JACK GRANT REPORTS ON CONFERENCE

President of Alma Mater Returns from Los Angeles—Many Topics Relative to Student Problems Discussed

Jack Grant, President of the Alma Mater Society, returned last Wednesday from California where he attended the fifth semi-annual conference of the Pacific Student Presidents' Association. The conference was held at Los Angeles, November 8, 9 and 10, the University of Southern California acting as host.

The delegates were quartered in fraternity houses on the campus and a hearty, generous reception was extended to all attending. Les Cummings, President of the Southern Branch, University of California, and Harry Silke, President of the University of Southern California, who were in charge of all arrangements, were especially mentioned by Jack for the excellent entertainment provided.

His visit to Hollywood was vividly described by the president, though he failed to get his picture taken with "Doug" and "Mary." He was fortunate enough to see the big game between U. of Southern California and U. of California in the stadium at Los Angeles and was particularly impressed by the "rooting" of the team supporters.

The first meeting of the conference was held on Thursday, November 8th, at the University Club, Mr. W. Monahan, of the University of California, President of the Association, being in the chair. Some of the topics discussed at this and following meetings were as follows:

Men and Women Students Take Part in Informal Debate on Interesting Subject

An event of interest in the history of the Women's and Men's Lit. took place last Wednesday evening when the two societies held a joint meeting for the first time. It has been suggested by many that the two societies amalgamate and the precedent set on Wednesday last was in the nature of an experiment.

The meeting took the form of an open debate, the subject being, "Resolved, that the East Indians in B. C. should be given the franchise." Mr. Lorne Morgan, president of the men's section took the chair. He announced that there would probably be another

Who wins Rhodes Scholarship.

Mr. Garrett Livingstone, Arts '24, was appointed 1924 Rhodes Scholar for B. C. by the Selection Committee, which announced its choice on Tuesday evening. Mr. Livingstone was selected from a field of thirteen competitors.

This appointment is extremely popular among the student body. Garrett has been known particularly as a brilliant athlete, having been track champion twice, and an outstanding members of Varsity track teams. His scholastic standing has been exceptionally high during his attendance at U. B. C. He has taken a prominent part in the activities of the Players' Club, being vice-president this year. Last year he was very active in the student campaign.

Varsity Ruggers Win by Eight Points in Saturday Match—Buchanan, Ternan and McLean Play Star Game

Varsity ruggers defeated Native Sons 14-6 on Saturday. The Varsity team gave a splendid account of itself although handicapped by the absence of Bill Cameron and Palmer, who were out through injuries.

Native Sons kicked off and after end to end play their scrum went over Varsity's line, with McFarlane and Brown on the ball. McFarlane failed to convert. After several minutes of play Buchanan evened the score with a spectacular run. Val failed to convert.

The Varsity threes were playing nicely and Ternan got the ball as far as the line after a long run. Shortly afterwards Warren got away, and after a clever run circled and deposited the ball between the posts. Val converted. Varsity had the edge during the remainder of the half.

Early in the second half, the Ralston brothers, after a neat combination play, went over for the Sons, McFarlane failed to convert. Varsity came back hard and McLean carried the ball to the line where he was brought down. Ternan recovered the

BUY TICKETS FOR CANDIDA IMMEDIATELY

Three Hundred Out of Five Hundred Seats Reserved for Students—Tickets Obtained from Members of Players' Club

Tickets are now on sale for the performance of Candida. They may be obtained from any member of the Players' Club at the reduced price of 55 cents for students. Three hundred out of the available five hundred are being reserved for students until Monday; after that date they will be offered to the public, as it is necessary that the Club make good its contract.

