as I am alive its my intention to engage in business entirely upon my own account and with no interference or co-operation of any other individual. I do not need, and never have needed, assistance from others, and I certainly have no use for the sugar trust. The experience of the past two years has shown that those who refused to join the trust have acted wisely, and fared very much better than those who were foolish enough to enter into such an illegal combination."

Pacific Coast News.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 19th.—The British steamship Othello sailed for Liverpool today with one of the most valuable cargoes ever sent out of this city in many years. Among other things, she carried 38,519 cases of canned salmon, valued at $300,548, including 3000 cases in transit, valued at $27,500.

The California state board of trade will forward on Monday a carload of delectable California products to meet the delegates of the Pan-American congress at Council Bluffs, where a banquet composed entirely of products of this state will be spread for them. M. M. Estee, Pacific coast delegate, will formally present the tribute from our orchards and vintages, and urge California's claim to a visit.

Clarence Peralta, seven years old, was sitting on a fence this afternoon and knocked off by a lumber wagon, and run over and crushed to death.

Lord Salisbury's Health and the Irish Question.

LONDON, October 19th.—A report was circulated this evening that the state of lord Salisbury's health is causing much anxiety. It is said, however, by one who should know, that there is no more than the usual ground for the statement. Lord Salisbury's health is never robust, and his habits of life, which are distinctly sedentary, do not tend to increase his physical strength. But the best information obtainable goes to show that there is no reason to apprehend that which is alleged, that lord Salisbury may have to relinquish the cares of office owing to the difficulty of forming a legislative program for next year, which will be a trial to his strength. Salisbury will be disposed rather to resist the suggestion of his friends and colleagues, that the government should undertake great remedial measures for Ireland. Chamberlain's suggestions that the local government should be dealt with next year is not agreed to by the highest ministerial authority. The most Salisbury will concede is, that a bill of that sort should be introduced, or [illegible] some brought forward relating to the government of Ireland before the general election, an event which may be expected to follow upon the introduction of this subject by the present government.

Should Encourage Athletics.

The presentation of the medals to the athletic clubs on Tuesday promises to be a great success; and it will be so if the citizens have a correct idea of their duty on this point. No persons save those of the most primitive reflective capacity, can fail to appreciate the value of the corporal development of the youth of any community; it is the surest precursor of healthy manhood and the most potent mithridate against premature old age. But boys have always shown a commendable predilection for the healthy out-door exercises that are perfectly indispensable to the perfect evolution and development of the brain; and they should be encouraged in what the elders must perforce acknowledge to be a very desirable and beneficial mode of passing their leisure time. It is hoped, therefore, that as many as possible will attend the public meeting on Tuesday next. The medals, as previously stated, will be presented by the wife of the president of each club, assisted by the wives of the chairmen of the various committees who have been invited to attend. All the members of the lacrosse and football clubs, together with their friends, should make it their business to be present, as should, also, all the ladies and gentlemen who take any interest in the athletics of the city. The following are the members of the winning teams:

LACROSSE.—J. R. Polley, captain, J. R. Cambridge, T. W. Hill, L. A. Lewis, J. A. McMartin, R. R. Lister, James Gow, C. C. Stuart, T. Currie, W. J. Corbett, C. S. Campbell, J. C. White, H. A. Thompson.

FOOTBALL.—R. Lister, captain, A. Bell, J. Whyte, M. Woods, M. Mowatt, L. Lewis, H. Irwin, J. Miller, J. J. Clute, C. F. S. Hamber, S. Fulton, W. Corbett, C. Pickels, J. McMartin, W. Gosnell Allan.

A Daring Express Robbery.

NASHVILLE, Tennessee, October 19th.—An American special from Jackson, Tennessee, says a daring express robbery took place there last night. It was not discovered this morning by Sam Creery, transfer clerk, who sleeps in the transfer office. The amount stolen was $2107. The work was done by professionals. They entered the building from beneath the floor on which the express matter was being put in last night, and secreted themselves. The money was in an old safe, which locked with a key. While Creery was asleep they took the key from his pocket and the safe was unlocked. Some sharpers who came down yesterday from the Milan fair are supposed to have done the work. Two strangers, who gave their names as Watson, were arrested this morning, but released. Some think the thieves belonged to the Rube Burrows noted gang.

Forest Fires in Minnesota.

PRINCETON, Minnesota, October 11th.—Extensive forest fires have been raging for the past three weeks between this place and Bridgeman, extending east almost from Mora to within ten miles of Sauk Rapids, and destroying thousands of tons of hay, great quantities of cordwood and timber, and in many localities the broth of the natural meadows are burned and for this generation destroyed. The first loss of life that was occasioned by the fire was that of mrs. Hiram Whittier, who was burned to death in the town of Greenbush. While helping the rest of the family to save their property she fell exhausted, and the fire was communicated to her clothes, and before assistance could be rendered she was burned to death.

Where a Hunter Got His Game.

Express messenger Parks is a thorough sportsman, and whenever he can get a day off from his duties on the New Westminster and Vancouver run he makes for the flats up on Pitt river. The other day he had bad luck and returned without even a sand-hill snipe in his game bag. But mr. Parks had no intention of letting the boys on the road have the laugh on him, and in passing W. H. Vianen's, on Front street, he purchased all the game that dealer would sell him. Boys, that is how he got his game.

The deceased uncle was Silas Emerson of Mountain View, California, who went to that state from Harrison, Maine, at the time of the gold excitement. He leaves property estimated at $10,000,000.

Eleven Jurors Secured in the Cronin Case.

CHICAGO, Illinois, October 19th.—The work of securing a jury in the Cronin case was resumed today. The entire venire was exhausted when the court adjourned. The practical result so far being that eleven are accepted on both sides.

