'Varsity Defeats Elks; Close Game

SOCCER TEAM QUALIFIES FOR SEMI-FINALS

'Varsity broke the jinx that has been hovering over them for some time, when they turned the tables on the Elks, beating them by the narrow margin of 1-0.

The game was played at King Edward High School, and a fine brand of football was dished up. 'Varsity lost the toss, and during the first half had the disadvantage of having the sun in their eyes. In spite of this the 'Varsity went away with a rush, and for the first fifteen minutes pressed the clubmen. But luck was against us, for during this time, on one of the several fine crosses from Cameron, Rushbury sent in a low one that had the misfortune to strike the goal post and bound out again. The rest of the first half was fairly even, each team striving to obtain an advantage, but the defence of each team proved too strong for the opposing forwards to pierce. The 'Varsity half-backs were playing a fine game at this period, and Stan Say showed up well in his new position at centre-half.

The second half started with 'Varsity kicking down hill. For the first few minutes our boys held the advantage, but the Elks came back strong, and for a time the 'Varsity's defence had a busy time, being forced to concede several corner kicks. Crow, playing in goal, made some fine saves during this time, and much of the credit of victory was due to his efforts.

Near the end of the game 'Varsity carried the ball into the Elks' territory, and on a pass from McLeod from the left wing, H. Cant put the ball past the opposing goal-keeper for the only goal of the game. For the rest of the game the Elks tried hard to recover, but the final whistle blew with 'Varsity one goal to the good.

As usual 'Varsity supporters were sadly lacking, only a few faithful followers being on hand. Next week 'Varsity plays St. Andrew's in the semi-final of the Mainland Challenge Cup, at Athletic Park. St. Andrew's are figured to be the best team in B. C. It is hoped that the 'Varsity will rally round the team and support them next week.

Line-up—Crute, Gwyther, J. Cant, Say, Mitchell, Cameron, H. Cant, Markle, Rushbury, McLeod.

Close Voting for Council Positions

"WOBBY" BANFIELD RETURNED TO TREASURY

At the elections, on Monday, Miss Marjorie Agnew, Arts '22, was chosen secretary of the Alma Mater Society for the session 1921-22. Miss Agnew has been very active this year in dramatic, undergraduate and publication circles, and is well fitted by temperament and training to fulfill the duties of this high office.

The student body again chose W. O. Banfield, Sc. '22, treasurer for the next session. "Wobby" has done exceptionally efficient work this year, and the students did well to re-elect him to this responsible position.

SENIORS ENTERTAINED

The members of Arts '21 were the guests of honor at the home of Dean and Mrs. H. T. J. Coleman, Kerrisdale, on Saturday afternoon last, when Mrs. Coleman gave a pleasing reception for the near-grads. Practically all members of the class were present, as well as a large number of Faculty. Mrs. R. E. McKechnie and Mrs. L. S. Klinck assisted in receiving, and Mrs. James Henderson assisted in the drawing-room. Mrs. R. W. Brock and Mrs. L. F. Robertson assisted in serving tea. A pleasant afternoon was spent.

PUBLICATIONS APPOINTMENTS

The remaining appointments have been made for next year's Publications Board. At a meeting of the Council last week Mr. J. Walker, Sc. '22, was appointed business manager, and Mr. A. L. Stevenson, Arts '22, senior editor of the "Ubysssey." Both men have been connected with the board in the past year—Mr. Walker as editor of the Annual, and Mr. Stevenson as editor of the literary supplement.

MOTION RELATING TO FRATS. ALSO PASSED

The auditorium was filled to overflowing on Tuesday, at noon, when the question of the influence of the frats. again came up for an airing. A motion stating that the student body of the University express itself as opposed to the principle of the organization of secret societies within the student body, and recommending that the constitution of the Alma Mater Society be so amended as to allow for the incorporation of fraternities and sororities under the Alma Mater, was introduced and passed by a large majority.