This is the first time Candida has been performed professionally in Vancouver. It is to be played here by the Moroni-Olsen Company, which is at present on a circuit extending over a month's tour. Regarding the recent performance in Tacoma, the Tacoma "News Tribune" says: "Every seat in the house was taken and the great audience was in a mood to appreciate and enjoy the finished work of the players. There were many curtain calls and much spontaneous applause was accorded to the clever little human drama. Mr. Moroni-Olsen himself, one of the outstanding figures of the stage today, with his magnificent presence, his voice of wonderful richness, his fine poise and command of his role, played the part of the big boy parson, and was at all times irreproachable in his presentation of the character."

This is an especially fine opportunity for students to see the play and it is hoped that they will avail themselves of it. There is a great demand for tickets from outsiders, but the Players' Club wish that the University should have the benefit of the performance, as far as they wish to take advantage of it.

XMAS PLAYS

If You Are Colour-blind Watch Your Step

For the benefit of those students still in doubt, let it be emphasized that the blue tickets are for Thursday night alone, and the green and pink ones for Saturday. None other will be accepted.

The doors will be open at 7.50, the curtain rising at 8.15. The performance will be over at 11 o'clock. Let it again be repeated that none but students attending the University may use student tickets, all the more so as accommodation is limited.

Students studying in the library during the performances are asked to make no noise in the corridors. This distracts the attention both of the players and of the audience.

MUSICAL CLUB HOLDS CONCERT

General Improvement Shown In Both Chorus and Orchestra—Some Features of Programme Criticized

The Musical Society of the University gave its Christmas concert on Saturday night to what was practically a capacity audience. A change was made in the usual style of programme. The orchestra and chorus had relatively little place in the concert; on the other hand a large number of individual artists had an opportunity of displaying their talents and incidentally of delighting their numerous hearers.

Mr. Grant, the popular conductor of the Musical Society, is to be congratulated on the body of musicians he has got together this year. Both chorus and orchestra are stronger numerically this year than last year. The balance in the parts is dynamically and musically much better, and the response to the baton shows at once greater alertness on the part of the performers and careful training by an efficient conductor. The system of testing voices and instruments for a place in the organization is justifying itself, and further advance in the matter of standards should place the Musical Society in a position to bear comparison with similar organizations in the city.

While the advance on the performance of last year is marked, some words of kindly censure may help to accelerate the rate of improvement year by year. It should never be forgotten that the standard of excellence demanded of an organization bearing the name of the University is at least that of the best amateur musical societies in the Province. Considering the fact that a great many of both orchestra and chorus must have been performing under a baton for the first

Students Accept Invitation From University Club

The University Club of Vancouver extended a cordial invitation to all third and fourth year men to visit the club last Saturday Night. On that evening the Reading Room, the Billiard Room, and the Card Room were placed at the disposal of the visitors. Those men who availed themselves of the Club's invitation have expressed their appreciation of the excellent appointments of the club rooms, the library being particularly worthy of praise.

The Directors of the Club plan to lay a proposal before the Students' Council, whereby junior and senior men may enjoy the privileges of membership, on payment of a purely nominal fee. The Directors hope to be able to complete their plan in the course of a few days.

Frosh Class Party

Who says the Freshies are green? They certainly aren't when it comes to giving parties. Ask any one of the noisy, happy bunch who trudged out of the auditorium at midnight, last Friday.

The auditorium and rooms X and Y were artistically decorated with flags and streamers of blue and gold; the stage was prettily brightened with lighted trellises and bunches of balloons, while chesterfields, easy chairs and piano lamps were placed in advantageous corners of X. An illuminated "27" was placed at one side of the stage, and at times daintily colored spot lights played on the gay dresses of the Freshettes.

Early in the evening Jack Grant announced that the color contrast of bright green ties and fresh-colored complexions of the Freshies would have to be endured no more by the color-sensitive upper years. Loud cheers! Later a fine supper was served by our own cafeteria, and while "Lee's little boys" were having their refreshment, an amateur orchestra, improvised from among those present, performed very adeptly.

After supper the party became quite hilarious. Tin frogs chirped from unexpected places, the loud blasts of tin horns rent the air, and whirling couples became inextricably bound in serpentine tape.

