To The Freshman

This is the second edition of 'Tuum Est', a booklet instituted last year as a desperation measure by the Council, intended to impart to the wide-eyed freshman a modicum of information about our university, its customs, regulations, facilities, muses, uses and abuses. It contains, apart from a little playful ribaldry, many items which we hope will prove both useful and enlightening in establishing yourselves on the campus and in partaking of the many traditions, rights and obligations of all members of the A.M.S. For example, you will find herein data on the sixty-three or four clubs and societies on the campus, and introduction to the governing Students' Council (not unlike the one you had at high school, only not nearly so efficient), bits of information and many other items of importance and morbid interest.

Conspicuous in their absence from this little tome are the laborious speeches usually presented at such occasions by pompous public figures, encouraging the class of '62 to take up the traces, spruce up the spirit, gobble up the gap and generally get in and muck about with the already smoothly operating organization of the university. We expect that you will want to make a place for yourself in this existing organization and therefore intend to let you go ahead and make it. Everything is here for you.

Tuum Est . . . and all that.

To The Upperclassman

. . . our apologies. Here there is nothing of interest . . . nothing you didn't already know. It is merely a re-hash of the first hundred pages of the Student Directory, in booklet form, for the great unwashed.

We suggest you apply for a refund.

To The Freshman

This is the second edition of Turns Est., a booklet distributed last year as a graduation message by the Council. It is intended to help you in the when-eyed freshman's transition to education about our university, its various regulations, facilities, houses, mess and common rooms, and to give you a little practical knowledge. Many of the things you will find will prove both useful and enlightening in establishing yourselves on the campus and in making of the many traditions, rights and obligations of all members of the A.M.S. For example, you will find certain data on the structure of our clubs and societies on the campus, and instructions to the governing Student Council and other bodies. You had at high school only the barest of this kind of information and many other kinds of help, contacts and mental interest.

Students in their books from this little town are the important people, and it is proposed at such occasions by common public opinion, regarding the ways of life to ease up the heavy burden of the world. Pick up the gap and generally get in and out of school with the already existing organization of the university. We expect that you will want to make a place for yourself in this existing organization and therefore intend to let you go ahead and make it. Everything is here for you.

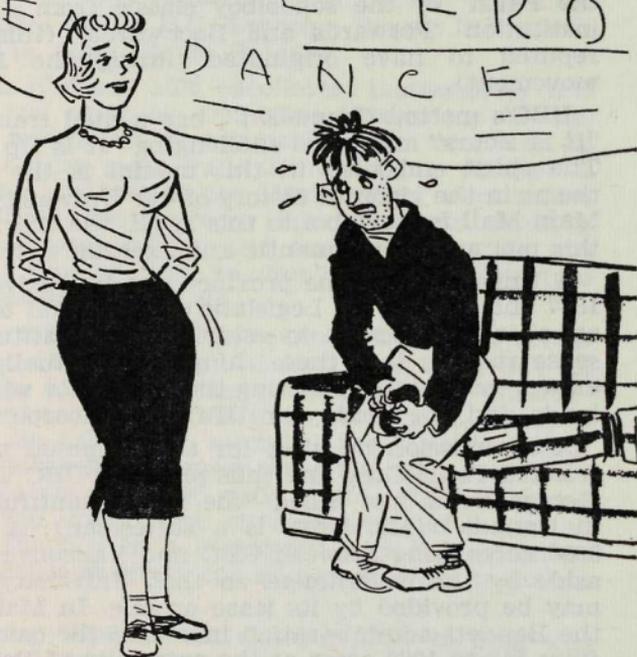

Turns Est. . . . and all that.

To The Upperclassman

... our apologies. Here there is nothing of interest. Nothing you didn't already know. It is merely a re-bash of the first hundred pages of the Student Directory in booklet form, for the great unwashed. We suggest you apply for a refund.

Introduction

School mottoes are too often peppy little slogans borrowed from the Romans and aimed at stimulating unsteady youth to maintain at least one noble ideal in adult life. For centuries now students have had their English kings pounded into them while trapped in such moral girdles as "Keep Well the Road" or "I Will Keep the Faith" or the schoolboy classic from a Scottish institution "Forwards and Backwards" (this item is reputed to have originated during the Romantic movement).

UBC's motto, "Tuum Est", has a dual translation—"It is Yours" and more challenging "It is Up to You." The spirit embodied in this maxim is the essential theme in the vigorous history of our University. On the Main Mall is a symbol to this spirit, the Cairn, and to this monument a romantic and exciting story belongs.

A University for the province was first advocated in 1877 and in 1890 the Legislature got around to making an abortive attempt to establish the institution (no sense rushing into these things!). Eventually in 1907 an act was passed endowing the University with Crown lands and the next year UBC was incorporated.

A commission on sites for the proposed university selected Point Grey and thus provided UBC with what George Drew has called "the most beautiful campus in Canada" (Mr. Drew is a statesman). A tract of 3000 acres lying between UBC and Vancouver was set aside by the government so that University revenue may be provided by its lease or sale. In March, 1955, the Bennett administration increased the campus area from 548 to 1000 acres at the extremity of Point Grey.

Competitive plans for four buildings to be erected immediately were called for in 1912. Messrs. Sharp and Thompson of Vancouver were the successful competitors and were appointed University architects—apparently for life. Shortly afterwards clearing operations began on the Point and early in 1914 construction commenced on the Science (now Chemistry) Building and on the "Aggie" barns. While the Kaiser was looking for his "place in the sun," clouds gathered over the Point Grey project and the bare girders of the Science Building consequently sat unattended until 1922.

Nevertheless, in 1915 UBC opened its doors at the aptly named "Fairview Shacks" on the Vancouver General Hospital grounds. First year enrollment was 379 students, who elected Sherwood Lett (present Chancellor of the University and newly appointed Chief Justice of the B.C. Supreme Court) first president of the Alma Mater Society.

Between 1916 and 1922 enrollment increased to 1176 students but even by 1919, the inadequacy of the "Shacks" was painfully noticeable. Rats were seen in classrooms. The roofs were thought to be falling in. Overflowing students in the "Auditorium" were seated in the rafters. Classes were held in shacks, tents, a church basement, attics, and nearby homes. It was hardly the type of place to which F. Scott Fitzgerald sent his wealthy waywards.

Early in 1922 the students began agitating for action in building the University on the Point Grey site. It was decided to petition the government and enthusiastic students held a house to house canvas, set up a booth at the exhibition, attended the Manufacturers' Dinner, addressed audiences from the stages of Vancouver theatres and over radio station CKCD (now a defunct "top dog"). One student went so far as to set up a soapbox in a downtown pool hall. Another rode the Fairview street car all day in order to collect signatures.

A "Varsity Week" from October 22nd to 29th was declared and students made one final drive for signatures. At the close of the campaign over 56,000 citizens had signed the petition demanding action from the government. Six page boys were required to present the rolls to the Legislature.

To climax the week a mammoth Saturday morning parade was held through downtown Vancouver. One famous float was formed with a giant sardine can labelled "Sardines, Varsity Brand, Packed in Fairview."

The parade disbanded at Davie Street and students rode street cars to Tenth and Sasamat. Disembarking they marched over a horse trail to an almost bare campus. In protest against government "inaction," each of them picked up a stone and laid it on a spot in front of the uncompleted Science Building.

The students' campaign and trek had immediate results. On November 9th Premier John Oliver announced a government grant of $1,500,000 and construction commenced once more in Point Grey.

By the Autumn of 1925, the Science Building, Library, and a bloc of semi-permanent structures were ready for occupancy and UBC held its first session on the new site.

Now the University's saga had its tempo quickened. In 1927 the first student drive for a gymnasium took place and the gym (now the Women's) opened in 1929. During the pit of the depression the University budget was cut and with characteristic heartiness the students protested.

Throughout the struggling thirties the tradition of undergraduates contributing to the expansion of the campus grew steadily firmer. The student union building, Brock Hall, was built in 1936 and in the following year, the stadium and playing fields. During World War II the Armouries were added, the main section in 1941 and an extension in 1943.

After the war came the deluge. Enrollment jumped to over 8000 and the government granted $5,000,000 for new education factories. In addition, over 250 army huts were moved to the campus for temporary (they are still in full use!) classrooms and a hangar was taken from Tofino airfield to serve as a supplement to the gym.

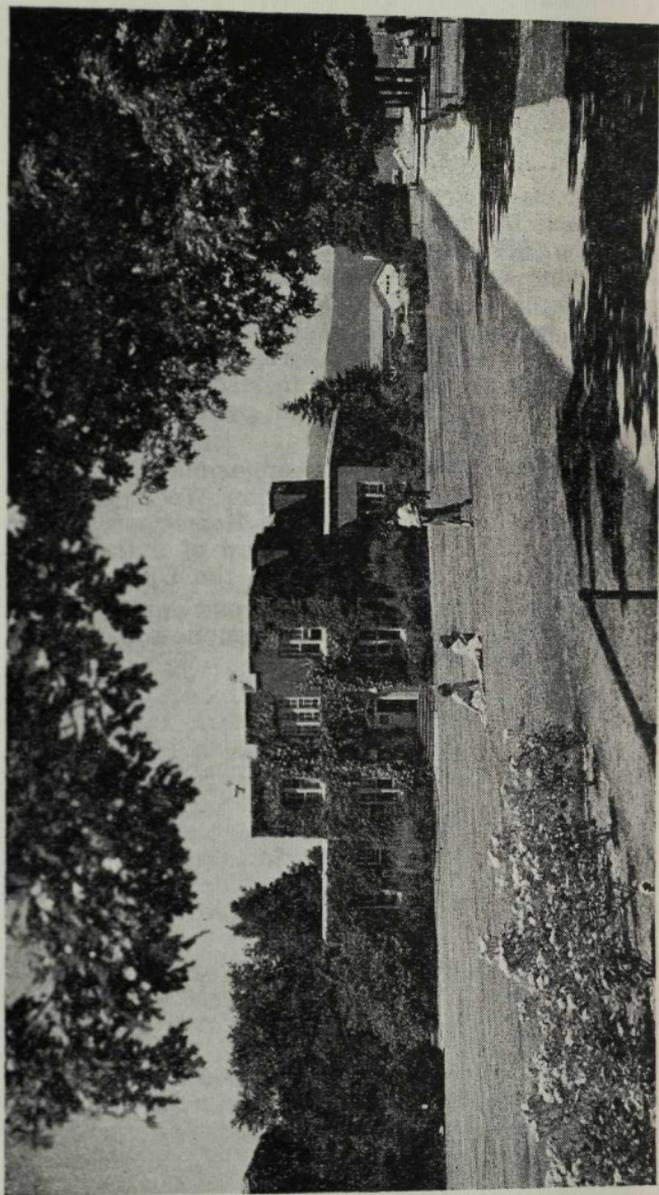

By 1951 these structures had been completed: Physics Building, Library wing, Power House enlargement, Home Ec Building, Engineering Building, Biological Sciences and Pharmacy Buildings, Women's Residences, the "million dollar glass palace" War Memorial Gymnasium, a building for bacteriological and medical services (Wesbrook), and the Law Library.

