UBYSSEY GIVEAWAY

UBYSSEY PUBLICATIONS SOCIETY 2001 BOARD OF DIRECTORS ELECTIONS

The Ubyssey Publications Society is the organisation responsible for publishing UBC's official student newspaper, The Ubyssey. Its membership consists of all UBC students who have not opted out of membership by completing an opt-out form. Members are eligible to run for, and vote in, Board Elections.

The Board of Directors oversees the administrative and business aspects of the paper including advertising, marketing, distribution, the budget and finances, meetings of the Society, and management of employees.

The Board is not, however, involved in the editorial aspects of the paper. The editorial policy and content of the paper is determined by the editorial board of the paper, elected by the staff in March of each year. To become a staff member, those interested need to contribute to three issues of The Ubyssey and attend regular staff meetings in order to get voting rights and the right to run for an editorial position.

Term is February 2001 to February 2002. Directors attend approximately 20 Board Meetings through the year in addition to serving on the Board Committees. No previous experience with newspapers or the UPS is required.

The positions up for election are THE PRESIDENT and 4 DIRECTORS AT LARGE.

Nomination forms are available at the Ubyssey Business Office, SUB 245. Completed forms must be returned by 4:00pm, Tuesday, January 9th, 2001.

Elections will be held in conjunction with the AMS elections January 15th to 19th, 2001.

For more information, contact Fernie Pereira at 822-6681.

We've lost our will to live or, Why January is the cruellest month

Ever wondered what happens to the short, dorky-looking kids in high school who shuffle from class to class followed only by a strange odour? The kids who wear capes? What happens is they grow up and gravitate to the Registrar's Office at UBC, where they devise cruel ways of enacting revenge against the world and whatever gods made them short and dorky-looking. They toil away to make the Registration Guide unintelligible and scheme to make sure you have a class first thing Monday morning and another one Friday afternoon. And this year, they made you come back to school on January 2. The day after New Year's. One week before anyone else in the country. Some brainiac probably got a raise for that one.

The point is that no one wants to be here. Not you, not your crotchety old chemistry prof, not that TA in Psych who spent all last term trying to pick you up until you wrote a shitty term paper and then he dropped your sorry ass for the smartypants in the front row, and certainly not us.

So, in the interest of easing into the term nice and slow, we here at the Ubyssey have thought up some fun and games to help get you through the crushing reality of math class at 8:30am. And it'll even keep your throbbing head dry as you run through the rain. And prizes. Lots of prizes.

So get out your scissors and crayons, sharpen your pencils, and get going. And don't forget to get a head start on the scavenger hunt.

Oh, and don't worry about missing out on the news. We'll be back on Tuesday with all the usual news, sports, and culture. Until then, here's something to keep you busy. ❖

Dress Martha!

UBC President Martha Piper tends to look a little drab and dowdy in the dreary winter months. So we've given her some new outfits.

UBC Bookstore Word Search

There are a lot of words in this word search. Most of them have been pulled directly from the titles of your favourite textbooks. We could have listed them off in a column beside the puzzle but that would have made this too easy, and life isn't all easy puzzles and ice cream. From Day One, life is a struggle, a long drawn-out affair that ends in darkness and solitude, a morbid, bleak thing with only fleeting moments of joy and happiness...a blasted heath on a rainy night, a ship adrift on a glassy sea with no land in sight, a wake-up call too early in the morning, an unwanted Christmas present, a perpetual hangover, a rainstorm in white shorts, a game of pool with yourself, a miserable, kitten chasing a ball of year through an abandoned house, a word search with no end in sight. Go ahead, knock yourself out.