The patronesses and those representing the faculty were: Mrs. Coleman, Miss Bollert, Dr. and Mrs. Sedgewick, Miss McGuire, and Mr. Hunter Lewis.

SUNDAY S.C.M. MEETING

The first of a series of Sunday meetings of the S.C.M. was held last Sunday at the home of Gerald Kerr. At this meeting, the question of immigration, Oriental and otherwise, was discussed. It is the intention of the united S. C. M's to deal with World Problems and their relation to Christianity.

S.C.M. DISCUSSION GROUPS (Men's Section)

Two new groups have been formed, the first of which will commence on November 20th, and meet every Tuesday at 10 a.m. in Dr. Sedgewick's office; the other will be held every Wednesday, starting November 21st, at 11 a.m. in Dr. Eastman's office. All interested are asked to attend one or other of these groups.

AT THE ORPHEUM

Kronos, strongest man in the world, has amazed Vancouver audiences this week with his remarkable feats of physical power and endurance, at the Orpheum theatre. He is headline attraction on a bill of very pleasing vaudeville which includes some other big acts. The new bill which opens next Wednesday night features May Worth, idol of the circus, who appears in what is billed as "A Horseical Frolic." Other splendid acts include Mollie Fuller, a blind actress, whose wonderful work in "Twilight," a playlet specially written for her, has a strong appeal; Jim & Betty Morgan who sing songs "differently"; Signor Friscoe, popular phonograph artist; Ryan & Lee with a nonsensical but entertaining comedy offering; Beege & Qupee who have a European novelty act, and the Four Aces with Queen, in a sensational flying exhibition. The usual attractive pictures and concert orchestra are other features.

President's Report.

Nearly all colleges represented have been active in attempting to overcome "clique rule," a problem arising from the tendency of members of fraternities and other campus organizations to form social groups. The system of class draws now common here was explained and met with a great deal of surprise and hearty applause.

Freshman Discipline.—This question was discussed at some length and the general opinion was that the Frosh should be given nearly equal status with members of other years and a greater responsibility than heretofore. A motion to abolish all forms of hazing was passed unanimously. The U. B.C. system of freshmen discipline was outlined and commended.

The honor system was dealt with and the necessity of involved organization to popularize and establish it was shown.

The tendency to overload a few capable students with executive work was reported from all colleges. Several devices, such as the point system, have been drawn up and applied but have been found too mechanical, and generally unsatisfactory.

General dissatisfaction with the policy of paying students holding offices was expressed. The one common exception to this rule is the payment of salaries to the members of the publications staffs.

A resolution was adopted condemning the attendance of students for the sole purpose of participating in athletics. The expulsion of freshmen at the end of the first term was reported by all the colleges represented, and the University authorities were unanimously supported in thus upholding the academic standard.

The University of B. C. enjoys as great a measure of student government as any college represented at the conference. It was felt that student control of discipline should be complete, and student government should be extended as far as possible, maintaining at the same time the greatest possible co-operation with faculty.

Mr. Grant expressed himself as very much in favor of keeping up the association of the University of B. C. with the other universities comprising the Association. Though the problems of these colleges are often different to those encountered at B. C., each succeeding president will be greatly aided in his work by thus getting in touch with the leaders of other student bodies.

SCIENCE '24

The Science '24 Class Party will take place on the 24th of November. It has been decided to accept Dr. Davidson's kind invitation to hold the party in his home. All members of the class anticipate a particularly pleasant evening.

Mr. P. B. Stroyan has been elected to the position of class reporter.

Last Saturday morning, Science '24 and '25 were feasted by Arts '27, in return for services in connection with the Arts '27 Class Party. The Science men, who had an excellent feed, wish to express their appreciation of the good things provided.

