Correspondence

—o—

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of correspondents as expressed over their signatures.—Editor.

Dear sir.

J. L. C's last contribution to our little controversy is certainly a noteworthy performance. He appears to have thought it would be the last word in the argument and has accordingly taken the liberty of misquoting wholesale from my previous letter. Such a practice is neither honorable or courteous and it is my first experience of having had to rebuke an opponent TWICE for deliberately distorting and misquoting my words it reveals both the sore straights to which he has been reduced and the weakness of the cause he has so strongly espoused. But it is not my intention to reply at great length to his statements, as such would be merely to again traverse ground that has already been covered. His evasions, writhings and twistings are so plainly obvious that a repetition of my arguments in favor of boxing is not necessary to complete his discomfiture. I can well understand his objection to the words, "eternal principles" and particularly to the last word "principles" for reasons which my foregoing remarks will make clear. His self-congratulation at finding himself in harmony with some of my views, I sincerely rejoice in, for it indcates a greater breadth of mind on his part than apparent in his earlier letters.

I merely wish to take "J. L. C." up on one point which will clearly demonstrate the false paradise (many people call it another paradise) in which he is living He has more than once congratulated himself that there are "few in our fair community who are organisers or fighters in this line or even lovers of this kind of sport." I put it to him that, supposing Tom my Burns and Sam Langford were billed to fight in Abbotsford, how many male members of the community would he find imbued with such strong prejudices against that "kind of sport" that they would refuse to witness the encounter? Would he be able to count them on the fingers of both hands, or would one hand suffice? The "proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof" and I venture to say that if "J. L. C." had to swallow his own words intheevent of such a contingency he would suffer such a bad attack of indigestion that he would notbe in a hurry again to rush into print or make such rediculous statements. I merely put forward this instance to show that "J. L. C." pious assumption of righteous superiority like the rest of his arguments, is at direct variance with hard actual facts. He has not hesitated to try "hitting below the belt" in his writings and by doing so has shown himself ignorant of the rules of boxing and unscrupulous in his conduct of a controversy. Hoping he may be able to derive some solace from this reply, which I thank you, Mr. Editor, for having quite justly permitted me to make

Youts faithfully

FRIDAY, AUGUST 12, 1910

Next Wednesday the people of our town have the opportunity of electing three trustees who are to serve for the next six months and it is up to us to elect men who will look after our school in such a manner as to see that they are the best in the Fraser Valley, bar none

The importance of education can not be overestimated these days Being divided into a school district gives us a grand opportunity to have the best teachers; and the teachers make the school. Let every one of us take an interest in the election.

"The Scott Act is to be tested in British Columbia," says the "Slocan Record". "It may be a success in this province. In Ontario it wasn't even a decent failure. However temperance agitators, must live, and the only way to get rid of this class of agitators is to give them plenty of rope. It is impossible to pass legislation that will make industrious citizens out of confirmed drunkards unless some provision is made in the act for their complete isolation until a cure has been effected, The principal causes of drunkenness are the treating system, and card and dice games. The man who will stand alone at a bar and get drunk should be chloroformed, for nothing will cure him of the habit. It is the "have another with me," that produces intoxication and makes confirmed drunkerds. Simply the desire of man not to appear mean among his fellows. There are hundreds of men in the west who will neither treat nor accept a drink from another at a bar. They buy a drink when they need it, yet never become intoxicated. The new licence Act goes into effect this year It is the best that has yet become law in Canada, and, if enforced, Dr. Spencer's occupation will be gone in British Columbia."

THE B. C. POULTRY ASSOCIATION

The announcement has been sent out from the department of agriculture at Victoria that there will Vbe a meeting of all the poultrymen of British Columbia on August 18 at the convention hall for the purpose of considering the organization of the British Columbia Poultry Association and the adoption of a constitution and by-laws. Stated in a few words the chief aims and objects of the B. C Poltry Association is "Better Poultry and more of it". The field of work will engage every poultry interest. It will seek to disseminate throughout the province a thorough knowledge of the latest and most progressive methods of rearing and caring for domestic fowls. Its particular mission will be to secure a more wide spread interest in thoroughbred poultry

The chief agencies to be used in the futherance of this object will be the poultry show and it is expected that the Poultry Association will hold an annual provincial show

The editor of this paper has been invited to attend the meeting in Vancouver provided he has a dollar.

ADVERTISING PAYS

A parson in Spokane says "I have drawn people to hear my sermons by advertising. I have attracted them with moving pictures, hot suppers, pink teas and flags If I have had any degree of success in Spokane it is because of the liberal use of printers' ink" The Rev. Dr. P .James W. Kramer, the pastor of the first Baptist church came to Spokane from South Carolina two years ago.

"There is something worse than sensationalism. It is the inability of the church to produce life The church that does not advertise is behind the times and is nursing empty pews, and he who rails against the minister for advertising is suffering for a congregation. I am not an advocate of rag time methods or vulgar preaching, I do plead for the church which is a humming plant of machinery, with live coals in the fire-box, smoke curling from the stack and every belt, wheel and pulley going. I believe too that the people need instruction and that a minster of the gospel is first, last, and all the time a teacher. There must be life."

