'Songs of Good Old Days' Enthusiastically Played By Three French Clubs

Costumes and Lighting Good—Songs Well Presented—Mackay Esler Turns in Good Performance

By JOHN CORNISH

"Songs of the Good Old Days," rendered by the French Clubs, were witnessed by apreciative audiences in the Auditorium Friday afternoon and evening. The former performance was attended by high school students who packed the house and afforded the numbers a rapturous reception.

The songs, with piano and string quartette accompaniment, were supplemented with resourceful lighting, bright costumes, occasional stage-settings and miming which gave the numbers a clearer meaning and a greater attraction and sensual beauty. However, the combination of spectacle and song has its pitfalls which these participants did not always negotiate, when singing, but more often acting, triumphed at the expense of the other. The former defect could doubtless have been partially eliminated after more adequate rehearsal.

Highlights

It is difficult to select any one item more outstanding than those that preceeded or followed it. All had the captivating simplicity, the light-hearted fantasy or even nonsense which one associates with French airs. Effective was the familiar "Au Clair de la Lune" sung offstage while a lad onstage executed elaborate pantomime signifying apparently that the flame of the candle of him was not; and "Une Perdriole," a song of the cumulative "House that Jack Built," variety.

Mr. J. W. Plommer sang "J'ai Perdu mon Amant" feelingly. Miss Dorothy Pearson and Mr. Robert Cumming revealed excellent voices, the former in "Miserly Phyllis" and "Jean and Jeanne" and the latter as the unfortunate discovered in a prodigious pie and the butcher (in "Une Perdriole" and "Le Miracle de Saint Nicholas") part of whost stock was depickled back into three children through the foresight of the above mentioned Saint.

Conspicuous for his skillful acting was Mr. Mackay Esler as, among other roles, the Saint, and as the suitor in the "Spinning Song." (Through a most unfortunate maladjustment the spinningwheel refused to spin).

Chorus Takes Narrative

A chorus grouped at one corner sang the purely narrative songs, the stage being free for the mime.

The performance was devised and directed by Miss Ethel Bassin, "sometime lecturer on Music Methods in the Department of Education, University of British Columbia," according to the program. M. Andre Hisette, clad in purple smock, purple spotlight bearing down on him, gave as the 'orateur' a colorful interpretation of the songs, twenty-five in number.

The cast follows:

Misses Margaret Large, Ruth McDonald, Ruth MacKay, Frances Owens, Dorothy Pearson, Louise Poole, Audrey Reid, Violet Thomson, Ruby Williams, Jean Woodrow, Molly Youds and Messrs. Nelson Allen, Stewart Ashley, Robert C. Cumming, R. MacKay Esler, Eric Kelley, J. Beattie McLean, J. W. Plommer and Maurice Turnbull. Miss Jean Soward and Masters Maurice and Stuart Soward.

Rev. Elbert Paul To Lecture For V. C. U.

On Wednesday in Arts 204 at 12:10 an open meeting of the Varsity Christian Union is to be addressed by the Rev. Elbert Paul.

Mr. Paul is pastor of First Baptist Church in this city. His subject will probably be "Christ and Technocracy." Mr. Paul's views on this subject have been expressed in downtown papers, and his lecture promises to be an interesting one. Much discussion was aroused when Mr. Paul gave the same address in his own church some months ago.

All students are invited to hear this most interesting talk.

Ethereal Debating A Reality

Friday, February 3, marked U.B.C.'s advent into ethereal oratory when a Varsity team took on a pair of Alberta representatives in a debate on Inflation.

The debate was held over the Canadian National Railways Western Canada network, Milton Owen and Jim Ferris speaking from CNRV and Harold Frick and Harold Poole holding forth from the University of Alberta's home station, CKUA.

The speakers for the affirmative based their contention on the assertation that inflation is the only way out of Canada's present economic stress. On the other hand, the Edmonton orators attempted to prove that inflation would not be successful by citing the unsuccessful attempt of Germany to establish economic stability by this means after the War.

Harold Frick, first speaker for the affirmative contended that inflation would only lead to a general rise in prices, and that these would increase more rapidly than the wages of the workers. Consequently, Canada would in no wise benefit from this practice and would be left with a huge debt.

Mr. Owen stated that Canada had been pursuing inflation for some time and it would be in the best interests of the country if Canadian currency were brought to the level of the British pound, and that our exports would increase considerably, since the high value of the Canadian dollar is a great obstacle to foreign

Frosh, Sophs Twirl at Alma

If the Freshman and Sophomore classes have sinned of late in not exhibiting the desired spirit—or as the cynics say, cash—they unburdened themselves of a surfeit of same at their annual cavort, Friday, held at the Alma Academy after much huming and hawing of class presidents and suchlike.

Alfie Evans and his Campus Buddies kept the motley crowd spinning with regular doses of syncopation, which fulfilled all that Sid Evans, the president, had promised.

At half-time the floor swayed to the tramp of many feet marching, and when competition became rife, dashing to nearby feed bags.

The function was under the direction of a joint executive. Patrons and patronesses were: Dean Bollert, Dean Buchanan, Dr. G. G. Sedgewick and Prof. and Mrs. Logan.

NOTHING BARRED?

Students who wish to get pictures in the scrap pages of the Totem are asked to turn in snaps immediately as the deadline for engraving is fast approaching. "There will be three pages of scrap pictures, and nothing is barred," states Pat Kerr, Totem Editor.

PEP MEETING TODAY

AUDRE CARLIN

CAPT. AL PLUNKETT

Captain Al Plunkett has kindly consented to allow members of his company, the well-known "Dumbells" appear at today's Pep Meeting in honor of the Ellensburg Basketball team. Captain Plunkett needs no introduction to Vancouver theatre-goers while his charming danseuse, Audre Carlin, has also attracted much popularity through her recent British Columbia performances. She will offer a few numbers today, all in the cause of sweet charity.