Yet despite these additional facilities, the University still remains in sad need of more permanent classroom and housing accommodations. In 1954, the government partially alleviated this condition when it announced its intention of making $10,000,000 available to UBC over the next ten years for capital developments. Already plans are in progress for six $2,000,000 projects—a new Arts Building, Medical Sciences Building and Dormitories. UBC has come a long way since it pursued learning in the Fairview Shacks.

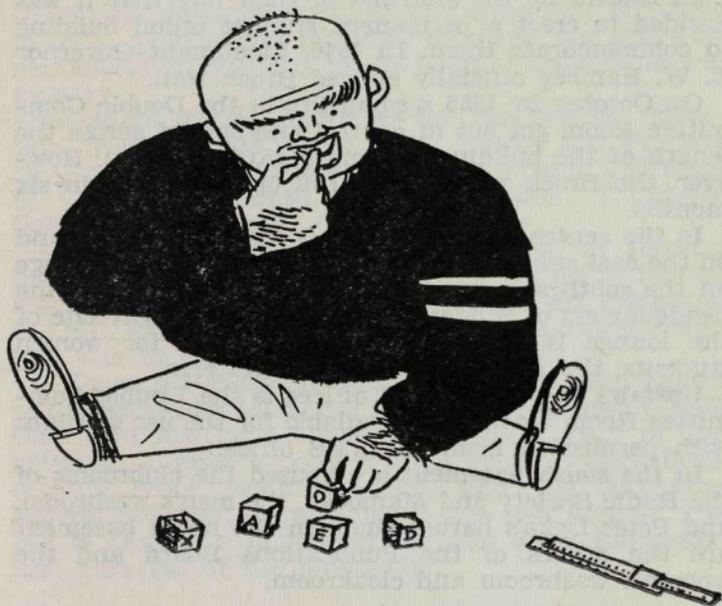

Three years after the Great Trek, a permanent Cairn was erected from the mound of stones that had been piled by the trekkers. A scroll listing the 56,000 petition signatures was placed inside, and the Cairn was sealed forever. The original petition is in the Provincial Archives.

Each year the Great Trek is commemorated by the Cairn Ceremony during Registration Week and the Great Trekker Award presented at Homecoming to a UBC alumnus who has a long record of outstanding service both to the community and the University.

The spirit of the Great Trek is a proud and energetic tradition which continues on this campus today. It is the spirit of UBC. Tuum Est.

BROCK MEMORIAL BUILDING

Brock Hall stands today as a fitting memorial to the life and the work of the late Dean of Applied Science, and his wife, killed in a tragic air crash in the summer of 1935. Reginald and Mildred Brock were held in such high esteem by the students of their day that it was decided to erect a permanent student union building to commemorate them. In 1940, Lieutenant-Governor E. W. Hamber officially opened Brock Hall.

On October 26, 1955 a small fire in the Double Committee Room got out of control and spread across the length of the building causing $175,000 damage. However, the Brock was back in full operation within six months.

In the centre of the building is the main lounge and on the east side the Snack Bar. Across from the lounge on the south side are the offices of the AMS and the headquarters of Student Council. On the north side of the lounge is the Mildred Brock Room for women students, the Alumni Office and Phrateres.

Upstairs above the AMS offices is the Double Committee Room seating 200 available for the use of Clubs with permission from the AMS office.

In the south basement are housed the clubrooms of the Radio Society and Mamooks, the men's washroom, and Peter Dyke's barber shop. In the north basement are the offices of the Publications Board and the women's washroom and cloakroom.

CAIRN

The Cairn is on the Main Mall across from the Chemistry Building. It was erected in 1922 by the students who made the Great Trek with stone brought from the Fairview Shacks by them. Each year, a Cairn Ceremony is held in commemoration of the Great Trek during the Registration week.

HERBARIUM

The Herbarium consists of dried plant specimens housed in cases in the Biological Sciences Building.

All groups from Algae to the Flowering Plants are represented. Several thousand B.C. specimens have recently been donated by Mr. J. W. Eastham.

LIBRARY

The library collection numbers some 300,000 volumes, including several noteworthy groups of materials as well as representative works in all fields in which the University gives instruction. The collection is strong in serial publications, including scholarly and scientific periodicals, particularly in the fields of Canadiana and forestry.

Canadian history comprises the Howay-Reid collection, from the late Judge F. W. Howay and the late Dr. Robie L. Reid. There is also the Pound Collection of Canadian Literature, and the A. J. T. Taylor Collection of material on the Arctic.

Extensive acquisitions of publications on forestry have been made possible by the fund set up by lumber magnate H. R. MacMillan. The Koerner Art Fund and the B.C. Packers Fund have enriched the collections in fine arts and fisheries respectively.

A General Reading Room, a Fine Arts Room known as the Sedgewick Memorial Room, and the Howay-Reid Collection are maintained in the older part of the building. A reserve book reading room, a periodicals reading room, seminar rooms, and the Ridington Reference Room are provided in the new section. The last is named in honour of the late John Ridington, first librarian of the university.

MUSEUMS

The Anthropological Museum, housed on the first floor of the Library, includes the Burnett collection, made and donated by the late Frank Burnett. It contains groups of artifacts representative of the ethnology and archaeology of various parts of the Pacific Basin. Also in the Museum are the Raley collection made by Dr. G. H. Raley and donated by H. R. MacMillan, containing artifacts from Kitimat; and ceremonial material from the Southern Kwakiutl donated by H. R. MacMillan.

The Geological and Geographical Museum, located in the Forestry and Geology Building, includes: the Dr. H. M. Ami collection of pre-historic artifacts from Les Eyzies, France; the Peach and Horne geological model of the Assynt Mountains, Scotland; a hooded dinosaur, Lambeosaurus specie, from Steeveville, Alberta, on permanent loan from the National Museum, Ottawa; suites of fossils, minerals, ores, birds and mammals.

The Zoological Museum, containing representatives of both vertebrate and invertebrate fields, is housed in the new Biological Sciences Building. The collection of marine invertebrates of the north-eastern Pacific Ocean is the largest extant. The collection of vertebrates exclusive of fish numbers 6,417 specimens.

Ed. note:

This figure may not be up-to-date. At last word a blessed event was expected sometime in late September.

STADIUM

The first section of the grandstand was erected in 1937 on the west side of the playing field. The covered, reinforced concrete structure provides seating for 1,600. Flanking it are two wooden bleacher sections of 500 seats each. In 1946 a wooden grandstand of 1,000 covered seats was added on the east side of the field and in 1954, 2700 bleacher seats were taken from the Empire Pool and added to the west side.

Under the present main stand are locker rooms, dressing rooms, showers, ticket booths, drying rooms and equipment rooms. Funds for the construction of the grandstand were provided through a $40,000 bond issue sponsored by the AMS.

SWIMMING POOL

Measuring 165 by 55 feet, Empire Pool ranks with the finest on the continent. Facilities include a ten metre and a five metre diving board, with adjustable hydraulic springs.

WAR MEMORIAL GYMNASIUM

"The million-dollar glass palace" was officially dedicated on October 26, 1951. Costing almost $800,000, the building was a result of a student campaign to honour the men and women of British Columbia who served in the World Wars. It was financed by public subscription, a Provincial Government grant, and in major degree by a special student levy.

The building seats approximately 3,600 and holds the Physical Education Department offices, Men's Athletic Directorate offices, a weight-lifting room, lockers, dressing rooms, and a coffee shop. One proposed addition is a bowling alley, for which space is provided in the basement.

NEW BUILDINGS

Latest and most conspicuous of the additions to our campus is the Arts group on the site of the tennis courts, beside the Women's Gym. The fruit of a long campaign by ASUS, the new structure is hoped to raise Arts from the doldrums of a long inferiority complex, to at least a par with Engineering.

The Faculty of Education's 'Million Dollar Glass Palace,' erected last year in the Main Parking lot provides simulated classroom facilities for prospective pedagogues. Cleverly designed, the building's flat roof offers convenient parking space for Volkswagen owners. Access is by the fire escape ladder at the rear.

The brightest feather in Council's cap, recently completed Brock Extension, houses fortunate clubsters, recreational facilities and provides an admirable showcase for the Brock Art Collection. The building's non-descript colour, topic of many a heated debate is, we trust, soon to be rectified. Favourite colour of most Councillors, yellow, seems to be winning out against the powerful 'purple' lobby, headed by WUS chairwoman, Shelia Croker.

Located so deep in the woods behind the West Mall that not much can be discovered about it, the Forest Products Research Lab. goes quietly about the business of rearing yet another architecturally ugly head. Designed to complement the pseudo-Gothic Library ... it doesn't.

Administration

The Students' Council is a hybrid assortment of campus reactionaries, elected towards the close of each year and grudgingly entrusted with the business of the student union or Alma Mater Society. The fifteen members initiate policy, head committees on student housing, student facilities etc. represent student opinion on board committees, organize campus-wide activities such as Homecoming and Frosh initiation and generally confuse the public with ambiguous statements in the Ubysey.

Our Council is unique among such groups in Canada, however, since it is conducted solely by the councillors without jurisdiction or interference from any superior authority, other than the student body.

Apart from the council, but still under its authority, is the Freshman Council, elected at the beginning of each term and charged with organizing the Frosh activities for the year. These generally include a blood drive, supporting several Queen candidates, fielding inter-mural teams and sponsoring several dances. This group serves its most important function rather incidentally, since it is the training ground for potential campus radicals and strawbosses.

Not pictured among the following, but serving an essential part in the organization of our administration is Mr. A. M. S. Pearson, business manager and head of the full-time staff of four who administer the requisition system, control co-ordination of all campus activities, rent playing cards for use in the Double Committee Room and generally act as financial advisors to all campus organizations, checking their expenditures against their budgets.

BEN TREVINO

Pity the poor AMS president. He is the man who is held responsible by the student body whenever Council gets caught with its torts down. Not only that, but he must also pander to 8000 ingrates for an entire year with all the care of an ungloved bee-keeper. The easiest and worst way to approach this job is to collect your honorarium and spend the year locked in your office, arms wrapped tightly about your ears. The best and most difficult way is to approach it as the highly complex task it is, armed with high-powered administrative abilities.

Fortunately for U.B.C., Ben Trevino chooses the latter method. That schoolboy grin, besides melting Provincial Cabinet ministers in their tracks, shores up an incredibly brilliant executive talent which might otherwise flow down over his Council blazer and dazzle the passers-by.

Ben is also kind to dogs and a maiden aunt named Min.

KEN BRAWNER

Vice-Presidents exist to assume command when Presidents, the strain of executive duties too great, finally roll from their swivel chairs and are presented posthumously with a key of their own to the men's washroom. The AMS keeps their veeps on their toes by saddling them with such chores as constitutional revision, Student Court, and elections.

Ken Brawner, a Law Student with the ability and that certain steely glint besides, is almost inconceivably adequate for the job.

