JACK DAVIS

SIR F. BANTING TO SPEAK HERE

CO-DISCOVERER OF INSULIN

Sir Frederick Banting, co-discoverer of insulin, will speak in Arts 100, at 12.30 on Monday, December 5. The address is sponsored by the Monro Pre-Med Club, but anyone, either of the faculty or student body is invited to attend.

CHAIRMAN OF RESEARCH COMMITTEE.

Dr. Banting is chairman of the Associated Committee of Medical Research of the National Research Council at Ottawa. This special committee was formed in February 1938, after a conference held in Ottawa, at which the University of British Columbia was represented by Dr. C. E. Dolman. The purpose of the committee is to discover what types and opportunities for medical research, there are in medical and other institutions in Canada.

Dr. Banting is surveying universities and other organizations represented on the committee, with a view to possible allotments for medical research.

Recently, Dr. Banting has been conducting research in the Banting Institute on cancer, silicosis, and asphyxia. He is a graduate of the University of Western Ontario, and is at present a professor of medical research at the University of Toronto.

Before coming here, he will be conducted by Dr. Dolman through the provincial laboratories, and other divisions of the Provincial Board of Health. Dr. Banting has expressed a wish to see especially all those interested in medicine.

STUDENTS' NUMBERS ARE NOW AVAILABLE

Are you looking for the address of that blonde you met last night? Or are you looking for the phone number of that big handsome footballer for the Co-ed? Then the Alma Mater Office holds just what you want, in the shape of the newly-issued STUDENT DIRECTORY.

POCKET SIZE

This neat little green book, vest-pocket size, is the product of much earnest labor on the part of editor Helen Hann and her three energetic assistants.

It has in it the names, addresses and phone-numbers of all the students in the University, and in the back is a list of the presidents of the campus clubs.

JACK DAVIS WINS RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

PROMINENT IN U. B. C. AFFAIRS

Jack Davis was selected from a large number of applicants Wednesday night to be the 1939 Rhodes Scholar from U.B.C. The official announcement was made on the campus by the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. Eric W. Hamber.

Varsity students will unanimously hail this choice, for Jack has earned the respect and admiration of faculty and students alike during his college career here. As a scholar, a leader, an athlete, and a man he more than fills the requirements of Cecil Rhodes.

Although he has played an important part in student activities, Jack Davis is no less distinguished in his acaremic life. He was the winner of a matriculation scholarship and has shared for the last two years in the Swan Memorial Bursary. Throughout his four years he has consistently maintained first class averages.

PRESIDENT OF M.U.S.

During his first two years here, Jack was active on the Science class executive. He was for two years the president of S.M.U.S. and during the last year has been a member of Students' Council as president of M.U.S.

"Spud" Davis wears a Big Block, won for serving on the U.B.C. Canadian Championship basketball team of 1937. In addition he has been actively engaged in intra-mural sports all through his four years at Varsity.

SINCERITY

Not the least of Jack's achievements here has been the fact that he has worked his own way through Varsity. His sincerity and genuine interest in his comrades have made him popular with all types of students. In appearance he is the answer to a co-ed's prayer: "tall, dark and handsome." His bearing is dignified and he will without doubt command respect for himself and U.B.C. while at Oxford. Jack's home town is Kamloops, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Davis, reside. In his fifth year of chemical engineering, he is affiliated with Sigma Phi Delta fraternity.

MUSICAL SOCIETY WORKING ON OPERA

With but one week of rehearsals remaining before the Christmas vacation, work on the Musical Society's production, "Serenade," goes smoothly on. Having a satisfactory knowledge of the First Act behind them, members of the ensemble are now busy studying Act. Two.

SMOOTH SONGS

Visitors to an ensemble rehearsal recently were delighted with the variety of catchy, smooth and sad songs the opera contains. Although typical Herbert waltzes predominate, there are many light and stirring tunes, including "I'm A Duke," "Woman, Lovely Woman", and others.

Added colour and fascination will be given the show this year by "The Fandango"—a lively and picturesque dance in which the whole chorus takes part.

Announcement is expected soon to the effect that ensemble rehearsals will take place during the Christmas holidays, probably in some down-town hall.

Success!

COUNCILLORS DISAGREE ON "OPEN HOUSE"

MAJORITY FAVOR IT AS ANNUAL INSTITUTION

This year's "Open House" will be held some time during Education Week. No definite plans have been made as yet, but Student's Council is holding a meeting at noon today, to decide on some of the more important details.

OPEN HOUSE CHAIRMAN.

A chairman will be appointed by Student's Council, to take charge of, and organize, the "Open House."

There has been some difference of opinion in Council, as some members feel that "Open House" should not be held more than once every two or three years.

Carson McGuire, A.M.S. president, expressed his opinion on the matter in the following words: "I feel that the "Open House" should be the University's annual contribution to the "Education Week." It need not be entirely new each year, but should show any new developments as they come along.