Tickets For 'Iolanthe' Out Tomorrow

Much progress is being made by the Musical Society in their forthcoming production, "Iolanthe." Saturday, February 11, will be the day of the first complete rehearsal. "This year's production," remarked Gordon Stead, "promises to be ahead of last year's It is not so 'breezy,' however, and we have more time to polish everything up."

It was announced that the broadcast of "Iolanthe" would take place on Monday, February 13. A correction is in order, however, as this is scheduled to be held on Sunday evening, February 12, at 9 p.m. over station CKWX. The entire cast and orchestra will participate in this broadcast of selections from "Iolanthe."

During the first week of the sale of tickets for this production, the sum of $200 was realized. Tickets for Student's Night, Wednesday, February 15, are 25c, all seats being unreserved. This is open to both High School and University students. Prices for the remaining three nights are 40c, 60c, 80c and $1.00. Seat may be reserved either at the campus box-office or at J. W. Kelly's Piano Co., where those who have tickets will be able to exchange them for reserved seats. The sale of tickets at Kelly's will take place beginning Friday, February 10; and the campus box-office will be open a day or two before, closing on the 10th. Phone orders will be accepted downtown. Alternate rows are being reserved at the two offices. Student tickets for Wednesday will be available at the campus box-office or at the Auditorium, February 13, 14, and 15, from 12 to 2 o'clock.

Quainton Discusses "For Sinners Only"

"For Sinners Only", the book which has gone through many editions since it was written last year, and which is selling by the thousands downtown, will be one of the topics treated by Dean C. S. Quainton of Victoria today (Tuesday) at 3:00 p.m. in Aggie 100 (note change of time and place). The Dean's address is entitled "The Oxford Group Movement."

For the benefit of those who cannot attend the three o'clock lecture, Dean Quainton will repeat his address at 8:00 p.m. the same evening (Tuesday), at St. Helen's Church, corner Eighth avenue West and Trimble street. This second lecture will be open to anybody who wishes to attend.

The Dean of Columbia is well known in Vancouver as a most interesting and entertaining speaker. He is making a special trip to Vancouver for the purpose of speaking to the students, and it is hoped that there will be a large turnout.

Alpinists Describe Exploits

B. C. Mountaineers Show Scenic Slides Before Vancouver Institute

Something of the thrill of exploration was tasted by a well attended meeting of the Vancouver Institute in Arts 100 on Saturday evening, as members of the Vancouver Branch of the Alpine Club of Canada described trips into mountains never climbed before.

The speakers were not eloquent. They let the glaciers and the peaks and the snow speak for them through the medium of beautiful slides, most of which they had coloured themselves with a care and artistry such as only love for the work could breed.

Panoramas from the tops of unnamed peaks revealed hundreds of square miles without a shred of vegetation, a sea of rock and ice, where the climber's skill is tested to the utmost and his appetite constantly whetted by the prospect of new horizons from the summit.

Mount Waddington, "Mystery Mountain," the highest peak entirely in B. C. ,lies inward from Bute Inlet only 175 miles from Vancouver, and around it is such an alpine paradise that Mr. Frank Smith, president, might well say that Vancouver mountaineers, with the posibility of climbing 52 weeks in the year, were the most favoured in Canada.

The opportunities for exploration work are particularly great, as is evidenced by the fact that it was only in 1930 that Mount Waddington was definitely located and climbed. Mr. Don Munday, accomplisher of this feat, gave an account of it to the meeting.

A trip into much the same area

Peppers Sign Plunkett, Audre Carlin, and Oley Olson's Band for Show

Starts 12:10 Sharp Today—All In Honour of Visiting Ellensburg Basket Crew—Hilker, Stewart and Perkins Take Bows

The Pep Club has clicked again in a big way.

Spurred by the addition of some new Pepsters, Gordie Hilker, Lyle Stewart and "Long Doug" Perkins have been literally burning the wires for the past few days, and will present at noon today one of the finest arrays of talent ever staged on the U.B.C. boards. Final confirmation of negotiations came Saturday when the Pep Club received the following telegram from Capt. Al Plunkett of the "Dumbells:"

Co-starring with Capt. Plunkett and Miss Carlin in the show will be one of Vancouver's most popular dance orchestras, Oley Olsen and his Commodore Cabaret boys.

Book Endowment Fund Valedictory Gift of Seniors

It seems that four years ago there was a peppy freshman class. The class has managed to stagger through this term of incarceration, but the adjective must have been dropped by the wayside.

Evidence of this fact was not lacking at the Senior class meeting on Friday noon. One or two were present, among them Bernie Jackson, the president, who presided. Several speeches were made to an apathetic house and a ubiquitous valedictory gift was selected.

The library is to be benefited by the gift of a book endowment fund, and a plaque will be set up in the building commemorating the fact that the classes of '33 assisted in the work. The motion for this gift was put by Eric Brooks.

Graham Ladner was foremost in the ranks of those who approved the notion of sponsoring a Public Relations Bureau. But it was decided that the sum of money which the graduating classes would have at their disposal would be totally ineffective in the furthering of such a work. An additional reason advanced against the proposal was the fact that this Public Relations bureau was really a matter for the whole Alma Mater Society to consider, rather than one single class.

Snooty Set-to Scheduled

A full moon and the electric lights of the Sicencemen will provide illumination at the Alma Mater Ball, which will be held on February 10 in the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Vancouver.

Len Chamberlin and his orchestra will provide the music.

The Sciencemen are handling the decorations which will consist of multi-coloured lights and flashes.

The hours are from 9 till 1 and a sit down supper will be provided at some time during the night. Tickets are $2.00 a couple and the supply will be limited. Everyone is advised to buy them early.