A Boiler Explodes With Fatal Results.

ANDERSON, Indiana, October 19th.—A boiler in Walton's saw mill here exploded this morning. The mill was torn to atoms and pieces of the boiler scattered over three squares of the city. Horace Kuhn and Walter Mingle were killed, and William Knowles and Samuel Cook probably fatally injured. R. G. Barton, William Stanley, John Bobbs, and Percy Dusay were severely hurt.

Championship Series of Base Ball.

BROOKLYN, New York, October 19th.—Seldom, if ever before, has a larger crowd attended any ball game than which turned out this afternoon to see the second game in the world's championship series. Fully 16,000 persons were present when the game began. After the second inning the Giants outplayed the Grooms at every point. Score: New York 6, Brooklyn 2.

Lacrosse in Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Maryland, October 19th.—The Druid lacrosse club of Baltimore defeated the Brooklyns today for the Oliver cup and championship of the United States, by a score of 3 to 1. The Brooklyns brought with them Lewis, a crack colored player, formerly of the Canadian team, but as he was not a resident of Brooklyn for thirty days, he was not allowed to play.

An Early Morning Fire.

NEW YORK, October 19th.—A fire early this morning in the three story building corner of Seventh avenue and 125th streets, burned out the upper story in which was used by company B of the Seventy First regiment. Three families living in an adjoining house escaped in their night clothes. Loss $10,000.

ADDRESS: THE TRUTH, New Westminster, B. C.

The Truth

Daily Edition.

The Vancouver World has supplanted the Victoria Colonist in the affections of John Robson. It defends him on all occasions; it predicts what he intends doing; it shares his confidences; it is a twin brother. Yesterday it contained the following: "The provincial secretary has been charged "in several quarters, by the New Westminster "morning paper more especially, with having advised the federal government that an 80-foot "draw in the Mission bridge would be sufficient "for the purposes of navigation. We are inclined "to believe that when the correspondence, which, "by the way, was not with the government, is "made public, it will be found that the hon. mr. "Robson will have so completely vindicated himself as to render any further reference to the "matter unnecessary. The tables will, we opine, "be completely turned on those who are evidently "not so desirous of protecting the interests of "navigation as to injure the premier with his constituents. It is on the face of it absurd to "imagine that he would prove so derelict in his "duty to New Westminster city and district as to "counsel anything that would injure them. No "one is more sensible of the importance of the "Fraser river as a natural highway than is he, and "we confidently await the publication of the letters that have passed, to confirm us in the view "that mr. Robson has acted throughout in the "very best interests of the country." An Ottawa dispatch stated that mr. Robson had advised the dominion government that an 80-foot draw was all that was required in the bridge now being built by the Canadian Pacific across the Fraser river at the Mission. The people of New Westminster naturally asked, if the dispatch is true, what right had John Robson, or any other British Columbia politician, to give the government such advice. The boards of trade of the cities interested, together with the men who navigate steamboats on the Fraser, were emphatic in regard to the width of the draw in that bridge; they recommended that it be not less than 100 feet in width. The Canadian Pacific planned to make it but 60 feet. Now that company is willing to make it 80 feet; and John Robson is said to be lending them his aid. Why can not mr. Robson come out flat-footed and deny the truth of the dispatch? It would be a much more manly way than having an organ state "he has acted throughout in the very best interests of the country."

So far as TRUTH is concerned, it has no desire to either injure or advance the interests of mr. Robson, or, for that matter, any other politician; but it has an interest in seeing that the navigation of the waterways of the province is not obstructed by railways whose interests lie in having them closed as competitors. A newspaper that is run solely in the interests of a set of politicians, or of the office-holding class, is as much of an enemy to good government as the office-holder who accepts office merely for what he can "boodle."

Complaints are heard on every side with regard to celebration committee matters. The favorers especially being bitter in their denunciations as to the treatment they have received. They claim that a certain sum was appropriated for hose reel contests; that the contests were made; and that the contestants are entitled to the prizes offered. They claim they are as much entitled to prizes as those who won prizes in the horse races, or for agricultural exhibits. That the races were not first class, and that many of the exhibits were not as expected they would be; but yet they received the prizes as announced in program and prize list. They want to know why they, and they alone, are discriminated against. They want to know who contributed the money, if it was not the people of New Westminster. They want to know who derives all the benefits from having a fire brigade, if not the people of New Westminster. They want to know, then, by what right the prizes won were withheld from them—they who work entirely for the city's benefit, and not for their own. Another complaint is, "Why a statement of the expenditures—for what and to whom paid—is not given to the public."

While these complaints are being made about the management of the celebration, many people are asking why a financial statement is not given the public by the park committee of the council. Some people go so far as to insinuate that it is being withheld for electioneering purposes.

To all these people TRUTH will say: That there is no question as to the honesty of purpose of the various committee men; they all desired to do their duty honestly and well; that many of them are inexperienced in the management of such vast and intricate enterprises as the recent celebration and fair; that but one of the whole number is a candidate for any office, and his honesty is unquestioned; that all will turn out right if but patience is exercised.

As proof that the committee men who so roundly abused mr. Raymond as to his actions in charging for the "racing books" issued by the committee of which he was chairman were wrong in so doing the following is given: The sum realized from the sale of the books and for the advertisements that appeared in it was $25.35; the expenses, $3.90. The balance, now that the advertising bills have all been collected, is $21.45, and is ready to be turned over to the treasurer of the general committee. It is stated that mr. Raymond did not consult the other members of the committee before issuing these "books." In this matter mr. Raymond acted as did several other committee men. The question might be asked, for what was the printing committee appointed but to see to all the printing required; yet several committee men who had nothing whatever to do with the duties of that committee, arrogated that committee's duties to themselves. Mr. Raymond was abused without cause, and the men who abused him are ashamed of themselves for doing it.

