Labour Shortage Threatens Brock

Greeks Welcome 130 Pledges Wed.

• "MORE THAN 130 rushees accepted fraternity bids this year," announced Barry Sleigh, president of the IFC.

"In all, the rushing was quite satisfactory," said Sleigh, "although there were several infractions of the rushing regulations."

He further stated that he felt offending fraternities should be brought before a committee, in order to uphold the constitution.

There were 139 men registered this year, as compared to 154 registered last year.

LIST

Below are complete lists of men joining each fraternity.

Swanson to Speak At Graduation

• THE seventeenth autumn congregation for the conferring of degrees will be held in the Auditorium at 2:45 p.m. on Wednesday, October 27, when about seventy students will graduate.

Speaker will be the Very Reverend Cecil Swanson, D. D., rector of Christ Church Cathedral.

Students in any faculty who are standing for degrees next spring may obtain invitation by calling at the Registrar's office.

Other members of the student body are welcome, without invitations, to seats in the gallery, or just before opening time on the main floor.

No lectures will be held after 2:25 p.m. on the day of the congregation.

Tchaikowsky's 5th Symphony Featured On Noon Program

• TIM Dauphinee, president of the Music Appreciation group, has announced that the first program of recordings will be held Thursday noon in the Men's smoking room in the Brock.

Tchaikowsky's Fifth Symphony will be played as well as some lighter classics, time permitting.

The records come from the Library Record Album and any requests from this collection should be given to Tim several days in advance. There is no charge and the student body is cordially invited.

• BROCK HALL, student rendezvous and home of the AMS office, Book Exchange, Employment Bureau, Red Cross Rooms and last but not least, Publications Board, may have to be shut down temporarily if student co-operation does not relieve the serious labour problem.

Bloody Battle Looms As Council Challenges Pub

By DENIS BLUNDEN

• MINCING INTO the Pub in a series of dainty whirls, lit up with a large red neon sign flashing "LSE" "LSE" from his chest, a bleary-eyed council member recently challenged the Pub to a game of basketball.

Produced below is the complete text of the challenge, cleaned and washed and rigorously censored as all Council quotes must be for publication in a family journal.

CHALLENGE

"We, the Council, alias the Dirty Nine (hic) hereby challenge (glug) that sterling organization, the Pub to a good old fashioned (glug) game of basketball to be held any old time (whoopse!) in the future. We, the council, will wipe the Pub off the face of the earth!"

With a loud hallelujah and a final flash of neon the council member pirouetted out the door, and collided with a member of the Employment Bureau sweeping up the floor. (God wot rot).

The challenge has been accepted with alacrity (whatever that is). All members of the Pub have begun to girdle up their loins for the battle and those who are short on loins are girdling anyway.

All this is hot off the girdle, of corset. The game will be played in the gymnasium at some time to be announced. All arrangements are being made by Council so the great event will probably not be arranged finally until 1953.

Led this year by a dauntless red-haired Joan of Arc, all pubsters are rallying behind the great Pub marching song "The depths of Auld Brock Hall" and are holding scrimmages and jiu-jitsu practices nightly to get in condition for the expected Council warfare.

Hobbies As Subjects Of Display

• JUNE HEWITSON, decorator of the library window showcase, wishes to use various student hobbies as subjects of a hobby window series which will commence in the near future.

The library showcase is giving all students with special pastimes a chance to show how really interesting their hobbies are. June would like any students interested to contact her.

It doesn't matter what is the form of the hobby; June is eager to hear from all hobbyists, and suggestions will be welcome.

June assembles these show cases through Miss Smith of the library extension department. Each week a new display is in the window, and this week the window has featured scientific instruments used in engineering. The display was provided by Mr. Morrison and Mr. Peebles.

All clubs who wish to put in a window display are asked to contact June as soon as possible.

Homecoming Pep Meet October 28

• ARRANGEMENTS are being completed to stage a fast-action Homecoming Pep Meet Thursday, October 28, at 12:30 in the auditorium.

Under the direction of the Mam-oaks the pep meet will feature a dance orchestra, cheer leaders, and a delegation of scientists.

The scientists are close lipped about their contribution, labelling it "secret," but it is understood to be a continuation of "famous impressions."