Dorothy Thompson, president of the W.U.S. and Vic Rogers, president of the M.U.S., are in charge of all arrangements and will act as host and hostess at the affair.

Patrons and patronesses for the function will be Chancellor and Mrs. McKechnie, President and Mrs. Klinck Dean and Mrs. Buchanan, Acting Dean and Mrs. Turnbull, Dean and Mrs. Clement, Dean Bollert and Dr. Sedgewick.

NOTICE

Tickets for to-night's Varsity—Ellensburg game may be obtained from members of the senior team, or at the Pep Meeting, or at the Gym Box Office. Student tickets are offered at 35c, with reserved seats at 50c.

Ellensburg To Bow

The occasion for the show will of course be the arrival of the Ellensburg Normal Basketball squad, which will be remembered as one of the strongest teams in Washington State. Last year they took the home crew for a considerable ride, and figure to repeat tonight. Varsity, however, being in the middle of a winning streak, are equally confident that they can take the American visitors. The Ellensburg boys will probably be introduced from the stage, while charming co-eds will dispense student tickets for tonight's game which will be played in the home gym.

Dumbells Well Known

Students will undoubtedly pack the Auditorium for the third and greatest Pep Meeting of the year. Audre Carline has charmed audiences across the Dominion as the premier danseuse of Plunkett's well-known revue, "The Dumbells". Capt. Plunkett himself needs no introduction to theatre-goers, his show having played in Vancouver practically every year since the War. Miss Carlin is also well-known to students, and it is rumoured that an enterprising Commerce man will escort the petite star to the Alma Mater Ball on Friday.

Oley Olson Popular

Oley Olson, who has been one of the most popular band-leaders in Vancouver for the past two years, will offer up rhythms as they should be offered up. "Oley" first came into prominence five years ago when he joined Jackie Souders' Strand Theatre orchestra as featured singer, and he has been continuing his solo work via the ether every Tuesday and Friday night over CNRV, and to judge from fan mail, the popularity of his band is growing all the time. His band today will consist of Les Crane, piano; Jack Williamson, drums; Eddie Larden, trumpet; Harvey Wilson, trumpet and trombone; Eddie Austen, sax; Harry Hill, base; and Oley hisself, sax. They will play a number of requests that they have featured at Varsity functions, including "Hell's Bells," "Goofus," and "Pink Elephants."

Show gets under way at 12:10 sharp.

JAMES DUNN POET LAUREATE AT KNOX

A new and perhaps unique honor has been awarded to a U.B.C. graduate. James Dunn, M.A., of the class of Arts '30, has been elected to the office of Poet Laureate of East House, Knox College, Toronto. Following the visit of England's Poet Laureate, John Masefield, the students of Knox College decided to have a Poet Laureate of their own. Owing to the superior quality of Mr. Dunn's verse, he was immediately elected. His poems have appeared at various times in the literary issues of the "Varsity."

After winning a Khaki University scholarship in October, 1929, Dunn graduated with first-class honors in Philosophy. Having followed this up with a year of graduate work here, he is now taking his first year in Theology at Knox College.

THE FIRST BEQUEST

The announcement of the first bequest, $80,000 for medical research, left to the University by the late Dr. A. S. Munro is a hopeful sign in these troublous times. It is the first bequest received from a Vancouver citizen.

For years the University has been struggling along as a sort of semi-political football, sometimes well treated by the Government, sometimes left pretty well to its own resources. The bequest is a start towards putting the University in a position similar to that of McGill University, which is virtually independent of governmental support through its endowments.

We venture to state that the action of the late Dr. Munro will put the University in a much more favorable light in a certain section of the general public. We would also venture the hope that men of similar nature and circumstances will follow the splendid example set by Dr. Munro.

Some sort of recognition is being made by the students. The 1933 edition of the Totem will be dedicated to the memory of Dr. Munro, and the frontpiece will be a likeness of him.

CLASS SPIRIT. OH YEAH!

Once again it has become necessary to remark upon the lack of class spirit shown by various classes.

First the freshmen disarrange the set order of things by failing to turn out in sufficient numbers to carry on elections, then the seniors fail to appear and show enough interest to decide the vital question of a valedictory gift.

Far be it from us to sponsor the decision of important questions by organized minorities, but if the members of a democratic group fail to take sufficient interest in their own government, that is what is bound to happen.

If this attitude continues, it will become necessary to create a dictatorship to run class affairs.

Sometimes we think it would be better thus.

PEP

Approximately three years ago five or six members of the Class of Arts '34 got together over a Cafeteria table and decided that the Campus needed "pepping up." With that in mind, they organized the now-famous "Pep Club."

Like a lot of other ventures, it opened with a bang, and within two weeks had collected a lot of "loyal" members. Circulars were sent out to members—games were attended en masse, and, in short, it looked as if the Club was a permanent fixture.

But the Campus raised a very snooty and dubious eyebrow and sat back to await the sad demise—it had seen two or three similar organizations start in a blaze of glory and then die out as quickly as they had flamed. It scoffed.

Slowly, last year, it began to appear that the Campus, for once, was right. Members dropped right and left, and at the end of the year, the only standbys were the five or six "charter members."

They stuck together. And decided that they would try, once more, to show that they were a "Pep Club" that really stood for Pep.

Today we are glad to say that those boys have succeeded. Their attendance at games, their revival of Varsity songs and Varsity yells, and, most important, their Pep Meetings, have equalled, if not surpassed, any work that has been done in this line before.

Congratulations, Pep Club! We're proud of you!

OCCASIONAL OBSERVATIONS

By FRANCES LUCAS

"JUST LOOK AT THOSE MOUNTAINS!"