It is only the people that "have the goods to deliver" that believe in advertising. Even the church has much to learn in the way of advertising. Many ministers look upon the newspaper as their enemy because a "devil" has something to do with the type.

VANCOUVER TO GREET ALBERTA FARMERS

Arrangements have been completed through the management of Manager James Roy of the Vancouver Exhibition Association for the holding in this city durng the Vancouver exhitition, August 15-20 of a two days' convention of the United Farmers' Association of Alberta. Secretary Edward J. Fream has assured the local body of a large attendance at the gathering which probably will be held on August 18-19.

The B. C. Poultry Association will also hold its convention on the Exhibition grounds during the fair, on August 18.

Calgary stock and cattlemen have taken a big interest in the forthcoming Vancouver exhibition and have assured the fair management of a good representation of Alberta's best horses and cattle.

MAKE HAY WHILE THE SUN SHINES.

The problem confronting every farmer and stockman in Alberta this year is that of providing roughage for the coming winter. Hay will not only be high but very high. The timothy crop is light straw of all kinds with the exception of winter wheat is short?

Every market that had to be supplied from Alberta in the past will look to Alberta again. Besides gain this year for food. Besides this other points which have produced enough to supply their own needs in previous years or had food to export will import largely during the coming winter days those sections which have been favored with rain can do much to supply them and it behooves the farmers of those sections to do their utmost to that end, and by so doing they will be well paid for their efforts.

Every acre of grass land that can be mowed should be mowed. In driving through the country we see numerous places in which half a day's brushing will enable one to secure a ton or more of hay. Ther is no kind of farm work which will pay better this year than brushing out these places.

An acre of early sown rye and used as a pasture will easily take the place of a ton of hay during the late fall and spring months and every farmer should sow at least a few acres.

The above is an appeal of an Alberta paper to its readers to secure the winter supply of hay.

Our Matsqui friends can draw their own conclusions.

Better facilities for the local public who wish to use the wire should be offered by the Telegraph dept The present system ofmessage acceptance and delivery is rotten to say the least. Between Mission Jct and Revelstoke it pays better to use the mail service or even go afoot. Surely we are entitled to a little more consideration even though we have the bad taste to live in a small community, which however donates very handsomely to the exchequer of the Telegraph Department. Ashcroft Journal.

WHAT EVERYBODY KNOWS

Knowledge is great!

Yesterday the world was flat; We knew it; Today the world is now round; we are sure of it. To-morrow the world may three cornered.

We were positive we would pass through the tail of Halley's comet Did we?

Yesterday the horse was the fastest thing in the world. This morning the locomotive beat the horse This very afternoon the automobile beat the locomotive. And this evening perhaps the aeroplane will outdistance the automobile.

Yes we are all sure we are very wise. None of us but can tell how this and that political question should be—must be—settled. The spinster school principal makes herself president of the mother's club The city man is sure he could make money on the farm. The farmer could work wonders in the city And every subscriber knows how to edit the newspaper better than the editor himself.—Sunday Mail

"I understand your antagonist is calling you every name he can think of."

"Yes," replied Senator Sorgham cheerily. "But he hasn't much of a vocabulary."

Sugar beet pulp is claimed to have great fattening qualities.

MEN WHO KNOW

"I find the keeping of indivdual cow records very useful indeed, and and would not go back again to the guessing method," writes a farmer who has tried both ways to the dairy commissioner of the Dominion Department of Agriculture The men who just guess and who do not know what each cow in the herd gives during the year, often guess too much on the weight of milk and fat, and too little on the cost of feed. They guess that Polly is the best cow in the herd but they do not know, because they have not weighed or tested the milk on any system. Probably Buttercup is far ahead of Polly as a producer. The men who know the best cows in the herd, thosewho know which cows produce a large quantity at low cost are the men who not only get good satisfaction out of keeping good cows, but they are the men who get good money when they sell, because they have records to augment the value. men who know the poor cows by their records sell them off for beef and save time and labor and feed and stable room and bad language The men who know enough to select good cows on their records on production are the successful men today. The dairy division, Ottawa supplies record forms for milk and feed so that men can soon know what profit each cow pays. The question is not "what does the herd average this month or next, but what does each cow give during the year?" Each cow should be a "long distance" milker.

"Miss Passay is furious with that society reporter."

"Why so??"

"He published the announcement of her approaching wedding under the column headed 'Late Engagements.'"

HOPE

Hope is the connecting link between Faith and Charity. Hope is the expectation or anticipation of success in the aims of life. Hope is a gift to men and is found as a chief characteristic of youth. A new town is composed of hopeful citizens and become hopeful, industrious and patient. When hope dies energy ceases but hope dies hard.