Point Grey Defeated by Second Team

U. B. C. rang up its first league points on Saturday by inflicting defeat upon Point Grey. From the start Varsity had the better of the play, having the ball almost in the goal-mouth several times before Underwood scored with a speedy shot. The half ended with each team having its share of the play.

The second half had hardly started when Cant made the score two-nil with a shot that gave the goalie no chance. Point Grey now put heart, soul, and boots into the game, and great credit is due to Davidson that he kept the score down, letting one through that the fullbacks had missed entirely. Play was of the give and take variety till the end of the game.

Lineup—Davidson, Disney, Butler, Fanning, Meuylaert, Ledingham, Hope, Newcombe, Cant, Underwood, Evans.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

On Wednesday 14th the first interclass basketball game took place when the freshettes beat the seniors to the tune of 24-15. Because of superior combination the victors had the edge all through the game, but Arts '24 put up a good fight. The teams were: Arts '24—Isabel McKinnon, Verna Turner, Dorothy Peck, Laura Archibald and Ethel McLean. Arts '27—Margaret Ryan, Patricia Robinson, Katharine Reid, Irene Carnworth, Jean Gilley and Margaret Roe.

On Friday, Arts '26 won a hard-fought game against Arts '25. The final score was 10-9, showing how evenly matched the teams were. The players were: Arts '26—Alda Moffat, Winona Straight, Grace Swencisky, Dorothy Williams and Doris McKay. Arts '25—Isabel Russell, Doris Shorney, Margery Bell, Kathleen Inglis and Cecilia Williamson.

A meeting was held Thursday noon, at which it was decided that a girls' track club should be formed. This club, at the annual track meet at Brockton Point, will stage, besides the usual relay race, such events as the 75 and 100-yard dashes, high and running broad jump, hitting the hockey ball, etc. The following officers were elected: President, Isabel McKinnon; vice-president, Isabel Russell; secretary-treasurer, Winona Straight.

VARSITY THIRD TEAM LOSES TO DUNDAS IN TIGHT GAME

Hard luck and a thick fog kept Varsity from making a better showing against Dundas last Saturday. As it was, the score was 3-0.

Varsity kicked off and in spite of the soggy state of the ground the game in the first half was fast. After half an hour's play, in which neither side had an advantage. Dundas registered the best goal of the game from a low cross close in. Varsity started a rally but a miskick by the fullback left the goal open, and Dundas scored its second counter. Varsity had control of the ball the rest of the period, but was unable to score.

Dundas scored again on a rebound from a penalty at the beginning of the second half. The fog was so dense that it was impossible to see half the length of the field, and the game slowed down. The final whistle blew with Varsity pressing hard.

Line-up—Sutherland, Ledingham, Davies, Miller, Heaslip, Taylor, Smith, Spencer, Partridge, Irwin and Black.

Normals Whitewashed By Intermediates

Varsity Intermediate took the Normal rugby squad into camp when they won a regular league fixture at Bridge Street grounds on Saturday afternoon, by a one-sided score of 23 to 3. The game was poor on account of loose play and very uncertain kicking and passing. Varsity was one or two men shy throughout, and this upset the balance of both the forward and back divisions. The Normals on the other hand were for the most part, inexperienced and did not know what to do with the ball when they had it.

In the first period the play was much more even than later, and touches by Gord Lewis and Louden, both of which were unconverted, put Varsity 6 points up at the intermission. In the final half the Intermediates went on the rampage and went through for five more touches of which only one was converted. Shortly before the final whistle, Lynch of the Normalites reached touch for their only try.

The Varsity line-up was: Gross; Louden, Lewis, Mathews, Murphy, Demidoff, Edgett, Goodwin, McPherson, Giggs, Hunter, Harkness. Luyat, Hatch and Hardie.