I well remember when the above caption used to be a favorite slogan of mine. It is the traditional motto of the Literary Editor, who has always been accustomed to flutter into the Pub office on fine mornings uttering it with ingenuous rapture. It got to be rather a curse, and the Editor-in-Chief made of it a bitter mock, but the tradition continues, and there have been known even those who are not Literary Editors to perpetrate the telling epigram.

Well, all this verbosity is merely apropos of the fact that they are worth looking at these days.

O — O

CAP FITS AND CONNIPTIONS

Various opinions have been expressed as to the merits of our new column, about which I have not yet made up my mind. It has been called everything from the first sign of cultural decay at this university to the brightest thing the Ubyssey ever published.

It is neither, really. It fulfils the functions of the "personals" of a small-town newspaper, only its audience is, of course, much smaller. That audience is rather intrigued, if one is to judge by the comments which have been made in one short week. Of permanent cultural value "If the Cap Fits" certainly is not; of amusing if trivial interest to quite a large number of Ubyssey readers it would appear so far to be. Time will tell.

SPOUTINGS ON "THE FOUNTAIN"

I noticed in the last "Apes" a review of Morgan's "Fountain" which interested me because I so thoroughly disagreed with it, as I have with almost all current critics' opinions of the book. D. R. says that the book is written in a thoroughly engrossing manner, and that one hates to set it down before reaching the end. Several thoughtful readers recommended it to me in similar terms, and I looked into it during the Christmas holidays.

I stuck it for seventy-five pages, after which I set it down with all the good will in the world, and fully intend never to take it up again. It seems to me that in that length of time the novelist ought at least to have caught his reader's attention. Mine wandered from the first paragraph, and when for a moment it chanced to concentrate on the non-committal it was immediately diverted by the writer, who set off on a digression into metaphysical discourse lasting for several pages. I did not even reach the delicate love-story, for the young lady appeared on first meeting some degrees more boringly introspective than the hero.

Mr. Morgan seems at least to have inspired me with quite vitriolic eloquence. I had no idea that the book had had so much effect on me. Maybe there is something in it after all. Or have I become incapable, after a term and a half of columnizing, of appreciating the Better Things of Life?

O —O

ON THE MASTHEAD

The Masthead seems to be usurping a place on Page Two nearly commensurate with that of the editorials themselves. (The Masthead, for the benefit of the half-dozen or so undergraduates who have not at one time or another worked on the Ubyssey, is the space in the upper left-hand corner devoted to listing the names of the staff.) And as if the Pubsters regular were not enough, we have a whole separate division devoted to the Totem staff, as well as the Business high muck-a-mucks.

Every now and then talk has come up of abolishing this institution. "If you did," a cynic remarked, "you'd lose three-quarters of your staff." Personally I believe this to be a calumny upon the large majority of our hard-working crew; they deserve what small credit they get, anyway. But there has always been a certain element which joined the staff merely for the glory of the thing. (I don't see where they figure it comes in, but apart from that.)

This element never lasts long in the paper-strewn confines of the Pub. And there is never a sound of weeping and lamentation at their going. Contrary to widespread opinion, drones are not welcomed with open arms into our ink-stained midst, and their exit at pen-point or boot-tip or in a gentle drifting manner, is ever a matter for ringing hosannahs in the Fourth Estate.

That's all right; you're welcome. So glad you dropped in . . . .

O — O

OBSERVED ROUND

Not a thing that "Cap Fits" hasn't scooped me on. But wait awhile.

MR. PICOBAC tilted his chair back against the wall.

"Weather is a great thing for the farmer," he said. "When it rains some folks blame it on the climate. I don't. I say let it rain. Rain gives the farmer a chance to do some fixin' up in his barn. Rain gives the woman a chance to get the boys to split her wood and fill the wood box. Rain fills up the cistern . . .

"And," exclaimed Mr. Picobac, suddenly interrupting himself, "rain makes the young tobacco grow! The Burley Tobacco of good old Essex and good old Kent! I tell you we've got a lot to be thankful for in this part of the country—especially the weather. We get the sun and we get the rain."

IF THE CAP FITS . . . .

"It wasn't told to me, I only heard."

The inevitable coo was overheard at least once at the Soph-Frosh scramble: "I think I got the best draw at this party.'

And hurrah for the two Councillors who made the party per Mr. Murrin's little conveyance; let's hope it forms a precedent in these well-known and justly unpopular Hard Times . . .

Another inevitable coo heard at the above Gathering: "Oh, I'll bet you tell that to all the girls." (Authentic).

There is an Alpha Gam formal in the fair city to the south of us on the same night that our most prominent financier heads in that direction to interview graduate managers and things; seems to be some vague connection, don't just know where.

Alpha Gams here are sponsoring newest indoor sport. Battleships is out; jacks is in . . . When I went to primary school, that was a sign of spring in the air . . .

How about the Phi Delt who was reputed to be under the table with Lupe Velez on New Year's Eve?

Two Alpha Kaps are now all steamed up about one item that both think was about him—or them. Better get together, boys . . .

Professor Larsen says that "Horace and Cicero were all right, but they knew the wrong Greeks." A lot of people have noticed striking resemblances between these classics authors and the hardest-rushed fraternity pledges . . .

What Fijis, Thetas and Zetas don't like to pay for phone calls?

And what Alpha Kap danced an even dozen times with a very certain person last F'day?

What People Are Saying

Professor Larsen—Well, I guess we can call it a day, we've covered two thousand years.

Jack Shaneman (in A.M.S. meeting with three present)—I'm being railroaded by my own executive.

Jack Stanton—No, I tell you, I am not a fairy in the coming production of "Iolanthe."

Stu Keate—At last I've found out what kind of guys write letters to the editor.

Cherub: My mouth feels like it's fur-lined.

Merton: Sort of down in the mouth, eh?

