JUDGE MCGILL ADDRESSES S.C.M.

"A Co-ordinated Programme of Child Welfare" was the subject of an address by Judge MacGill of the Juvenile Court, to the S.C.M. on Tuesday noon. Judge MacGill's experience in Child Welfare work, her up-to-date attitude and the fact that she is a University woman herself, gave to her address that character which is so attractive to a student audience.

The speaker first drew attention to the present lack of Co-ordination between Child Welfare work and other Social Service activities, and proclaimed the necessity for the application of intelligent citizenship to the problem. The future work in Social Service should be put on a scientific basis, and this must be done by University trained men and women.

Judge MacGill then traced the history of Child Welfare work in Canada, and compared the Canadian system to that of the United States. The first work in Canada was done by the Children's Aid Society in Toronto in the 90's. The Children's Aid Act of 1893 allowed for the invasion of the rights of parents, and gave the state the power to care for orphans and later delinquents were taken into consideration. In 1894 the right of private hearings for child-criminals was obtained and in 1908 many problems were settled by the Juvenile Delinquency Act. In Canada, by the British North America Act, all young delinquents are treated as criminals, whereas in the United States, the Juvenile Courts have been developed along Social Service lines, and delinquency is treated as a state or a condition and not criminal. However in practice this difficulty in Canada (Continued on Page 4)

SENIORS JOURNEY TO WIGWAM INN

The Graduating Classes of Arts, Science and Agriculture held a novel excursion to Wigwam Inn on Wednesday, January 25th.

At 1 o'clock about 150 students assembled at the Science Building, and from there they were taken in busses to the "Harbour Princess," where they were met by some thirty who had preceded them in cars.

On arrival at the dock, the most desirable portions of the ship were immediately seized by card fiends. An excellent three-piece orchestra supplied the music for a dance on the after deck of the boat. After a few dances, song sheets were distributed, and with Jerry Newmarch at the piano, every one joined in singing the old Varsity favorites. Several impromptu solos by merry science men were encored. Points of interest on the trip, were the Second Narrows Bridge, Barnett Mill and Stave Falls Power Plant.

On arriving at Wigwam Inn, the class proceeded in a long queue to the falls, where the natural beauties of the scene were pointed out by Doug, Telford. While here a science snowball fight was waged which culminated in the ducking of several over-zealous enthusiasts. After a foot race by several Artsmen back to the Inn, the dance floor became the centre of interest. Several medleys served to make the party informal and give embarrassed ladies sufficient "nerve" to ask their boy partners to supper, where the president felt called upon to deplore the quickness of the seniors in removing all table decorations.

The evening pleasures consisted of dancing, bridge, boating, and many others natural to the environment. At 8:30, after a prolonged search for hats, coats, Kodaks and baskets, everyone sorrowfully filed out to the boat.

After a pleasant trip back to the city, during which refreshments were served to some of the singers, dancers, and bridge players, the boat arrived at 10 o'clock. After all had disembarked, the class set out for home to study the pages they neglected in the afternoon.

The Abolition of the L.S.D.

On Tuesday the Literary and Scientific Executive waited on Council with the recommendation that they, as a body, be dissolved and a Junior member be put on Council to fulfill the functions of the present executive. This unique suggestion, coming as it does from the L.S.D. (itself) speaks for itself.

The arguments presented in favour of this radical step were mainly that (a) the smaller societies had no need of representation on the Literary and Scientific Executive and were quite capable of looking after themselves, and (b) that the executive had practically nothing to do, in that all its major duties were attended to by Council. The main functions of the Literary-Scientific Executive at present is passing budgets, all of which have to be re-passed by Council.

There are several questions to be considered in this issue: (1) Can the lesser clubs be dropped from the L.S.D. and be made self-supporting and self-continuing? (2) Is it in the best interests of the Student Body to require all clubs, literary and otherwise to pay a nominal membership fee of one dollar before being granted a budget? (3) Finally, could a Junior Member, on Council in place of the President and executive of the L.S.D., keep in touch with the major organizations sufficiently well to do without an executive?