OPEN FOR ONE DAY.

"Open House" should be the type of exhibition at which people would be encouraged to investigate one phase of the University each year. People have not the time to do more than that at each "Open House", and the University does not have the time to be "open" more than one day.

Evan ap Roberts felt that the "Open House" is being held too often, saying: "I believe that 'Open House' should be held only once every other year or so, because it takes up a great deal of time which should be devoted to studies, and because there are not enough new things happening on the Campus to provide a really original 'Open House' each year."

TREASURER'S OPINION.

Bob Smith, treasurer, mentioned that the committee in charge last year suggested that "Open House" should not be an annual affair, and that by holding it every two or three

NO FREEDOM OF SPEECH IN PRAIRIE CITY

SASKATCHEWAN PROF. CONDEMNED FOR VIEWS

In an address to the Young Communist League on the subject "Youth and World Affairs", Dr. C. A. King, professor of English at the University of Saskatchewan, suggested that the present government of Great Britain would go to war for only two reasons: to maintain the British Empire, or to prevent the spread of socialism in Europe; and he did not consider either cause worth fighting for.

DISMISSAL DEMANDED.

When this speech appeared in the newspaper under the heading "Should Not Fight For British Empire", the Moose Jaw branch of the Canadian Legion demanded Dr. King's immediate dismissal and the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix received a flood of letters both condemning and approving what had been said by Dr. King.

NOT ANTI-BRITISH.

Dr. King published a statement pointing out that his view was neither Anti-British nor unpatriotic but he still continued to be condemned and criticized all over the province. However he had a few supporters who gave him as much aid as they could.

SPEECH CANCELLED.

During the summer the talk died down but was renewed after a speech Dr. King made on the subject "Patriotism." This time there was no public attack on him and no one knew that anything was happening until Dr. King cancelled a speech, that he was to have made the next day, because of the criticism and bad feeling created. The Saskatoon League for Peace and Democracy passed a resolution calling the Board of Governors of the University to preserve freedom of speech for the members of the faculty. The Sheaf came to his aid in a front page editorial.

Since then, Dr. King has made no public speech and until the Board of Governors issue a statement guaranteeing Dr. King's right to express his views on world affairs in public without fear of dismissal, suspicion will naturally fall on them.

GOVERNORS' DECISION ENDS LONG CAMPAIGN

Construction of New Union Building to Start in Spring

By JACK MAIR

After five years of money raising and three years of vigorous campaigning, in which a student union building seemed to be a vision of the distant future, the Brock Memorial Union Building is to become a reality at last.

ASK PERMISSION

At the meeting of the Board of Governors last Monday night it was announced that the Board has asked for the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to make the contribution of $25,000 to the Building fund.

Although the grant is contingent upon permission from the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to change the University budget, this step in regarded as merely a formality.

The grant is to be paid in ten yearly installments of $2,500 each and is intended to cover a loan made by the Brock Memorial Committee for the immediate construction of the Union Building.

The building will cost approximately $75,000 and is to be a "Class B" construction, that is, reinforced concrete outside and wood inside. It can fe faced with stone at any time.

LOCATED ON EAST MALL

Work will begin on the building in the spring and it will be completed by the fall. The building is to be located on the East Mall between the gymnasium and the stadium. It has been announced that the Government will pave the East Mall and extend it through to Marine Drive, at an estimated cost of $40,000, making the Mall the main entrance to the campus.

In a statement issued by the Permanent Memorial Committee the finances were listed as follows:

Bonds in hands of Trustees	$32,000.00
Balance in Bank	1,496.20
Women's Committee (collected and pledged)	1,600.00
Faculty Association (pledged)	1,560.00
Student Bond Issue	15,000.00
Estimated cost of connecting services, possibly to be provided by the Board of Governors	4,000.00
Board of Governors' Grant	25,00000
	$80,656.20

Carson McGuire expressed the hope that the Provincial Government might put up $40,000 thus obviating the necessity of the bond issue. If, however, the issue is made, it will be paid out of the A.M.S. building fund which draws $3.00 from the annual A.M.S. fee, and by benefit dances held in the new building.

Some of the pledged money has not been collected, but arrangements are now being made to call it in.

$10,000 has been earmarked for furnishing the building although this money may be replaced by the proceeds of the first few dances held in the Union building.

Union Building to Include Dance Floor, Assembly Hall

The University Architect is now working on the plans for the Brock Memorial Union Building, as submitted by the sub-committee of the Brock Memorial Committee.

The plans, as submitted, call for a two story, semi-permanent building, to be erected on the East Mall, north of the Stadium, and facing the Gymnasium.

TO BEGIN IN THE SPRING

It is expected that the foundations will be started next spring.

In order to provide a suitable approach to the new building, the East Mall will be finished at a cost of $40,000, next year. It will be extended to meet Marine Drive, and will become the main approach to the University.