Cheer leaders will include Paul Harris, Dot Moxon, Yvette Morris.

Labour Situation Critical; Student Action Necessary

• "UNLESS students relieve UBC's critical labour shortage, the Brock lounge will be unavailable for long periods after every function," Employment Bureau personnel announced Wednesday.

Due to the impossibility of replacing janitorial vacancies, student help is essential at this time and Ed Friesen, director of the Bureau calls upon every university man to help in the emergency.

"Students in other colleges, both here and in the States, have faced similar labour crises," he said, "and have managed to overcome them through co-operation in part-time work."

The Bureau will place Brock workers in shifts, arranged so as to coincide with spare periods. To facilitate this scheme, all able-bodied undergrads are urged to register for at least one hour's work a week, and are asked to leave copies of their timetables with Bureau officials.

DINING ROOM

Another aspect of the Brock problem is the question of whether or not to open the dining room. If some student organization will launch a campaign in favour of re-opening the dining room, the Bureau will undertake to supply the necessary labour. In fact, three enterprising co-eds have already registered for work as waitresses.

Selective Service officials have given the Bureau authority to contact downtown firms and to solicit employment through phoning, circularizing and advertising. Registration for Christmas work will also be handled at Varsity, and will take place during the second and third weeks of November.

Blood Clinic Asks For Donations

• BROTHER, can you spare a pint of blood? The Red Cross Blood Donor's Clinic has issued an urgent appeal for more donors.

Women, as well as men, are now eligible to donate blood, the only qualifications being that they are at least eighteen years old and in good health. With improved facilities, the Clinic can now handle over 2000 donations per month as compared with only 400 donations for a similar period two years ago.

Students may register at the Clinic by writing to 623 West Hastings Street, or by phoning Marine 4048. They will be called when their services are required.

GROUP DONATIONS

Any group of students, such as a sorority, fraternity, or club, which wants to go down in a body need only notify the Clinic and they will be sent for together. In this way a UBC enterprise may be made out of it.

Students will be notified Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday evenings approximately once every four months. There is no sacrifice required since the process is painless, lasts only an hour and will not interrupt studies.

Dr. C.E. Dolman, head of the Bacteriology Department, states "There is still an urgent need for more donors on the list since some of the former volunteers have left town, while others have failed to meet their original commitments. The next few months will call for all the blood which we can supply."

Progress In Plans For Show

• IF YOU happen to see a beautiful co-ed walking down the halls with her head in the clouds, she's not in love, she's learning to walk like a blase Fifth Avenue model in preparation for the forthcoming Fashion Show.

These fifty famous females will strut their stuff on November 3rd in the Brock Lounge for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Tickets are now on sale here on the campus and may be purchased from Daphne Ryan, Bernice Williams, and Lulla Ireland. They will also be sold at the door.

Stores lending their smooth outfits for the Fashion Show include Mary Burn's, Lydia Laurence, The Petite Shop, New York Fur, Willard's the Bay, Dorothy Fletcher, Irene's, Betty's, Traer & Dickey, Wilson's, and George Strath's.

New Amateur Hour Scheduled for Nov. Announces Murdo

• MURDO MacKenzie, president of LSE, announces that a variety show, modelled on the Major Bowes hour, is being scheduled by LSE officials for presentation sometime in November.

Plans for the show are still in the formative stage, but the performers will be all-varsity talent. Several prospective participants who have been approached about the idea were very enthusiastic, and it is hoped that there will be a wide variety of student genius.

Candle Light Ceremony for Phrateres

• TRUE to tradition, Phrateres initiation will take place in the glow of candlelight. Date set for the affair is October 28, at 8 o'clock in Brock Hall.

This year, because of difficulty in obtaining help, there will be no banquet. However, freshmen will take the oath and receive their pins in formal dress.

MEET PRESIDENT

In a special candlelight ceremony new sub-chapter presidents will take over from the retiring presidents. Afterwards, new members will meet the president of Phrateres, Joan Fisher.

Com'dant Addresses UBC Corps

• MRS. BARSTONE Tudball, National Commandant of the Canadian Red Cross Corps, addressed the University Red Cross Corps on Tuesday. She was introduced by Mrs. de Satge, Provincial Commandant.