GEORGE MORFITT

This year's Great Inscrutable Guardian of the Purse-Strings is Commerceman George Morfitt. Witty, intelligent, extroverted George attacks his job with more than the usual amount of gusto, determined to quell all humanitarian instincts and to continue the tight-fisted tradition founded by his Beta predecessors (Conway, Thackray et al) that "no body gets nothin' for nothin'".

Collar frayed from the continued negative oscillation of his head, George stands immutable between us and our money.

Mr. Morfitt's idol is Horatius.

MISS LEITH

Everybody knows what a secretary has to do. (ho ho ho)

In addition to its Playboy proclivities, however, the job of AMS secretary has its bureaucratic aspects as well. As Council business increases so does the volume of paperwork: reports, minutes, records, contracts etc., all of which must be typed, coded and filed (after which they are taken to the boiler-room and burned).

Belying her blonde and winsome air of innocence, Miss Leith is frighteningly efficient. It is now a matter of record that during the summer sessions of the Council alone, ninety-seven yawns were included in the minutes.

Frightening, absolutely frightening.

BRIAN WILLIAMS

Responsible for the smooth operation of the campus' extra-curricular activity (excluding Spanish Banks) is Co-ordinator, Brian Williams. Having enjoyed five years of extra-curricular activity himself, frat-man Williams hopes to combine this experience with a passing knowledge of book-making to arrange in non-conflicting order the dizzying mass of lectures, dances, films and Pub parties. Mr. Williams is known to his intimates as Wacky.

We are not confident.

NEIL MERRICK

The Undergraduate Societies Committee is a constitutional thorn in Council's side, and from the students' point of view, a very salutary thorn indeed. U.S.C., cutting a broader swath of representation across the campus, is often more informed of student opinion than are the blue-jacketed straw-bosses, and therefore constitute the proper challenge to their vested authority. By their very jobs, then,

U.S.C. chairman are a pretty brassy lot.

Not that we want to imply that this year's incumbent, Neil Merrick, is brassy. It's just that he does hold the reputation of never having been out-haggled as College Shop manager and, well, he's a commerceman.

CHARLIE CONNAHAN

The clement intellectual climate of U.B.C. produces clubs and societies in much the same effortless fashion that jungles produce weeds. In the role of the gregarious greengrocer this year is bright-eyed Charlie Connahan who, as president of the University Clubs Committee, does his level best to assuage the joint and several grievances of his 70-odd charges and to protect their coffers from athletic interlopers.

Chuck brings to his job the balanced qualifications of long experience, a stoic attitude and a wicked left hook.

SHELIA CROKER

Co-eds at U.B.C. indulge themselves in a continual flurry of fripperies: fashion shows, teas, charity drives, banquets and so on . . . and on . . . and on. Standing, awed, in the foreground of all this activity is Women's Undergraduate Society Chairwoman, Shelia Croker, U.B.C.'s First Feminist for fifty-seven.

Although Shelia's is a rough row to hoe, her job was lightened considerably last year by incumbent Lynda Gates who introduced the now famous one-text method of speechifying.

We are confident that Miss Croker will not break precedent.

FIL KUEBER

The Men's Athletic Association President on Council this year is Fil Kueber. Inasmuch as mercy-killings are not yet condoned by our society, U.B.C.'s teams must somehow be kept alive from year to year to totter onto the fields for their perpetual punishment. Fil's job, therefore, is to assure Gnu that they will continue to do this, which task he accomplishes by keeping both fists firmly in the AMS till.

There is no truth to the rumour that the driving force behind the proposed organization of an all-Canadian conference is Mr. Kueber's yearning to see the Prairies.

BARB HART

Once again to the disappointment of campus males, the chore of outfitting U.B.C.'s more dainty athletes has gone to a woman. Not that this year's president of the Women's Athletic Association, Barb Hart, is incompetent . . . a thousand nays! It's just that she displays that same brand of priggish prudery typified by our segregated dormitories and will probably veto our excellent suggestion that uniforms be foregone in the interests of added spectator attraction.

Having successfully wrenched the symbolic grass-hockey stick from the hands of perennial Char Warren, Barb is now in office and will probably do an admirable job.

Nevertheless, it's a shame about those uniforms.

MARIENE JAMES

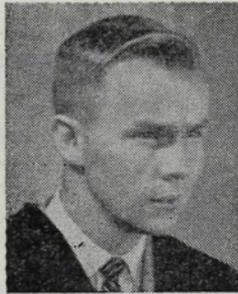

Occupying the newly-created Executive Member post is Law student Marlene James. The new post was created to take some of the weighty duties from the vice-president's shoulders. We're not quite sure why Miss James was created, but it certainly seems to have been a good idea.

If we wanted to make things rough for Marlene, we could tell you that she is in charge of Frosh Orientation, but we wouldn't do a thing like that.

GRANT MacDONALD

Fortunately for U.B.C., Grant MacDonald brings to the catch-all job of First Member at Large the proper attitude of stoic resolve that it requires. Not that Grant is cynical and pessimistic by nature . . . but having been president of Acadia Camp and therefore inured to long-term suffering, he reports that, all humanitarian instincts successfully dispelled, he is now ready for anything.

As a former member of the Second Great Trek Committee, he is also well aware of our financial needs, and hyper-sympathetic to the pleas of out-of-town students.

As a matter of fact, there doesn't seem to be much of anything wrong with him.

PETE MEEKISON

Second Members at Large are not chosen in precisely the same democratic manner as are the other council posts. In this case, a preliminary poll is taken of campus coffee-drinkers to determine the five most vehement in their condemnation of the turgid stuff. From these five, that person is elected who can furnish the most complete chemical analysis of the brew together with the most improbable scheme for improving it.

Thus, boorish, engineering-type Pete Meekison rose to political eminence on the strength of his analysis to the effect that our coffee derives its 'distinctive' qualities from the presence of ivy on the inside of the urns, rather than the outside of the library.

Editor's Note: The Publications Board has nothing against Meekison personally; it's just that he's an engineer . . . that's all.

RANDLE JONES

Married at an early age, Randle Jones received his training in Public Relations in the School of Hard Knocks, attempting to kid-glove visiting in-laws. Now hardened, but strangely unembittered by experience, he has let himself in for the harrying chore of dispensing only lilac-scented news releases for the scandal-hungry Vancouver press.

Semi-literate and able to type, Randle brushes his teeth twice a day, sees his dentist twice a year and appears adequately equipped to white-wash us all in a healthy glow of respectability.

Now if he can only sit on the Engineers until Bennett comes through with the loot.

MRS. PAT MARCHAK

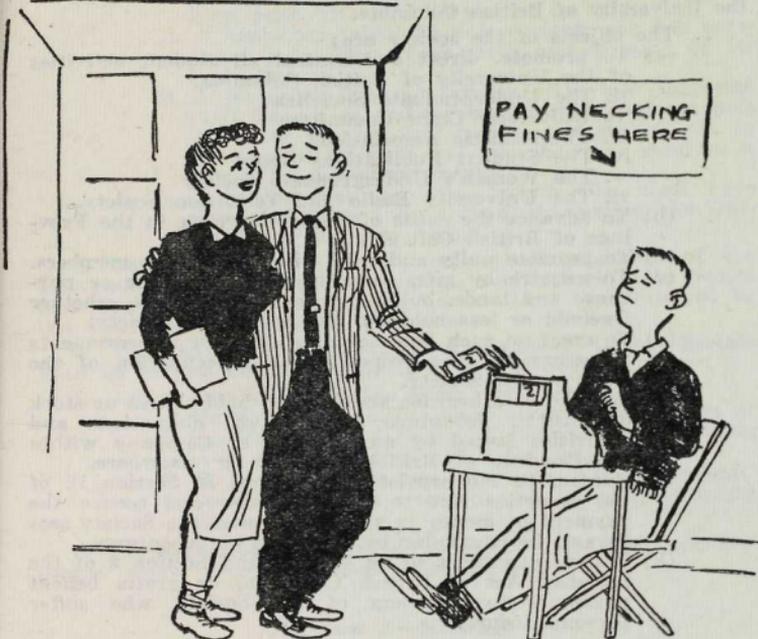

Editor-in-Chief of the Publications Board is Mrs. Pat Marchak. Pat is boss-lady of the thrice-weekly Ubysey, and flutters motherly hands over Totem, Raven, Pique, Tuum Est and Bird Calls.

In addition to crusading for Freedom, Right, and The Canadian Way Of Life in the editorial columns of the Ubysey, Pat sits in on Council meetings as a non-voting Opposition of one; a sort of permanently irascible student opinionator.

Still further, in her capacity as Editor, she audits an astounding number of complaints and suggestions. Mr. Marchak, who weighs 190 stripped, takes care of all suggestions.

any student activity or not. Provided that the total amount which the Students' Council shall have authority to pay for and in respect of injuries during any college year shall not exceed the monies in a fund to be known as the Accident Benefit Fund. General Information

ACCIDENT BENEFIT FUND

All regular students, as members of the Alma Mater Society, are protected by the Student Accident Benefit Fund. This fund, established out of the regular nineteen dollar A.M.S. fee, helps to compensate Members of the Society for medical and other expenses incurred as a direct result of accidental physical injury sustained: while engaged in supervised activity sponsored by the Society, or otherwise.

Claims will not be paid with respect to certain exclusions and unless the injured person has first reported to the Health Service for treatment.

The Fund is administered by a standing committee under the chairmanship of the A.M.S. Treasurer. Complete instructions and information regarding the fund may be obtained from the Treasurer or Business Manager, A.M.S. Office, Brock Hall.

ADVICE

If you want advice (not to be confused with 'sympathy') on family, financial or general problems, or course difficulties, see Walter Gage, Dean of Inter-faculty Affairs, if you are a boy and Dorothy Mawdsley, Dean of Women, if you are a girl. If you do not fall into either of these categories report to Dr. T. M. C. Taylor, head of the biology department.

ALUMNI

The U.B.C. Alumni Association is the organization which represents former students and graduates of the University. Minimum qualification for membership is 15 units of credit. "Active" membership is granted to all alumni who participate in the Annual Giving Program sponsored through the U.B.C. Development Fund, no minimum annual donation being specified. Active members receive the quarterly magazine (U.B.C. Alumni Chronicle) and periodic reports of University Development. Organized branches of the Association have been formed in most B.C. centres, all larger Canadian cities and in several areas of the United States. Close contact is also maintained by the Alumni office with "key alumni" in more distant parts of the world. Chief aim of the Association is to promote the cause of higher education. Executive Secretary is A. H. Sager; Editor, Col. H. T. Logan. The office is located in the north end of the Brock Hall—and the door is always open.

ART CENTRE

The Art Centre in the basement of the Library includes a work shop and an Art Gallery. The work shop is equipped to give courses in ceramics, painting, sculpture, weaving, and other applied arts, which it does. It is under the joint supervision of the Fine Arts Committee and the Handicrafts Committee. The Art Gallery, though it has no permanent collection, maintains a continuous display of loan exhibitions which are ordinarily shown two at a time for the period of two weeks. The Gallery is open, under the supervision of the curator, for five days of each week, and is under the direction of the Visual Arts Committee.