This resolution was introduced in an able manner by Mr. W. B. Willan, Arts '23, who showed that the fundamental trouble was in the secrecy and mystery which surrounds the frats. and sororities. It calls for the amending of the Alma Mater constitution in order to allow these societies the opportunity to prove that they are in the best interests of the college as a whole. Such amendment, according to the resolution, should provide that the society should place before the Students' Council, within three weeks of the commencement of the fall term, a statement showing the name, the objects, the qualifications for membership, and a list of the members and officers.

Mr. S. M. Scott, Arts '21, seconded the motion, and it was ably supported by many speakers. Only two men came to the defence of the frats., Mr. G. H. Scott, Arts '23, and Mr. A. E. Lord, who left the chair to protest against the slurs cast on the members of the Students' Council by Mr. C. A. F. Clark, Arts '22. Clark expressed himself more clearly on the issue, and things were again smoothed out.

It would seem that the general opinion was strongly in favor of clearing the matter up by some sort of action such as suggested. Among the speakers who advanced the plea of "the University before the frat." were Mr. A. Rive, Mr. A. A. Webster, Mr. A. MacKay, Agric. '24, Mr. R. Hodson, Science '23, and Mr. C. Barr, Science '24. Mr. Hurst, Arts '22, introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of three to secure data on the influence of frats. in other colleges. This was accepted as another resolution, but not as an amendment to the main resolution as proposed.

S.D.K. PRESIDENT ELECTED

The last meeting of the society, on March 15th, took the form of an entertainment. At 8:30 a short business session took place for the election of officers.
Mr. William McKee is the president for next year; Miss Dorothy Walsh, vice-president, and W. Black, secretary. In conjunction with these a new office was created. Mr. Bloomfield was elected for this.

At 9 o'clock the fun began. Whilst several of us were preparing the eats the assembly was divided into groups to perform stunts—each group in competition.
The winners received a prize. Earl and Jimmie and Cyril arrived at the end of the first half of the evening to provide the music for the second half. Although there was not a large crowd present, all who came enjoyed themselves.

SUGGESTION FOR A COLLEGE SONG

One of the lions woke up one day;
He yawned and winked his eye,
And then he cried, "Why, bless my beard,
What is this that I spy?"

Chorus:

They're moving them out to Point Grey;
They're moving them out to Point Grey;
O! mountains and rocks
Prepare for some shocks;
They're moving at last to Point Grey.

The Sleeping Beauty gave a start,
Her eyes she opened wide;
She shimmied in astonishment,
And swayed from side to side.

Chorus:

They're moving them out to Point Grey;
They're moving them out to Point Grey;
O! ocean arise
And get a surprise;
They're moving at last to Point Grey.

The ocean rose in all his might;
His waves he dashed on high,
And truly it was sad to see
From shock the fishes die.

Chorus:

They're moving them out to Point Grey;
They're moving them out to Point Grey;
The world's at an end,
And judgments impend;
They're moving at last to Point Grey.

And now, perchance, you'd like to know
When all things happened thus;
When ocean, lions and sleeping maids
Raised such an awful fuss.

When they moved them at last to Point
Grey;
When they moved them at last to Point
Grey;

'Twas three thousand and three,
Thirty hundred and three,
When they moved them at last to Point
Grey. —S. M.

INTERVIEWS WITH THE CAST OF
"SWEET LAVENDER"

"Well, good-bye, old dear," said Wally Reid, as I left his rooms to execute my next assignment, the interviewing of the cast of "Sweet Lavender."

I saw Miss Evans first. She was sitting in her sitting-room, daintily eating one of Purdy's concoctions, and gently sniffing a rose, a violet and a daffodil.

"Pardon me," I said. "I'm a reporter."
"Oh, don't apologize," she said sweetly, "I thought as much."

Somewhat abashed, I just asked for her views on love. "It's all nonsense," she declared. "Think how serious and foolish it causes people to be, and fancy being tied to one man for life; why—!" Here words failed her, and I slipped a diamond ring back into my pocket. "And now," I said, "I would like your bad habits, if any—the public must be satisfied, you know," I explained. "Do you smoke?"