Mrs. Tudball told the University girls of the overseas work of the Red Cross Corps. She made mention of corps members in the Maple Clubs and B.C. canteens, and praised the work of the V.A.D.'s in London recreational centres.

Mrs. Tudball announced that after the war the Red Cross Corps will continue as a reserve regiment and will, in her personal opinion, do a great deal in rehabilitation work.

Organized Blood Donors Clinic

A well integrated, year-long plan for the purpose of raising money to donate to the University Red Cross Fund has been drawn up by members of the War Aid Council already. This action is to be commended, as has already been done in this space in previous issues, but why should their efforts cease at money raising schemes?

There are many other activities which they could assist in which would benefit the war effort of Canada, and Canadian Universities, besides the mere raising of money for the Red Cross.

Not the least of these is the Blood Donors Clinic. Last year many students, through various organizations to which they belonged on the campus, signed their names as blood donors. How many of these actually donated their blood has not been ascertained.

Why could there not be a drive for blood donors, to include every student, such as the one conducted by the students at the University of Saskatchewan last year, and which has been re-organized again this year?

900 of their 1,700 students gave their blood, and this year their quota to be reached has been raised to 1,000, notwithstanding the fact that their enrollment has fallen to 1,400 students.

A similar arrangement to that which is used in recruiting workers for the various campus drives, such as the Mile of Pennies, where every student club, team, or organization of any kind, is pledged to give all the assistance possible for the number of their members, would provide the means of approaching every person on the campus.

There is no reason why UBC could not contribute at least 1,500 pints of blood for this campaign. Many of the members of the faculty already wear the blood donors button. Let's make it a campus-wide affair, with equal co-operation from the students as from the faculty.

It is a matter to be inquired into. It's painless; it's free; and it's a project deserving of all the support which we can muster.

Arts Elections

Arts class elections were to be held on Wednesday noon. Artsmen remained excitedly in the Caf to see the results of the fraternity bidding, and to hear the hoarse shouts and songs of the happy group. So no elections were held.

In addition to the bid results which drew a great majority of the student body to the noisy confines of the cafeteria, many minor clubs held meetings at the same time, and so prevented their members from attending elections.

A few days ago, the Ubyssy carried a complete schedule of days on which elections and general meetings of that kind were to be held, and the importance of the observance of these days by the clubs on the campus was emphasized. This has obviously gone unheeded by the executives of some of the clubs.

But the minor organizations are not wholly at fault for the failure of the elections to induce a quorum to appear to elect representatives for each class. The organization was poor in that the meeting was scheduled for the day when bid results were given out, even though they were not supposed to be released until after the elections were to be held.

As it is arranged now, the elections will be held next Wednesday. All bookings for that time have been cancelled; no meetings will be held, according to order of the Students' Council. This will ensure each student of being free to attend the elections. There will be no excuse for lack of student interest if again, no quorum appears.

• Paragramma ... By Ed Brown

• ONE FEATURE of Canada's attempt to maintain amicable relations with Japan before the war was to allow Japanese immigration to this country.

The inevitable result of this policy was to create a minority group in Canada. Now that we have this minority, what are we going to do about it?

To answer this question, it is necessary, however briefly, to look at one aspect of Japanese outlook.

One characteristic of Shintoism, the Japanese national religion, is ancestral worship.

Ancestral worship among the Japanese is based on a belief that the emperor of Japan is directly descended from a sun goddess, and that all Japanese are descended from the ancestors of the present emperor.

PATRIOTIC LOYALTY

Makato, a coined Japanese word, expresses the feeling of loyalty to the emperor and to the nation as a whole of an individual Japanese resulting from this belief.

Japanese born in this country are brought up with this conception of their origin. Even when Christianized, the element of loyalty to the native land persists.

In this atmosphere, it is impossible for a Japanese to become a true Canadian citizen.

This is evidenced by the fact that not only are the Japanese in Canada, whether born in Japan or Canada, considered in Japan as nationals of that country, but that Japanese in Canada acquiesce in this. Every Japanese born in Canada is registered in Japan.

Space does not permit the discussion of the social discord between the Japanese in Canada and Canadians, caused in part by Japanese loyalty to Japan, in part by the use of the Japanese language among that people, in part by competitive enterprise.