One half of each floor will be devoted to women's activities, while the other half will be reserved for the men.

DANCE FLOOR

The central part of the first floor will be used for a large assembly hall, to be used for meetings. The corresponding part of the second floor will be used as a dance floor, which will be large enough to hold about 250 couples.

OFFICERS IN THE BASEMENT

The C.O.T.C. will have the greatest part of the basement, according to the present plans, with space for several rooms and possibly a rifle range.

The only room decided upon as yet for the first floor, excepting the assembly hall, is a Students' Council Office.

L.S.E. AND UNDERGRAD ROOMS

On the second floor, besides the dance hall, it is planned to have rooms for the W.A.A., W.U.S., M.A.A., L.S.E., and M.U.S.

There will also be rooms for the treasurer and president of AM.S.

In connection with the dance floor there will be a dining and tea room, a kitchen and a confectionary.

SCHUBERT SYMPHONY AT THURSDAY NOON

Next Thursday at noon the last two movements of the immense Symphony in C Major by Franz Schubert, which was begun yesterday in Arts 100, will bring the 1938 Carnegie Orchestral Recital series to a close. Those who would be hearing for the first time this complex work at the December concert of the Vancouver Symphony Society will find this preview of great assistance.

BIG BLOCK FEMMES SWELL BROCK FUND

An increase of $40 to the Brock Memorial Union Building Fund, is the gift of the Women's Big Block Club.

WHAT, NO POKER?

The money was raised from a tea and bridge, held at the home of Betty Fleck, on November 4. There were about twenty tables in play. Women undergrads and grads attended.

CARSON McGUIRE

It is not premature, we hope, to congratulate President Carson McGuire on his success in the matter of the Brock Memorial Union Building. Although he was assisted by several members of his council, we feel that the credit should go to Carson himself.

Since the beginning of the fall term Carson was determined that the building should be constructed sometime this year. But his enthusiasm did not blind him to the fact that a great deal of effort had to be put forth before the problem of finances could be solved.

With the same insight and patience that he exhibited in the preparation of his brief on time-tables for the Summer Campaign Committee, he considered the means by which he could increase the Building fund. First he discovered that a simple reapportioning of the three dollar building fee would raise the student loan to $15,000. Then he turned his efforts to the discovery of the exact amount of money available for the building. After several weeks he found that a sum of approximately $53,000 could be materialized.

Approximately $25,000 more was needed to put up the first unit of the building they desired. Carson has apparently presented the students' case to the Governors in such a way as to gain their approval for they have signified their desire to make the necessary grant. When councils for many years back have made unsuccessful attempts to construct the building it reflects very favorably on a president who went ahead and realized his goal.

CAROL SERVICE.

The last program of this term will be presented over CJOR tonight at 8.15. Highlights of the broadcast will be a carol service presented by the Musical Society octette: Phyllis Bartlett, Margaret Haggart, Lois Campbell, Daphne Allen, Doug. Ford, Pat Downey, Frank Patch and Lewis Freeman.

Program of carols will consist of, "First Nowell," "Silent Night," "Carol Sweetly Carol" and four other well known Christmas songs.

COLLEGE DRAMA.

There will be the dramatic presentation entitled "Non-Essentials" and is the experience of a bacteriologist at college. This item is directed by Rod Poisson who has assumed the duties of dramatic director on Varsity Time.

During the past two weeks the broadcasting staff has been auditioning and classifying voices. These classifications are kept on record for facilitation of future dramas and other radio work.

EQUIPMENT.

Wednesday afternoon two new 'mikes', one velocity and the other, unidirectional as well as, R. C. A. High Fidelity equipment, was installed in the Broadcasting Studio in the Aggie building by the C.B.C.

The equipment is so arranged that it can be made into a portable outfit and broadcasts will be possible from any point on the campus. For those students who were present at the Dominion broadcast of Varsity Time in the auditorium last year, the equipment which was used on that occasion is the same set that is now being installed in the campus tstudio. The instruments used during the past year were loaned by CJOR.

VANDALISM REARS ITS UGLY HEAD IN PEP CLUB ROOM

Vandalism has speared on the Campus, this time in the Pep Club room. The lock of the large cupboard has been broken, and the door ripped off. The paint in the cuboard, used for posters and notices, was partly used up and spilt, and the paint brushes were left in a mess, uncleaned.

The members of the club feel that they can't leave anything in their room safely now. For the past three weeks, there have been traces of poker sessions found. Whoever use the room generally leave it in a mess, with cigarette butts, ashes, and old matches scattered around.

Ken Shaw, president of the Pep Club, declared Wednesday that a club room in the Union Building is absolutely necessary for the proper functioning of his society. "Other societies like the Players' Club," he said, "have a lot more room now, and yet they are not University service clubs."

NOT ENOUGH ROOM

Members feel that the work of the Pep Club is being hampered by the lack of necessary room in which to work, and since this latest incident, are hoping that they will be moved from their present cramped quarters.