LONG LEASES OF LIFE.

One McDonald of Beloit, Nebraska, gives his age as 103, and says that his father lived to be 117.

James McMillan of Bardwell, Kentucky, is said to have documentary evidence that he is 113 years of age.

The Greek patriarch of Alexandria, mgr. Sophronius is 99 years old, and has been a priest for 70 years.

James Tunny of Boston is 102 years old and in the full possession of all his faculties. He was born in Ireland.

Huldah Elwood Rockwell of Westport, Connecticut, recently celebrated her 110th birthday. She has borne 19 children.

Samuel Wildrick of Stoddartsville, Pennsylvania, aged 97 years, walked to Wilkesbarre, over 20 miles, to visit a man. Mr. Wildrick is the father of 28 children. A few weeks ago he cut two new teeth.

A Waterloo veteran began his 101st year lately in the province of Parana, Brazil. The Germans in the neighborhood assembled to do him honor, and put a crown of laurels on his head, which, by the way, is not yet bald.

There seems to be a contest among the states in respect to which one has living within its borders the oldest pair of twins. Massachusetts claims the championship with mrs. Sallie Cole and mrs. Hepsibah Everett of Dedham. They were born in 1797.

Deborah Powers, the senior partner in the bank of D. Powers & Sons, Lansingburg, New York, has just passed her 99th birthday. She is still in full possession of all her faculties and takes a lively interest in current events. She has been actively engaged in business for more than half a century.

If mrs. Harriet Coe of Grand Rapids, Michigan, lives until January 11, 1890, she will be 103 years old. She was born in Hartford, Connecticut, in 1787. Her father, Alexander McNeil, was a soldier in the war of 1812, and her grandfather, general McNeil, was a soldier in the war of the revolution. In her 100th year she had a paralytic stroke, and it was thought she could not recover, but she did, and now is in a fair state of health.

Mrs. Lavina Atwell Fillmore, widow of the late rev. Glezen Fillmore, who was a first cousin to the late ex-president Millard Fillmore, celebrated her 102nd birthday August 13, at her home in Clarence, Erie county. Mrs. Fillmore is without doubt the oldest person in western New York, and retains her faculties to a remarkable degree. She was born August 13, 1787, and was married to the pioneer methodist preacher, Glezen Fillmore, September 20, 1809. She has lived in Clarence ever since her husband died, in 1875.

Little Lord Fauntleroy.

Little Lord Fauntleroy, mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's own dramatization of her beautiful story, is now universally admitted to be the most successful play ever presented to the English speaking public. It has already played to the greatest receipts and given more genuine pleasure and satisfaction to the crowds it has drawn than any play ever known. It has been running for two years in London to enormous business. It packed the great Broadway theatre, New York, for 275 consecutive nights. It has broken the record of great engagements in Boston and other eastern cities. And it pleases, charms, and delights all classes alike, both the young and the old. It is a glorious holiday occasion for the children. It draws from every fireside, from the highest to the lowest. It appeals to every mother, to every father, to every son, to every daughter. None can withhold praise from it. In a word, it is just what a critic has termed it, "The most successful and beautiful play of the age, and the greatest drawing dramatic attraction before the public." At Herring's opera house, October 23rd.

A Pension Commissioner Found at Last.

WASHINGTON, October 19th.—The president today appointed general Green B. Raum of Illinois commissioner of pensions. General Raum took the oath of office before chief clerk Dawson of the interior department, at 12 o'clock today. He was then officially introduced by secretary Noble to the officials in the department. After some time spent in receiving the congratulations of friends, general Raum proceeded to the pension office accompanied by assistant secretary Bussey. He was introduced to the chief of the division by general Bussey and assistant commissioner Smith. General Raum will assume charge on Monday. Secretary Noble, speaking of the selection of general Raum, said that he was chosen from a number of excellent men and he thought he would make a commissioner satisfactory to the country. He felt much relieved now that the commissioner of pensions had been selected by the president. Among the interior department officials the selection is well received, the only criticism made being that Raum has not in recent years been in active political life. With the appointment of Raum as commissioner the rumor is revived that deputy commissioner Smith will either be allowed to resign, or else be transferred to some other field. It seems to be accepted as a fact that he will not remain assistant commissioner of pensions.

Pacific Coast News.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 19th.—The charge of manslaughter against Thomas Driscoll, gripman of the car on which mrs. Margaret Thoney, an aged lady, was fatally crushed a few days ago, was dismissed today, Driscoll having been exonerated by a coroner's jury.

The death sentence on police officer Wallace, convicted of the murder of Albert West, was passed over today until next Friday, pending a motion for a new trial.

The Swedish bark Ida from Port Townsend for Monte Video with lumber, put into Honolulu on October 10th in a leaky condition. She was fifty-six days out from Port Townsend and sprung a leak on August 5th, and then again on September 15th and 26th.

Captain Blackburn, formerly in command of the steamer Umatilla, has chartered the International company's steamer Montserrat to run in the sound coal trade for the Oregon Improvement Company.

The steamer Newbern from Mexican ports today brought the crew of the American schooner Augustus, which was wrecked a few weeks ago on the Lower California coast. The party consisted of the captain, two mates, cook, and four men.

He Robbed the Mails.

RICHMOND, Virginia, October 19th.—William A. Jordon, son of postmaster H. A. Jordon of Manchester and clerk in that office, has been arrested on a charge of robbing the mails. Losses of money sent through this office have been frequently reported to the department at Washington of late, and two inspectors were sent here to work the case up. A decoy letter containing money was mailed on the train, and when Jordon was arrested the notes were found on his person, and he made a full confession of his misdeeds. He was held in $2500 for his appearance at a preliminary examination tomorrow. The young man is well connected and moved in good society.