MINORITY PROBLEM

Tolerance is a magnificent thing—but it can be carried too far. The Japanese cannot become true Canadians.

If we do not interfere with Japanese activities after the war, they will constitute themselves into even more of a social and economic unit than they were before. Canada can ill afford an aggravation of its minority problem.

To separate the Japanese from each other, distributing them across Canada, would meet with the objection of the Japanese themselves and, what is more important, would meet with the objection of Canadians affected by the move.

It would seem, therefore, the only solution to the question is repatriation of all Japanese in Canada back to Japan.

(For much information on this question, I am indebted to the industry of Mr. James R. Wilson.)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR, THE UBYSSY,

Dear Sir:

In a recent UBYSSY you referred to a certain lady as an alumni, implying that she was, according to the rules of the Latin language, masculine and plural. In today's copy she appears as an alumnus, which is masculine and singular—very singular. Do you think, if you have occasion to name her again, that you could perhaps get the word right?

There are so many outrages which can be committed against English grammar and syntax that it seems a bit ghoulish to inflict these enormities on a dead language.

Very truly yours,
Geoffrey B. Riddehough.

• Colyum

... By Virginia Hammitt

• IN LAST Friday's issue of your favorite UBC paper, a joe called Denis Blunden wrote an article running down women who smoke.

There should have been an editor's note preceding that article, stating, "The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily those of the editorial staff of this paper," or words to that effect, because said editorial staff has been beset by angry co-eds who claim that the columnist was prejudiced, ridiculous, wrong, and wholly mistaken.

I quite agree with them. I will admit that I do smoke, but I will not admit that I, or any other woman, smokes as did those examples hauled forth by Mr. Blunden.

• THERE are three things, in particular, which both amaze and annoy me in his column. The first of these is the evident sincerity, almost passion, with which he treats his subject. Blunden has always been, to my knowledge, a mild, inoffensive creature, with an occasional idea of his own but never a startling one.

He is, in answer to many indignant queries, not a woman-hater, either. It surprises me, therefore, that he has never mentioned before a topic about which he obviously feels so strongly.

The second thing which amazes me is that he told me himself, just the other day, that his opinion of the "Manitoba" is beneath expression. Yet in his column he quotes an article published recently in that paper, along the same vein as his. He states that it was a "very satisfactory article," and goes on to report that "The 'Manitoba' said a mouthful."

His attitude does not seem very logical to me.

• THE third and last thing which I find hard to swallow in his article is that Blunden seems to take for granted that the bad habits he describes are confined to smokers of the fair sex. This assumption is utterly ridiculous.

Taking up his remarks one by one, the first statement he makes is this: "The sight is both familiar and nauseating. . . In one hand of a co-ed is a bottle of coke, a straw stuck in it with one end covered with half an inch of excess lipstick. In the other hand is a nice, white cigarette."

I see nothing nauseating about this. I see even less which identifies the scene with the sorority sisters, ascend of fraternity brothers, except the lipstick. Blunden would be the last to ask women to stop wearing lipstick, and anyway his objections were to smoking, not wearing make-up.

He goes on to say, "Who hasn't had their dinner spoiled by watching the awkward poses women assume in smoking." I haven't. Many people—men and women—

"Room for two in there?"
"Yes—me and a Sweet Cap."

SWEET CAPORAL CIGARETTES
"The purist form in which tobacco can be smoked" whom I asked recently, haven't. If Blunden has, I would advise him to eat by himself in future.

He complains of the way the cigarette is continually tapped to shake off the ashes. Does he suppose that this habit is restricted to women? It is something which has annoyed me frequently, too, but I have found that more men than women are guilty of it.

• HE himself defeats the next point he makes. He states, "The cigarette will drool from the lips in imitation of Sam the Chinaman," admitting that women who smoke in this fashion are merely copying men. It is a point he should never have brought up, for it is a known fact that smoking that way is an almost exclusively male characteristic.

In the next paragraph Blunden remarks, "Inhaling is something that women just don't do." I disagree. I inhale. Nine tenths of the women of this campus who smoke, inhale. I have no statistics to prove it, but I don't think I am wrong when I say that the percentage of women smokers who don't inhale is no greater than the percentage of men smokers who don't inhale.