BLOOD DRIVES

The Red Cross sponsors two blood drives on campus each year, in October and February. Blood is drained in the Armouries and in exchange for their pint students receive coke, coffee and biscuits. About 1800 pints are collected each drive which is enough to last the province two weeks. Inter-faculty and inter-school competitions attempt to spur student enthusiasm; in the former Forestry makes Arts and Law (to say nothing of Teacher's Training) look sadly anaemic, in the latter UBC is the bloodiest school in the Evergreen Conference on a handicap basis.

BOARD AND RESIDENCE

Women: The new women's dorms are reserved primarily for first and second year students new to the campus and they offer mostly double rooms. The 1957-58 charge for board and room in the Women's Residences is $423 single and $402 double, payable in two installments—September and January.

Some hut accommodation is available for senior women students in Acadia Camp at a monthly rate of $75 for double rooms.

Application for women students' residence in private homes should be approved by the Dean of Women's office. Cost of rooms varies from $55-$65 per month.

Men: The University has accommodation for approximately 870 male students in single and double rooms at Acadia and Fort Camps. Charge for board and room during 57-58 is $426 single and $402 double, payable in two installments—September and January.

A caution deposit of $25 is subject to these terms: $15 deducted if a student leaves during the first term, $10 if he waits until Christmas. Otherwise, the money is returned in full or else remains on deposit for ensuing years.

Information concerning accommodation for men in private homes is available at the office of the Housing Administrator, A. R. Baird, Room 205A, Physics Building. Charges for board and room vary from $55 to $65 a month, for breakfast and room, $35 to $40, and for room alone, $25-$30.

BOOK STORE

The book store has now moved into its new quarters at the bus stop and, keeping step with the do-it-yourself craze, now features self service. Except for during registration, when supplies can be purchased at the booth in the Field House, it supplies all necessary texts, note books, instruments, general stationery and magazines at reduced prices. Last year's examinations are also on sale for negligible fee.

Hours are 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 9:00 a.m. to noon, Saturday. At the session's end, the book store will buy used books in good condition—providing that the next regular session can use them. This offer lasts only till June 15 . . . so hurry!

CAMPUS COFFEE

Freshmen should heed this warning that campus coffee, despite its unpalatable taste and disquieting viscosity, is to be unquestionably accepted as one of the traditions of UBC. It is, in this respect, much the same as the football team, having always been that way.

CAMPUS SNACKERIES

Students can eat in the UBC Cafeteria (make a table reservation, if you are not a Greek), the Dining Room and Snack Bar in Brock Hall, the Campus Cupboard between the Library and the Physics Building, at the new Book Store, and at the Coffee Shop in the War Memorial Gym. Dinners for students who stay late on the campus can be obtained at Fort and Acadia by arrangement with the camp's dietitian.

COMMERCE BANQUET

About 200 Commerce undergraduates meet with twice their number of downtown businessmen at the Commerce Banquet held annually in February. First string representatives of business and industry turn out to meet prospective graduates and to hear an outstanding speaker.

BROCK HALL ART COLLECTION

A newly organized committee of faculty and students is currently looking for paintings by Canadian artists to act as a start for an art collection in the Brock.

MUSICIANS' UNION

Campus organizations are required to hire either student or union dance orchestras for their social functions. Clubs which are in doubt about this ruling should check with the Co-ordinator of Activities.

CLUB ROOMS

The Brock basement houses three valuable service organizations, the Publications Board, Radsoc and Mamooks. Upstairs on the south side of the Brock are the offices of W.U.S.C., NFCUS, UCC, and High School Conference. But behind the Brock are two wartime huts which provide space for more than twenty clubs.

East Hut: Christian Science, Amateur Radio Association, Political Clubs and Civil Liberties Union, Panhellenic, IFC, and Mussoc.

This arrangement will be changed somewhat this year, due to the completion of the Brock Extension. It provides 18 new club rooms, along with many other much needed facilities, such as games room, and more space for lounging students.

The Hillel Foundation have their own hut behind the Brock. South of the Brock on the east mall International House and the Newman Club have lounges.

The Auditorium is home to two other campus organizations: Players' Club (in the notorious Green Room) and the Student Christian Movement.

COLLEGE SHOP

A student enterprise situated in the southwest corner of the Brock across from the Snack Bar. Available there are faculty pins and crests, university beanies, car stickers, sheet music, and sweaters plus several drug store items. Orders are also taken for custom made crests. The prices are lower than most downtown stores. The student manager, Neil Merrick, cordially invites all to come in and look over the merchandise.

COUNSELLING AND PLACEMENT OFFICE

Information and suggestions to all students concerning admission, courses, vocational opportunities and qualifications can be obtained in the counselling hut southwest of the Armouries. A file on professional and vocational opportunities is maintained and is available on request. Employment opportunities—vacation, part-time, and permanent—are sought and listed in the employment section. Approximately 1200 students find sources of earnings through the placement office each year, about 200 of them on campus, in the "self-help" programme which provides regular, part-time work in university buildings, kitchens and grounds. Student earnings here amount to some $50,000 a year.

Tests on general ability, interest and personality are administered to every freshman.

DELTA SIGMA PI

Delta Sigma Pi is the Women's Honorary Sorority at UBC. Its members are girls who have made a name for themselves on the campus by doing outstanding work in AMS activities and by maintaining a high scholastic average. Nominations for the sorority are taken each spring and fall with initiation taking place in the fall.

FASHION SHOW

Attractive co-eds model the latest styles and ultra fashions (without ever resorting to Dior's sexless flat look) provided by leading department and sportswear stores at the Women's Undergraduate Society's annual Fashion Show held in Brock Hall. A somewhat ludicrous but highly successful innovation last year were male models.

GIRLS' COMMON ROOM

Women students, being the dainty things they are, are provided with Common rooms on the second floor of the Arts Building and at north end of Brock Hall in the smartly decorated Mildred Brock Room.

A major project of the Women's Undergraduate Society last year was to relieve the rooms of their stiff, Victorian atmosphere. I have it on good authority, not being able to ascertain for myself, that the mural presented to WUS at the Spring General Meeting has done much toward this end.

HEALTH SERVICE

The University Health Service and Hospital is located in the Wesbrook Building, southeast corner of the East Mall and University Boulevard. Doctors and nurses are available to render first aid in the event of accidents or illnesses and give advice on health problems in general. Every student entering the University for the first time is required to have a physical examination; Students who do not comply will be disciplined by the University Health Committee.

For further details please refer to the brochure entitled "This is Your Health Service."

All cases of illness, including a common cold, developed during the academic year, MUST BE REPORTED TO THE HEALTH SERVICE AT ONCE—personally, if on the campus, or otherwise by phone. After an illness, students must report to the Health Officer for an inspection before re-admission to classes.

FRATERNITIES AND SORORITIES

Membership in fraternities and sororities is by invitation only. A bid to join one of these organizations is extended after a hectic period of dinners, drinks and handshaking known as "rushing".

University regulations prohibit fraternity or sorority membership by students who have not completed their freshman year.

Fraternities on campus are:

Alpha Delta Phi	Delta Upsilon
Alpha Tau Omega	Kappa Sigma
Beta Theta Pi	Lamda Chi Alpha
Delta Kappa Epsilon	Phi Delta Theta
Phi Gamma Delta	Sigma Chi
Phi Kappa Pi	Sigma Phi Delta
Psi Upsilon	Zeta Beta Tau
Sigma Alpha Mu	Zeta Psi

Sororities on campus are:

Alpha Delta Pi	Delta Phi Epsilon
Alpha Gamma Delta	Gamma Phi Beta
Alpha Omicron Pi	Kappa Alpha Theta
Alpha Phi	Kappa Kappa Gamma
Delta Gamma

LIBRARY

Books taken from the general circulation desk usually have a time limit of two weeks. A fine of 25 cents per day, payable at the Bursar's office, is charged for overdue books.

Reserve books may be borrowed for two hours and may be renewed if not in demand. They may be taken out overnight, but must be returned at 8:30 a.m. Overdue fines of 25 cents per hour are charged.

Various divisions of the library are described in a pamphlet entitled "Know Your Library" which may be picked up in the library building.

LOST AND FOUND

The official Lost and Found Bureau for students is located in the College Shop. Lost and Found notices are published in the Ubysey for ten cents.

MARDI GRAS

A gala two day costume party held every January at the Commodore Cabaret put on by the Greek Letter Societies features a leggy chorus line and an attitude of getting drunk for charity. A veritable ball which raises $2000 a year for charity from the sale of raffle tickets.

NOTICE BOARDS

Notice Boards are in every University building, and in the Quadrangle (better known as the Quad), located in the space between the Arts Building and the Auditorium. All notice boards are under the jurisdiction of Mamooks and the AMS, but students don't have to buck any red tape to use them.

OPERETTA

The Musical Society stages a light operetta in late February free to students and with an admission fee to the general public. They are directed by the well-known Harry Pryce.

PARKING

Freshmen parking in any other space than the regular lots should be forewarned of the invariably resultant tickets and the subsequent glee of Mr. Bagshaw, Comptroller. Fines are, for the first offence—$1.00; for the second—$2.00; for the third—$5.00.

It should be noted that while your offences progress arithmetically, the fines progress astronomically.

PASS FEATURES

The AMS issues a pass complete with an individual photograph to each of its students about October 1st. This pass allows students to participate in campus activities such as elections and referendums. Famous Players theatres downtown and Odeon theatres throughout the city accord a reduced admission rate to students upon presentation of this card. The pass is also extremely useful as a means of identification.

PLAYS

The English Department produces a selection from modern drama in the second term. In mid-November, the Players' Club presents a production, and one again in March. They are known as the Fall and Spring Plays, and attract not a few downtown adults.

REDSHIRTS

Very boorish fellows indeed.

REQUISITION SYSTEM

No bills incurred by an AMS organization will be honored by Students Council unless they are covered by a purchase order obtained from the AMS business manager. All such items as club pins and sweaters must be ordered through the College Shop.

SCHOLARSHIPS, PRIZES, BURSARIES AND LOANS

Full information on scholarships, prizes, bursaries, and loans is to be found in the latter part of the University Calendar. All inquiries regarding scholarships, prizes, bursaries, and loans should be addressed to the Dean of Administrative and Inter-Faculty Affairs, Room 10, Arts Building, University of British Columbia, Vancouver, B.C.

Scholarships and/or Prizes. Scholarships are available only for students with high standing. With a few exceptions, undergraduate scholarships are awarded automatically on the basis of the results of the final examinations and winners may hold the awards only if they continue with their studies at the University in the next regular session. Scholarships for graduates are awarded only on application. In the case of graduate scholarships awarded directly by the University applications should be received by March 15th.

Special Bursaries. Limited financial assistance through special bursaries is available for undergraduates who have good scholastic standing (i.e., clear standing with an average of at least 65 per cent in the work of the previous session). Application forms must be received not later than August 1st.