These questions are put before the Student Body for their consideration. In the meantime on the recommendation of Council the L.S.D. executive is forming a committee to draw up a proposed constitution, name, and powers of a body or executive to take its place. This will be presented to the students in the near future.

The real trouble exists in the present constitution of the L.S.D. It is as vague, comprehensive and fine-sounding as a lawyer's brief. We can all smile, for instance, at that executive meeting every two weeks to "foster," solemnly and indefinitely, "the intellectual life of the University."

The truth is that the L. S. D. is imbued with too high a sense of duty. They are probably somewhat disgruntled by their inability to perform these duties. We think, however, that they might have come down to earth to do the few things that remained for them to do.

We believe that the lesser clubs need neither representation on the L.S.D. nor budgets. They are quite capable of being self-supporting and their interests have not enough in common to permit one person to be an adequate representative of them all.

The larger societies, Players Club, Musical Society, Debating and Literary Societies need one representative on Council, just as the various athletic societies have theirs. The needs of all groups must be balanced against one another and against the needs of the whole University. If the Literary and Scientific Executive were abolished, the Junior member put in its place would have to have an executive under him at any rate, in order to perform his duties well.

The real need of the L. S. D. is reformation, not abolition. The constitution should be revised, the functions of the executive made clear. For the rest there was many a thing that the L.S.D. could have done this year to prevent its present state of despondency. There was debating to be reformed. At last the hoped-for change is coming from the debaters themselves. The question of representation and budgets of the smaller societies could have been determined. We hope, now that the Literary and Scientific Executive has seen the need for change, that they will bring a definite and useful plan before the student body.

SCIENCE DANCE

The Annual Science Ball will be held at Lester Court on the evening of February 20th. Preparations are going forward and all reports indicate that the function will outclass any previous affair. The committee in charge are working in the hope that the dance will surpass all former functions. Two hundred and fifty tickets will be sold and Science men will have first choice.

Students, Attention!

Beginning Monday, January 30, and until further notice, classes in Physics 1 and 2 and in English 1 scheduled in the time-table for 9 o'clock, will meet instead at 8.45, by direction of Faculty. This is to assist in relieving the congestion in bus and car service at the 9 o'clock hour.

H. T. J. COLEMAN, Dean.

FROSH!

A meeting will be held to-day in Ap. Sc. 100 at 12.20 sharp. Many important things to be discussed. Everybody out.

"ANNUAL" NOTICE

In spite of repeated requests, only a very few graduates have complied with the regulations drawn up at the beginning of the term for the Annual write-ups and photographs. It is absolutely imperative that this preliminary work be completed within the next week. Otherwise the editorial staff will be seriously handicapped, and the publication of the "Totem" will be delayed for some time. A little co-operation on the part of each graduate is the only way in which the Annual can be made successful. It is surely justifiable to ask for this co-operation in a work which is undertaken primarily for the benefit of the graduates and which is a traditional gift to the graduating class.

Secretaries of the various clubs and classes, and captains of the athletic teams are again reminded that they are responsible for the write-up or photograph of their different organizations. Members of the major executives must have their photographs taken during the next week. The work on this part of the Annual has hardly begun, and the delay will seriously interfere with the final publication. The editor will be glad to answer any questions regarding the Annual, and messages can be left at the Annual Office, Auditorium 204.

Council Sits on L. S. D. Query

The Students' Council held a long meeting on Tuesday evening; the councillors only ceasing their labours in time to catch the last bus home. The main subject of discussion was the abolition of the L. S. D. — a question which was thoroughly debated from all angles. The L. S. D. executive was present. At first they desired to see the department, as now constituted, abolished and a member appointed to council to attend the duties at present performed by the department. A long discussion finally ended in the passing of a motion that the L. S. D. form a committee to draw up a tentative constitution for a body which may take its place.

John Williams appeared on behalf of the Swimming Club which wished to send a team of four women, four men, a manager and a chaperone to Banff. The Council decided this was not possible this year. A team composed of two men and two women will be sent, however, providing the Swimming Club can arrange for the chaperone's fare.