He also seems to find objectionable the practise of sending the smoke upwards. Where else would he advise? Forwards, into the face of the person sitting across from us, or sideways, into the face of the person sitting next to us?

In conclusion, Blunden states, "More people have left university lately because of this smoking act than from 'natural causes'."

I defy him to prove it.

SCIENCE STUDENTS REGULATIONS

• ALL "Science" students, who did not do so last session, must call at the Registrar's Office as soon as possible to fill out the Science Students' Declaration required under Mobilization Regulations. This applies to men students only.

The following are affected:

All Applied Science students;
All men students in Agriculture;
All men students in Arts and Science in the First and Second Years taking two sciences, or in the Third and Fourth Years taking Honours or Majors in Mathematics or Science.

Those taking Pre-Medical or Pre-Dental courses are NOT required to fill out the declaration.

Piranis To Play Noon Today

• UNDER the LSE pass system, students will today, at noon, see and hear Max and Leila Pirani.

The Piranis, who have been called great by critics and music lovers the world over, now present for the enjoyment of UBC students a program of their music.

The noon hour concert will include piano solos and violin solos by such masters as Rachmaninoff, Pugnani-Kreisler, Vieuxtemps, and other modern composers.

Graduation Gowns, Caps Obtainable Now For Students

• AN announcement has been made that the Graduating Caps and Gowns are now available for the students of the Fall Congregation.

The graduating caps can be purchased at the Bursar's office, at a cost of $3.00, of which $2.75 will be refunded on the return of the cap.

The gowns are obtainable at the A.M.S. office for a fee of $5.00, and $4.00 will be returned after the gown has been turned in.

All prospective Grads are asked to purchase their caps and gowns as soon as possible.

• BOB WHYTE, president of Students' Council, reports that as yet no students have filed claims against the new Accident Insurance policy of the university.

Students are advised that it is their individual responsibility to report any injury to themselves that should occur during any university activity.

Athletic leaders have been reminded of the insurance scheme but it is still up to the student himself to file a claim.

All such claims must be made at the AMS office within ninety days after the day of the accident.

Canteen Shortages Remedied

• LATEST WORD from the Red Cross Canteen states that the material shortages of last Saturday will be remedied this week end.

All in all, the men consumed twelve cases of coke, twenty dozen doughnuts and one large carton of cookies.

Three times as much food and liquid could have been imbibed by the weary forces but, alas, the nourishment gave out too soon and many a foot-sore member of H.M. Forces had to go home hungry and thirsty.

However, this Saturday, more food and liquid will be provided, but no pie or coffee can be added to the menu before next Saturday at the very earliest.

The canteen made about $11.00 clear profit as the overhead was exceedingly high. It is hoped more money will be made for the Red Cross this week, and hereafter, since the initial outlay will be less.

Sorority Rushing to End Mon.

• ENDING a whirlwind week of social functions, the period of silence for Sorority rushees began last night at midnight.

Nervous tension will reach its peak tomorrow morning at 10:30 when bidding will commence. The first, second and third choices of rushees were placed in the Dean of Women's office this morning.

Rushees will be kept in suspense until 9:30 tomorrow morning when prospective sorority members will receive letters through the Arts Letter Rack notifying them whether or not they have received bids.

Upon notification, rushees will receive their bids from 10:30 to 12:30 from the Dean of Women's office.

The period of silence has been extended to Monday evening due to the fact that Saturday night is inconvenient for pledging, with the exception of 1/2 an hour, 12:30 to 1:00 on Saturday afternoon, when the girls may speak with sorority members. Pledging ceremonies will take place on Monday night.

NOTICE: H. C. Phillips will be the guest speaker at the noon meeting of the Varsity Christian Fellowship. Every student is invited. Arts 206, TODAY. Bring your own lunch. Hear this speaker.

NOTICE: The first meeting of the Junior Canadian Society of Technical Agriculture will be held Sunday, October 24 at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Bob Hill, 1312 Acadia Rd. Refreshments will be served. A talk on "Marketing of Tea" will be given. All members are urged to attend.