Dominion-Provincial Student Aid Bursary Fund and Provincial Loan Fund. It is the desire of the Dominion and Provincial Governments that no student of ability shall, through lack of funds, be denied the opportunity to continue his or her education beyond the level of the secondary school. A sum of money has been set aside, therefore, to aid University students who can offer proof of scholastic ability and financial need. This assistance is available in the form of loans or bursaries or both, as the Committee decides, to regular undergraduates in any year and faculty. The loan is repayable commencing one year after the applicant enters gainful employment and does not bear interest until that time. Assistance is normally given only to students who, in the previous session, obtained clear standing and made an average of at least 65 per cent. Application forms must be obtained from the Department of Education, Victoria, B.C. They must be returned before August 1st.

Loan Funds. Various loan funds are operated by the Dean of Administrative and Inter-Faculty Affairs to assist students who, during the session, find themselves without sufficient funds to complete the work of the session. An undergraduate whose progress is satisfactory may apply for a loan at any time during the session. The largest fund for this purpose is "The University General Loan Fund", which provides loans, not exceeding $200, which are interest-free until May 31st and are repayable for the following summer. An adult guarantor satisfactory to the University is required.

Funds have also been established to provide loans of larger amounts and for longer periods of time, and are open to graduates and undergraduates with satisfactory guarantors. As the terms under which the funds are operated differ considerably, students desiring loans should discuss their financial problems individually with the Dean of Administrative and Inter-Faculty Affairs.

SIGMA TAU CHI

Sigma Tau Chi, the men's honorary fraternity, is primarily a discussion group dealing with an unlimited scope of subjects. Membership is by invitation from the presently constituted members and goes out to students with a record of high standard campus activity.

The group aims to acquire a representative membership from all sections of the campus, still keeping its number workable.

"Workable" for what is rarely discussed.

SORORITIES—see "FRATERNITIES" . . . quite often.

UNIVERSITY SERVICE CORPS

The University Service Training Corps is open to all male students who can meet the necessary physical requirements. All branches of the service are represented on the campus, coming under the jurisdiction of a Joint Service Training Committee, consisting of the President of the University and the Commanders of the COTC, UNTD, RCAF, and the Women's Division RCAF.

Prospective officers can get information on any of the three services by visiting the offices, in the Armoury. Successful candidates are appointed as officer cadets, and are required to serve a minimum of three hours per week and also a minimum of three to four months during the summer. This time is spent at various Active Force Schools across Canada under Active Force Supervisors.

Upon completion of the course, they may emerge with the rank of Captain in the Reserve or First Lieutenant in the Active Force.

Clubs

The person who said "You only get out of university what you put in" has not only uttered one of the most profound statements of the century, but provided us with a neat little introduction to this section on the clubs and societies located on the campus. As we mentioned earlier, there are some sixty-three or four, no one knowing exactly how many since they are continually springing to life amid the fertile soil and clement climate of UBC student society and it is difficult to separate those actually included in the AMS from those merely associated with it.

However, one thing is certain: they exist solely for your further education and enjoyment, and can only continue through your interest and support.

These organizations are all sponsored and financed by the treasury of the AMS to which each of you contributes $18 every year through the payment of your tuition. In a sense, you have just "bought" a membership into every one of these societies and are entitled to partake of the benefits offered by them all. Preposterous as it may seem, this has, on one or two occasions, actually been attempted by one ambitious co-ed or another. Needless to say, this is not the recommended procedure. However, it would be just as foolish to say to yourself: "I am here for an education. Mine is a hard row to hoe, a rocky road to rake, a dirty ditch to dig, etc." and refuse to enter into any of the extra-curricular activities that are available for you.

On Clubs' Day, September 27, most of these organizations will present exhibits and displays in the Armouries in a bid for members. That is the time to judge the relative merits of each for yourself, and sign with those which hold the most interest for you.

There follows for your further enlightenment a short breakdown of the aims and activities of most of the groups, which should help you to make a more intelligent choice. They have been forced into the rather unnatural classifications of Religious, Activity, etc., only for your convenience in locating all the organizations dealing with a certain phase of activity. No one is to understand because of this grouping that the Varsity Outdoor Club since it falls into the category "Activity Clubs" is completely void of social functions, and intelligent discussion, or similarly that the Critics Circle is stolidly sedentary.

ALPHA OMEGA SOCIETY

The Alpha Omega Society, composed of students of Ukrainian descent, is organized to promote the study and application of Ukrainian culture as a contribution to Canadian cultural development.

Activities of the club include discussion groups and lectures on Ukrainian traditions, music, history and literature. The proceeds from their many dances and parties go towards the development of a Ukrainian library at UBC.

All students of Ukrainian descent are automatically members of the club, but only those who have paid the dues are allowed a vote.

AMATEUR RADIO SOCIETY HAMSOC

Last year, Hamsoc made radio contact over fifty countries all over the world, and started arrangements for a new inter-university network.

Besides the care and training of "ham" operators, the club puts UBC students in touch with relatives or friends in any part of the world. Come Christmas time, the messages fly thick and fast; even person to person broadcasts are arranged.

During the term, classes are held in the newly equipped clubroom (boasting $2000 worth of new facilities) for students interested in the theory of radio and in obtaining a commercial operators' licence.

Plans are now being launched to establish an inter-campus radio network for the purpose of free exchange of campus news with other universities. The club also offers films and lectures in the field of radio, generally.

ARCHITECTURAL SOCIETY

Organized six years ago, the Architectural Society gives its members practical study in architecture while trying to promote a healthy interest in architecture and its meaning in the student body.

BIOLOGY CLUB

The purpose of this club is to stimulate interest in various biological fields and to further sincere scientific thinking. Field trips, lectures, debates, parties and films are scheduled. Volleyball and badminton are played once a week in the gym. The annual fee is one dollar.

BOTANICAL GARDEN SOCIETY

A love for, and appreciation of, the beauties of Nature are the only qualifications necessary for membership in the Botanical Garden Society. Their yearly program features a trip through the Arboretum, the showing of kodachromes of different gardens, and lectures and discussions on landscape gardening and the various aspects of botany.

BRIDGE CLUB

Still in the throes of development is the Bridge Club. The enthusiasts who haunt Brock Lounge at all hours of the day intend to sponsor bridge tournaments to give some substance to their daily games. Aspiring Hoyles, Lens and Culbertsons should drop around to Brock any afternoon.

CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club boasts complete darkroom facilities for both black and white and colour photography. There is a well-equipped photographic studio and a clubroom in the new Brock extension. Various aspects of photography, including composition, darkroom procedure, portraits and colour are discussed at weekly meetings with a special modeling training course for girls. The professional photographers of Vancouver supply much valuable technical information and advice.

CHINESE VARSITY CLUB

Essentially a social club, the CVC is open to all students, having as its aim the promotion of better inter-racial relationships. The members enjoy a varied social program which features during the year several dances and banquets. The program is rounded out by the inclusion of noon-hour lectures and debates by club members and outside speakers.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION

Activities of the Christian Science Organization include regular weekly testimonials, quarterly business meetings and committee work for everyone. Study room is Hut B1 behind the Brock Hall and is open to everyone for the study of the Bible, the writings of Mary Baker Eddy and the Christian Science Monitor. Fees for membership are one dollar.

CRITICS CIRCLE

The Critics Circle was formed in 1954 to meet the need for a society which would foster discussion and argument on literary matters.

The group meets weekly at their own and some faculty homes, to discuss diverse writers and their works.

CIVIL LIBERTIES UNION

The Civil Liberties Union, formed by the late Dr. Sedgewick, is concerned with the protection of racial and religious minorities.

Last year the club began work on a questionnaire to be presented this term to high school students, sounding their opinion of "Liberty and Law in Canada." Very active internally as well, the club sponsored films and a series of speakers on the Indian question.

The Union annually presents the Garnett Sedgewick plaque to a person who has made a notable contribution to the work of civil liberties.

CLU has a delegate appointed to the Vancouver Civic Unity Council which is working on a Fair Employment Practices Act for B.C.

CLASSICS CLUB

To encourage further interest in the classics, through discussion and the presentation of papers, is the purpose of the Classics Club. Ancient and modern aspects of the classics are discussed at monthly meetings.

CURLING CLUB

A newly formed organization at UBC, the Curling Club, offers competitive opportunities for campus rinksters.

Membership is open to both students and faculty and will be limited only by the amount of rink space made available to the club by city rinks.

Tournaments with other universities are being planned.

DANCE CLUB

The Dance Club, organized in 1949 with 20 members, has now grown to the modest size of approximately 700 and shows no signs of atrophying, since improved facilities have been provided for members in the new Brock Extension.

As is to be expected, the prime aim of the club is to promote interest in dancing (in its purer forms) and to provide instruction in more intricate steps to the members. Adequate guidance is afforded for the latter purpose under the auspices of the club's senior members, many of whom earn spare money during the term by offering private instruction to off-campus pupils.

The Dept. of Phys. Ed's Dancing Instructor, Mr. Grant Vincent (the club's adviser), will personally endorse the quality of instruction.

ECONOMICS CLUB

The Economics Club was founded to encourage and assist any students with an active and independent interest in economics. Activities of the club include group research projects, discussions and the presentation of guest speakers.

FENCING CLUB

The fencing club stimulates interest in fencing at

UBC, enabling students to learn to fence, foil, sabre and epee, and provides them with an opportunity to compete with fencers from outside the university in both local and inter-national competition.

The club meets twice weekly in the evenings for instruction and training. Weapons are supplied.

FILM SOCIETY

With its varied noon-hour program of free shows, propaganda movies, comedy film revivals and full-length feature presentations (generally scheduled in co-operation with the English Department) the Film Society provides the campus with a wide scope of darkroom entertainment.

Projectionists are trained by the club's senior members and are on loan to any campus organization requiring their services.

An innovation last year was the club's preparation and showing of a UBC newsfeature. In addition to these more business-like activities, club members enjoy a full social program of dances, parties and lectures.

FOREST CLUB

Since 1929 the Forest Club has provided all wearers of the hard hat, caulked boot, and green sweater with a wide variety of projects and activities. The main objects of the Club are to foster interest in the wide field of forestry among undergraduates and graduates at the University, and to stimulate public interest in this field throughout the province.

Activities include the organization of at least four traditional social events each year: the autumn "Slash Burn", the "Wood Choppers Ball", the "Annual Cut" and the Spring Banquet. There is also a well-balanced program of noon-hour speakers, movies or illustrated talks.

Publication and distribution of a club Annual, and scientific research notes, as well as periodic revision and republication of the "Forestry Handbook for British Columbia", are other important functions of this club.

GEOGRAPHY CLUB

In addition to making various field trips, Geography Club provides lectures, films and discussions on geographical topics.

Highlight of the club's activities last year was a cartographic display at the Vancouver Art Gallery which showed the development and use of maps and map technique.

Membership is open to any student taking a Geography course.

GERMAN CLUB

For students studying German and for German students, the German Club offers a diversified social and educational program. The aim of the club is to introduce German tradition and culture to students on the campus. This is achieved through informative talks by guest speakers and through gay songs and parties. For enthusiastic beginners, informal tape-recording and conversation sessions are held once a week.