VARSITY DEFEATS ST. ANDREWS

In an exhibition game played at Braemar Park, Varsity vanquished the Saints eleven by a score of 5-2. The display put up by the Blue and Gold squad was exceptionally good, in fact the opposing team were hardly ever in the picture. It must be admitted however that the Saints were playing with a weakened line-up, and they had a new goalie guarding the net. It is impossible to pick out an individual star on the Varsity aggregation, and Al. McKinnon was the most conspicuous performer for the Saints.

Arts '25 defeated Agriculture in an overtime game played on Tuesday night. There were horse-shoes on both sides, the game being exceptionally even. The score was 1-0.

Delightful for bridge or mah jongg prizes are the quaint quill pens in their colored glass stands of leaded shots. In a melee of shades to harmonize with the color scheme of any room they are priced at $1.95 the set.

All agog with the newness of its wares, the place where ribbons grow is a display of dazzling color. Trimming ribbons—such as Lanvin might use on her old-world gowns—are of faillie with tiny edges of silver or gold tissue. Metallic and brocade ribbons of wide width are especially adapted for the making of Christmas gifts of bags, cushions, runners and stunning head-dresses. Delicately toned pastel ribbons lend themselves to the evolution of silken garters, lingerie rosettes, vanity bags and boudoir bandeaux.

EDITOR FOR THE WEEK

T. W. Brown.

SILENCE, PLEASE.

"Silence is golden," and since it is so precious we feel that there is a crying need for it in this University. Each year as our numbers increase it becomes harder and harder to curb the noise in the halls and in the Reading Room. But as these numbers increase it becomes just that much more necessary to curb it, since there are that many more to suffer by it.

Some day, when the walls are marble instead of wood, there will be no need of an appeal for silence in the halls, but at present when every shuffling footstep and every vacant laugh can be heard through the length and breadth of three classrooms, we feel that such an appeal is not untimely. There has, during the past few weeks, been a great deal more disturbance in the halls than is necessary. This was particularly noticeable in the Auditorium Building, where Rooms X, Y and Z are unhappily placed in close proximity to the Men's Common Room, the men's lockers, and the piano in the auditorium.

A number of complaints have been made recently to the effect that some students are guilty of discoursing a little too loudly and too regularly in the Reading Room, while others are in the habit of working mathematics aloud. Now, there are probably some people whose powers of concentration are so well developed that they can take in a discourse on the Arts Dance through one ear, and a problem in algebra through the other without being disturbed, but as long as there are a majority in the University who find it difficult to study under any conditions, just so long will silence be indispensable to the Reading Room.

Considering that the Christmas examinations are only a few weeks away and that everyone is beginning to realize the necessity of serious work, we hope that a mere mention of the unnecessary disturbance will have the effect of causing each student to help maintain in future a reasonable amount of silence in the Reading Room and corridors.

UNIVERSITY BAND.

Owing to the fact that we are almost totally denied the opportunity of engaging in inter-collegiate sport, our organized rooting has never met any opposition worthy of mention, consequently we are apt to feel satisfied with our yells and team support. There is no doubt, however, that if an important game should be undertaken with a university such as Washington, that any reply we could make when the opposing team's rooters sang their college hymn with the accompaniment of a band would certainly be rather feeble.

Even as things are at present a University band and a good college song would be valuable assets to college spirit. After the game on Thanksgiving Day, for example, a parade from Brockton Point would have been both good fun and a fine testimony to the fact that there is a real live University situated in Vancouver. There is a sufficient number of players attending Varsity this session to form the nucleus of such an organization, and its formation should be undertaken immediately.

VOCATIONAL LECTURE

Following the precedent established last year, the W. U. S. executive held the first of a series of vocational lectures last Friday noon. The purpose of the lectures is to aid those women who find difficulty in choosing and preparing for their vocations. Those who have not yet selected a life-work will, through the medium of these vocational talks, become acquainted with the various careers open to women, and from those presented to them, may choose that for which they feel themselves best fitted. The lectures will be useful, also, to those who have already made their decision, in providing them with definite practical information in regard to preparation, salaries and opportunities in their chosen field. The lecturing ability of the speakers, and their intimate knowledge of their subjects will ensure concise, interesting and valuable talks on topics of the greatest interest to the women of the University.