It was developed by a committee with representation from key stakeholder groups on the campus and is now being presented to the broader campus community for consultation. The members of the committee that formulated the proposed policy were:

Ann-Marie Fenger, Faculty of Arts
Mark Fraser, Alma Mater Society
Byron Hender, Office of the Vice President Students
Hubert Lai, Office of the University Counsel

A public forum regarding the proposed policy will take place at the Conversation Pit in the Student Union Building on January 15, 2001 at 2:00pm. All members of the University community are invited to participate. In addition, feedback may be submitted by e-mail to the Office of the University Counsel at lui@exchange.ubc.ca. All feedback should be submitted no later than January 26, 2001. DRAFT POLICY
Short-Term Use of University Space

Approved
November 2000 - for information

Responsible:
All Vice-Presidents

Purpose
The purpose of this Policy is to establish responsibility and priorities for allocation and use of University Space on a Short-Term basis.

Preamble
This Policy recognizes that a variety of user groups have an interest in using University Space from time to time on a short-term basis. For the purposes of this Policy, four user groups are identified:

- Academic/Administrative Users
- Academic Invitees
- Student Societies
- Commercial/Other Third Parties

This Policy should read in conjunction with any other applicable policies, including but not limited to Policy #6 (Environmental Protection Compliance), Policy #7 (University Safety), Policy #13 (Serving and Consumption of Alcohol at University Events or on University Premises), Policy #14 (Response to Threatening Behaviour), Policy #15 (Smoking), Policy #16 (Non-University Use of University Services and Facilities), Policy #98 (Commercial Undertakings on Campus), Policy #116 (Commercial Agreements Initiated By External Affairs and The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act) and Policy #120 (Posting of Notices, Poster and Signs).

Policy
a) General Principles

The University reserves the right to manage and restrict access to indoor and outdoor University Space. In recognition of the University's commitment to the principle of academic freedom, the University will not place any restrictions on freedom of expression except with respect to such limitations on the time, place, and manner of such expression as may be necessary to ensure that the University's activities, as well as the safety and security of persons and facilities, are not compromised. Furthermore, the University will not discriminate in a manner prohibited by the Human Rights Code.

b) Authorization and Allocation

- All University Space is under the control and management of the University and is subject to its policies. This Policy applies to the allocation of University Space on a Short-Term basis only.

- All prospective Academic Invitees and Commercial/Other Third Parties must first have their request authorized by the relevant person as described in the Procedures and Guidelines framed by the Vice President Students under this policy.

- Classroom Services is responsible for authorizing and allocating University Space for short-term use. Exceptions are listed under the Procedures and Guidelines of this Policy.

- All queries regarding Short-Term use of University Space pursuant to this Policy should be directed to Classroom Services at (604) 822-9946. Parties wishing to secure University Space for longer periods should contact the Treasury Department at (604) 822-4489.

c) Setting Priorities for Use of University Space

The University retains the discretion to reserve University Space for specific uses on a case-by-case basis. University Space is categorized as restricted or non-restricted. Restricted space refers to lecture theatres, laboratories, gymnasia and office space that are assigned to specific departments and use of this space is scheduled internally by those departments. Non-restricted space refers to lecture theatres, laboratories and seminar rooms which are scheduled by Classroom Services. Except where facilities are devoted to restricted uses and not generally available for booking, the University will generally prioritize Short-Term use of University Space in accordance with the following rankings:

1. Academic/Administrative Users
2. Academic Invitees
3. Student Societies
4. Commercial/Other Third Parties

A subsequent booking will only displace a previously confirmed booking of lower priority in exceptional circumstances.

d) Licence Agreements

All use of University Space by Academic Invitees, Student Societies, and Commercial/Other Third Parties shall only be permitted in accordance with a license agreement, oral or in writing as required by the University, that adequately address the following matters:

- compliance with all applicable laws, including but not limited to hate legislation, relating to the licensee's use of the University Space;
- indemnity in favour of the University;
- insurance;
- liability;
- government fees & licenses;
- cancellation;
- set-up/clean-up charges & extra services (eg. AV equipment/furniture/catering);
- rules concerning signs, posters, advertising, merchandising, etc.;
- University trademarks & copyright;
- hours covered by agreement;
- liquor regulations, if applicable;
- security and policing, if applicable;
- parking;
- safety and emergency procedures;
- smoking;
- recovery of all costs;
- overhead charges;
- opening/closing fees;
- service fees;
- rental charges, damage charges & cancellation fees, if applicable; and
- any other relevant matters.