FOUND: One long, white, slightly bent knitting needle ideal for cleaning pipes, in Arts 100 several days ago. I found it but I lost it again right away so I guess it really doesn't matter.

Arts-Aggie Ball to Have Indian Motif

• TEEPEES and campfires will be set up in the Commodore on November 25, for the annual Arts-Aggie Ball.

Whether or not the guests will have to eat pemmican, or prance around the floor to the beat of Indian tom-toms, remains to be decided by the various committees.

PEP MEET

The Publicity Committee, under Doug Haggart and Dorothy Moxon, is planning a pep-meet in the near future to reveal further plans.

The decorations committee consists of Ruth Killam, Bill Lane, Gerry McManus and Johnny Robinson. Tickets may be obtained from Harry Pitts. Peggy Burton and Doris Thompson have charge of the patron committee. Arrangements are in full swing under the leadership of Dave Housser, Arts, and Norm Wright, Aggie.

Victory Loan Pep Meet Tues.

• NORTH Van Shipyard workers will treat Varsity gals and boys to some tasty jive at the Victory Loan pep meet scheduled for next Tuesday.

Sponsored by Mr. H. McLaughlin, West Point Grey Victory Loan headquarters, the pep meet is guaranteed to send students bonding by the hundreds.

"Pinkie" Stuart of the advertising Sales Bureau of the Board of Trade will tell students about Victory Loan requirements and will stress the importance of "giving till it hurts."

In addition to music in the shipyard style, students will swing to the scintillating rhythms of the Bond Band Wagon.

LOST: In Arts building, textbook "Production for the People." Return to AMS office immediately.

Committee Cracks Down on Offenders

• ACCORDING to the latest reports, the Varsity Clean-up campaign is sweeping the campus. Fraternity and sorority members may be found daily pushing the rubbish around the Caf with surprising results.

The Discipline Committee, however, is planning to take firm steps immediately. Students who have been littering the campus have already been brought up before the Committee and have been dealt with severely.

Garbage cans have been placed at the entrance to every building; there is one in the bus terminal and several on the long walks. If any student feels that more are necessary he should make a request to the Students' Council and one will be placed in the desired location.

BOTTLES

In regard to pop bottles and the parking lot, clean up officials state that a few people make a habit of throwing bottles around, apparently in ignorance of the effect broken glass has on rubber.

The discipline committee has plans for these culprits. Also, unless there is an improvement, the Students' Council will not permit pop bottles to leave the cafeteria.

Students are still seen crossing the mall by way of the grass, or pouring in a steady stream over the square in front of the Arts, Aggie and Administration buildings. "This," says President Bob Whyte, "must stop."

Students Asked To Give Blood to Red Cross at U. of Sask.

• ONE thousand blood donors are being sought among the 1,400 students at the University of Saskatchewan to give their blood to the Red Cross.

Clinics will be held every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, commencing Oct. 28 at the College of Engineering. The clinic is expected to handle 40 students per day.

Last year the drive for blood began at the end of November, continuing to spring examination time, and 900 students donated. The drive will pause momentarily in December for the Christmas exams.

NOTICE: Social Problems Club will meet today at 12:30 in Arts 204, to discuss Elmore Philpott's speech last week on Anglo-Soviet-American relations. The talk will first be reviewed by a speaker, then discussed by the members. At the end of the meeting the three vacancies on the executive will be filled. All students, particularly first year, are welcome. Come and air your opinions on today's great international problems.

Higbies Take Varsity Inter A's 36-20

• Off The Cuff

By CHUCK CLARIDGE

• AT LAST THE rushing season is over and our Greek Letter groups can settle down to a year's serious business. And a mighty important item on the program is the Intramural schedule which so far has been neglected.

For example, the Intramural meetings which Maury Van Vliet has attempted to hold in the training room two weeks in a row and to which only six of the eighteen teams were represented. Last Monday things took a turn for the better, though, and the full list of representatives were on hand.

These meetings will be held every week on Monday at noon in the training room which is in the North-East corner of the gym.

NOTE POINT CHANGES

Part of the discussed business so far is the changing of points in the golf, badminton and table tennis section of the Scoring Chart.