BY THE WAY.

Remember that "Silence is golden," but don't forget that we need a Brass Band.

Here are a couple of arguments against those people in favor of abolishing the "green ties":

Two freshettes passed Jack Grant on the walks and one murmured to the other, "He's president of something, isn't he?"

Gee Ternan had some tickets to sell for Monday's game. "Going to the game?" he asked a freshman.

"I don't know, are you?" replied the bright youth.

COMBINED LIT. MEETING

such meeting after Christmas. Those speaking for the affirmative were: Miss W. Cawthorne, Mr. Smith, Mr. Mangat, Mr. L. Morgan and others. The speakers for the negative were: Miss E. Graham, Miss P. Greggory, Miss H. MacGill, Mr. Morton, Mr. Burton and Mr. Hodgson. The supporters of the affirmative maintained that it was merely a question of race prejudice; that the East Indians being part of the British Empire be given the rights of British subjects, and that if they were given the franchise in British Columbia it would help to pacify the spirit of revolt in India. The negative upheld the arguments that if the franchise were granted to them, the other Oriental races in British Columbia would expect the same rights; that the Hindus would not make intelligent voters on account of their lack of education and their lower standard of living.

Prof. Angus summed up the material brought forth and briefly criticised the delivery and style of the speakers. Refreshments were then served.

Dear Sir:

As a member of the freshman year, I wish to resent the exorbitant rise in price of Euripides' "Electra" since the beginning of the term. This book was then sold for forty-five cents (45c) per copy, and at present is priced at one dollar and fifteen cents ($1.15).

Yours truly,

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Political economists had a field day at the meeting of the Historical Society, on Wednesday, the 7th. Leon J. Ladner, Esq., M.P., was the host for the evening. Miss W. Hall ably handled the subject, "The Old Colonial System," and Miss Kathleen Dodds lead the discussion, which tended to desert the old colonial system and to concentrate upon free trade and protection. The host took an active and interesting part in the evening's programme.

On receiving a letter of invitation from Dr. Eastman, the Society unanimously passed a resolution in favour of joining, as a corporate member, the Vancouver branch of the League of Nations Society of Canada.

AGGIE DISCUSSION CLUB

The regular meeting of the Agriculture Discussion Club was held on Wednesday evening, and it took the form of a mock parliament. Two bills, one to "Exempt Farmers from the Gasoline Tax," and the other "For the Subsidization of the Cheese Industry in B. C.," were introduced by Premier A. Laing and his cabinet. Both bills were strenuously opposed by the opposition, under Tommy Wilkinson, and by the progressives, under J. C. Wilcox; but were finally passed. Hugh MacCallum occupied the Speaker's chair.

DUPRE PLAYS TONIGHT

Marcel Dupre, organist of Notre Dame Cathedral, Paris, will give an extra recital at St. Andrews on Thursday evening. Special U. B. C. students tickets at $1.10 have been reserved on the main floor of the Auditorium.

Christmas Concert

time, one wonders how, with the 50-minute rehearsals a week for about six weeks, such good work should be done.

With the high standard set and maintained by other organizations of the University, it seems imperative that the Musical Society must do much more intensive study to gain the familiarity with the music, such familiarity being the initial condition of adequate performance. There are two kinds of chorus singers, the one who knows his music, and the one who noses his music. At least one-quarter of the chorus sang serenely through both numbers with their noses hot on the scent. The orchestra was at its best in the "Wedding of the Winds." The piece was played with careful attention to accent and rhythm, and praiseworthy technical excellence was revealed in detail notwithstanding the rapid tempo. The other pieces were marred by the fact that some of the instruments were playing out of tune. It may seem ungrateful and discouraging to speak harshly about an organization that holds such promise as does the present University orchestra. But perhaps a word now may prevent the recurrence of the offense at future performances. Moreover it is only justice to the faithful and the innocent that the negligent should be warned of the damage they are doing to the reputation of what seems to be the finest orchestra in the history of the University.