Arrested For Wearing Male Apparel.

DULUTH, Minnesota, October 18.—A pretty black-haired, black-eyed young woman, evidently about twenty years old, was arrested at Cloquet, Wednesday night while tending bar in a saloon dressed as a man. She appeared in that town on Tuesday, and at once applied for work at the saloon of a man named Smith and was promptly engaged as barkeeper. Suspicion was aroused by her woman's voice, which she could not disguise. She was not surprised at being arrested, and took matters coolly. Her antecedents and name are not known. She says she assumed the disguise to escape from her lover, who is a horse thief. She is in jail.

An Unprincipled Scoundrel.

"So this is a prohibition town?" said a drummer to the landlord of a small local option town in Texas. "Yes, we don't allow any liquor to be sold if we can possibly prevent it; but, sir, there are men in this town so utterly devoid of principle, that for twenty-five cents they will peddle out this liquid damnation. What do you think of such an unprincipled scoundrel?" "It strikes me it is a mere matter of business. Where can I find that unprincipled scoundrel?" "I am the man. Follow me." When the drummer returned, his moustache was moist and he was out a quarter.

Dedicated to the Memory of Bryen O'Lynn.

Good people, beware of delusions,
No matter what others may say,
Never on Bryen O'Lynn draw conclusions,
For he has long since passed away.
Bryen O'Lynn has long since gone to sleep,
With his kindred and foes far o'er the deep,
Yes, my dear people, there is nobody knows,
When he will awake from the long calm repose.
Now we must here be brief for time cannot last,
And ghosts in these days are a thing of the past;
A Spirit is invisible wherever he goes,
And Bryen we'll leave to his long clam repose.
The greatest attraction this week you will find
Is Wintemute's boots, of the elegant kind;
Our boots are not Brogues from o'er the sea,
Nor yet are they made by the heathen Chinee.
Our labor is white as the down on a goose,
And our leather the best that is put into use.
We have boots here from London and boots from New York,
Boots made of calf skin with insoles of cork.
We have long gum boots and rubbers galore,
And Kangaroo gaiters from Australia's green shore.
We have boots and shoes with their soles full of tacks,
And barnigara kid that was shot with an axe.
"Visitors to the Exhibition," now here is a treat,
Just drop into our shop on Columbia Street;
Examine our stock and prices at ease,
And be convinced that our sole aim is to please.
Your feet and your pocket we know we can suit
And you will never regret dealing with Alf Wintemute,
Remember the place wherever you go,
And buy at the store with the sign Buffalo.

FAMOUS BLIND MEN.

Vidal, the Wonderful French Sculptor, and Inventor Herreshoff.

Vidal, the blind sculptor, is one of the wonders of the French capital. He has been blind since his twenty-first year. We can quite easily understand how a blind farmer would cultive the ground with the plough, spade and hoe. How he would feel around the tender plants and gently loosen the dirt from their roots; or how the old Birmingham, Alabama, miner tells, with the sense of touch alone, the direction and to what depth to drill his holes before putting in a blast; but the work of Vidal stands out in bold relief, unique, wonderful, and incomparable. To be a sculptor it is generally supposed that one must have the "mechanic's eye" and the artist's taste and perspicuity. The latter faculties Vidal has to an exceptional degree—even more acute, he believes, than if the former were not lost to him forever. By slowly passing his hand over an object he notes its external proportions, and imitates them in clay in a manner which strikes the beholder dumb with surprise. A dog, horse, human face, or anything alive or dead, he models with as much ease as any of the dozens of Parisian sculptors who still retain the faculty of sight.

From 1855 to 1875 Vidal received more medals than any other exhibitor of works in the Paris art exhibition. Many of his works, made in the solicitude of his perpetual midnight, are now on the shelves at the great exposition, where the blind wonder contends in friendly rivalry with his less unfortunate brother artists. He never complains, is always genial and festive when among his friends, who always speak of and to him as though he could see, and well may they do so, for he is one of the best art critics in all Paris.

Rev. W. H. Milburn, known throughout the civilized world as "the blind preacher," and who is actively in the field at the present time, is one of the most remarkable men of the age. He was born in Philadelphia in 1823. He totally lost the sight of one eye when quite young, the other becoming badly impaired from sympathy, so much so that it soon darkened forever. With spirit undaunted he studied and was ordained as a minister at the age of twenty, and, it is claimed, traveled over two hundred thousand miles filling appointments in the northern states. Within the last thirty years he has preached in nearly every state in the union, and some European countries. He has been chaplain in the house of representatives at Washington, besides filling many other important positions. As a writer he is known as the author of "Ten Years of a Preacher's Life," "Rifle, Axe and Saddlebags" and "Pioneer Preachers and People of the Mississippi Valley."

Mr. Herreshoff, the blind president of the Herreshoff manufacturing company, of Bristol, Rhode Island, seems as much out of his element in his present capacity as the blind sculptor. Aside from Edison, the government has recognized him as being one of the greatest inventors of the times. Many of the torpedo boats and steam launches now used by this and all the civilized governments on the globe are the inventions of this sightless genius. His steam launches have made the highest speed with but few exceptions, and his torpedo boats are ranked among the most efficient in use. He works on his models in the quiet of the night, shut up in the darkness of his room, but this is all the same to Herreshoff—the brightest midday would be to him as black as the darkest midnight.

The Time It Takes to Think.