HERE AND THERE

By J. D. MACFARLANE

The furore created at the U. of Saskatchewan by the special armistice issue of the Sheaf, and the subsequent "resignation" of the editor, Mr. Mower, and his assistant, Fred McNeil, has been given plenty of space in many Canadian newspapers.

Says the Regina Leader Post: "Students objected to editorial comment and special features of the Remembrance Day edition which stresses the futility of war, and in one place at least, the men who enlisted in 1914-18 were called 'dupes'."

The Toronto Globe and Mail have asked for special statements from Mr. Mower which, as printed, are similar to those printed in the Ubyssey.

Newspapers in North Battleford asked for editorial comment on the situation by telegram, while a Vancouver newspaper wired for further details.

The Regina Leader-Post and the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix have carried detailed accounts of the progress of the uproar at the Saskatchewan university.

The Regina Daily Star carried news stories and comments in an editorial "To Some a Holy Day," "That boys could so outrageously violate all decent ability to appreciate those efforts of their elders which enable them to be so free," and again, "No doubt many people will believe they are entitled to nurse their sacred memories on this day undisturbed by the mockery of silly young asses parading in a lion's skin."

In our opinion the forced resignations of Mr. Mowers and Mr. McNeil as effected by the Students Representative Council at Saskatchewan were not suppression of free speech but a very necessary curbing of irresponsible youths who lack the fundamental decencies of an intelligent human being.

Granted that war is wrong, and a horror, we would like to ask what Mr. Mowers thinks he is going to gain by sitting on his haunches like Ghandi, as he suggests as a remedy for war. I suppose we should sit here and peacefully resist an invading war machine out of control happy in the knowledge that we still own our heartbeat, at least.

Any man who allows those under his authority to malign the dead by calling them dupes, etc., has no right to a responsible position in any college.

Mowers thinks that the Great War was fought in vain: "What do they know of freedom who only freedom know."

It has been said that the last war was a war to save democracy. Well, we still have it; and if there aren't too many like Mr. Mowers in the world, we will continue to possess it. The fact that the last war didn't end war isn't the fault of the war, but the fault of the subsequent treaties and the economic lack of balance in the world today.

No doubt war offends the laws of Moses and Christ; but so does the wilful killing and torturing of Jews, a program which might be followed out on any people who become the object of hatred of a mad dictatorial power.

We could go on for hours pointing out errors to Mr. Mowers and his colleague, but we think it enough to say that a "man" will at least defend himself and those things he stands for.

HOT CLUB.

From the daily newspapers we learn that we have jitterbugs on our fair campus. As far as we have been able to see, externally, the only jitterbugs on this campus are pixillated lecturers.

However, we learn from reliable sources that some young gentlemen on this campus are determined "to swing it", despite the fact that they have agreed with Council not to introduce such eyewash in return for their constitution which makes them a legalized campus club.

At a recent meeting of the club Owen Sheffield delivered the edict of 'no swing' from Council. Whereupon our good friend By Straight, chairman, arose to inform those assembled that despite the fact that appearances would be maintained for the time being, still the club was what is known on American campuses as a "hot club", which we take to indicate exactly what they agreed with Council not to promulgate.

We won't criticize swing and such things here, although their appearance on this campus is eminently undesirable, but we would like to suggest that Council do something to prevent itself from being bamboozled!

TO THE LADIES.

A note to the ladies who don't take Psych. 1. Prof. Irving, speaking on intuition the other day, remarked that both insects and women share in this faculty. "A woman never knows the origin of her ideas and feelings, and thus calls them intuitions . . . something marvellous and mysterious . . . like any savage," he declared.

$250 In Prizes

A portfolio containing representative examples of previous advertising to show you in a broad way the type of material that is acceptable and usable is available in the publications office.

There are no limitations on subject, except that the phrase "Ford V-8" must appear somewhere in the illustration or caption. Idea is more important than art, but other things being equal, good drawings will, of course, be given preference. It may be helpful, but it is not necessary, to secure from the nearest Ford dealer, literature listing the principal features of the 1939 Ford V-8. For obvious reasons, no advertisement which mentions or directly disparages any other car can be considered.

Drawings should be sized to scale to 8 inches by 10 inches. They may be made in line, wash, air-brush, or any other technique suitable for black-and-white reproduction on newspaper stock. You may submit as many advertisements as you please, but each should be plainly labeled on the back with your name, address, university and class. More than one name may be listed in case of collaboration. Wrap your advertisement carefully and mail it to by or before January 1, 1939.

Ten Canadian Universities have been sent this invitation. Five advertisements will be selected from the entries received. For each of the best five advertisements selected, this agency will pay $50. All five become the property of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited. Reproduction will include the name and class of the author-artist; i.e., Joe Smith, McGill '42. Unsuccessful drawings will be returned to your publication office.