"Well, hardly—yet. However, I do sometimes skip a lecture and go to the Orpheum—but then, you know, I'm awfully young yet," she smiled at me, "and learning things is such a bore." I agreed with her and left to call on Miss Adams.

She was packing up when I arrived, but stopped to talk to me. "How do you like our city?" was my first question.

"Your city is wonderful, and I dote on Vancouver audiences," she replied; "and when I return South I will carry with me the most fascinating memories of my visit here."

"Have you any hobbies?" I enquired.
"Of course I have," was the answer. "I love Boston Bulls and Oscar Wilde, and I can make the most wonderful chocolate cake you ever ate. I don't like dancing and never go to the Barron. I think the Ford is the best car, and I do think Englishmen are so funny."

"Thank you," I said, and left to interview Mr. Lord. As a starter I asked him to express his views on prohibition. "Words fail me, sir; words fail me," he spluttered indignantly. "You couldn't print it anyway."

"What was that stuff in the decanter you had on the stage?" I then enquired. "S-s-s-h," he said.

"What do you think of the effect of the movies on the minds of the younger generation?"

"Well," he replied, "I think that anything that can possibly have any effect on the minds of the present younger generation is wonderful, simply wonderful, me boy." I offered him a cigar on parting, but he refused, saying that smoking was a very bad habit, and that he had given up many friends on account of it.

I found Mr. Lacey Fisher writing poetry under a pleasant tree. "Nice day," I said. He gazed up at me. "Listen," he murmured.

"The day is warm with spring-time sun, The wind is rustling in the trees, The pipes of Pan say, 'Dance and run,' But I just sit here as I please."

I humored him by saying it was good. "Who is your favorite poet?" I enquired, engagingly. "Fisher first," he answered, modestly, "and then Woolworth."

"What do you think of the present market conditions?" I then asked.

"Well, eggs should be lower in Westminster next month, but I fear the worst for butter and cheese."

"And what do you think of the present trend of the drama, Mr. Fisher?" was my next.

"Ah, yes, it is trending, isn't it?" he replied sadly. "But if it isn't overdone I have hopes, I have hopes."

This was enough interviewing for one week. I decided to see the others later, and then retraced my steps to Wally Reid's suite, where I spent a pleasant hour discussing the high cost of living when there is a rival.

SCIENCE '22 PARTY

A most successful class party was held last Tuesday night at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Matheson, when they entertained the members of Science '22 and their friends. Even the near approach of exams. could not keep us away, and the gaiety of the evening banished entirely even the thought of them. The heartfelt thanks and deep appreciation of the class is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Matheson for their kindness in giving us an evening of unalloyed pleasure.

'VARSITY HOCKEY TEAM ENJOY
"SWEETS" OF VICTORY

The 'Varsity hockey sextette, after winning the Godfrey Cup, emblematic of the City Senior Amateur Championship, and the Savage Cup, symbolical of the British Columbia Championship, are now enjoying a well-earned rest. Mr. Johnson, of the Mission Confectionery, Limited, has given forty-seven pounds of chocolates in all to the 'Varsity speedsters. After winning the city championship, each member of the squad was given a two-pound box of dainties. This act of kindness was repeated by Mr. Johnson when 'Varsity defeated the Victoria Senators for the B. C. championship. Mr. Johnson has shown a great interest in the 'Varsity hockey team throughout the season, and University students should remember his kindness.

Dr. Sedgewick, who was throughout the season a staunch supporter of the hockey team, entertained the boys at dinner on Monday night, March 21. An effort was made to make the trip east in quest of the Allan Cup, but owing to the proximity of the examinations, the plan was abandoned.

FRATERNITIES

As a result of the Alma Mater meeting, which was held on Tuesday, there can be no doubt as to the opinion of the student body with regard to secret societies within the University. The general feeling is that fraternities, as organized at present, are a detriment to the best interests of the University. The Alma Mater Society has spoken, and every loyal member should respect that decision.