More than a year ago, Dr. Cattell gave in the pages of the Nineteenth Century an account of the time measurement of thought, and since the publication of this essay psychologists have devoted much study to this phenomena. By means of a line drawn on a rapidly moving surface by a pen attached to the prong of a turning fork, vibrating at a constant rate, dr. Cattell finds that time may be measured by one ten-thousandth part of a second, and from experiments made with this delicate apparatus he has demonstrated many curious facts in psychological phenomena. The process of thought, it is found, varies in degree of rapidity in different individuals, children and old people thinking slower than people of middle age, and ignorant persons more slowly than those who are educated. In the same way dr. Cattell has measured the time it takes to perceive; that is the time which passes from the moment when the impression reaches consciousness until the moment at which we know what it is. In his own case he found that it took 1-30 second to see white light, 1-10 second to see a picture, 1-8 to see a letter, and 1-8 to see a word. It takes longer to see a rare word than a common word, or a word in a foreign language than in our tongue. "Will time," or the time taken up in making a choice, has also been measured, and it is found that it requires 1-13 second to decide between blue and red; to recall the name of a printed word 1-9 second, of a letter 1-6 second, of a picture 1-4 second. It takes less time to remember the name of a familiar word than a letter. Measurement of the time of memory shows that it takes 1-5 second to translate a word from one language to another, when both are equally familiar; and it takes 1-20 second longer to translate a word from a foreign language to the native tongue than it does in the other direction. The name of the next month can be thought of in half the time it takes to think of the past month. The speed at which sensation travels to the brain through the nerves is much less than is generally supposed, and does not much exceed 60 miles an hour.

BELIEVES IN A PERSONAL DEVIL.

Dr. Withrow Holds to the Theory of a Supreme Evil Spirit.

The Tribune yesterday printed the sermon of dr. Thomas, in which the reverend gentleman totally demoralized the personal devil of orthodoxy. Dr. Withrow, who the same day preached at the Third Presbyterian church, gave the devil a better show, and in the interest of fairness the Tribune herewith gives the substance of his remarks:

If one were entertaining a visitor from some other world who should be desirous of learning what sort of place the earth may be, he assuredly would not confine his guest's observations to the rich and happy, to people practising the proprieties in Prairie avenue parlors, to those who have all the material comforts and none of the material sorrows. He would permit his visitor to devote little of his time to that part of the world's inhabitants. He would show to him the great majority of the people that live from hand to mouth, with half the time nothing in hand to supply the mouth; he would direct attention to the multitude that exists in the shadow of crime, where murder walks undisguised and vice is king. "What a world of want and woe this is, after all! The visitor would inevitably conclude that sin has only ruled of late, for it is almost incredible that a world so constituted and so governed should exist so long. It is a natural conclusion. The voices of humanity have been the same from beginning—envy, covetousness, licentiousness; these have existed since Eve took the fruit of the tree of life and ate thereof. Men have slain each other from the day when Cain struck Abel down, and idolatry, profanity, adultery, theft and false swearing were committed in the remotest depths of time. But these things were not causes. Now, woe must be distinguished from evil. Woe, unlike evil, may be traced to two sources. The child that has burned a finger, the men that have died through the fury and raging of the elements—no blame attaches to them. This may be called accidental woe. But, in considering the woe that flows from the second source, men instinctively and rightly blame those who take the lives of their fellow men, those who rob others, those who blast and ruin the lives of women. This is not accidental woe; it flows from an evil source and it has an evil cause. What that source, what that cause, may be is now the question. As to that there are many theories, but they all are reducible to three. The first theory is that corruption of necessity inheres in matter. Man is of matter; ergo, man is of necessity corrupt. That was the view of the old Greek philosophers. It long has passed away. A barbaric conception, it has now no advocates. The second theory is that disease and every other form of woe are caused by departed spirits, who torment those with whom they have dwelt. This idea of the savage has likewise passed away. The third theory is that of the sacred scriptures. This teaches that human woe is caused by one supreme evil spirit, who has associated with him myriads of lesser spirits. We hold to this theory. Why? First, because it is just as easy to believe in one supreme evil spirit as in any evil spirit whatever. Secondly, because the theory is practice. By original with Jesus Christ, and he is responsible for it. Nothing could be more explicit than Christ's teaching in this matter. Thirdly, because Christ discriminated between evils, assigning some to the devil and the cause of causes, others elsewhere. Fourthly, because Christ knew about spiritual things as no modern philosopher or physicist dares to say he knows. These are our reasons.—[Chicago Tribune.]

ASIA'S ABLEST SOLDIER.

John Hinton, the Ameer's Favorite, a Pennsylvania Country Boy.

Nearly forty years ago in South Huntington township, Westmoreland county, lived John Hinton, says the Somerset county (Pennsylvania) Democrat. He was an orphan boy, rude and uneducated, and had wandered there from the neighborhood of Masontown, Fayette county. With no known relatives he was kicked from one family to another till manhood, enlisting then in the war. At its close he helped to escort the Cherokees beyond the Mississippi. From Indian territory he went to New Orleans and shipped as a common sailor on a vessel bound for the East Indies. At the bay of Madras, on the western shores of the bay of Bengal, he deserted and enlisted in a British regiment. He served many years, and during the memorable Sepoy rebellion was noted for his daring bravery. At his discharge he was presented with a gold medal by the governor general himself.

He is next heard of traveling in a caravan from Delhi westward across the Indus river, through Afghanistan and Persia, to Turkey and back. In time from trading he became immensely wealthy and was the owner of five caravans, containing 13,000 horses and camels and fifty elephants. In 1873 he visited Cabul, the capital of Afghanistan, for copper, great quantities of which are there mined and smelted. His magnificent retinue attracted the attention of the ameer and he was invited to an audience, an honor never before received by a christian. A present of a hundred of his horses and a three tusked elephant made the ameer his eternal friend. When yearly it was followed by similar presents, besides camels and merchandise, John Hinton gained the monopoly of the trade from the summit of the Hindoo Kush mountains to the confines of the Beloochistan, and in real power is second only to the ameer himself.