This invitation is not a contest or selling scheme. It is a sincere attempt to secure original, amusing college advertising, for which commercial prices will be paid.

Read the requirements carefully . . . and good luck!

MASS EDUCATION SUBJECT OF DEBATE

STANDARDIZATION

Speaking to the resolution "That Mass Production in Education is to be Deplored" Martin contended that when education was sacrificed to factory methods it shows a trend towards standardization.

In reply Alex McDonald stated that human beings cannot be classified as commodities for they still retain their individual personalities.

MISDIRECTED EFFORT?

"The students are exposed to an education that does not take," remarked Dave Lesser when attacking the education system. He believed that the students suffer from a "misdirected effort."

"Mass ignorance in politics and economics show that the only solution is an educated public," claimed Harold Rome. He maintained that present methods are not to be deplored when a student can get "scientific facts, artistic appreciation and aesthetic appeal from a tooth paste ad. in a current magazine."

Jack Davis, men's undergrad member, stated: "I feel that 'Open House' is very opportune this year, because of the fact that the University is in a position where we must try to get favorable opinion." He felt that the "Open House" would be an excellent means by which to obtain this "favourable public opinion."

MR. WHEELER MAGICIAN & BUSINESS MAN

ENTERTAINER WAS IN VAUDEVILLE

The curtain rang down at Saturday's Pep Meet cutting off applauding students from an immaculate gentleman who briskly commenced to pack up gaudy-coloured paraphernalia in his big black box.

ON THE ROAD.

Mr. Wheeler indulges in black magic only as a hobby now. He got the "bug" as a boy when he watched The Great Powell perform in a small town in the wilds of B.C. Practice brought the perfection needed for vaudeville, and as a young man he went on the road, achieving his ambition to see New York and the glamour cities.

There he met such celebrities as Thurston, Blackstone, even Fatty Arbuckle, and the dean of them all—Houdini. Finally he settled in business in Vancouver, but still retains an interest in his former profession, sees all the magicians that come to town.

SMALL GIRL AUDIENCES HARD TO PLEASE.

Questioned on audience reaction, Mr. Wheeler said that small girls were by far the most difficult to please. "They're too infquisitive," he said, "they'll sneak up for a peek when you're not looking."

Interesting addenda on Mr. Wheeler include the fact that he's not a bit superstitious, that he has a Chinese magician in Pekin for a pen pal, that his favourite music is "The Sorcerer's Apprentice," that he has an Australian uncle, also a magician, living in the land of rabbits, that his hobby is trick photography, and that he has to take his front gate into the basement on Hallowe'en just like anyone else.

SHOPPING with MARY ANN

There is one gift that all women like, and in numerous quantities . . . that little gift is, hankies . . . white ones, plain ones, lace-edged ones . . . navy . . . pastel colored . . . every kind that every type of femininity could desire. . . These dainty gifts are single or boxed in harmonizing groups . . . at Mrs. Paton's Lingerie Shop, 2793 Granville Street. . . .

Said a freshette reporter in a pitiful little voice, as she handed in a story to the editor, "Please, may I go to my lecture now?"

Starting from the exquisite midget handkerchief, they graduate to the larger kerchief size . . . applique . . . handwork with superimposed designs in white, of cherry blossoms, water lilies . . . among a host of other attractive designs . . . gossamer fine linen hankies appeal to the tea hostess, or Sunday 'at home' type, chiffon and dance hankies for all co-ed friends, . . . for the sorority sister or special friend linen squares wth dainty lace edges and delicate corner patterns in blue. Just to prove our point that hankies are always a desired gift . . . we asked a friend what they would like for Christmas and they said "One of Mrs. Paton's gorgeous hankies". . .

Every Christmas season co-eds look forward to their wardrobe renewal, and when making an inventory this year don't forget the smart woollen frock which is so suitable for lectures and general campus wear. Not only is it smart but it is warm, too . . . and in the seasonal colors, which lead all style parades. . . . Lora Lee Dress Shop, 2814 Granville Street, have a varied selection of these frocks . . . in rust and raspberry tones. . . .

One particularly smart dress features the outseam pleats, and short puffed sleeves . . . a round white collar gives it that demure naivete . . . gold buttons from the neck to the waist, and wide patent black belt from the adornments . . . tricky diamond pockets . . . and at a price which fits any co-ed's allowance. . . .

There is a little story about two Phrateres pins . . . one is reposing on the lapel of a Fourth Year Forestry student . . . while the other, rests, not on the label, not on the waistcoat . . . but on the shirt of a Musical Society member immediately over the "Hollow organ for circulation" (see dictionary).

Other suggestions for gifts, which Lora Lee specializes in are, zippered gold sequin evening bags, hosiery, silhouette and a novelty purse size case for evening mishaps . . . containing scissors, needles, pins and carigated colored threads, and numerous other useful gadgets . . . all encased in this one little needle-point covered folder. . . .