Previously for golf, badminton and table tennis, the entrance points were 50, additional points 100, making the winners total 150. It was felt that with these three sports, because only two and three men competed in the events which were run off in a one-day tournament, the points awarded were too high in comparison to the other team games such as volleyball and softball.

In the latter two games the winners' points are 300 and 200 respectively which compares favourably with the new points awarded for these other sports.

NO ARGUING ABOUT IT NOW

This new move, I think, brings the scoring system to a better level and should eliminate all the post-season arguing which marred the league last year. If all teams are agreed now on the Scoring Chart then the winner can be declared at the end of the season and that will be final. No special meetings or such to decide whether the scoring throughout the year's play has been consistent or fair.

A lot of credit for this should go to Pete McGeer, Art Johnson and several other students along with Maury Van Vliet who have spent a great deal of their spare time in working out the Intramural program.

So, it should now be up to every student who is a member of one or the other of the eighteen teams to turn out to the games when scheduled and if not playing to lend a bit of support to their side. A bit of a cheering section as some of the games, maybe even by a few of the co-eds, would make the games much more enjoyable.

STUFF FROM THE CUFF: This has been the first opportunity to write since I made that famous prediction about the World Series. You will remember that I picked the Yanks to win the event four games to one. Well, they did didn't they? Of course I did slip a bit on what game and the score but nevertheless I contend that my prediction was stupendous. And then remember I predicted the Salmonbellies to trounce the Pat Bay Fliers. Well, again I came through and the Fishmen went on to win the Canadian Lacrosse Championship. Some stuff, picking two winners.

The two Intermediate A Basketball teams open up their season's play this week and next at the King Edward Gym and if anyone likes the hoop game they should be sure and take in a few of these contests.

A really good brand of basketball is dished up on occasion and a bit of a crowd to cheer the boys along would make the games much more interesting for everyone concerned.

Wescott Top Scorer As Hoopers Drop The Season Opener

• BASKETBALL is here! Last night, the Varsity Intermediate A team opened this year's season for UBC by tackling the powerful Higbie outfit.

Next game concerning the university takes place next Tuesday night at King Ed gym. This time, the Frosh will take to the maple courts for their initial contest. Last night, coach Bruce Yorke organized the first year hoopers for next week's game.

Under Yorke's guidance, this club should present strong competition for any other team in the Inter A loop. In practices to date, this freshman team has appeared to have a faster play than the other

Varsity squad.

This year's Frosh club will have to be pretty good to hold up the standard of play set by last year's. That team placed third in the Inter A League, and in the playoffs, it was barely nosed out by the Higbie crew which went on to win the city championship. Two members of last season's Inter A Frosh are back in the same league with this year's "Varsity" entry, namely Jack Climie and Marty Martin.

Birds Face Ex-Britannia At Brockton Tomorrow

• ENGLISH RUGGER will again feature Saturday afternoon in Varsity sports. The Thunderbirds face the powerful Ex-Britannia team in the main attraction at 3:30 in Brockton Oval. This is the third game for each team in the Millar Cup race.

Ex-Britannia is leading the league at the moment with two wins, and Varsity follows with one win and one tie. Rowing Club and Air Force (Sea Island) open the afternoon at 2:30.

Varsity will take a rest next week from the Millar Cup play when they take on the Victoria Rep team during the Homecoming celebrations.

It is now too late to enter the second rugger team in the Millar Cup but a second division might be formed with the ultimate objective at the end of the season of the Province Cup. Three other teams have to be organized in Vancouver to complete this second division. The team that was formed last week will be Varsity's representative in the four-team league.

The winners of this league will play off with the winners of the Victoria second division for the Province Cup at the end of the season.

It seems that the Varsity teams will have the class of all the leagues in which it is entered this year. The first team formed has certainly shown its ability in the last few weeks and as much should be expected from the second team.

Femmes nab Gym Wed. For 1 Hour

• Women, your time has come. It was announced this week that the gym will be open from 3:30 to 4:30 every Wednesday for the express use of the women students.

Badminton took the floor this week under the able direction of Mrs. Dauphin. Ping Pong and volleyball will be started in the near future.

Here is your opportunity for an hour of fun as well as a chance to improve your game. Beginners have as much opportunity as experts and all girls interested are eagerly requested to come out.