About 1880 he was made military commander of the district of Herat, and in 1876 suppressed a local rebellion to the great satisfaction of his sovereign. Trained in the arts of war among the savages of North America and among the superstitious natives of India, where he became thoroughly familiar with British soldiers and their resources, together with his years of [illegible] as the idolized commander of the Mohammedan tribes of tens of thousands half civilized men, he is today the ablest soldier in Asia.

Samuel Smiles on Character.

The crown and glory of life is character. It is the noblest possession of a man, constituting a rank in itself, and an estate in the general good will; dignifying every station and exalting every position in society. It exercises a greater power than wealth, and secures all the honor without the jealousies of fame. It carries with it an influence that always tells; for it is the result of proved honor, rectitude and consistency—qualities which, perhaps, more than any other, command the general confidence and respect of mankind. Character is human nature in its best form. It is moral order embodied in the individual. Men of character are not only the conscience of society, but in every well-governed state, they are its best motive power; for it is moral qualities in the main which rule the world. Even in war Napoleon said, "The moral is to the physical as ten to one." The strength, the industry, and the civilization of nations—all depend upon individual character, and the very foundations of civil security rest upon it. Laws and institutions are but its outgrowth. In the just balance of nature, individuals, and nations, and races, will obtain just so much as they deserve and no more. And as effect finds its cause, so surely does quality of character amongst a people produce its befitting results.

Elements of Success.

Not long since the death of a millionaire was announced in the papers, and his life was held up as an example for young men to imitate. He started in life poor, but by constant labor, unflagging energy, and sharp practice, he succeeded in accumulating over a million dollars in the course of sixty years. Therefore his life was a success, say these public educators, and is worthy of imitation. Those who were more intimately acquainted with this man, know that his life was a miserable failure in everything but the accumulation of wealth. It was his sole aim to be rich, and every faculty of his being was brought in subjection to this all-absorbing desire. Until infirmity compelled, he was never absent from business a single day in twenty years, and during all that time he never did one charitable act. His life was one of self interest, without a single feature worthy of imitation, save that of interest and determination. These were his only redeeming qualities, and they were perverted from virtues into vices.

We protest against the practice of holding up the lives of such men for our sons to imitate. Success in life is not merely in the filling of money bags or accumulating property. This is all right, legitimate and praiseworthy, when done with a proper motive. It is right to wish to place ourselves in comfortable circumstances, to furnish means to educate our children, to develop all our capacities for enjoying life, and to do good to the world in the thousands of ways open to the rich. But the man who sinks every higher aspiration to the level of mere acquisitiveness loses every capacity of enjoyment save that one. It is a duty to cultivate all the faculties of our natures, not one alone, and we shall be held as much responsible for neglect in this direction as in any other. Improvidence is a term not confined to want of material substance alone. The dead millionaire was improvident in everything that would elevate, expand and ennoble. "Life has been a burden" were the last words of one who spent a long life in the pursuit of wealth, and died exiled to his cheers at last. It was a wasted life—utterly wasted—is the universal verdict; but it was not more so than that of the millionaire who had wasted all that makes life of value, and saved only that which the elements could destroy, or the lowest thief could steal.

A Heroic Father.

The following tragic incident occurred at St. Kilda, the inhabitants of which eke out a scanty livelihood by searching for birds among the lofty crags which overlook the sea. A father and two sons went out together to engage in this perilous occupation, and having firmly attached their rope to the summit of a precipice, descended to the rocks below. Having collected as many birds and eggs as they could carry, they began to ascend by the rope—the elder of the sons first, his brother a fathom or two below him, and the father following last. They had made considerable progress, when the elder son, looking upwards, perceived the strands of the rope grinding against a sharp edge of rock and slowly giving away. He at once made known the alarming fact. "Will it hold till we reach the top?" eagerly asked the father. "It will not hold another minute," was the reply. "Will it bear the weight of one of us," said the father. "It is as much as it can do," replied the son; "but even that is doubtful." "There is then at least a chance of one of us being saved; draw your knife and cut away below," was the cool and intrepid order of the heroic father. "Exert yourself—you may yet escape, and live to support and comfort your mother." There was no time for discussion or further hesitation. The son looked up once more, but the edge of the rock was cutting its way through, and the rope was almost severed. The knife was drawn; the rope was cut; and the father and younger son were launched into eternity.

STEAMBOATING.

NEW WESTMINSTER LEADS ALL OTHER CITIES IN THE PROVINCE.

What is Being Done on the Fraser, the Great Water Highway That Should Be Kept Free from all Obstructions.

A rapid and steady increase is noticeable in the river traffic here; nearly every boat that comes and goes at present is chartered with as much freight as she can carry, and many of them are obliged to leave goods behind on the wharf.

The steamer William Irving was got off the Seabird bar, where she had been ashore, on Friday afternoon at 4:35 o'clock. The vessel sustained no injury whatever as she was beached on an even keel. She immediately proceeded to Hope and took the cattle on board. The Irving arrived at the Canadian Pacific Navigation wharf yesterday evening at a few minutes after 6 o'clock with about 30 passengers and, in addition to 140 head of cattle for Van Volkenburgh, brought a quantity of freight for the following consignees: J. Farnin [illegible], J. Rousseau 1, T. Daly 1, major Peters 2, J. T. K. Ely 1, Lentz & Leiser 9, Charles Stuart 3, J. T. Becker 1, G. J. Dougherty 7. She leaves tomorrow morning on her usual trip to Chilliwhack and way landings at 7 o'clock.