"As long as life its term extends
Hope's blest dominion never ends

See the pioneer farmer, usually, a young man boldly facing his forest farm, working early, working late, enduring hardships, because in imagination he sees his neat farm house and barn, and fields of grain where only trees and bushwood now are

See yon little house among the trees and the stumps, notice the vegetable and flower plots only a few feet in circumference and the bright cheery faces of the young couple who live there; children of Hope. They have come across the sea and across the continent; they have left home and kindred where the limitations were many and the opportunities few, to a broad land and a bright outlook; Hope beguiled but not deceived. Years pass by, forest pass away, homes and hamlets arise, babes become young men and young men become old and feeble folk but Hope still makes the eye bright and the heart light and says, "The best is yet to be."

DUST PREVENTION; ROAD PRESERVATION.

Experiments were made during the summer of 1909 at Washington D. C., Moungstown, Ohio, and Ithaca, N. Y. with different preparations for the prevention of dust and the preservation of roads.

At Washington, waste sulphite liquor was used on a macadam driveway subjected to light traffic. Sulphite liquor is a dense sticky liquid produced in the manufacture of wood pulp. It was applied in mixtures with water in varying proportions. The results show that it has but little value as a permanent road treatment, but that in concentrated form it may be classed as temporary or semi-permanent dust preventative and road binder.

At Youngstown, blast furnace slag was used alone and in different combinations with lime, sulphite liquor, and tar to determine the best method of utilizing slag for road construction. While sufficient time has not elapsed since these experiments were made to show definite and permanent results it is believed that they will be valuable in determining what combinations will produce the best road.

At Ithaca, tar, oil, artificial asphalt preparations, brick, cement and slag were used with varying results.

All of these experiments are fully described with results produced in each case, and a report on experiments formerly made, in Circular 93, of the Office of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

THE JOLLY ENTERTAINERS

—o—

The Jolly Entertainers of DesMoines, Wash., spent several evenings playing in the Maple Leaf Hall—Saturday and Monday evenings. The company is composed of twenty boys and girls. The programme consisted of musical selections, songs, recitations and band selections. It was an excellent programme on both occasions and most heartily enjoyed by the full house each night

The Jolly Entertainers come from the Children's Home in DesMoines Wash., Mr. Draper who accompanies the boys and girls, being the manager of the Home. The children attend the public school during the school terms, and besides receiving the ordinary public school education which fits them for the high school, they are taught both instrumental and vocal music

The present tour is for the object of making money to pay off a debt of $2000 now on the Home.

Besides being a most worthy cause the Jolly Entertainers are well worth patronizing as they give good value for the money paid; and will undoubtedly have a bumper house the next time they decide to come to Abbotsford.

None but the initiated know the accuracy required in a printing office, says an exchange. The average reader who detects a misspelled word or a letter upside down feels that his mission on earth is not accomplished until he has called the attention of the over-worked editor to the glaring defect. He does not notice the thousands and tens of thousands of letters that are in place or the multitude of words correctly spelled, but his eagle eye is glued on the one that is out of place. So it is with our deeds. Man does a thousand good deeds and no attention is paid to them, but if he makes one mistake it is flashed all over the world. A life time may be spent in building up a reputation that may be wrecked in a moment The world is a harsh critic, exacting to a fault.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE?

—o—

You can take a railway belt map issued by the Dominion government and pick out every unlocated quarter section on it. That means the Dominion government has published a complete land map of this province for twenty miles each side of the main line of the C. P. R. across the province, a belt 40 miles wide and about 600 miles long. Yet our provincial government could not tell an intending settler where he could find a quarter section upon which to locate

As between the Dominion government and the provincial in this matter there is a sharp and painful contrast, a contrast that is a reproach on British Columbia.—Saturday Sunset.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

John Kane was committed for trial and sent to Westminster on Saturday last. He appeared before Judge McPhee.

It appears that John had a dream the day before, and concluded that he must have some relatives some where, and he concluded to start travelling somewhere. He took a couple of valises for appearance sake. He started down the track but becoming weary he sat down to investigate the contents of the valise but was caught in the act by Constable Black.

He elected for speedy trial and his case wil probably come up in a week's time.

THE MARKET.

New Westminster, August 5th—There was a better attendance at the market than has been the case for several weeks. and on account of the large quantity of produce offered for sale, the prices especially of meats, showed a slight tendency to decline. Lamb lost a cent a pound and mutton and veal also showed a slight effect of the competition among the venders.

As an offset to the falling off in prices of the meats, eggs advanced two cents a dozen in the wholesale price, under stress of heavy buying by Vancouver and local firms.

Many of the purchasers went to the market to-day with the intention of securing some of the first fruit of the season, but most were disappointed. There were several boxes of apples brought in from Chilliwack, but most of them had been picked too soon and did find favor with the purchasers The poor stock found scarcely any The poor stock found scarcely any sale, but the few good ones were snapped up almost as soon as they were placed on the market.

There were no plums or other fresh fruit to speak of. To-day probably saw the last of the raspberries. There was a large quantity offered for sale, but they were nearly all overripe and did not sell as well as they have been doing at the last couple of markets.