The subject of a gymnasium caused some discussion. It was decided that the President of the A. M. S. be instructed to approach the Board of Governors in connection with the construction of a temporary gymnasium. It is hoped to have this building completed and ready for the students by the opening of the Fall term.

INTERCLASS DEBATE GOES TO ARTS '30

By a unanimous decision of the judges Arts '30 yesterday defeated Arts '31 in the first of the men's interclass debates. The subject, of which Arts '30 upheld the affirmative, was "Resolved that no students shall be expelled from the University at Christmas," and Messrs. McDonald and Robson not only proved that the Christmas exodus is unfair but also suggested a remedy for the condition which makes it necessary.

The main point on which the affirmative based their defense was their contention that if proper steps were taken before students were admitted to the University the majority of those unfit to carry on the work would be eliminated and there would be no need for Christmas graduations. They advocated the use of entrance examinations, a sort of sifting process, in which the would-be student is tested on his general knowledge, and his character and school record considered. Mr. McDonald, the first speaker, explained the aims of the authorities in expelling students and to what extent the Christmas examinations carry out these aims while Mr. Robson elaborated the proposed plan of entrance examination.

The speakers for the negative, Messrs. McCarthy and Deacon considered the question of expulsion from the point of view of its causes and its effects on the individual student and on the University as a whole. Their arguments were, however, very similar and they advanced three main points in favor of expulsion. They (Continued on page 2)

RUGBY PLANS BIG PROGRAM

With two McKechnie Cup games and a fixture with the World Famous Waratahs definitely arranged, Varsity's first Rugby squad will again enter upon a period of strenuous activity. Two weeks from to-morrow the Miracle Men are all set to clash with the Vancouver Rep. in what promises to be the hottest battle of all time. On the following week the Blue and Gold will oppose the Victoria Rep. on the Vancouver field, and ten days later, on February 29th, the team will clash with the Waratahs.

THE McKECHNIE CUP

February 11th will again see U.B.C. at war with its traditional rival the Vancouver Rep over the historic piece of silverware known as the McKechnie Cup. This cup was donated by Dr. McKechnie forty years ago as an Emblem of Provincial Championship.

Varsity did not enter the McKechnie Cup series until 1921 when they won the trophy in their first season. They have held the much coveted trophy five times—1921, 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1927. The chances of again winning it are extremely good and although the coming conflict promises to be a great struggle, the odds are in favor of the Blue and Gold. Our team has not lost a league game since November, 1926. Following that historic tussle the "Miracle Men" have scored 96 points and have had 17 points tallied against them. Twice Vancouver has suffered defeat by the score 11-0 and Edmonton also was beaten by the same score.

FOUR GAMES TO-MORROW

To-morrow evening will see the Tisdall series more than half finished. Two games in this league are arranged for our representatives. Science is scheduled to meet the Rowing Club at 8:15 on the upper Oval while Arts are all set to tangle with the Ex-King George squad on the lower field at the same time.

The Science squad still maintain that they will keep up their unbeaten record. As usual, however, there are several "crocks" after the game with the Firemen.

Gustafson has dislocated his shoulder again and may be out of the game for some time. Estabrook has reported a sore knee and it is not known whether he will be able to play or not, while several other minor casualties have been received by other members of the team. Arts are still trying to get over their last defeat.

Dicky Bright will be out for some weeks with a broken ankle, while Howard Eaton is progressing favorably and will be able to take his place against Vancouver.

In the Intermediate Series Frosh are expected to meet the Meraloma "B" at 2:15 on Strathcona, while Varsity will play Ex-King George on our own Campus at 3:00 p.m.

OUT OF NAZARETH

The recommendation which the Literary and Scientific Executive presented to Council this week, namely: that a Junior member be put on Council in place of the Lit. and Scientific President and his executive is worthy of consideration by the student body. Out of Nazareth, out of this orgy of self-depreciation on the part of the said executive has come this important suggestion a problem which the student body has persistently refused to consider for two years.