HILLEL FOUNDATION

One of the 202 such organizations across the continent, the Hillel Foundation provides the Jewish student with a program of cultural, social and religious activities. It operates on the principle that the patterns of Jewish life are important in the composite of the total community and that the university is enriched through the best Jewish tradition. Hillel sponsors discussion groups and films for all students.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

History through perspective might be called the main motive of the Historical Society. Through men well versed in matters pertaining to history and discussion groups, the Society carries on the quest of knowledge where the classroom leaves off. Membership in the Historical Society is opened to anyone with a keen desire to understand history.

INDIAN STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION

East-West understanding is promoted by the Indian Students' Association, which also attempts to help the local East Indian Community adjust itself to western life.

One of the club's leading purposes is to bring speakers to the campus to give an interpretation of the dynamic, moral and cultural aspects of Eastern philosophy and political enlightenment. This learning is related to the different ideological systems of the world. Last year, Dr. Pandia, a philosopher and eminent barrister, was especially interesting.

All campus Indian students are members of the Association. Informal social gatherings are held throughout the year.

INTERNATIONAL HOUSE

The purpose of International House on the Campus is to enable Canadian and foreign students to become better acquainted. This is achieved by informal social events, talks on Canadian and international affairs, and informal discussions in the club hut which is open all day.

Last year the club had four hundred and fifty members, half of which were Canadians, the other members coming from thirty different nations.

The biggest event on the program is the International House Ball, for which one culture provides the theme. Last year the theme was "Slavonic Slithers". The club also sponsors two semi-formal dances, one each term. Regular informal Friday evening meetings are held in the hut, where socio-educational programs are followed by refreshments and dancing. Other functions include a tea in the Faculty club, a Canadian Christmas party, a post-exam party and a trip to Victoria.

A $150,000 building has just been allotted to the I.H. for their use next year.

THE ISLAMIC CENTRE

Founded at UBC in October '56, the Islamic Centre

undertakes to unite the Muslim students on the campus as well as to inform interested students of the teachings of Islam as laid down in the Holy Koran.

The IC seeks to foster co-operation and mutual understanding with non-Muslim students. Furthering this end, they have elected two non-Muslim students to their executive council.

Plans for the future include the erection of a mosque for devotions. A separate hall will provide a meeting place for members.

JAZZ SOCIETY

The primary aim of Jazzsoc is to promote the understanding and enjoyment of jazz, as an art form, among those who already dig the scene, and also among those poor folk who are not hep.

Because of its wide appeal, this ever-growing club had 450 members last year and was the second largest on campus. In all walks of life one finds the enjoyment of music, and hence the membership of Jazz Society stems from all faculties. Within the club there are those who at first know nothing about jazz, but soon learn to dig, as well as those who have learned to understand its complexities and also those who play jazz.

Jazzsoc's program consists of a lecture and panel discussion series which is held alternately with live sessions at the Tuesday noon meetings. There is, as well, the Auditorium series of concerts, which are free to members, of course, and which feature some of the best jazz entertainment available to-day. Special discussion groups are also held in which many important facets of contemporary and traditional jazz are discussed.

The club does not function on Tuesdays only. Every noon the clubroom is open and members are only too welcome to come and eat their lunches there and listen to the new Hi-fi system. As far as parties are concerned—suffice it to say “they also occur.”

JUNIOR AGRICULTURE INSTITUTE OF CANADA

Guest speakers to the campus presenting talks relating to agriculture and the presentation of research papers by senior Aggie students were part of the Jr. AIC program last year. The group is formed by students registered in Agriculture.

LETTERS CLUB

Now in its 37th year, the Letters Club continues the informal Tuesday evening seminars on the theme that "the study of literature is a joy".

Last session the subjects of the papers ranged from Thucydides to T. S. Eliot and provoked discussions which were appropriately pungent.

Membership is limited to twenty students in their third and fourth years.

UNIVERSITY CLUBS COMMITTEE

The University Clubs Committee (UCC) is composed of one representative from each of the sixty clubs on the campus excepting those which are athletic or come under the Engineering Undergraduate Society.

These clubs foster extra-curricular interests which include the theatre and music, politics, creative writing, debating, religion, languages, photography, and scientific discussions.

The U.C.C. Executive meets weekly to discuss and attempt to solve problems presented to it by the various clubs. These problems are in turn presented to Students' Council by the President of U.C.C.

Each year, the U.C.C. Honorary Society, established to recognize outstanding members, admits to its ranks the students and faculty members, who have brought special honour to the Society. Recipients of these awards are nominated by their respective clubs and the Awards Committee chooses those whose achievements have been most noteworthy.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS' ORGANIZATION

The Lutheran Students' Association is a friendship group for all Lutheran students on campus. Membership is open to all those who are eager to know their fellow students. Discussion groups meet once a week.

MAMOOKS

Mamooks are responsible for the multitude of signs which advertise many of the campus' activities. Mamooks are also called in to help decorate the Armoury, Brock, Lounge, War Memorial Gym and other locations where social events are held.

Professional instruction is offered to anyone who has the talent and desire to partake in Mamooks invaluable campus service. Some attractions for new members are the introduction to air brush technique, silk screen painting, oils and the offer of free admissions to campus affairs for deserving members.

MATHEMATICAL CLUB

Mathematical problems and methods not included in the curriculum and their discussion is the main function of this club. Papers are given at the meetings by professors and members, with a competition for the best paper.

MOCK PARLIAMENT

The Mock Parliament gives members of campus political clubs opportunity to debate under conditions similar to those of the House of Commons, and at the same time attempts to familiarize the student body as a whole with procedure and functioning of the government house.

Last year five lively parliamentary sessions were successfully staged. Highlight of the season was when the Conservatives gave the Thirteen Colonies back to Her Majesty's government and a message was sent to John Foster Dulles asking him to clear up his business within thirty days.

Steering committee of the club schedules parliaments, approves bills and amendments and compiles rules of procedure.

MUSIC CIRCLE

Wednesday and Friday noons see the members of the classical crew gathering in the North Brock Stage Room to listen to obscure works by various composers, via their new hi-fi set, installed last year. At these sessions and at the twice monthly 'at home' meetings, the works are discussed, either by some club member or a prominent outside speaker. Opinion ranges high, but fresh ideas are always welcome, whether they come from visitors or new members.

Anyone able to produce a rhyme for Katchaturian will receive a life membership, free.

MUSIC SOCIETY

Instruction in stagecraft, costuming, make-up and committee work as well as the opportunity to sing in its glee club is offered members of the Music Society.

Principal work of Mussoc each year is the presentation of an operetta which invariably scores an artistic success. The club also stages an annual Christmas concert.

Social activities of the club begin with a get-together banquet and dance. Last year, members held a party at the Stanley Park Pavilion during production of their operetta.

To be introduced this year is the new Choral Society, which will work in close conjunction with the rest of the club, although it will be under a separate executive. Apart from training a better cast for the Mussoc's operetta, the club will present several noon-hour concerts.

NFCUS

The National Federation of Canadian University Students is the co-ordinating body between all Canadian universities. Its aims are: the promotion of inter-university activities, the exchange of ideas and information, and the representation of Canadian universities in all international student affairs.

NFCUS arranges inter-regional scholarships, and promotes such things as the Canadian University Press and the National Debating Union. It was instrumental in obtaining reduced railroad fares for Canadian students.

NFCUS also operates an exchange plan under which a student, going into his third year of university with good marks, can attend another university in Canada or the United States with fees paid, providing he returns to UBC for his final year.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club, for campus Catholic students, presents a three-fold program of social, religious, and intellectual activity.

Monthly communion breakfasts, study groups, and Lenten weekly discussion groups are held throughout the year.

Social activities include a formal dance and several mixers and social parties.

NISEI VARSITY CLUB

This club, started three years ago by Japanese students, is open to any interested student attending U.B.C. Its purposes are to provide social, cultural, and educational opportunities; work in conjunction with other clubs on and off the campus; and to help meet other students and to promote good-will among the students on the campus.

Activities include: frosh reception, bowling nights, dances, parties, and a Graduation Banquet.

PARLIAMENTARY FORUM

Formed to give students an opportunity to express themselves in public debate and to open avenues of interesting discussion, Parliamentary Forum holds weekly noon-hour debates.

Inter-university and inter-faculty debates enable polemical personalities to test their debating skills. Last year the students and faculty discussed with restrained vehemence the sadism evident in hazing; and in the spring debated with a team touring West Point.

Top Forum debaters gain opportunity to take part in the annual McGoun Cup debates for Canadian championship.

PEP CLUB

One of the most active clubs on the campus, is, ironically enough, the Pep Club, which undertakes to decorate the Stadium and Gym for 'Bird games, provide be vies of beautiful cheer leaders and generally promote spirit. This latter was adequately achieved last year through the introduction on campus of the "Snarl" cards, and 'Birds booster Beanies, Buttons and Bumper Banners. (Say that on Saturday night.)

Membership is open, providing the applicant be proven "Strictly for the 'Birds" and can sing five choruses of "Hail UBC."

PHARMACEUTICAL SOCIETY

Students registered in pharmacy are eligible for membership in the Society. Regular meetings are held at which prominent pharmacists and doctors speak on current problems of pharmacy.

PHRATERES

Phrateres is an international democratic organization open to all women on the campus. The aim of Phrateres, Greek for "friendliness", is to uphold the standard and ideals of the university and to foster a spirit of amity among women (only) on campus.

Theta chapter of UBC is divided into eight sub-chapters of 25 girls each. Functions include formals, philanthropic work, socials, and participation in campus athletics. Pledging in October, initiation in January and camp after the spring exams complete the busy year's activities.

At the International Convention in June, Theta chapter was awarded the "most outstanding chapter" plaque amongst 12 chapters on the west coast.

PHYSICS SOCIETY

Papers of interest to students of physics give the members of the Physics Society an opportunity for presentation and discussion of problems. Professors in the Department are members of the society.

PLAYERS' CLUB

Since 1916, the Players' Club has provided exuberant groups of turtle-neck types with the opportunity of producing high calibre plays and at the same time gaining valuable experience in theatrics.

Three one-act plays and one long production are undertaken by the Players each year, in addition to their annual presentation of Eric Nicol's campus classic, "Her Sciencceman Lover" during Freshman week.

Following spring exams, the Players' Club takes its full-length play on a tour of the province.

POLITICAL CLUBS

All possible combinations and permutations of political prejudice are represented on UBC campus in the form of lively, hyper-active 'cells', which meet periodically in the Brock Extension to exchange blows and, occasionally, opinions. Favorite topic used to be 'what is wrong with Canada'. Of course we all knew what was wrong with Canada . . . but it isn't any more is it, C. D.?

PRE-LAW SOCIETY

The Pre-Law Society has been formed for the purpose of stimulating interest in matters pertaining to law and the practice of law in the Province of British Columbia. Membership is open to all students registered in the Faculty of Arts and to students registered in the Faculty of Commerce who intend to graduate in the Faculty of Law. The Pre-Law Society enables its members to familiarize themselves with various legal problems and their influence on society today. Throughout the term distinguished members of the Vancouver Bar Association will be invited to speak to the members on subjects relating to labor laws, divorce, capital punishment, etc., during the noon hour.