The steamer Robert Dunsmuir arrived from Vancouver and Nanaimo early yesterday afternoon with about 30 tons of coal from the Wellington pits for Harry Elliott and the following freight consigned to: E. A. Morris 1, mrs. T. Cranston 4, D. McBrown 11, G. Belrose 1, C. McDonough 5, M. Sinclair 6, rev. mr. Scoullar 1, E. Kirkland 5, W. Austin 1. The total freight was about 30 tons; there were, also, 11 passengers. The coal was unloaded at Ewen's wharf, and the boat is now lying at Mathers & Milligan's landing. She leaves tomorrow morning with a full freight of farm produce for Vancouver and Nanaimo.

At 4:30 yesterday afternoon the up-river steamer Gladys arrived at the Oregon Railway & Navigation landing (Wise's wharf) with a full load of farm produce for: T. W. Clarke 115, A. W. Wright 41, J. Wood 6, Mathers & Milligan 62, W. H. Vianen 10, W. & G. Wolfenden 16, J. Welwood 2, C. T. Mayer 11, J. D. Reid 1, J. Andrzjewski 10, J. Patterson 20, W. H. Vianen 3, W. R. Austin 30, J. D. Wells 20, W. McGill 30, F. Cullens 23, Van Volkenburgh Brothers 2, Henry Cole 1, W. L. Davis & Co. 15, G. Harvey 23, St. Mary's hospital 1. The Gladys was obliged to leave freight behind at way landings. The cargo consisted of farm produce, the greater part of which was hay, oats, potatoes, and apples. The total freight amounted to 40 tons. There were 30 passengers. She leaves tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock for Chilliwhack and up-river points.

The steamer Delta arrived from the seat of operations at the sandheads at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. She brought word that another mattress had just been sunk; this being the third up to date. The Delta returned down the river during the afternoon for Ladner's Landing.

The work of shipping the salmon from here to Victoria is far from finished. The steamer Yosemite arrived from Victoria at 4 o'clock yesterday for another load. She proceeded to Laidlaw's cannery and took about 4000 aboard and went down the river for consignments from several of the canneries there. The total number of her cargo amounted to about 12,000 cases.

The tug steamer Samson returned from the sandheads yesterday evening at 7 o'clock. There will be about forty mattresses sunk altogether; the contractor expects to handle seven or eight during the present week.

The steamer Enoma, captain A. Murchie, is lying at the Royal City planing mills wharf. She towed a scowload of coals from Departure bay to Laidlaw's cannery up the river. The Enoma is at present undergoing considerable repairs to the boiler, and, also, to the bulwark on the port side which was damaged in a collision with the Manson about a week ago. The Enoma leaves tomorrow morning at 3 o'clock for Vancouver, and will return on the following day with a boom of logs for the Royal City planing mills.

A scowload of rough lumber will be towed up the river to Mission first thing tomorrow morning. The cargo will be 11,500 feet of planking. D. McGillivray is the consignee.

The Royal City planing mills shipped 2500 salmon cases down the river to the Delta canning company yesterday morning.

The steamer Rainbow will arrive from Victoria this afternoon.

The tug Active is towing the barkentine William Renton to this port.

A scowload of bricks was towed down the river yesterday morning to [illegible]'s brickyard on Furness's channel. The total load was about 14,000; they were unloaded yesterday afternoon and are intended for use on the Bushby block.

The steamer R. P. Rithet arrived at the Canadian Pacific wharf yesterday afternoon from Victoria. On the passage up she loaded about 14 tons of farm produce at way landings for Victoria. She left at 8 o'clock this morning with the cattle which the William Irving brought from Hope. The consignees are Van Volkenburgh Brothers of Victoria.

The steamer Fairy Queen left for the North Arm yesterday afternoon at the usual hour. There was on board a quantity of rice and flour, besides a large consignment of beef.

The steamer Adelaide went up the river to assist the William Irving when stranded at Seabird bluff and will return some time this morning with a heavy consignment of farm produce which the Irving was unable to carry. The Adelaide will go to Nicomen slough on Tuesday.

Celebration Secretary's Salary.

Apart from making themselves utterly ridiculous by raising a clamor about a matter that they know nothing of, those parties who object to S. T. Mackintosh receiving $200 as remuneration for his services as secretary of the celebration committee show, at least, a spirit of rank ingratitude. In the first place mr. Mackintosh had all that he could do to attend to his private affairs, and consequently, did not by any means seek the position. But after many urgent requests he finally consented, and his salary was fixed at $200. Those people who never had anything to do with celebrations have no idea of the great amount of labor connected with them. For about two months previous to the date of the celebration mr. Mackintosh worked diligently and performed his duties in a very efficient and satisfactory manner.

The Mary Street Grade.

An informal meeting of some of the board of works was held in the city hall yesterday afternoon to consider numerous complaints—chiefly of the grading of Mary street. Only two members were present and they expressed themselves as positive that the grade was quite correct. This has been asserted and reiterated by the engineers who have surveyed this part, and who have, at the chairman's request, checked their calculations. An optical delusion gives one not scientifically trained the impression that the grade is very imperfect; this is not so, any more than a stick is bent when thrust into water, although it appears so. If people would but tend to matters within their intellectual grasp, there would be less time wasted through these querulous missives.

Becoming Well-Known.

W. H. Vianen is becoming as well known in the east as a large shipper of fish as Booth the oyster man is in the west. Mr. Vianen has customers in all the principal cities in eastern Canada, and if the duty was removed from the product which he deals in, he would be as well known in Chicago as in Toronto and Montreal. His last shipment was two car lots of salmon to a Montreal house.

Public Business with Closed Doors.