Last year several intelligent members pointed out the possibility of the situation arising when there would be only one man of the junior year on Council. This means that there is only one man with council experience to carry on to the next year. It is a tradition that the President shall have one year on Council before his election.

Neither the Student's Council nor the student body bothered to do anything about this last year. The letter and editorial comments on it were entirely neglected. In consequence the very possibility to which the letter alluded has arisen this year. There is one junior man on Council. We present this fact to our readers for earnest consideration.

We hope that the Council will see fit to bring this matter before the student body. The constitution of the Alma Mater Society ought to have been changed last year to guard against such a situation. We feel sure that such apathy will not prevent its being solved this year. It is the duty of the members of the Alma Mater Society to give this problem some thought and to demand that it be remedied. As long as there is but one junior member on Council it means that the election of the President of the Alma Mater becomes a deliberate destruction of tradition or a farce.

"Can any good come out of Nazareth?"

IN THE WEE SMA' HOURS

In order to prevent the overcrowding of buses during the morning rush at Sasamat and 10th Avenue, and consequently to diminish the number of late arrivals, classes in English I, Physics I and Physics II, are to commence at 8:45 instead of nine o'clock.

Considering that many of the students have such long distances to come, we regret that it has been necessary to start lectures earlier, and only hope that students will comply with the regulations and turn up on time. We also hope that between 9:45 and 9:55 students from the three classes will consider lectures which are in progress and make as little noise as possible in the halls and common rooms.

Class and Club Notes

LA CANADIENNE

One of the most enjoyable meetings of La Canadienne was held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Frances Madeley, 1359 11th Ave. W. In the absence of the President, Mr. Thomas Kirk proved a most able chairman, keeping the members entertained with a variety of games judged to improve the vocabularies of every one present.

A most interesting collection of French, Belgian and Dutch coins was shown by Mr. H. Bischoff.

Among events mentioned for future meetings are addresses by Miss Portsmouth and Miss Tipping, both members of the French department.

These should prove both interesting and educative. All members wishing to hear them should watch the notice boards for further information.

STUDIO CLUB

A meeting of the Studio Club will be held next Thursday evening at the home of Dr. A. F. B. Clark. Paper on Beethoven's Symphonies with illustrations by records and good programme.

NURSES' UNDERGRAD

At the monthly meeting of the Nurses' Undergraduate of the University in the west wing sitting room of the Nurses' New Home, General Hospital, cor. 12th Ave. and Heather St., at 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 27, Miss Geraldine Hartwell, of China, will speak on "Nursing in China." Lantern slides will be shown. All interested are cordially invited.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

The Social Science Club will meet January 30, at 8 p.m., at the home of Mr. Norman Gold, 3302 Cedar Crescent. Dr. Lyle Telford will address the club on "The Companionate Marriage." Each member is invited to bring a friend.

L'ALOUETTE

There will be a meeting of the "Alouette" on Tuesday, January 31st, at the home of Mr. Baird, 1391 Nanton Avenue. All members are urged to be there at eight o'clock sharp.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

GENERAL MEETING
Monday, January 30th, Noon,
Arts 106

All members and those wishing to become members are asked to be present. The programme for this term will be given and some important announcements will be made.

CHESS CLUB

On Monday, Jan. 30, a team representing the F.B.C. Chess Club will travel to North Vancouver to play a match against the North Shore Chess Club. The Varsity men are all in form and are confident of giving a good account of themselves. The team will be R. A. Pilkington (Capt.), A. P. McIlhish, H. D. Bischoff, G. D. Carstairs, C. Yarwood, J. Plant, G. J. Rowland, E. H. Tull, Spares, Morsh, McGregor.

A lecture on "Chess Openings" will be given on Tuesday, Feb. 1, at 12.10 noon in Arts 208. This is the first of a series of lectures on chess arranged by the Varsity club. All interested are invited to attend.

Correspondence

"TUUM EST"

Editor Ubyssy,

Dear Madam:

Attached hereto is a copy of a letter which I have addressed to the President of the Student's Council. In view of the interest which the subject should arouse in the student body may I ask that you be kind enough to publish it in your columns with the hope that it may bring forth some expressions of opinion?