Maintenance of pitch is one thing that any audience has a right to demand from an orchestra or chorus. How much of the discord was due to the impossibility of the auditorium, acoustically, cannot be asserted. Those who sat nearer the orchestra say the dissonance was not perceptible. But the auditorium cannot account for all defects in the tuning or the playing of instruments. The individual performers demonstrated that some, at least, of the orchestra have sure ears; so it is just the old story of the two or three who mar the work of others.

The chorus sang its opening number with clearness of enunciation. In both pieces the tonal quality was good, and in the maintenance of pitch the chorus surpassed the orchestra on Saturday night. As compared with last year there was noticed a greater precision of attack when attack was obviously demanded and a gratifying response to the release sign of the baton—especially was this the case in "Viking Song." The chorus appeared to be better balanced than in preceding years; that the basses and tenors were not sufficiently prominent is undoubtedly due to the fact that they were practically singing under cover. They would certainly give a good account of themselves under normal conditions, and in fact do so at rehearsal.

Unfortunately space does not permit one to speak of the individual artists, who, without exception, performed admirably.

Mr. Grant conducted with his usual dignity, and was able to develop all the resources of both orchestra and chorus. Frequently he got striking effects by precision of attack, neatness of release and variation of rhythm, all of which indicate painstaking and efficient instruction at rehearsals. After the national anthem he was given a "sky rocket," and well deserved it.

Having such musicians and two such organizations in the University, we may confidently look forward to the spring concert. With time for adequate rehearsal and proper support from both the chorus and orchestra, Mr. Grant should place the Musical Society far in advance of its past achievements.

After we know the rich relief of death,
Are grown familiar with the scents that blow
Like languid mist across that purple heath—
After we know.

The noontide hush of it, shall there not grow
An alien whisper there—a passing wraith
Of grief—a shadow of Life's afterglow.

Troubling us? For one tumultuous breath
We shall look back. Then, heavy-eyed and slow,
Turn where the Field of Slumber beckoneth,
—After we know.

New Office Is Sanctified

At that it was a success at first. We had got a new office, a lovely new office, with twelve frosted glass panes, (one of them has been broken). Therefore, being hungry, we had to have a tea. It was a hopeful prospect for us when Elsinore persuaded Doc Sedgewick to come to the tea. Personally I could have fallen on her neck and wept, but she wouldn't let me.

Behold us therefore, on Thursday afternoon assembled for tea in the office. The office was meant to hold two people, and there were twenty-six of us. This meant that Elsinore and our noble patron, Dr. Sedgewick, had to sit on top of a cupboard. I sat on a window sill with a young freshette who thought that I. L. A. was the name of a radio station. She had a sweet voice, and where I could see her complexion it appeared all right. But she was not Elsinore.

However, the tea itself passed off without any serious accident. It is true that Gussie spilled a cup of tea down Leonora's back, and that Keenan dropped a cigarette into Doc. Sedgewick's coffee, but these incidents were not as important as our local fountain of knowledge and Leonora said they were. Of course, they were prejudiced. And now, like the murder of Caesar, the passing of the Lord's Day Act, the death of Harding, the green ties on green freshmen, there came swift and sudden tragedy. In a fit of mental abstraction I happened to address Leonora as "Leonora dearie." If looks could have killed, Elsinore would now be in jail for my murder. And she hasn't spoken to me since and that was nearly eighteen hours ago. If I don't hear from her before six o'clock to-night, I will . . . ? As the bally poet what's-his-name says:

"If we fall in the race, though we win, the hoof slide is scarred on the course.

"Though Allah and earth pardon Sin, remaineth forever Remorse."

Yours remorsefully,
A. Xerxes McGoogle.