We have nothing but contempt for the men who boast that secret "frats." will carry on, as before, regardless of the wishes of the great majority of their fellow-students. Such an attitude brings shame upon every one who concurs in it. It is an open admission that fraternity considerations are placed above the Alma Mater. Every organization which endorses such a view stands self-condemned. The "Ubysssey," however, has more faith in the fraternity members of our University than to believe that they will persist, against all odds, in thwarting the desires of the student body. Many men of high character and outstanding ability may be found in their ranks. Upon the shoulders of these leaders rests the responsibility of adjusting their organizations in such a manner as to retain the commendable features, while discarding those which have proved such serious opposition.

The resolution which was passed at the meeting contained the suggestion that the constitution of the Alma Mater Society be amended, to the effect that recognition be granted to fraternal societies on the condition that they submit to the Students' Council a full list of members and officers and a statement of the requirements for membership and of the aims and objects of the society. We urge that this amendment be given united support. It is a sound remedy, which should appeal to the good judgment of every student. If it be sustained, the "frats." may reorganize, as they please, to preserve their precious mysteries and to promote good-fellowship among their members; they will have become a recognized and accepted feature of college life, and, as such, may carry on their legitimate activities without arousing the suspicion of the uninitiated.

In the meantime we would exhort both parties to the controversy to be more temperate in their utterances. Many wild statements have been made, which do credit to nobody, but rather redound to the discredit of the University. May we be broad enough to consider the views of others, and honest enough to avoid spreading ridiculous charges and veiled insinuations, which do no good and may do harm. Let the spirit which won the Stanford game and which brought the hockey championship to our halls guide us at this time. What is best for the U.B.C. is the vital consideration.

"Tuum Est."

OUR HONOR ROLL

Last term the Students' Council undertook to appoint a committee to complete the honor roll of the University, and to collect the war records of those who were on active service. On the suggestion of the Faculty Archives Committee, the affair was left to that committee, which was understood to be about to take active steps in the matter. Since then nothing has been done. If the Faculty Committee are not going to do anything about it, it might be as well for them to say so. It may not be too late even now for the Council to plan some scheme for next year.

POINTS

It has been evident that this year the point system of limiting the number of offices any one student may hold has not been enforced. Any departure from this regulation results in threefold harm; first, to the student who undertakes so much responsibility that his class-work suffers; second, to the societies which receive only a small share of their officers' attentions; third, and most important, to those more retiring and untried students who would be given an opportunity of gaining executive experience were the offices more freely distributed. Below is a summary of the point system; it should not be necessary for the Council to enforce its observance; it is up to the individual undergraduate to see that he does not exceed the limit set:

Class "A"—The president, secretary and treasurer of the Students' Council, and the editor-in-chief and business manager of the Publications Department, shall hold only one office.

Class "B"—The presidents of the Undergraduate Societies, the Literary and Scientific Department, the Athletic Associations, the Women's Literary and Men's Literary Societies, the Players' Club; chief reporter, associate editors, and advertising manager of the Publications Department, shall hold only two offices, and one of these must be Class "C."

Class "C"—No other person may hold more than three offices.

THE CIRCULAR LETTER

You are already acquainted with the letter which appears on the loose leaf of this issue. It is unnecessary to say anything more than to remind you that there is no time to be lost in sending this letter to your parents or other person interested in the welfare of the future of the University. Along with this letter to your parents, or interested friend, send a request, asking them to please sign in the space for that purpose—that is, if they are in accord with the sentiments expressed in the letter—and forward it to the member for their district. If you desire extra copies (that may be obtained, upon request, from any member of the Students' Council), and also if you know of anyone to whom we could send one, please notify the secretary of the Council.

Correspondence

Editor "Ubyssy."