Mary has a little swing.
It isn't hard to find;
Everywhere that Mary goes

To coincide with the Homecoming day, the traditional Cairn ceremony for all freshmen will be held at 12:30, October 29, at the Cairn in front of the Science building.

The Cairn was erected to commemorate the campaign for the present site of UBC and since its erection in 1928 has come to be the best known of UBC traditions. Members of the council will assemble at the Cairn at noon, and President Bob Whyte will read to the freshmen the events leading to the building of the Cairn and the ideals it stands for.

Archers Hold Tournament Oct. 25 to 30

• THE Archery Tournament has been set to open on Oct. 25, and will last until Oct. 30. The Tournament will consist of the following sessions:

- 30 arrows at 40 yds.
- 30 arrows at 30 yds.
- 30 arrows at 20 yds.

Teams consisting of six archers will participate. An official scorekeeper must be on hand to check the points. Everyone is invited to attend and support the archers.

Final Plans Being Made For Homecoming

• HOMECOMING this year will be a big thing for the University Rugby team as they will tackle the Victoria All-Stars in the first McKednie Cup battle of the year at the Stadium on Saturday afternoon, October 30.

It is hoped that the military parades will be shortened so that students will have the opportunity of witnessing this battle.

At half time of the big game, the Army, Navy and Air Force will stage a relay event with the winner being awarded a plaque.

Previous to the rugby title there will be a display presented by the three services on the Campus, all as part of the large Homecoming program planned by the committee. Love may be sacred,

Love may be profane.
Whichever it is,
I'd like it again.

NOTICE: There will be a WAA meeting on Wednesday, October 27, in Arts 204 at 12:30. All girls are urged to turn out.

NOTICE: English rugby players will hold a meeting at noon today in Arts 104.

Sport

Two Soccer Games Again on Saturday

• AS THE days go by the university soccer teams seem to grow stronger and stronger with new players and playing methods. Proof of their new power will be on show this Saturday when UBC goes over to North Vancouver to the home grounds of Stewart's Sheet Metal Co., and Varsity stays at home to entertain a team of Boilermakers. Both game times are 3:00.

This is the second week of play in the V and D league. The university teams copped all honours last Saturday when they took both games from Pro-Recs and East Indians. The scores were 2 to 1 and 6 to 1 respectively.

NEW PLAYERS

Even greater scores are expected this week. New players have been added to the line-up of the UBC squad to make the team about the strongest in both leagues. George Willson is playing left half this week. He is one of the most promising players, having played with last year's stars, Petrie, Campbell and Gamble, when they all were at John Oliver High School.

Bill King has taken over the managerial duties of Varsity to allow both Alex Cowie and Dave Stone to manage and play for UBC.

Clem Philley will not be able to turn out for this Saturday because of a minor injury.

• Co-Ed Sports

• INTRAMURAL play featured some fast volleyball Monday, when Third Year Arts downed Nursing in a rather uneven game. The nurses, who were somewhat out of practise, put up a stiff fight, but finally bowed to the Arts team captained by Marg Hodgson.

The Second and First Year Arts teams went into a close tangle from which the freshettes emerged second best. Kay Deas is the captain of the Second Year Arts team, which seems to be leading the volleyball field to date.

The Nurses made up for Monday's humiliating volleyball defeat the next day, Tuesday, when they trounced the Education team on the badminton court. Captain Cora May Stafford did a lot to further the interest of the nurses in this game.

Considering Intramurals as a whole, it appears that Third Year Arts, so far undefeated, will bear watching in the future. The First Year Arts badminton team, although its players have not yet been seen in action together, also promises to yield good performance.

SPEEDBALL

Speedball, the modern basketball-soccer combination, has been added to the selection of sports available at UBC. Over 70 women have signed up to learn this sport, which has enjoyed great popularity in the U.S., and should become an important game on the campus. Mrs. Dauphin will give instruction in speedball Wednesdays and Thursdays at 1:30, and all prospective players should turn out for instruction as they must understand the essentials of the game before actual play begins.

RECREATION HOUR

Women on the campus will be glad to hear that a weekly recreation hour has been obtained for them, and all faculties are invited to come to the gym Wednesdays at 3:30 to spend an hour at any game they wish.