PRE-MEDICAL SOCIETY

The Pre-Med Society is open to any student planning on graduating in Medicine. It is designed to better orient the members in their future profession, providing films, lectures and field trips to local clinics and labs. Their program also includes sponsorship of dances, informal parties, and participation in inter-mural athletics.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

From neurosis to psychosis and back again, the Psychology Club offers psychology students a chance to get a better grasp of this new science by means of discussions and talks by men prominent in the field.

RADIO AND TELEVISION SOCIETY

The University Radio and Television Society (Rad-soc), housed in the South Brock basement, publicizes the university by producing and distributing UBC Digest, Birdland and other half hour programs about UBC to radio stations throughout the province. Last year it instituted the filming of the year's sports events and a special TV digest for release in Vancouver.

Daily activity includes a closed circuit hook-up which provides music and chatter to the Brock Lounge and several of the clubrooms in the huts.

SLAVONIC CIRCLE

The Slavonic Circle is devoted to the study of the customs and culture of the people of the Slavic countries. Lectures and discussions are held at weekly meetings.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS CLUB

Awareness of the basic problems existing in present day society and the manifestations of these fundamental disorders is the chief aim of the Social Problems Club. By presenting well-known speakers and sponsoring debates, the members of the club hope to attain a better insight into today's upset world.

STUDENT CHRISTIAN MOVEMENT

The SCM is a fellowship open to all students whose purpose it is to seek truth, to understand and live the Christian life and discover the loyalty to God through Jesus Christ. Study groups, noon-hour discussions and informal meetings discuss these aspects of Christianity.

UNDERGRADUATE WRITERS' WORKSHOP

This is a club for those interested in creative writing. The club meets regularly to discuss the work of members. All writing forms, from factual essay to dramatic work and verse, are considered. Members of the English department, who are themselves writers and interested in writing, direct the club. Those wishing to join the club are required to submit samples of their work. U.W.W. will have a booth on Clubs' Day—watch for it.

UNITED NATIONS CLUB

Through weekly meetings and planned activities, the United Nations Club attempts to direct and stimulate interest in current world topics.

The UN program during the year includes staging of a UN Model General Assembly, UN Day on campus, a sharp and witty International Law Symposium, and a UN Regional Conference in Brock Hall, as well as the presentation of numerous prominent world speakers.

The UN Club is affiliated with the Collegiate Council of the United Nations, an international Canadian-American Council of all campus UN clubs and sub-organization of the International Student Movement for the United Nations.

VARSAITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

The purpose of the Varsity Christian Fellowship is to make Christianity a real and meaningful force in the lives of students of all denominations; its purpose is "to know Christ and to make Him known." The membership of this group averages approximately sixty-five. Throughout the school year Bible studies, prayer meetings, conferences and a carol service are organized, and speakers are sponsored weekly.

Despite the wide and varied social program of the V.C.F., the emphasis is spiritual in all phases, and the challenge of following Christ upheld.

VARSITY OUTDOOR CLUB

The object of the Varsity Outdoor Club is to promote interest in all outdoor activities, especially skiing and mountaineering. The club has a modern cabin on Mt. Seymour with a large lounge and accommodation in men's and women's dormitories for 120 people. On campus the V.O.C. clubroom is situated behind Brock Hall.

The V.O.C. has numerous weekend activities—climbing and ski trips to local areas such as Mt. Baker, Manning Park, and Crown Mountain. There are also club races, and every Spring a trip to Garibaldi Park. The V.O.C. is active in the summer with trips to local mountains, and as far afield as the Rockies.

To join, prospective new members must attend one of two membership hikes and do two days' work at the cabin. The fee is $7.00. Every Thanksgiving weekend a 3-day membership hike is held open to everyone. The usual club membership is 150.

VISUAL ARTS CLUB

Classes in drawing, sculpture, pottery and lectures by well known personalities in the field of Fine Arts make the Visual Arts Club one of the most productive organizations on campus. Classes held in the library basement offer students ample space to let their creative abilities flourish.

WOMEN'S UNDERGRADUATE SOCIETY

As members of WUS, all women on campus automatically participate in its many functions throughout the year. With the help of their "big sisters" freshettes are introduced to the university during the Frosh Orientation week.

This year's program for WUS includes lecture series on topics of interest to women (men), the annual hi-jinx, the fall barn dance, co-ed day and dance, the February fashion show, and the WUS-WAA spring banquet.

The President of WUS represents all campus women on the Students' Council. Her committee is composed of assorted types from the undergraduate societies, the women's athletic association, phrateres, the honorary sorority, pan-hellenic, and the dorms, while her executive is elected at the WUS annual spring meeting.

CERCLE FRANCAIS

A delightfully mad group which induces prospective members with free wine and entertains its regulars with bashes like the "Picasso Panic".

Ostensibly the club's purpose is to encourage conversational French and to promote interest in France and French-speaking countries.

EL CIRCULO

A main feature of this Spanish-speaking club is Las Charlas, a bi-weekly gathering where students brush up their Spanish and become familiar with the culture of Latin America. Special attention is paid to the latest popular songs and newest dances south of the border.

Recently El Circulo acquired an orchestra of its own, the "Mambo Masters", and the result is bright, lively music at the monthly fiestas.

WORLD UNIVERSITY SERVICE COMMITTEE

World University Service is an international organization operated by students and faculty in 37 countries for the promotion of the interests of the university community at large.

The organization seeks to achieve its aim through

- (a) material assistance to fellow members in immediate need;
- (b) sharing of knowledge and experience;
- (c) bringing together students and staff from member nations by scholarships, seminars and study tours.

W.U.S. Committee at U.B.C. has stressed the latter aspect of the international program, and we are presently offering more scholarships to foreign students than all other Canadian Committees combined.

This year W.U.S.C. at U.B.C. will receive five students, from Germany, Malaya, Nigeria and South Africa. By exchange arrangement, U.B.C. students will go to all of these countries.

Publications

being a wordy exposition of the collegiate press
its muses, uses and abuses.

Publications

The Publications Board is a conglomeration of students, mostly Arts types (plus one engineer), who are: A. talented writers who intend to go into journalism after graduation; (or) B. talented writers who intend to study ichthyology or higher mathematics after graduation; (or) C. talented parasites who can't find any other spot except the Publications Offices where they can eat their lunches while enjoying a maximum of entertainment and a minimum of mental labour. Aside from the talented pub types there is the engineer.

Most of these very talented persons write and report for the thrice weekly Ubysey. Reporters from first year on are sent out to cover the multiple happenings of the U.B.C. campus each day, then set to writing the news, re-writing the news, re-re-writing the news, and finally throwing the whole mess together in a four-page newspaper. The next morning they have the questionable reward of watching non-pubsters (there are still a few such types on the campus—especially around the Engineering building) queue up before the Quad, Bus Stop, Med. Building, Physics Building, Education College, Gymnasium, Library, Brock Hall Students' Council Office, and Law Building for their very own Ubysey copy.

Other members of the publications board draw cartoons of varying degrees of humour, compose editorials and signed columns, type other people's copy, plan layout, write heads, take photographs, or plan parties. The last duty is given as reward for hard labour and is the property of those persons whose hard labouring fathers have managed to buy a house large enough to hold Ubysey pubsters (and the engineer).

The Ubysey operates from the north basement suite of historic Brock Hall the first. Except for the Ladies John, the entire end of the basement belongs to pubsters and janitors (and engineers, of course).

But the Publications Office in toto actually extends beyond this holy vestibule. Publications staffers also produce a yearly Totem, a glorified annual; this indispensable handbook you're now reading; another handbook full of everybody's names and phonenumber; and at least one magazine quarterly.

The Totem, just chock full of dandy pictures of you being thrown in the lilypond and full-size photos of campus queens and nice little snaps of each student who manages to finish registration, is planned and edited in a garret in the Extension to Brock Hall. Edited this year by Norm Pearson, the weighty volumes will be on sale at reduced prices until mid-October and at normal prices when they are distributed prior to Easter exams.

The handbooks, edited and compiled by Brad Crawford over the past summer and during registration, are strung together in various out-of-the-way offices in Brock Hall. Raven and Pique, the serious and the humorous literary magazines, are written by you. Your essays, your poems, your short stories, and your jokes are edited by Ted Nicholzen for Raven and (as yet unknown) for Pique. Either of these persons can be contacted in the Publications Offices in the North Brock Basement where they will periodically set up office.

All these publications require staffers, talented or otherwise. Joe-jobs exist all over the place—even you can be accommodated. Especially if you live in a big house suitable for parties. And even if you intend to enter Engineering next year, the Publications Board will welcome you to its dandy little fold. Come and see for yourself.

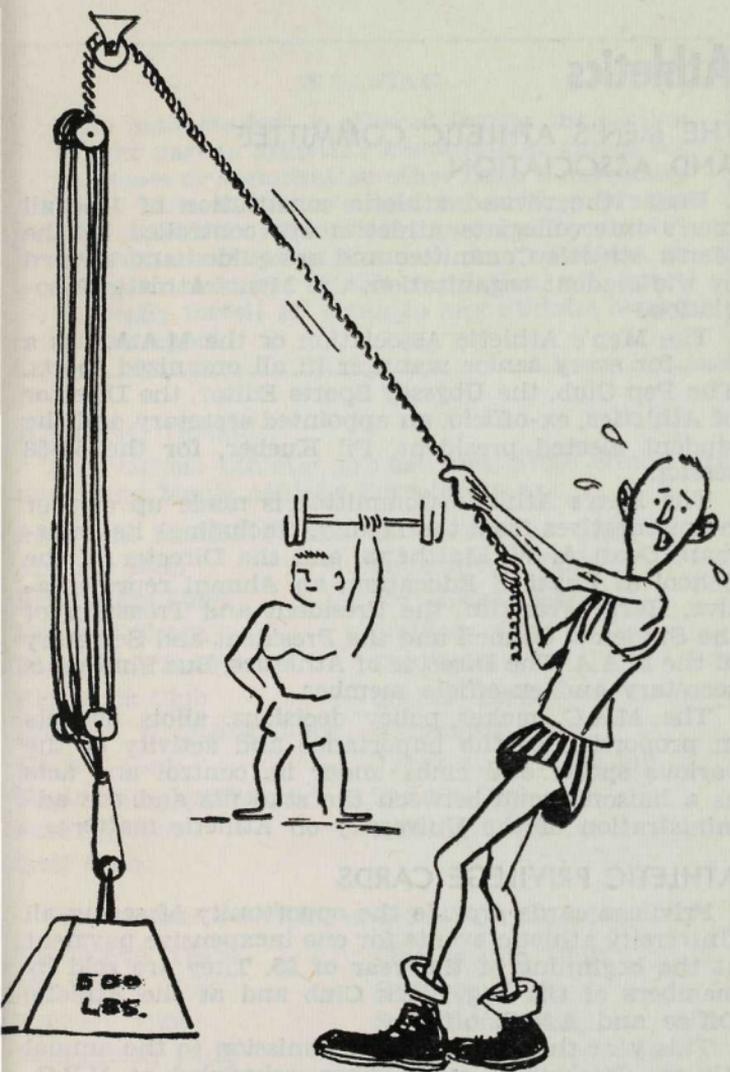

Meanwhile the Ubysey has a deadline to meet, so while you're contemplating membership take note of the following:

1. Letters to the editor must not exceed 150 words. The editors retain the prerogative to decide whether or not any letter is to be published.
2. Under an agreement with the AMS, the Ubysey publishes meeting and activity notices under the heading "Tween Classes." This year all "Tween Classes" notices are compiled and edited by members of the UCC executive, and must be handed in to a box in the Student Council Office marked (oddly enough) "Tween Classes" by 1:30 the day before the release of the Ubyyssey in which the notice is to appear.