Yours sincerely,

LIONEL H. LAING

January 27th, 1928.

Mr. Leslie Brown,

President, Students' Council,
University of B. C.

Dear Sir:

Might I bring the following suggestion before the members of Council, trusting that it may be favorably received and that some action may be taken upon it?

In the Library are to be found some five or six volumes called "University Archives," which contain newspaper "clippings," pertaining to University affairs for the period in which the collections were made. Upon inquiry I was informed that these "clippings" are no longer collected and have not been for several years. It seems to me that such is a regrettable fact and one in need of remedying. The present collection is a source book wherein much data of interest and value may be found. There, one may read of the day by day incidents of University life, the activities of clubs and societies, reports of Senate meetings, the progress of building at Point Grey, lists of graduates and those honored, presentations made, etc. In all it contains a wealth of contemporary material, the value of which increases year by year. It seems to me that we are making a grave mistake in not seeing to it that this collection is continued.

My suggestion would be that the Council investigate this matter and if necessary subscribe to the daily papers in order to keep these records. Should the Council favorably consider this suggestion, I can put them in touch with some one who would be willing to do the necessary work of cutting out, pasting and indexing these clippings.

Yours in the interests of the University.

LIONEL H. LAING

Editor, "Ubyssy,"

Dear Madam:

In view of the wild statements of certain interested people, I would like to state emphatically that I am not opposed to the idea of a Students' Union for debaters.

As for the policy of the "Ubyssy," it can be readily seen that the editor gave the announcement of the meeting to discuss the Union front page space, although this notice was not issued by any responsible organization. It is to be regretted that a printer's error changed the number of the room to be used, but I fail to see how this had any influence on the formation of the new body. Further notices and reports of the Union will receive the same attention as those of any other campus organization, with the addition of giving the usual rights of conducting them for the sake of news value and economy of space.

May I also draw to the attention of the aforementioned people that the Executive of the Literary and Debating Society, held on Tuesday noon, heartily endorsed the proposed Union. This fact was known to the originators of the statements.

As for the plan of a reorganized debating organization, appearing over my signature, it is obvious that the Union, as a debating club, would ensure full representation on the proposed Debates Council.

In conclusion, I would like to state that I much prefer honest criticism to ridiculous allegations made "behind my back."

Yours sincerely,

F. C. PILKINGTON

GRASS HOCKEY

On Saturday afternoon at Connaught Park the Men's Grass Hockey teams are both out to avenge their mainland league fixture. These two teams are both out to avenge their defeat of last Saturday, and incidentally to improve their league standing. Consequently an interesting contest should ensue.

NOTICE!

To the person who so kindly returned a wallet, after emptying it of money, car tickets, etc. I offer my sincerest thanks.

I only hope that you need it more than I.

Department of Health Institutes New Lectures

Health education lectures will be given for the balance of the Easter Term, beginning next Tuesday, 31st, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday of each week at 3 p.m. in Arts No. 104, and are open to men and women students.

The outline for the lecture, which is arranged by Dr. H. W. Hill, Professor of Health and Nursing and Bacteriology, will be presented by Mrs. C. A. Lucas of the Medical Department. The series include: General definitions of Health, Public Health, Hygiene, Sanitation, Epidemiology, Therapeutics, Caeterology, Importance of statistics and kindred subjects in relation to the prevention and elimination of diseases generally and communicable diseases particularly.

It should be clearly understood that no credits will be given for this course which is being given at the request of a number of students who desire to know something of Public Health. We understand that certain students would like to have the opportunity of learning something of First Aid to the Injured—so far no formal request has reached the Department, which is ready to serve the student body in every possible way.

Sophs Win Debate

stated that the sudden disappearance of slackers at Christmas acts as a spur to the remainder of the class, that the presence of incompetent students is a hindrance both to professors and to other students and finally, that if such people are allowed to remain they will lower our scholastic standard.

Rebuttals, in this debate, were not particularly lively. Mr. McCarthy declared that the change in environment from high school to Varsity was a definite test of the student's ability to work and not a reason for allowing failures to remain after Christmas. Mr. McDonald suddenly realized and stated a fact which had long been apparent to his hearers, namely, that he and his opponents were advancing the same arguments for different ends.