Correspondence

Editor, Ubyssey,
Dear Sir:

One of the members of the illustrious committee of economists, (the "Five Kidd Commission" for want of a better name) who also happens to be an intercollegiate debater, has created a glorious precedent in the matter of devotion to his Alma Mater.

It appears from a perusal of the expense account, about which a story appears elsewhere, that this noble fellow who has condescended to delve into the forgotten limbo of Sadium expenditures, has padded the account to the extent of some twenty dollars.

A little independent investigation on my part has disclosed the fact that the other member of the debate team, had little or nothing to do with the excessive charges.

What a glorious breed of men we are fostering within out walls: men who make ridiculous and unnecessary expenditures of Alma Mater funds themselves, and, then out of the goodness of their heart and the nobility of their character, allow themselves to guide the destinies of a committee charged with the task of bringing to light alleged extravagance!

If I were a member of the committee I would consider myself unworthy of serving with him. Surely he is sufficiently noble and far seeing to be able to handle the whole thing himself.

Yours,
P. B. P.

Editor Ubyssey,
Dear Sir:

It was with considerable surprise that I read the article in the "Ubyssey" regarding my expense account to Saskatchewan. Were it not that I am chairman of the present Stadium Committee I most certainly would NOT bother about this matter, which is nothing more than a ridiculous piece of publicity. However, these facts will, I believe, throw light on the whole matter: (1) Mr. Brown as well as myself went on this debate. (2) an account of all expenditures, including personal items were included in the report. (3) This was NOT meant to be paid for by the A.M.S. (4) Due to the accountant's inability to meet us and disassociate our own items from the general account, this went to Council. This was unfortunate as our own private expenses had nothing to do with the matter. The day before publication of the "Ubyssey" Mr. Collins, Mr. Brown and myself, had cleared the entire matter. Mr. Brown and I accepted our own expenditures and neither he nor I have been "summoned" to give an account for the simple reason that this has been straightened out. This, I believe, will be explained by the President of the A.M.S. elsewhere on this sheet.

Yours respectfully,
N. T. NEMETZ.

Editor, Ubyssey,
Dear Sir:

It would seem that there is some controversy between two "sophisticated" co-eds and one, Mr. Smith, as to the desirability of being found dead, either with the other. For those interested it should be known the the original point in debate was not a haranguing about the fine points of a corpse, but whether U. B.C. men and women checked up to standard.

It should be remembered that the correspondence column of the Ubyssey is intended for letters of a constructive or helpful nature ,and not as a third party to aid anonymous young hot-heads blow up at each other. Is this sophistication?

I think it was Katz in "All Quiet" who suggested that those interested should rope off a big field and fight it out in their under-pants.

If the two "sophisticated" co-eds are not satisfied with our U.B.C. men, let them go to the U. of W. which they seem to prefer. Possibly, lectures will continue here, and the university carry on without them. As to the co-eds—there seem to be no complaints from the men who take them out. The two in question have apparently been neglected. Perhaps the fault lies with themselves. If so, they should speak for themselves, not for the co-eds as a whole.

Sincerely yours,
J. R.

Editor, Ubyssey,
Dear Sir:

Do you not consider it deplorable that two young ladies who have been exposed to the benefits of higher learning should be so willing—nay—eager, to jump to conclusions?

When writing the statement to which "Two more Co-eds" take objection, I had no intention whatsoever to making any improper inferences. If they interpreted my remarks in that manner I think that they might do well to look to their own minds and not show so much solicitude regarding mine. I have been handling my mind very competently for some years previous to hearing of these two co-eds, and I trust that I shall continue to do so long after I have forgotten both of them.

Speaking of proverbs, do you suppose that "Two more Co-eds" ever heard the one about the pot calling the kettle black?

Sincerely,
W. J. SMITH

Institute Hears Alpining Lecture

at the head of Bute Inlet was described by Mr. Alec Dalgleish, who mentioned the difficulties encountered in starting at sea level and packing supplies through the tangled bush on the lower slopes.

These troubles were largely avoided by Mr. Tom Fyles, who told how he had explored the head-waters of the Lillooet River this summer by going up the P.G.E. and using pack horses to reach a base for climbing.

After establishing a base, each party worked in a similar manner, climbing all the peaks they could reach, taking pictures and making scientific observations and returning to camp for the nights. Sometimes their zeal drove them on through most of the night.

They said little about danger, but every now and then a photograph would show up a yawning crevice treacherously covered with a thin bridge of snow, and the laymen in the audience were apt to shiver at the mere sight of most of the peaks that were so blithely scaled.

Mr. Fyles and his party encountered special difficulty with the crumbly volcanic rock of the Lillooet District: They were never sure whether or not it was going to break away beneath them. Once, however, it made possible an amusing exploit.

They had climbed a mountain, but could not reach the topmost pinnacle, though it was only a few yards away and but a couple of feet higher than they were. Not to be balked, they gathered a few boulders, threw them at the curmbling spire and knocked enough off the top of it to make their own standing point the summit.

Exchange Views

By NANCY MILES

Idea

In the Idaho Argonaut last Tuesday there was an article the lead of which read: "American co-eds have it all over Canadian beauties because they know how to dress and paint and make themselves look smooth, University of British Columbia students declared recently after interviews with Washington co-eds touring Vancouver."

The best that can be said of the B. C. students who thus committed themselves, is that they showed fine old British Columbia politeness in the face of a barrage of American co-eds.

Apparently it's time we changed our crest and motto. And as a suggestion, how is this: A pair of Science men rampant, over an Arts man dormant, and underneath in scroll lettering, "The guest is always right."

Bathos

An exchange paper from the interior, not a college paper, carries an obituary containing an almost perfect example of bathos. For apparent reasons, the name of the paper and the full article are not reprinted here.