Just what is back of all this agitation regarding Frats? I think the reason for such a popular outcry against these secret societies, for such they are, is the fact that their actions are shrouded in mystery. You and I are kept in ignorance of their objects, their constitution, and their membership; therefore, our curiosity is excited; we grow suspicious; we speculate! Some say their purpose is purely social. Even so, is it likely that the social life of the college as a whole will be benefited by such societies? Some boast that they were formed to kindle college spirit in a dead university. A truly laudable object; but why smother the spirit-lamp under a blanket of secrecy? Others suggest that they have a more sinister motive—political domination. While there is probably small foundation for such an accusation, nevertheless, suspicion is contagious, and a feeling of doubt and distrust is spreading rapidly both within and without the college walls. No one has proved that these so-called Frats are guilty of treason against the college. Neither has it been shown that they serve any useful purpose, which cannot be effected equally well by more open and straight-forward means. It is doubtful whether they accomplish any material good, while they may possibly do considerable harm, both directly and indirectly, in that they tend to destroy the confidence of the students in their leaders.

Therefore, since secrecy breeds suspicion, let us consider how this source of dissention and misunderstanding can best be removed from our midst. The logical move should come from the members of the Frats. If they are the public-spirited men we believe them to be, they will be only too anxious to dispel this cloud which threatens to disunite the student body, so recently cemented together by the Kia-How-Ya spirit of fellowship and co-operation. They can publish a frank statement of the objects, constitution and membership of the Frats. If their motives are as praiseworthy as they would have us believe, such action would command the respect of even their most active opponents. If their aims are such that they cannot withstand the search light of publicity, then the sooner they dissolve their association the better for all concerned. To continue to maintain a policy of secrecy is to admit that there is something to hide—to admit that they place the welfare of their Frats above that of their Alma Mater. If such is the case it is up to the student body to show disapproval of such conduct by passing a resolution to amend the constitution to read, "that no member of a secret society or so-called Frat be permitted to hold office in the University." In any event let us conduct our college affairs openly and above board.

R. C. PALMER.

Editor "Ubyssy."

Dear Sir:—Every spring the Geological Survey of Canada field parties have the utmost difficulty in securing decent, clean, reliable, sober, sane and capable cooks. At the same period of the year thousands of students are flung out of college; most of them want to get employment, and few can find work in their own chosen profession. The majority, perhaps, have not even entered any particular line and are willing to take any job. Such students will be welcomed. I am sure, as applicants for the post of cook to the field parties. I have spoken to several of the chiefs, all of whom express approbation of the scheme. There are, of course, a limited number only of field parties; but it is numbered that only a limited number of students will be found capable of cooking, and on no account should an incapable person offer himself, especially to my chief. A first-class cook is, however, certainly not required. All the field cook needs is to be able to prepare ordinary camp meals, make bread, pastry and cakes, and to be sufficiently able-bodied to sleep in a tent and cut firewood. Surely this is not severe. I might add that the pay is about $120 a month, with board and lodging, and travelling expenses to and from the field.

I deeply regret to state that this opportunity is, as yet, open to men only.

Yours very truly,

C. H. CRICKMAY,
Arts '22.

Editor "Ubyssy."

Dear Sir:—I am not an "anti-frat"; I am simply a University student, and as such desire reconstruction in student government to eradicate obvious existing evils. But before constructing we must discover what is fundamentally wrong.

First, let us consider the Frat itself. The majority of the individual members are "social lions" in the University. They are bound together by common secretness, sympathy, feelings of superiority, vows. So when an "ordinary" personage is pulled into the Frat, he enters such an atmosphere that he is imbued with this "particular" spirit; this pervasive, psychological influence is unavoidable—though often unnoticeable. And the result is that the Frat is one big secret—hence undemocratic—"social lion."

But what has this to do with student government? Just this: Under present conditions, the members of the Students' Council are also members of Frats. And as such they tend to become less and less representatives of the student body, and more and more representatives of the Frats. So the "rabble" rumbles; it whispers very loudly that the Council is in many ways biased, undemocratic, less interested in our well-being, less efficient; that in the end the Frats virtually hold the reigns of government; and where is our representation?

Space forbids me from suggesting the cure. We certainly have the power to enforce reconstruction; for before allowing ourselves to be controlled by the Students' Council, our representatives, we can make certain that the Students' Council is controlled by us. Opposition forestalls corruption.

JACK WILCOX, Arts '23.

Editor "Ubyssy."