3. Lost and found notices and Classified advertisements must be handed in by 1:30 the day previous to publication to the receptionist at the AMS Office.

The Ubyyssey cannot guarantee publication of notices which are not handed in in accordance to these regulations

Athletics

THE MEN'S ATHLETIC COMMITTEE AND ASSOCIATION

Under the revised athletic constitution of 1954 all men's intercollegiate athletics are controlled by the Men's Athletic Committee and are guided and advised by the student organization, the Men's Athletic Association.

The Men's Athletic Association or the M.A.A. has a seat for every senior manager in all organized sports, The Pep Club, the Ubysey Sports Editor, the Director of Athletics, ex-officio, an appointed secretary and the student elected president, Fil Kueber, for the 57-58 session.

The Men's Athletic Committee is made up of four representatives from the faculty, (including) its chairman, Dean A. W. Matthews, and the Director of the School of Physical Education, an Alumni representative, Harry Franklin, the President and Treasurer of the Students' Council and the President and Secretary of the M.A.A. The Director of Athletics, Bus Phillips, is secretary and ex-officio member.

The M.A.C. makes policy decisions, allots budgets in proportion to the importance and activity of the various sports and clubs under its control and acts as a liaison group between the students and the administration of the University on Athletic matters.

ATHLETIC PRIVILEGE CARDS

Privilege cards provide the opportunity of seeing all University athletic events for one inexpensive payment at the beginning of the year of $5. They are sold by members of the Big Block Club and at the Athletic Office and A.M.S. office.

This year they include free admission to the annual Alberta Basketball series when scheduled at U.B.C., the two World Cup rugby matches between U.B.C. and the University of California as well as all scheduled university athletic contests.

WARNING

No male student is allowed during the session to take part in athletic competition or games for any team or organization other than a university team without the consent in writing of the Men's Athletic Directorate approved by resolution of the Student Council. Any students so doing in violation of this regulation will automatically forfeit all claim to any athletic award in any sport.

ATHLETIC TEAMS

The various athletic groups and clubs which are under the Men's Athletic Directorate are:

American Football Team	Grass Hockey Club
Archery Club	Gymnasium Club
Badminton Club	Ice Hockey Club
Baseball Team	Outdoor Club
Basketball Teams	Ski Team
Big Block Club	Soccer Teams
Boxing - Wrestling Clubs	Swimming Club
Cricket Club	Track and Field Club

The various activities under WAD include:

Basketball Team	Gymnasium Club
Big Block Club	Outdoor Club
Archery Club	Swimming Club
Badminton Club	Track Club
Fencing Club	Tennis Club
Golf Club	Fish and Game Club
Grass Hockey Club	Ski Club

BIG BLOCK CLUBS

The Men's Big Block Club is composed of those campus athletes who have won their Big Blocks in Varsity sports. The two organizations help to bolster campus spirit for different sport activities.

The Women's Club, unlike the Men's Society, is not a service club. It is set up more in the form of an honorary club whose function is mostly social.

Membership to a Big Block Club is judged and decided by the Awards Committee and is based mainly on favorable performance in athletics.

BOBBY GAUL MEMORIAL AWARD

Before his passing away in 1935, Robert William Gaul endeared himself to all with whom he was associated by his kindly consideration and courageous spirit. Two of his teammates, wishing to perpetuate his name in University athletics invited other friends to participate in providing funds for a suitable memorial. The response was instant and a trophy of burnished copper was procured and is known as the Bobby Gaul Memorial Trophy.

Regulations governing eligibility for the award are that the student must be in his final undergraduate year, or if a graduate, he must be taking full time academic work at the University. Qualities to be looked for in making selection for award are: Sportsmanship, consideration and unselfishness, balance, excellence, quiet enthusiasm and cheerfulness, loyalty, will to win and courage.

EVERGREEN CONFERENCE

Going into their seventh year of Evergreen conference play, UBC's intercollegiate teams are steadily gaining a foothold amongst other universities of the Northwest. Members of the Conference are:

College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Washington.
Pacific Lutheran College, Parkland, Washington.
Whitworth College, Spokane, Washington.
Eastern Washington College, Chaney, Washington.

Western Washington College, Bellingham, Wash.
Central Washington College, Ellensburg, Wash.
St. Martin's College, Spokane, Washington.
University of British Columbia, Vancouver, B.C.

INTRAMURALS (MEN)

The intramural program under the Department of Physical Education aims to provide an opportunity for all students to compete in organized athletic sports and to participate in wholesome recreation.

To enter a group, i.e., an ex-high school or faculty club, there must be a minimum of twenty-five players and a ten dollar ($10) registration fee. This fee is necessary to pay referees and to rent equipment which is needed for the program. Entry forms or further information will be supplied at the Intramural office in the School of Physical Education, Memorial Gymnasium.

Competitions include, basketball, volleyball, softball, soccer, tennis, golf, table tennis, cross-country, badminton, skiing and track and field.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC DIRECTORATE

The Women's Athletic Directorate serves similar functions as that of its brother MAD but has jurisdiction over the women's athletics while working hand in hand with the WUS Administration of Women's athletics and governing of intramural and extramural programs are its chief functions.

HAIL, U.B.C.

(Verse)

We wear the blue and gold of the victors,
We are the men of the U.B.C.
All other teams acknowledge us masters.
We are strong in adversity.
Work for the day and work for the morrow,
We are the ones will do our share.
Shouting in joy and silent in sorrow,
Bravery conquers care.

(Chorus)

Hail! U.B.C.
Our glorious University.
You stand for aye
Between the mountains and the sea;
All through life's way,
Let's sing Kla-how-yah Varsity
Tuum Est wins the day
And we'll push on to victory.

HAROLD KING,
Education '32.

ALMA MATER HYMN

Alma Mater, by the dwelling
There is set the western sea,
Mountains shed their benediction
On the hopes that rest in thee.
Alma Mater, to thy children
In the spring-time of their years,
Grant the faith that grows from knowledge,
Courage that makes light of fears,
Alma Mater, thou hast kinship
With the great of bygone days,
And the voices of our fathers
Join with ours to sing thy praise.

ENGLISH RUGBY TEAM'S SONG

Hail! Hail! the gang's all here,
What the hell do we care,
What the hell do we . . .
We are the Rugby Club, stand all in line,
We're going to yell, yell like hell.

We're going to fight, fight for every yard,
We'll beat Victoria Rep so very hard
That there'll be fifteen corpses on the sod,
With a Rah! Rah! Rah!

MY GIRL'S A HULLABALOO

My girl's a hullabaloo,
She wears the Gold and Blue;
She goes to Varsity too
Just like the others do.

(Chorus)

And in my future life
She's going to be my future wife.
How in hell d'ja find that out?
She told me so.

She goes to all the games
Just like the other dames
I fork out all the change
Just like the others do.

She goes to all the shows,
Wears all the latest clothes,
Powders her little nose,
What for, nobody knows.

When she goes walking
She does the talking
I do the squeezing,
She does the teasing.

As we grow older,
She will grow bolder,
And she will hold her
Head on my shoulder.

CASEY JONES

(Engineers' Song)

Come all you freshmen if you want to hear
The story of a brave engineer;
He started to college in the fall of thirty-three,
Why he took up engineering is a mystery to me.

(Chorus)

Casey Jones couldn't hold his liquor,
Casey Jones couldn't hold his beer,
Casey Jones never got through college
He never got through college 'cause he couldn't hold his beer.

Casey Jones was the engineers' pride
In football or hockey he always saved his side
He was a whiz in classwork, his reports were always clear,
But he never got his parchment 'cause he couldn't hold his beer.

Casey's career looked free from want or need
 The dean would pat him on the head and say, "You're bright indeed."
 He came to grief as all youth do, ne'er became an engineer,
 And the reason for his failure was, he couldn't hold his beer.
 The grad class held their dinner in the Red and White hall,
 They all got pickled tight that night and Casey worst of all.
 They wired to his folks next day, the message read,
 "Come here,
 Your son cashed in his chips last night; he couldn't hold his beer."
 Casey said, just before he died,
 To the engineers who mournfully were standing by his side
 "Erect a tablet in the halls, engrave these letters clear:
 "Never come to colleges if you cannot hold your beer."
 NOTE—There are several other popular songs on the campus (especially among the Engineers) which space does not permit us to print.

SONG OF THE GLEN WHORPLE HIGHLANDERS

(Marching song of Canadian Scottish and other Canadian units)

There's a braw fine regiment as ilka mon should ken,
They are deevils at the fetchen, they ha'e clured a sight
o' men,
And ha'e suppit muckle whusky when the canteen they gang ben
The Hielan men frae braw Glen Whorple!

(Chorus)

HEUCH! Glen Whorple, Hielan men!
Great strong whusky suppin Hielan men, for they were Hard workin, hairy leggit Hielan men,
Slainte mhor, Glen Whorple!

They were founded by McAdam who of a' men was fairst,
He resided in Gleneden, whaur he pipit like tae burst,
Wi' a fig leaf for a sporrان, and a pairfect Hielan thirst,
Till he stole awa' the apples frae Glen Whorple!

When the watters o' the deluge drookit a' the world o'er
The Colonel o' the regiment, his name was Shaun
McNoah

Sae a muckle boat he biggit and he sniggit up the door,
And they sailed awa' frae drooned Glen Whorple!

And syne he sent a Corporal and gert him find the land,
Wha he returned wi' an empty whusky bottle in his hand,
Sae they kent the flood was dryin', he was fu' ye understand,
For he found a public house abune the water!

When the good King Solomon was ruler o' the Glen,
He had a hundred pipers and a thousand fechten men,
And a might fine establishment I'll hae no doot ye ken
For he kept a sight o' wives in auld Glen Whorple!

Then there cam a birkie bangster, wha was chieften o'
the clan
His name it twas Wallace an' he was a fechten man,
An' he harrie a' the border, an' awa the southron ran,
Frae the dingin o' the claymores o' Glen Whorple!

When the bonnie pipes are skirlin an' the lads are on parade,
In the braw Glen Whorple tartan, wi' the Claymore an'
the plaid
When the Sergeant-major's sober, an' the Colonel's no afraid,
O' seein tartan spiders in Glen Whorple!

Eh, a bonnie sicht they mak, but gin the canteen ye gan ben,
When the morn's parade is over, she'd be fu' o' drunken men
An' a thousand canty kilties will be settin' doon the Glen
For they drink a power o' whusky in Glen Whorple!