An Alpha Phi has been trying for a whole week to be introduced to the leading man in "300th Performance . . . but hasn't succeeded yet. . . . She thinks he is "so fascinating." . . .

Here is the opportunity all co-eds have been waiting for . . . . Raeson's Mezzanine Floor, 644 Granville Street, are having a special sale of footwear, formerly $7.95 and over, will be at the one price, $5.95. . . . We have been viewing the platform soled slippers with longing eyes, imagine the comfort you would have, dancing on New Year's Eve, at Junior Prom, Co-ed Ball, and a host of other social highlights . . . every pair of slippers and high-gore pumps has that distinctive air and smartness that makes every ensemble, perfect. . . .

A Phi Delt, the morning after the Theta party, spent the beforenoon hours trying to find out which Theta was the proud possessor of his ring. . . .

Sportswear for golf and other athletic activities are among the fashion designs, suede, mudguard features, zippers, ties and straps . . . glamorous evening slippers in contrasting tones and daintily jewelled, afternoon slippers, rubberized footwear for rainy sessions, all at 644 Granville Street, on the Mezzanine floor of Raeson's. . . .

Going skiing after the exams? Then you'll want clothing that is both classy and cosy. . . . Fred Holmes has a new line of ski togs that for comfort and style can't be equalled . . . shirts in smart tartans that are warm and zippered. . . . Slacks that the like of which you've never seen. . . . Ask especially to see the Gabardine slacks tailored in the continental style in the new Teal blue. . . . They are light but waterproof. . . . You'll need a jacket . . . For men they have Slalom jackets in the Fairway cloth and for ladies smart Jigger jackets in a lovely Moritz red. . . .

And ladies if you want to be ultra ultra get one of the new ski handkerchiefs . . . an accessory that will wipe snow from your eyes and lend zest to your costume . . . and of course a gayly colored pair of Tyrolean braces will make you look as thought fresh from St. Moritz. . . . Remember, all these lovely things are available at Fred Holmes at 2845 Granville Street. . . .

Midst last minute packing and while finishing exams students will have no time to go hunting and scouring all over town for suitable gifts that fit their purse and are appropriate . . . so we recommend Phoebe, 713 Dunsmuir St. , , , Not only has she the most exclusive of gift ideas, but will wrap them in gift paper all ready to hang on the Xmas tree . . . tea rose dance sets slips, gowns and pyjamas in all dainty shades including white and sky blue . . . in satin and brocaded silk. . . .

Romance is prevalent on the campus, and is budding among the Phi Delts. . . . It appears that one of their football players is taking quite an interest in the petite blond freshette sister of one of his fraternity brothers. . . . Together they walk, they talk, they lunch, they sup, they study, they play . . in fact they are interested in one another.

Think of the delight your friends will have opening the gifts you have given them . . . handmade imported lingerie from the Orient at 713 Dunsmuir St. are reasonably priced and make welcome gifts . . . For the young girl in her teens may we suggest a tailored slip for everyday wear and one with lace trim for special events . . . gowns which are suitable for every age as well as Phoebe's sheer stockings and fabric gloves. . . .

When one's love is absent . . . what to do? . . . here is one answer . . . at all hours of the day one may find a certain council woman whose "I'll-love-you-forever" lad is not on the campus this year sitting in the caf apparently discussing bacteriology with a Beta. . . .

MAURYMEN RALLEY to DOWN ADANAC BASKETEERS

GRIDIRON GLEANINGS

I. S.

NICA GO KEEDS.

The last whistle has blown on the Canadian grid team at Varsity this year, with nothing left to the Sunday quarterbacks but orchid-giving and bouquet tossing. Flowers are the order of the day for the whole Varsity team; they played the best football ever to grace the campus and but for a screwy set-up might have captured the Big Four Championship. As it was they won back the Hardy Cup and the Western Intercollegiate title in four straight victories.

In eleven games this season the boys dropped only their last game to the North Shore Lions. Maury Van Vliet and Neil Watson deserve lots of credit for the way in which they developed the team into a winning combination. Watson, an acquisition this year, was a great help to Van Vliet in shaping up the powerful line that made big holes for the backfield.

ALL HEROES.

The forward wall was one of the most potent factors in the Varsity grid machine. Such notables as Freddie Smith, Carson McGuire and Hank Stradiotti were veritable powerhouses. The loss of prexy McGuire will leave a big gap in the front trenches that will be hard to fill. This was Carson's last season with Alma Mater and as captain, and middle, he played his heart out every game .

Stradiotti hit like an armoured truck and did valuable work in blocking kicks. Smith, about the fightenist man on the squad, broke up more than his share of line plays and passes. At end positions were starry Johnny Pearson, Hunk Henderson, Dick Dowrie. Pearson, was the regular booter, and despite a leg injury in mid-season was in there booming them with the best. Hunk Henderson, valuable pass receiver and heavy tackler, was lost to the squad in the last couple of games and Dowrie plugged the gap admirably.