The deceased encountered his brother in the business section of the city. "While talking to him he suddenly collapsed, and the grim reaper took him home."

Antique

The Ubyssey must share its punning distinction with the University of Toronto. The following occurs in an imaginary interview with Walter Winchell in the Varsity:

"'I'm trying to find out if the Four Marx Brothers are really that way about Greta Garbo. What do you think?'

"'As far as Garbo is concerned that news is already antique,' we answered.

"Winchell looked up with interest.

"'Sure,' we continued. 'Haven't you heard her continually repeat, "Antique Ay go home."'"

Varsity Students In Radio Debate

trade at present. This increase in trade would thus create greater employment and place Canada on a firmer economic basis.

Basing his argument on Canada's foreign debts and on previous unsuccessful attempts at inflation, Mr. Poole, co-speaker for the affirmative, maintained that if inflation were carried out, the payment of Canada's debt to the United States would become practically impossible. He said that the unsuccessful attempts of Germany and Russia should be sufficient to show that this policy would not be in the best interests of Canada. There is no central bank in this country, and thus it would be difficult to control inflation—uncontrolled inflation would lead to deflation.

Jim Ferris, Varsity Ciceronian, resorted to statistics to prove his point, showing that a policy of inflation is now, and has been for some time, existing in Canada. If this policy is continued, Canada will be able to continue on a firmer financial standing.

Harold Frick, in a three-minute rebuttal, reiterated that inflation is a result of previous inflation, and that inflation must deteriorate—past conditions have proved this.

Fast-stepping Varsity Hoopmen Defeat Leading Sparling Cagers Play Ellensburg Normals Tonight

Speedy Attack Overcomes Storemen in Thrilling Game

Varsity Only a Game Behind Leaders

In a game packed with action from start to finish, Varsity Senior A cagers took revenge for their defeat of two week ago when they sent Sparlings down to a 33-27 defeat at V.A.C. gym. Saturday night. The Collegians took the lead after about five minutes play, and although the amount of that lead varied considerably, the Storemen were never able to wipe it out.

Game Starts Fast

Varsity began the game at top speed and peppered the Sparlings' backboard with half a dozen unsuccessful shots. The McIntyre aggregation, also travelling at a fast clip, missed a number of shots at the other end before Harvey McIntyre, the captain dropped in a one-handed shot from the side. He added a foul before Osborne sank a long shot for Varsity's first tally. For a few minutes the lead varied between the two quintettes, with Purves and McIntyre replying to scores by Bardsley and Osborne.

With the score at 5-6 against them, the Blue and Gold offence began to function, and with the whole team combining beautifully, baskets came rapidly. Bardsley, who had been getting through a great deal of work, was given a well-earned rest, and Rann Matthison came on in his place. Rann's presence seemed to speed the squad up still more, and they rushed the Sparlings outfit off their feet. As the score climbed to 14-9, Sparlings called time-out.

Varsity Leads at Half-time

With the resumption of play, Dick Wright came on in place of Laurie Nicholson, Ken Wright going to centre. During the few minutes left to the interval, Varsity added four more points on combination plays as against one basket by Kennington.

The half time score was 18-11 for the Blue and Gold.

The second period started out in much the same manner as the first, with McIntyre scoring the first basket and Osborne replying for Varsity. After a basket by Eddie Armstrong, Rann Matthison ran in two tallies, the first on Ken Wright's rebound and the second on a beautiful combination play with Nicholson and Wright. However, having tangled with the lengthy Purves once too often, he shortly after drew his fourth personal, and was replaced by Jimmie Bardsley.

Sparlings Down 16-28

Varsity continued on the attack, and baskets by Bardsley, Nicholson and Osborne pushed the score to 28-16. Sparlings tried a number of combinations in an effort to stop the wave of baskets, but were unsuccessful for some time.

However, with Wills on in place of Eddie Armstrong, Freddie Armstrong in place of Kennington and Jackie Sherman filling the great McIntyre's shoes, the Storemen started a rally which brought the score to 30-25 for Varsity. At this point Varsity called time-out and did a little reorganizing, so that when the game began again, they managed to add a point or two more before the game ended. The final whistle found the score at 33-27 for the Blue and Gold.

The Varsity squad were all in form Saturday night, working as a team throughout, and after the first five minutes, missed few opportunities. Osborne and Campbell made a good job of holding "Long John" Purves, about whom most of the Sparlings plays centre. The scoring was evenly divided over the whole team.

The team: Varsity — Osborne (7), Bardsley (4), Matthison (6), Nicholson (3), Campbell (7), K. Wright (6), D. Wright, Mansfield.

Sparlings — Kennington (3), McIntyre (6), Purves (10), E. Armstrong (2), Smith (2), Wills, Sherman, McRae, F. Armstrong (4).

Red Cross Show — Aid the Needy

Varsity Captain

BOB OSBORNE

Playing a brilliant game at guard this season, Bob Osborne is one of the big reasons why Varsity is one of the leading teams in the Burrard League this year. Bob will lead his squad against the flashy Ellensburg Normal team in the Varsity gymn. tonight in a game which should produce just about the best sample of the hoop game to be staged this season, and he and his cohorts will have to play their best brand of ball to overcome the visitors.

Heady Forward

KEN WRIGHT

A former guard, Ken Wright was this year converted into a forward and has made good with a vengeance in his new post. He works with Jimmie Bardsley, Laurie Nicholson and Rann Matthison on the attacking line, and whatever combination is on the floor, he is sure to engineer a number of successful combination plays. Possessor of a fine one-handed shot, Ken is one of the high scorers of the Blue and Gold aggregation.

Racketeers to Hold Tournament

The Varsity annual Badminton Tournament will take place next week on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. Providing that there are enough entries, there will be ten events, five open and five handicap. These will consist of Ladies' and Men's Doubles and Mixed Doubles. No handicap event will be held unless there are at least four entries in that event.