Authority for establishing the specific terms of each license agreement is delegated to the Director of Classroom Services and the specific terms may vary depending on factors such as the nature, time, length and date of the proposed use. Execution of any license agreement on behalf of the University shall be subject to the Signing Resolutions of the Board of Governors.

e) Fees

Use by Academic/Administrative Users. Fees are not normally charged for academic and administrative use of University Space. However, fees are applied for opening and/or closing services when the event occurs outside regular operating hours. Fees may also be applied for additional staff or equipment services.

Use by Academic Invitees. Fees may be charged for conferences. Fees are chargeable for opening and/or closing services when the event occurs outside regular operating hours. Fees may also be applied for additional staff or equipment services.

Use by Student Societies. Fees are not normally charged for academic and administrative use of University Space. However, fees are applied for opening and/or closing services when the event occurs outside regular operating hours. Fees may also be applied for additional staff, resources or equipment services.

Use by Commercial/Other Third Parties. Rents and fees based on full recovery of operating costs and expenses and market considerations shall be applied for such use.

Definitions
University Space shall mean all real property to which the University has right of possession, whether by way of ownership or by lease or otherwise, but shall exclude the areas specifically identified in the section entitled "University Space Managed by Departments other than Classroom Services". For greater certainty, it is noted that real property owned by the University but leased out to a third party, such as the Student Union Building (which is leased to the Alma Mater Society) and Leon and Thea Koerner Graduate Student Centre (which is leased to the Graduate Student Society), is not included within the definition of University Space.

Short-Term, when used in reference to a period of access or use, shall mean access or use for a period of generally less than four weeks.

Academic/Administrative Users are academic units and administrative units of the University including all faculty members and staff who are acting in their capacity as employees of the University, that wish to use University Space for official University purposes. Examples of such University purposes include the following:

- regularly scheduled classes or similar activities for University credit course offerings (i.e. University degree and diploma courses approved by Senate);
- occasional seminars, discussion groups, or similar activities for University credit course offerings;
- official meetings or activities of faculties or departments;
- Continuing Education activities of faculties, including those organized through the Centre for Continuing Education and programs for professional and career development (e.g. Commerce Diploma Division, Commerce Real Estate Division, Continuing Education in the Health Sciences, and Continuing Legal Education);
- Continuing Education Language Institute;
- other courses offered by the Centre for Continuing Education; and
- official meetings or other similar activities of faculty or staff.

Academic/Administrative Users also include organizations that are supported by the University with finances, time, or professional skills (eg. Alumni Association, etc.) and bargaining units representing University employees (e.g. Service Employees International Union, CUPE) that wish to use University Space for their regular business meetings.

Academic Invitees are persons and organizations that the University wishes to host within University Space and to whom the University extends an invitation. They generally include accredited organizations with a special or direct relationship to the University, are normally of an educational, cultural, professional, or social service nature, and are non-profit in operation (eg. educational institutions, Learned Societies, charities). Academic Invitees may also include University students in their individual capacities, if they are approved by the Vice-President, Students.

Student Societies are the Alma Mater Society, the Graduate Student Society, and the University Publications Society, together with official clubs, constituency societies, and subsidiary organizations that are a part of the Alma Mater Society, the Graduate Student Society, or the University Publications Society, as the case may be.

Commercial/Other Third Parties are all persons or organizations other than Academic/Administrative Users, Academic Invitees, and Student Societies who seek a license to use University Space. Examples of Commercial/Other Third Parties include movie production companies, wedding parties, concert and festival organizers, and may include the federal and provincial governments.