HEROES ALL.

In the backfield, where most of the credit usually finds its way, was a gold mine of talent and power. A standout for his reliability was big Aub Gray, relief booter, and expert line plunger. Given a knot hole, Aub could barge his way through for long and consistent gains. Also a valuable ground gainer was Freshman Graham Finlay, rangy and speedy plunger. Evan ap Roberts proved himself to be the original iron man.

Not content with long gains through the line, and points through converts and field goals, Apple took over the quarterback position when Farina was forced out of the game. Another Freshman with promise and power was Fred Joplin, blocking back who was turned into a line plunger in mid-season.

Focal point for attention from the stands though was the valuable and starry work of Tommy Williams, Varsity's ghost of the gridiron. Tommy was the man who provided the scoring spark to the team and carried the pigskin on two plays out of three.

CONGRATS, COACHES.

The inevitable summing up of the team shows nothing but praise due to the players and the coach, and Gil Martin, super manager. We offer them a toast to the Varsity Thunderbirds, Western Intercollegiate champions.

HOCKEYBOYS LOSE FIRST ENGAGEMENT

Jock Walmsley's Thunderbirds of the ice rink skated out against their first opponents of the season in the local senior amateur puck loop last Tuesday, and when the final bell clanged the students were on the short end of a 3-1 score with the strong Dumont outfit.

After a rather shaky start, the Blue and Gold icemen took control of things about half way through the game, and from then on carried the play to their heavier more experienced Dumonts. Only lack of finish and some smart saves by the opposition netminder kept the Varsity attackers from tying up the battle.

With only one practice in two weeks behind them, the U.B.C. outfit showed lack of condition and polish throughout. Jim Harmer turned in 60 minutes of outstanding defensive work for the losers.

Marcel Guiguet scored the only Varsity counter midway through the second canto, as he picked off a bouncing rebound and slapped it past Dumont's Delmonics.

STRIKE ONE!

Jack Moxon broke through only to be stopped by the goalie, and numerous other Varsity chances were muffed by hurried shooting and poor passing. But the old college umph was in there all the time, and the students served notice that they will be far from the weak-sisters of the league once they get in shape and get a few much-needed practices under their collective belts.

Jack McArthur and the two Guiguets looked impressive with their strong skating, while Maury Lambert turned in some smart fore-checking and Don Colwell shed a lot of rubber in the Varsity cage.

Second Half Drive Gives Students Smart 43-37 Win

Coming from behind a third period rally that doubled the score in ten minutes, Varsity's basketeers took over second place in the Inter-City loop Wednesday night in the campus gym by downing the youthful New Westminster Adanacs by a 43-27 margin.

Facing a 16-14 deficit at half time, the blue and gold squad trooped on the floor after the breather with fire and determination, and led by six quick markers from the hand of By Straight, the Men of Maury took command of the game and won going away.

ADANAC ANTICS

Ken Matheson, who scored ten markers for the visitors, gave a brilliant display in the first quarter and the purple and yellow team went out in front of a disorganized student squad.

A scintillating attack that laid the emphasis on passing gave the students complete control of the play in the last part of the game, and but for a lot of foul shots missed, might have taken a bigger margin of victory.

SNIPERS ALL

Rann Matthison played his usual outstanding game and copped the scoring honors for the Varsity outfit by picking off no less than ten markers. Brud Matheson and long Alex Lucas followed close behind with eight points each.

By Straight did his part with six snappy markers, while Frank Turner continued on down the comeback trail by swishing the twine for five nice points.

TEAMS

Adanacs: Fraser, Wright, McLelland, Scott, Douglas, Smith, King, McDonald, Matheson, Carter.

Varsity: Straight, Matthison, Matheson, Pallas, Lucas, Miller, Livingston, Gross, Turner, Alexander, Johnson.

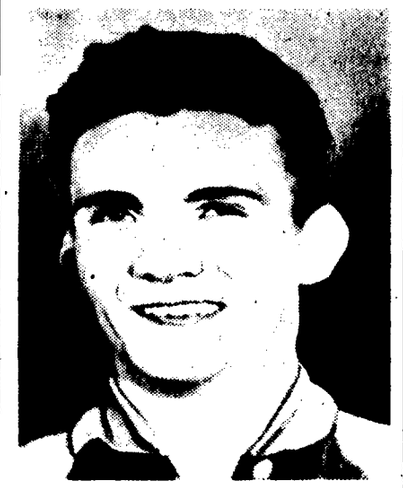
BRUDDER BRUD



Lanky Mr. Matheson turned in a bang-up performance against his hometown boys the Adanacs in the Varsity gym Wednesday when the students won 43-27.

CO-ED SPORTS

By MYRNE NEVISON

BASKETBALL.

Three more defeats were chalked up for the luckless basketball girls this week with Cloverleafs and Cunninghams providing the opposition for the Senior "A" team while Westerns, last year's champs, took the "B's" in their stride.