DUTCH PAINTERS DISCUSSED

Miss A. Fraser Addresses Vancouver Institute

"The Painters of Light in Holland" was the title of an instructive lecture delivered by Miss A. Ermatinger Fraser in the Physics lecture room last Thursday evening.

Miss Fraser not only discussed the works of the Dutch school but also gave an interesting summary of the general history of European painting from the works of the 12th. century artist, Giotto, to Rembrandt, Reubens, Van Dyck and other great masters of the 16th. century.

The first to master the secret of painting in oils were the two Van Dycks, the lecturer stated. The followers of these men brought their methods to Italy and there laid the foundation upon which the Florentines, Leonardo, Boticelli, and others were to build.

The introduction of oil painting was a great step forward, the speaker declared, since by the use of this medium greater detail could be infused into a picture and the artistic qualities of light and shade properly expressed. Such elaboration of detail had reached its highest intrepation in the paintings of the great Rembrandt.

Students are reminded that this evening's Institute lecture will be held in the K. E. H. S. auditorium, as a record attendance is anticipated. Sir James Outram, Bart., will speak on "First Ascent in the Rockies."

At Other Colleges

University of Oregon, October—President P. L. Campbell of the University of Oregon, declares that one of the biggest worries of the administration and the faculty is the lack of a suitable library building. The library needs twice or three times the space that it now has.

We are apparently not the only University whose library space is limited.

University of California, September—In order to equally distribute the offices held by the women of the University the point system has been inaugurated. This system enables the women to divide the hours for study and activities in a more even ratio. No woman can carry more than thirty points according to the new schedule. The points are listed according to the merits of the activity.

We are inclined to think there is room for something of the sort in this University.

University of California, September—A fencing club has just been organized in the U. of California. Students are taking it up enthusiastically and are signing up in large numbers. So successfully has the fencing club taken at this institution that plans are under way to form classes for women.

Why not fencing for women here as one of the sports for the Spencer Cup?

University of Southern California, May, 1923—According to an announcement received at U. S. C., the National Radio Chamber of Commerce is formulating plans for the establishing of radio extension courses in all the principal universities of the country. Already, it is reported, preparations are being made in England and Germany for the broadcasting of college courses by radio.

There are said to be between three and four million radio listeners in the United States, most of whom are of college age.

LECTURE GIVEN ON VOCATION

Keen Interest Shown In First Meeting

The first lecture of the annual Vocational Conference, held under the auspices of the Women's Undergrad Society, took place last Friday noon in the auditorium. Last year the conference was spread over the period of a week, but this year arrangements have been made for the lectures to be given from time to time throughout the session. Miss Betty Somerset, president of the society, took the chair. The speakers were Mrs. R. J. Sprott and Mr. B. M. Clarke, and both gave very interesting addresses containing much useful information.

Mrs. Sprott spoke on Secretarial Work, pointing out the many opportunities open for women in this line and also the necessary qualifications, among which is practical work. She stated that a University training proves a valuable aid in securing superior positions and salaries.

Mr. Clarke, for many years one of the head buyers for the Hudson's Bay Co., gave a talk on "Buying as a Profession." He pointed out that it is advantageous to have a university education in this business as well as in others. The personal qualities necessary for success are initiative, judgment and experience, he said.

The meeting was well attended, and it is hoped that the students will show the same amount of interest in the future lectures and thus help to make the conference a success as a whole.

FROSH TEAM LOSES TO EX-KING GEORGE

The Frosh Rugby team was unfortunate on Saturday afternoon in losing to Ex-King George by a score of 3-0. The game was very even and a good brand of Rugby was played. The play was very open, swinging from end to end continually.

King George scored the only points of the game about half-way through the second half when they were granted a place kick. Murray took it, dropping the ball between the poles from a very difficult angle.

For the remainder of the game the Frosh had perhaps the edge of the play but were unable to score. Time found them pressing on the King George 25.