Entry fee will be 50c per player per event in the open events and 25c per player per event in the handicap events. Cups will be awarded in the open events and prizes in the handicap. Entry sheets will be posted on the Quad notice board and in the gym. Entries will close at 11 a.m. on Saturday, February 11.

This tournament is open to all University students and all are invited to enter. Members of the first team are not allowed to enter the handicap singles and two members of the first team are not allowed to enter the handicap doubles together.

Both Teams in Good Shape For Game In U.B.C. Gym

Ellenburg's String of Victories Enviable

Many controversies will be settled, and basketball history will be made in the Varsity gym tonight beginning at nine o'clock, when two of the most spectacular hoop aggregations in the Pacific Northwest come together in what promises to be the most torrid tussle local fans have had the opportunity of witnessing in many moons.

Big Crowd Anticipated

Ardent followers of the bounce and dribble game are all agog over the chance of witnessing in action the snappy Ellensburg Normal quintette from Washington, and coach Gordon Allen's fast-stepping Blue and Gold squad, and a packed house is expected to greet these two teams when they take the floor. Varsity's league-leading Senior B team will play North Vancouver in the preliminary starting at 8.

U. S. Boys Consistent Winners

The Washington team have established an enviable record in the consistency with which they win games. They may proudly boast of the fact that they have not lost a game for the last three years in the Washington Normal League, and show no signs of weakening yet.

So far this season the Yankee outfit have lost only two games, both by very small margins. On January 6 of this year they almost upset the top-ranking University of Washington Huskies but were nosed out in the last few minutes of play. They were actually leading 14-11 at half time, and were tied 20-20 with ten minutes left to play, only to lose by a few points. Their other game they lost by one point to a Tacoma five.

Beat Yakima Kittens

The simple statement that Ellensburg beat the Yakima Kittens means nothing to most people in Canada. But when this is qualified by the statement that the Yakima Kittens beat the Spokane Sparklers, who in turn whitewashed the Vancouver Crusaders team of a few years ago, the connection is obvious. Thinking in terms of family relations we may call them "great-great-great winners" over the Crusaders.

Needless to say, with such a brilliant record behind them the visitors will be in no mood to take things lightly to-night, but will be all-out to continue their winning streak.

U.B.C. Determined

However, there is another side to the question, and one which carries a lot of weight behind it. This "side" is commonly known as Varsity Senior A basketball team, and is a most serious handicap to any team against whom it is matched.

The Blue and Gold lads have won their last four league games, and Saturday night defeated the league-leading Sparling crew who had won nine consecutive games. The form they displayed Saturday although excellent, was not however the limit of their capabilities. They have played better games and all indications leave the impression that to-night they will be inspired to give one of the greatest exhibitions of their career as a team.

They will supply the ability and the determination. The students will supply the inspiration. The Ellensburg team will supply the toughest kind of opposition. The game will supply YOU with 40 minutes of the best in basketball, each minute packed with thrills and excitement.

Get your tickets now and come to the gym early.

MEN'S GYM CLUB

There will be no turnout tonight, February 7, because of the Ellensburg basketball game.

LOST—Season's pass to Senior Basketball Games. Number 96. Urgently needed. Return to Ubyssey office.

Inter-Class Comments

by Dick Elson

CREW

What's Going To Happen This Year?

The Boat Club this year are planning their annual interfaculty race, to take place in about two weeks. The Arts chances of coming out on top this year are favorable, as usual, although the Science men have some real good material in the form of Ned Pratt, Brent Brown, Henry West. The Arts team will have Bob Strain, Ed Vick, Pewter and Murry Mather.

TRACK

Sid Swift

All honour is due to Sid Swift, husky Commerce lad, for the fine race he ran this year in the annual cross country... This race, as you know, is one of the toughest of the track grinds of the season, and to pull a first place takes plenty of guts. Two years ago Swift ran in the lap that won the Arts 20, and the possibility of his repeating the performance is certainly pretty bright. Keep up the good work, Sid!

Arts 20

Next Wednesday one of the most outstanding track events of the year comes up . . . the famous Arts '20 road race. Class representatives, get all your teams lined up AS SOON AS POSSIBLE!

BASKETBALL

Organisation?

Well I am still wondering when this question of organization is going to be settled. This week's reports are circulating about that the game which Arts '35 played with Arts '33 has been annuled by protest, the reason this time being that Heatherington, a Theolog .was playing on the soph. team. Certainly, in one of the most important branches of college sport there should be some effort put forth for organization.

Did He Spoil Their Fun, Tho!

The Frosh and the Juniors staged a good contest on January 26 when Doug. McIntyre gave the Freshies something to think about. From beginning to end Doug. romped around to the consternation of the Freshmen, popping in baskets whenever he felt like it.

You'll Get There Yet

The Soccer Club has been rather inactive of late due to terrible playing conditions. The boys hope however to get back in the game near the end of the week if the weather warms a bit.

Last minute news in this line is that the club will have the Chilliwack game postponed, the fields are pretty hard. I am afraid the boys are going to miss the dance more than the game but that is beside the point.

Defence Star

PI CAMPBELL

Shifted this season from forward to guard, Pi Campbell has proven equally effective in that position, and teams with Osborne to form a defence almost as impregnable as the famous Henderson-Osborne team of former years. Despite his position on defence, Pi rarely fails to drop in the odd basket, and is one of the squad's most consistent scorers

Tervo Tribe Cinch Place In V. and D.

Beat Y.M.C.A. by Score of 44-38 in Overtime

Varsity Senior B squad cinched the first place in the V. and D. league last Thursday night. It was one of the hardest fought games of the year and about 60 spectators were thrilled from the first to the final whistle.