The delivery of all four speakers was uniformly good and there was an interesting contrast between the vigorous and forceful style used by the affirmative speakers and the persuasive method of the negative.

MUCK-A-MUCK

Aggies Indicted In Dairy Scandal

The special sanitary inspector employed by the Feature Department has brought to light the disgraceful conditions that prevail in the dairy run by the Faculty of Agriculture of this university. The state of the dairy is too awful to describe and full details have been suppressed but it is sufficient to state that the entire health of the university is endangered. The squalor of the place was enough to disgust even a chronic cafeteria patron.

Suspicion as to the conditions in the Aggie dairy were first aroused by the naive admission of a well-known Aggie student that he liked milking because it made his hands so clean. Following up this clue, the investigator forced his way past the Bouncing Committee and penetrated into the Dairy itself. The sight that met his eyes so shocked him that he was easily ejected and he has been too sick to touch food ever since.

An official raid on the place followed, and important documents were found showing that the Agriculture authorities not only were aware of the disgusting conditions, but encouraged and even enforced the neglect of all principles of sanitation.

Rules Which Are Observed In the Dairy Department

- 1.—Remember that in dairying, cleanliness is of minor importance.
- 2.—Small articles and glassware are most easily found if replaced in some other position than that form which they were taken. Best of all, put them back dirty.
- 3.—When stirring curd in cheese-making, allow as much whey and curd as possible to fall on the floor. This will help to create the right atmosphere.
- 4.—It is not advisable to finish up a process by washing up. Articles, if left lying about, help to relieve the unemployment situation for someone else.
- 5.—Churn lids, etc., are most easily located when left lying on the floor, window sills or some equally clean place.
- 6.—Offices, etc., should always be entered without knocking. This indicates good manners.
- 7.—Lastly, people who work with their heads and not their hands are respectfully reminded that so does the woodpecker and he is the greatest kind of bore.

"I hear your room-mate is somewhat of an inventor."
"Oh, yes, some of his excuses for cutting lectures are in use all over the world."—EX.

Where To Go

Take cars 15, 16 or 15 to the Students' Parliament. See future after-dinner bores giving impassioned pleas for better quarters for English profs.

Take some car to the Library. See the winter nuts in their native element. Hear the caretaker smoke his pipe.

Take an armoured car to the Women's Common Room. Hear the cat meow and the answering snarls when the Ubyssy's arrive. Very interesting. Spend the Afternoon in the Cafeteria, one of the greatest cement and sulphuric works in Western Canada. Note the way the students drink soup and ask us why we need a mustard club. Take a gas mask.

Feel lonesome? Visit the Aggie Chateau and study a curious growth of alfalfa on the "Bouncing Committee."

Special sight seeing tour of an under-world den disguised by the name of "Men's Lower Common Room." The notorious denizens of this infamous spot have been said to use even more colorful language than an English prof. The place is sometimes mistaken for the Library on account of all the useless books lying around.

Bus leaves 10th and Sasamat sometimes during the day.

Waste a few hours in the Science building with those sturdy men who originated the phrase "seeing red." They are much maligned for they really will not bite sightseers. Take a bicycle.

Visit the stockroom of the Varsity, the Men's Upper Common Room, where the haggard-looking faces of the inhabitants show the results of succumbing to the plague of "chessitis." Very humorous scenes are provided by some students who attempt to study there. Take a rifle.

Don't forget to see Vancouver's most beautiful scenic view, the Lilly Pond. A wonderful expanse of stagnant moisture whereon there bloom, in all their exquisite glory, a couple of weeds. Be sure to take street car No. 17 1-2.

Take cars 2, 3, 5 to the Winter Garden on Friday night. See the most outstanding athletic event of the year, the Arts '30 dance. In spite of appearances this affair is not a wrestling match. There should be no difficulty in passing the door-keeper, but just in case he objects take a couple of nickels to pacify him.