Sir:—Our Alma Mater Society is about to complete what has been undoubtedly the most successful year of its existence. In the realm of sport our splendid athletes have spread our name far and wide. Our various societies have covered themselves with glory. We have inaugurated important changes in the direction and management of our affairs, and we have carefully fostered a "college spirit" which is second to none in Canada. Verily, have we "sold our hammer and bought a horn."

That a discussion on fraternities should come at this time is peculiarly fitting. It is indeed proof of the fact that we are a live University. Feverish agitation on the part of a few misguided individuals has sent us scurrying to one or the other of two banners. We are not a "perfect congress."

In reality, however, we are treading an already well-beaten path. The earliest fraternities, though buffeted by seemingly insurmountable obstacles, persevered, and are to-day the most potent living force behind student life in the universities of this continent. That they do occupy this enviable position is unquestioned. The reasons, therefore, may be attributed to one general thought—they have been actuated by the principles underlying the word fraternity.

We have been accused of existing merely as social organizations, without aims or objects. As fraternities we are unable to divulge our innermost secrets to the general student body. But we are able to outline our general policy. We stand for the development of a true spirit of lasting comradeship and devotion to our fellowmen, and closer co-operation and interest between our Alumni, our out-of-town students, and ourselves. We stand for the encouragement of all branches of sport and the development of clean sportsmanship; for the fostering of a true spirit of scholarly industry and research; for the enthusiastic and unselfish devotion of mind and might and main to the carrying out of an idea, be it for the moral, mental, physical or social well-being of our Alma Mater.

WELLS COATES, Sc. '22.

Editor "Ubyssy."

Dear Sir:—To correct any misunderstanding that might arise from the criticism of the Students' Council, by G. S. W., for its action in passing a resolution to not permit Freshmen to wear letters, I here summarize the clause concerned, and state the reasons for its insertion in the Athletic Constitution:

A Freshman may win any distinction, but he is not permitted to wear the same until he has registered for his Sophomore year. The reasons for this clause are as follows:

First—To prevent a student from attending the University merely to participate in athletics for the purpose of obtaining the letters. (For this reason, in many of the larger universities, Freshmen are not even allowed to play on the senior teams.)

Second—A letter-holder must be an all-round man, and able, at least, to pass his first year examinations.

Third—A student who has attended the University for one session is not considered entitled to wear the honors and distinctions of the University.

J. R. KINGHAM,

President Men's Athletic Association.
(Editor's Note:—The same reasons apply for the clause in the Lit. Dept. constitution.)

CHANCELLOR McKECHNIE

Dr. R. E. McKechnie has been elected by acclamation as chancellor of the University of British Columbia for the next three years, according to the announcement of the registrar, made on Saturday morning. Dr. McKechnie succeeded the Hon. H. F. Carter-Cotton as chancellor in 1918, and after three years in that position, is again the choice for the next term. He was a member of the Senate before his first election to the position of chancellor, and has proven to be popular not only with Senate and Faculty members, but with the student body as well.

Marjorie Day—who doesn't remember her? She's made a hit at Macdonald College, all right. She's assistant editor of the college magazine, and, in addition, note this, from the last number:

"Miss D—You know, all the nice-looking girls come from Vancouver.

"Frank—Well, they don't send any of them around here (?)"

Colleges are raising the tuition rates to meet the increased cost of teaching and maintenance. That seems a good plan. About as much money has been gathered for endowment funds for colleges as can be pried loose in the present state of fiscal reluctance. Princeton has drawn the line at two thousand students, and will not provide for more than that. That also seems a good idea.—"Life."

MERTEL AND JOE

Dear Mertel:

They is sumbuddy in this University witch thinks they is smart, Mertel, and witch rote a letter in this paper witch wood make people think I had neglected you and witch sined enuf for me to it and tried to fool me. The laff will be on the other foot, as they say in this University, wen he lerns that I found out your address and that I have ritten to you every day for the past 3 monthes and that the reason I quit riteing in this paper was becus they only publissed once a wk. witch was not offen enuf for me to rite to you and Mr. Whitley wood not have a paper every day. I am glad I quit riteing in this paper Mertel becus people was beagineing to laff at my letters and sayeing that all kinds of difrent fellos rote them.