The park committee arranged to meet last night. At 8 o'clock, the hour appointed, T. Cunningham, J. Reid, W. H. Keary, and J. A. Calbick were present. After waiting half an hour for mr. Town, who did not put in an appearance, the members of the committee present went into caucus with closed doors until 10:35 o'clock. The chairman of the committee then informed a representative of TRUTH that something over $21,000 had already been expended on the park improvements, and according to an approximate estimate made by the committee, nearly $10,000 more would be required to complete the work. It was also agreed to recommend that a board of park commissioners be appointed after this year, and that a public meeting be called for the purpose of laying the whole matter of park improvements properly before the ratepayers.

SMALL CHUNKS OF NEWS.

The firemen here are thoroughly dissatisfied with the money granted them by the celebration committee. Many talk of resigning right away. It will all probably end as most fires begin—in smoke.

One by one the merchants who wish to do business see that TRUTH is the only paper in New Westminster taken by all classes of people, especially by the classes who have money to buy goods. T. A. VANCOUVER NEWS IN BRIEF.

The news of the death at Field, in the Rockies, of E. V. Bodwell, late president of the Vancouver board of trade, has caused quite a sensation here, not because it was not anticipated, but because the end appears to have come much more suddenly than was expected even by the practitioners who have been attending him. E. V. Bodwell was a man well known throughout Canada, was at one point of his life connected with the construction of the Welland canal, and was always looked up to and respected by all who knew him. For some time past he had been failing and sought quietude and rest at the hot springs, but without much benefit. He leaves a family, who, although grown up, will feel his loss sadly. It is not yet known as to the extent of the property he leaves behind him and died possessed of. It is understood the body will be brought down to this city.

In view of the fact that the park loan by-law comes into effect on the 20th instant and that then the various improvements will be thoroughly started, probably this would be a good time to give a brief sketch of the several athletic clubs in the city. In the respect of clubs Vancouver is well supplied, healthful recreation being looked upon as a very valuable adjunct to the routine of every day life. To take the cricket club first: This club owes its origin here to the fall of 1886, when a few devotees of the game got together and worked with a will to get up some matches. This led to the preparation of the present recreation grounds, poor as they are. The Vancouver can boast of some excellent batsmen and many good all-round men. This year several very interesting games have been played between the sister cities and Vancouver.

The Vancouver, or as it is generally termed the "Terminal" base ball club, is also thriving, the membership continually increasing. Although suffering defeat on some occasions, still victory has crowned the efforts of our team pretty often, and they still live to conquer or die. The first game of base ball was played here in 1887, but only on a small scale to start with. Last year, however, the Terminals came into the field and have held up their end ever since.

The Vancouver lacrosse club hopes to be able to lay just claim to the title of "champion" after the match to be played off on the 26th instant. This club owes its origin to the year 1888, when it won two matches and lost three. This year the record has been a shade better if anything. C. D. Rand is its honorary president. The membership amounts to about one hundred and fifty.

Two years ago the footballists got together and formed a Rugby union club, which has rolled along merrily ever since and gained in strength and popularity. Efforts are now being made to form an Association football club as well.

Then there is the Vancouver boating club, which owes its origin to April 1888, and which can boast of a select membership of a little over one hundred, and of which H. Abbott is the president. The local regattas held under the auspices of this club this year have been a great success.

Again there is the rifle association which, though only organized last May, can be said to be a live and thriving institution, as the scores and the record made at the ranges will show.

Mention should also be made of the lawn tennis club which has about sixty members on its roll, and which holds ladies' and gentlemen's tournaments annually.

Thus it will be seen that whatever Vancouver may be without, it is not without its athletes and sportsmen and is ever ready to meet its opponents on even ground and even terms.

Great preparations are being made for the levee to be held by his excellency lord Stanley in the Imperial opera house on Monday, the 28th instant.

N. Glatzberger, secretary to the Court Pacific, A. O. F., was treated to a complimentary dinner last evening, prior to his departure for some months to Switzerland.

The rifle shooting match between the New Westminster and Vancouver teams, shot off this afternoon, resulted in a victory for Vancouver by eighty-four points. This evening the first annual dinner will be held.

The City Improvements.

In the matter of street improvements, this city has, perhaps, for this year an unparalleled record. The work of grading and clearing has been vigorously prosecuted all through the summer and much will be done during the winter. Some idea of the magnitude of the operations may be gleaned from the following statement of contract prices for work done this year:

Park, clearing	$1500 00

BY DAY WORK.

Three hundred and ten chains sidewalk, 47 crossings, Blackie street, Fife street, Melbourne street, North Arm road.

The street improvements have long been needed and are a very welcome addition to the attractions of the city. A considerable number of complaints have been made about the expenditure, but on the whole, there is general satisfaction at the operations of the board of works. Mr. Jaques and his colleagues have devoted nearly all their time to the work this year and fair-minded citizens cannot fail to appreciate the result, whatever may be the small differences of opinion as to the proper mode of expenditure. The park is fast becoming one of the leading attractions to the city. The money that has been disbursed on it is well spent; when the work is finished the pleasure ground will be an adornment of which the inhabitants of New Westminster may justly feel themselves proud.

A Horse Race Arranged.

A horse racing match is arranged to take place at Willow park, Victoria, on the 26th instant, between Queen Maud of Ladner's, owned by Goudy, and "Royal" of Nanaimo, owned by Castle. The stakes are $500 a side—half a mile race. The best in two heats out of three takes the purse.

Real Estate Sale.

On Friday evening last W. H. Lundbom completed the sale of the lot and building on Columbia street occupied by the telegraph company for the consideration of $13,500. The purchaser was the well known contractor of Vancouver, Donald McGillivray.