Leading 9-2 after a first quarter scoring splurge in the Cloverleaf game, the collegians faded out of the picture till the last five minutes when again they realized baskets are a necessity in winning games. Ruth Wilson, who played a steady game on defence all evening, led a gallant co-ed rally in the dying minutes which was only cut short by the final whistle with the score 28-23.

MORE BASKETBALL.

Ruth topped the Varsity scorers with 12 points and was backed up nobly by Fay Burnham, Alice Kjos, Adie Collins, with 3, 4, and 4 each. The loss of Lois McEwen and Nancy Martin, two regulars to 'ol Man 'Flu left a big hole in the co-ed's play.

Cunninghams, famous as the one team the Blue and Gold quintet has defeated this year, got their revenge Wednesday by taking the co-eds 38-23. Jumping into an early lead the store girls were never headed though once Varsity came within one point of tying up the game.

Ruth Wilson again was the outstanding player of the floor, and after her exit via the foul route Varsity collapsed completely.

Paced by Margaret Weldon and Mae McQueen, the Senior B's lost out by a mere 26-17 to Westerns—not at all bad really.

SORRY TOM!

Due to a reportorial inaccuracy, it was stated in last week's issue that starry Tommy Williams would not play for Varsity grid team in the final game. We wish to apologize for this statement and for all aspersions cast on the training methods of our hero.

—YE SPORTS ED.

RUGGERMEN PLAY

Varsity's rugger siege-guns open fire on two fronts Saturday. The "Tenderbirds," erstwhile Thunderbirds, will attempt to regain a portion of their lost prestige by opposing Grads at the Stadium in the second half of a double header program.

The "Gas House Gang," the U.B.C. team to you, will travel to New Westminster to meet the Royals.

Varsity lineup: Teagle: Leggat, Tremblay, Robertson and Bird: McPhee and Lang: Robson, McLaughlin, Harrison, Davies, McCammon: Harmer, Mattu and Finlay.

U.B.C. lineup: Hoskins: Hall, Mackie, Stokvis and Smith: Richards and Robinson: Taylor, Jenkins, Wallace, Billings, Pyle, Urquhart, Wilson and Lane.

All U.B.C. players are reminded that there will be automobile transportation direct from outside the North door of the Caf at 1.30 p.m.

LOST

Will the person who took Dowry—"Money and Banking" from A.P. 204 Tuesday morning, please return to H. Tucker or Mr. Horne's office.

SPORT VIEWPOINTS

Basil Robinson

As you probably realize by this time, the soccer team was the only Varsity sport organization to come close to distinguishing itself over the last weekend, and perhaps on that account, this column should be more in the form of a funeral notice than anything else. But somehow, we have a hunch that an obituary would be the wrong thing at this time.

Because to start in with rugger, it wouldn't be at all surprising if things were to boom within a very short time.

MOORE TO RETURN

Vic Moore, who starred with the Victoria Rep fifteen last year before he came to the palaces of intellect, is the main reason for this burst of optimism. Vic, as you should know, is a very effective hooker, and was one of the main reasons for the high-flying qualities of the Thunderbirds at the start of the current season. For over a month now Mr. Moore has been on the injured list with a badly-swollen thigh muscle which became so aggravating that it finally had to be drained. But on Wednesday, he gladdened Coach Carey's heart, and a lot of other hearts besides, when he presented himself at the weekly practice for a light workout. Another week, now, and the former Crimson Tider will be back in the centre of scrum, and so, if things really start to hum, don't say we didn't warn you.

STANFORD AT STADIUM

The next big toad in the collegians' English Rugby puddle is the Stadium battle with Stanford University to be staged on Boxing Day, Dec. 26 to some. By that time, there is a strong possibility of more rugger talent being available. Gerry Mason, 190-lb second row bruiser, will probably have his broken finger sealed and healed, while Wil Colledge, who scintillated in the Thunderbird backfield at the beginning of the season before a knee injury forced him to the sidelines, may be persuaded to turn out.

The end of U.B.C.'s most successful grid season in years may spell advantage to the ruggermen too.

Freshman Graham Finlay's inclusion in the pack for Saturday's game with the Grads is the first indication of what Maury Van Vliet's proteges may mean to Coach A. B. Carey. Williams, Joplin, McIvor, Freddy Smith and Aub Gray also have English Rugby experience that might be used to good advantage.

Perhaps the most satisfying news of the year is the naming of Jack "Spud" Davis as B.C.'s Rhodes Scholar. Member of the 1937 championship basketball team, and President of MU.S., quite apart from his brilliant Academic record, Jack, or "Spud," as he is known to those who are privileged to know him well, is recognized for his efficient organization powers and universally liked and respected for his quiet, unassuming disposition. A brilliant student, a grand sportsman, and worthy successor to Dave Carey, last year's winner.