Of special interest to students is a trip to a lecture room, where petulant profs. slam inexorable doors in the faces of peeved students.

A relative of mine I had never seen before came to my house last night."
"Never seen before, eh? What's his name?"
"He hasn't got any yet, but we intend to christen him Henry."—EX.

Father: "Has Jane gone to the dance yet?"
Mother: "She must have. Most of her clothes are here."—EX.

Mr. Evans: (Between the acts) Just going for a little fresh air, dear."
She: "A little draught, you mean, I suppose."—EX.

Tom: "They say brunettes have a sweeter disposition than blondes."
Ted: "Well, my wife's been both and I can't see any difference."—EX.

"All right, back there?" called the conductor from the front of the car.
"Hold on!" cried a feminine voice.
"Wait until I get my clothes on."
The entire careful of passengers craned their necks to look. A girl got on with a basket of laundry.—EX.

English Professor: "Next day we shall take the life of Shakespeare. Course prepared."—EX.

Professor: "What are you doing Miss. Learning something?"
Miss: "No, I'm just listening to you."—EX.

Student: "My bill, waiter."
Waiter: "What did you have?"
Student: "I don't know."
Waiter: "Ha ha, forty cent."—EX.

Father: "Did you hear the clock tick over when you came to last night?"
Son: "Yes, dad, but you see, it started to strike eleven and I stopped it, it wouldn't wake you."—EX.

"Don you believe a rabbit's foot ever brought good luck?"
"I should say so. My wife felt one in my pocket the other night and thought it was a mouse."—EX.

McHootch Submits Statistics

Professor Gargle McHootch, the eminent expert on Ology, has come forward with a number of interesting tables of statistics, the exclusive rights to which he has kindly donated to the Feature Department.

"First of all," began Prof. McHootch, "the amount of time wasted by the male students of the University is amazing. Consider the time they employ in shaving. This, of course, does not apply to the Frosh. If they could be persuaded to allow their manly beards to grow they would save unbelievable amounts of time which could be employed in other directions, such as learning how to become librarians."

"The average man has to shave once a day and most students follow this example. Estimating the average time required as fifteen minutes and counting six days a week and fifty-two weeks to a year, in the four years of his Varsity course a student would save 312 hours, or 19 days (allowing eight hours' sleep for each day). This time-saving plan could be followed in after life—during twenty years as a librarian once would save 95 days, or over three months."

While on the subject of libraries, I might mention another way in which an enormous saving could be made, this time in money. A library book lasts about ten years on the average. The Arabian Nights and similar works are worn out much sooner but the works on Economics restore the average. Taking half the wear and tear on a volume to be due to handling, I find that the other half—five years of the book's life—is caused by the actual reading of the tome. Now if students could be induced to read with one eye only, the resultant wear on the book would be reduced by one-half. This would effect a great saving that could be diverted to more useful purposes, such as building new hovels for professors or buying soap for Science men."

Alleged Jokes

Clerk: "Well, sir, I'm getting married next week."

Boss: "Good, I am always glad for my employees to marry. Then they don't mind staying at the store and working overtime."—EX.

"The only reason most flappers don't look worse than they do is because they can't grow sideburns."—EX.

Fair Maiden: "Would you put your self out for me?"

Her Shock: "I certainly would."

Maiden: "Then please do. It's after twelve and I'm awfully sleepy."—EX.

Deni: "She finally said I might kiss her on either cheek."

Paul: "And did you?"

Deni: "Well, I hesitated a long time between them."—EX.

Used Car Salesman: "Well, what's the matter with the car you bought from us a week ago?"

Stung One: "Well, every part of it makes a noise but the horn."—EX.

Relax: "I see where they have at last decided to pave the streets with wooden blocks."

Relax: "How did that happen?"

Relax: "Well, the members of the committee put their heads together."—EX.

A Sultan at odds with his harem. Thought of a way he could scare 'em.

He caught him a mouse.

Which he freed in the house.

Thu tarting the first harem scater!—EX.

"How did you come into the country?"

"By air."

"Flying machine?"

"No, cork."—EX.