I think it was a man witch rote that letter becus no girl wood try to play such a dirtey trik on a fello and I think it was a Freshman Mertel becus ennybuddy else wood be able to spell better than he did. The spelling was rotten and I think the editor shood of corekted it before he put it in the paper. And if it was a Freshman Mertel I think I no who it was becus one day I was eateing my lunch in the cafateria with a bunch of other Sofamores and a Freshman came and sat down at our tabel and not meening enny harm and to show him he wasnt wanted I emteed a salt cellar in his coughy. When he drank the coughy I laffed and he threw the coughy all over me and sed he wood get even on me and went away and I was glad. I think he must of new I was the Joe witch rote to you and rote that letter to get even.

If I find out that he was the fello witch rote that letter I will nok him for a goal, as they say in Sience, or plow a furrow on the akerage of his bean, as the Aggies say, or bash his can in, as we say in Arts. He is a little fello Mertel and I think I can handel him wen I am mad. You no what I am wen Im mad Mertel. I stop at nothing. If he was bigger I mite just tell him he shood of had more sents but a Freshman must be kept in his place Mertel.

They has been a hole lot of things hapening in this University witch I mite tell you about in this letter but I am so mad Mertel I cant think but I am glad you arnt in this University Mertel becus you wood of been like all the other girls here and gone crazy over a man with a musical-name witch sed he was a Italian. but witch was a hole lot different from the fello witch shines my boots wen I get enuf money. His lecshure. were grate but I wood of been jelus if you had of been here and you no what I am Mertel wen Im jelus.

JOE.

LETTERS CLUB

At last week's meeting of the Letters Club, held at the home of Mr. F. G. C. Wood, the works of John Galsworthy were treated in a paper by Mr. Lacey Fisher. The interest awakened by the subject was unusually acute, as the subsequent discussion showed, and the plays of Galsworthy were especially the theme of argument.

CONGREGATIONAL DANCE

The Congregation Dance will take place on Thursday, May 12th. This dance is given by the Juniors of the three Faculties, in honor of the Graduating Classes. As the last function of the year, it should be supported by all University students who will be in town on that date. Students who desire invitations to be sent to outside friends should hand a list of those whom they wish invited to their class presidents.

The tickets for this dance will be on sale during the noon hour of Tuesday and Wednesday, March 29th and 30th. This will be the last opportunity of buying tickets at the University. After that date they will be put on sale at the Georgia Pharmacy.

LAST OF SERIES

The last of a series of lectures under the auspices of the Missionary Department of the Y. W. C. A., was held on March 17th. Miss McGregor, national secretary of the Women's Missionary Society, gave an interesting and instructive address on "Conditions Among the Foreigners in Canada." She very vividly pointed out the need of good and competent workers in our foreign settlements, especially in the prairie provinces. With a view to the future welfare of Canada, she said that these foreigners must be educated, and, above all, must be christianized.

The need which she most emphasized was that of good public school teachers. She also told of the work among the Indians, and its great possibilities. Under her strong appeal all who were present felt the wonderful opportunities of such a work.

HUDSON'S BAY RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP

The appointment of the Hudson's Bay Research Fellowship is to be made by the University of Manitoba about May 1st. The fellowship is open to graduates of any Canadian university, and has an annual value of $1500. Further information may be secured from the circular posted in the Faculty notice board.

Last year Miss Irene Mounce, who graduated with Arts '18, received the appointment.

'Varsity is threatened with the loss of a portion of its next year's freshman class, if a movement in favor of first year University work being undertaken by the Prince Rupert School Board is approved. According to the Prince Rupert "News," a delegation pressing this action upon the board was very favorably received. The delegation pointed out that "children, if they wish to get higher education, had to be sent away from home at a tender age, and the cost of living in Vancouver was high," being at least $600 for the year's expenses. The schol inspector thought that some such opportunity of studying science should be offered to students at home. "Latin could well be allowed to slide." Only five pupils would be affected next year.