Varsity started right off to get a lead of 7 points in the first five minutes. The Y.M.C.A. weren't going to be outdone like that and retaliated with five baskets one right after the other. The struggle continued till at half time the score was 23-22 with Y.M.C.A. in the lead. As the whistle went again, Chater for the Y opened the scoring. They fought point for point up till nearly full time, when Varsity forged ahead. Y however got a shooting streak in the last minute or so to tie the score at full time.

After the overtime started, Lucas got a foul shot which he made to break the tie. McDonald scored soon after, again on a foul shot. There the score stayed till 15 seconds before full time, when Lucas of Varsity scored. He was fouled but the basket counted. His foul shot bounded off the hoop but he caught it and scored another two points just as the whistle went.

The final score was Varsity 44, Y.M.C.A. 38. McDonald was high scorer for Varsity, netting 15 points, but his playing was not outstanding. Every player on the team played excellent basketball. Chater was outstanding for the Y, scoring 18 points and turning in a first class game.

The suspense in the overtime period was broken at exactly eleven o'clock, when an enterprising janitor turned off the lights in the gym. After considerable persuasion by both players and spectators he consented to turn the lights on for another five minutes, protesting all the time that it was against the rules.

This game gives Varsity the first place in their V. and D. league. They play the winner between Y.M.C.A. and Normal Grads who are tied for second place, in the playoffs.

Second Division Ruggers Win 19-0

Varsity Second Division English Ruggers resumed after their layoff with a 19-0 victory over the R.C.M.P. at Lower Brockton on Saturday. Varsity were definitely superior, and pressed throughout the game.

Ted Madeley opened the scoring for the Blue and Gold when he went over for a try which Sanderson converted. Sanderson himself went over soon after to make the score 8-0 for the Collegians. There was no more scoring in this half, although Varsity pressed the Mounties at all times.

The Policemen were on the receiving end again in the second stanza, and the Blue and Gold ruggers ran in another eleven points. Pugh was the first to score, sliding over for a try which Sanderson converted. Continued pressure on the Mounties sent Steele over for the fourth try. This went unconverted. The scoring was brought to an end with a try by Whyte . The convert again failed, and the score remained at 19-0 until the end.

The team: Grubbe; Sanderson, Whyte, Steele, Pugh; Smith; McDonald; Pyle, Beddal, Clement, Madeley, Johnson, Weld, Wood, Sumner.

VARSITY SWAMPS MERALOMAS

Friday night saw the Varsity Intermediate A basketball squad play a good brand of ball to take the strong Meraloma cagers by a score of 63-27. The College boys quite outplayed the Kitsilano crew in every department and had things very much their own way the greater part of the game. Harper was high scorer for the students with 14 points but was followed close behind by Wood, Idyll, Phillips, and Kelly.

Team: Harper (14), Thurbur (4), Wood (11), Little (6), Kelly (0), Phillips (9).

Red Cross Show — Aid the Needy

U.B.C. Swim Team Lose To Victoria

Harry Andisson Performs Well For Varsity

Plenty of Material In Club

Varsity swimmers took a severe beating from Victoria Y Saturday night at the Crystal Garden, with a final score of 66-33 when Y splashed their way to ten firsts in fourteen events. In spite of these disheartening results, the Varsity team on the whole shows promise under Norman Cox, though most of them are new to competition swimming.

Andison Stars

Harry Andison, Varsity star, won by a good lead in both 50 and 100 yards free style. In the men's rally, Bill Shelley, swimming first kept even, until Norm Gustafson, second, picked up a long lead. Ron Wilson and Andison again held even and Varsity finished well ahead. The ladies' relay was less successful. Florence Jackson, who has been swimming free-style for less than a week, surprised herself and everyone else by holding almost even, but Varsity finally lost to both first and second Y teams.

U.B.C. Men Good

Varsity men showed particularly good sportsman ship by competing in the 3-meter diving. The event was taken by Art Stott, Victoria star, winning with an almost flawless performance.

Marian Sangster, Varsity's modest diving Venus, did well to win over Kewpie Unsworth, juvenile Juno of Victoria, on a strange springboard. It looks like demure Darrel Gomery, who placed third is beginning to learn how.

Coach Cox's Views

If there were any special features attached to the evening of the Varsity-Victoria Y gala they were according to Coach Norman Cox the following:

1. The great and successful effort of Norm Gustafson swimming second man in the exciting final event—the men's 200 yard Relay—Gustafson pulled up a ten foot loss and struck in with a five foot lead.

2. The gameness and conscientiousness of the novices in competition to wit Florence Jackson and Isabelle Braidwood in the Women's relay—Florence learned the crawl last week—Darrel Gomery in her diving attempt from a strange springboard, Rod Bell and Shol Marlatt from the fickle and wicked highboard, the way in which Cathy McLeod, Ellen Raphael, Mack McGinn and Bill Moxon held to their new and to them difficult "form" under the strain and stress and hard competition.

3. The flock of fine young speed swimmers possessed by the Victoria Y. There's a reason!

4. The fine sportsmanship of the officials, of the crowd and of the participants.

5. The presence of TORCHY THE GREAT, brother of Graduate Ernie Peden, B.S.A. '32.

The Results

Complete results follow:

Men, 50 yards freestyle—1, H. Andison, Varsity; 2, D. Walker, Y.M.C.A.; 3, P. Riddle, Y.M.C.A. Time :26 1-5.

Women, 50 yards freestyle—1, R. Davidson, Y.M.C.A.; 2, H. Unsworth, Y.M.C.A.; 3, P. Boe, Varsity. Time, :33 1-5.

Men, 100 yards breaststroke—1, McMillian, Y.M.C.A.; 2, R. Stark, Y.M.C.A.; 3, McGinn, Varsity. Time, 1:25 1-5.
