CORRESPONDENCE

Abbotsford, B. C.
November 30th, 1921
The Editor, Abbotsford Post,
Abbotsford, B. C.

Sir:—
"Birds of a feather flock together, a man may be known by the company he keeps, so may the strength of his cause be judged by the tactics employed to uphold it."

At a mass Liberal meeting held last evening at Abbotsford and speaking on behalf of the Liberal candidate, and in an attempt to justify the war record of W. Lyon MacKenzie King, particularly during the wartime election of 1917, Mr. McNeill of Vancouver deliberately stated that when the vote on this election was being taken amongst the Canadian soldiers in France, that the authorities acting at the behest of the government had all those men whose owed sympathetic tendencies for the Laurier Liberals sent to the front line trenches and not given an opportunity to record their vote.

As one who was in France at that time and knowing from personal knowledge that Mr. McNeill of Vancouver was stating a deliberate falsehood I immediately challenge the statement. But as a malicious utterance of this nature will always find some receptive minds I would ask you Sir in the interests of truth and fairplay to give this letter publicity in your next issue and also show up the untruthful and despicable tactics being used by the followers of this "Great Canadian Patriot" to cover up his inglorious war record.

Yours truly,
ARTHUR GEORGE,
Late C. E. F.

UP-TO-DATE SERVICE SEEMS MYSTERIOUS

A strange thing happened on Wednesday night although the facts of the case are not generally known yet. A certain party's truck broke down on the road and was towed into one of the garages for repairs. It was after 5:30 p. m. and so all business places in the cities were closed and the nearest place possible to get the part required was Seattle. It was very urgent that the truck be on the road by the next morning, so the part was ordered. About 7:30 p. m. the hum of a flying machine was heard but it raised no alarm until it swooped very low over a nearby field, where a red light was burning and dropped something that might have been a bomb, but before the onlookers could locate the spot where the thing had dropped, the red light went out and nothing could be found, but a very short time after this occurrence the garage man had the required part for the truck in his office, and at eight o'clock next morning the truck pulled out to make her trips on schedule time as usual. There seemed to be considerable controversy over the truck getting out on time. In fact there was considerable money lost and won over the affair. It may also be hard for some of our would-be wide awake citizens to comprehend a flying express service between Abbotsford and suburbs.

Sir John A. Macdonald used to say there were two unsafe bets—a horse race and an election—but that was before the automobile industry was very old.

MYSTERY.

An aviator cannot afford to fall down on his job.

Subscription Contest Extended To Dec. 17

For various reasons the subscription contest had been extended another three weeks from Nov. 26th, ending December 17th.

There appeared to be an impression that the contest ended on the 19th, but perhaps it was not made clear that it was the 26th, however, now is the time to get in and make the next three weeks tell the tale. There are new subscribers to be gotten and others whose subscriptions have expired or about to expire who would only be too pleased to assist the young ladies in securing the required number of votes.

THROUGH WITH GOVERNMENT

Victoria, Nov. 30. — Definite word has been received from President Jack Loutet, of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, that no further attempt will be made to communicate with the government. In a long-distance telephone conversation yesterday morning, he denied that the municipalities asked for the personal property tax and a larger tax on small incomes. He explained that the union intended to concentrate on the demand that the government assume educational costs. A formal statement is being drawn up for circulation, he said.

NORTH VANCOUVER, Nov. 30.—A meeting of the executive of the Union of B. C. Municipalities was held behind closed doors in the office of Reeve E. H. Bridgman on Monday afternoon, during which it is understood that a number of the matters which were recently taken up by the union, in conference with the government, were thoroughly discussed. It is learned on good authority that at least one of the decisions arrived at was that the union will take no steps whatever to seek a further interview with the cabinet, or make any further representations to it, during the present session.

The new source of revenue, which the government recently proposed to turn over to the municipalities, in lieu of the unpopular personal property tax, were under discussion, but when questioned concerning the matter, certain members of the executive refused to state what attitude the union would be likely to take towards the proposals. It is certain, however, that no suggestions will be offered and the government will be left free to make whatever arrangements it deems best. In the meantime a political platform embodying the aims of the union is being drawn up, it is stated, and will be submitted for approval at the convention of the U. B. C. M., to be held in Kamloops during the summer of 1922.

It is understood that strong disapproval was expressed at the action of Mr. F. A. McDiarmid, counsel and

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1921

"Canada Needs Meighen". Canada sure needs some one at this critical time in her history. It may be Meighen and it may not, but the people of Canada sure should look ahead of the present and consider which of the policies of the three leaders will be the best for the country five, ten, twenty or more years from now.

The Crerar policy is nothing more than a policy with a little sugar-coating on it to please dissatisfied Liberals, and undoubtedly is in favor of free trade with the country to the south of us.

The present Liberal Leader says that it was a big mistake to have defeated the reciprocity treaty of 1911.

The Meighen government wants to carry out the same old policy of protection that was first placed before the people of Canada by Sir John A. Macdonald in 1879.

You have your choice of policies and if you agree that protection is the proper thing you will agree that "Canada Needs Meighen" and if you are in favor of a free trade policy you will decide otherwise.

We need the policy that will develop this dominion of ours during the next few years and make a place for our young men and women so that they will not want to leave our country for any other in order to make a living—Canada will be good enough for them. There must surely be something wrong when our population has increased to such a small extent during the past ten years. The people come and go—we do not appear to be able to hold them. We need a policy that will make abundant work in Canada for all the people who wish to make Canada their home—or in other words protect our industries and our workmen.

Let us vote accordingly.

The tariff plank in the platforms of the three parties in the federal elections may be briefly summarized as follows: The Liberal party demands free wheat, wheat products, and the principal articles of food; farm implements and machinery, rough and partly dressed lumber, light and fuel oils, twine, cement and fertilizers; substantial reductions in the duties on clothing and footwear and other articles of general consumption; and a British preference of 50 per cent on all duties. It declares that the reciprocity agreement of 1911 was fair and just, and that its rejection should receive the condemnation of the Canadian people, and express the earnest hope for the renewal of such an arrangement. The platform advocates an increase of revenue from taxation of business profits and income. The government platform proposes that the tariff shall be so adjusted as (a) to assist in providing adequate industries; (c) to encourage the establishment of new industries; (d) to develop our natural resources; (e) to prevent the abuse of the tariff for the exploitation of the consumer; (f) to safeguard the interest of the Canadian people in the existing world struggle for commercial and industrial supremacy. The platform supports the principle of trade preference within the empire. The Farmer platform denounces the present protective tariff and makes what it calls "definite and tariff demands." These are (a) a substantial all-round reduction of the customs tariff; (b) reduction of the remaining tariff to one-half on British goods; and such further reductions as shall ensure complete free trade with Britain in five years; (c) unrestricted reciprocal trade with the United States, in natural products; (d) free admission of all foodstuffs, agricultural instruments, vehicles, fertilizers, coal, cement, oils, and all raw materials used in their manufacture. The revenue lost by the abolition of customs duties the Farmer party proposes to replace by a tax on unimproved lands, taxes on personal income, inheritance taxes and taxes on profit.

The only thing that finally turns up for the fellow who always is waiting for something to turn up is his loss.

Canada for the Canadians

What Is To Be Canada's Destiny?

Shall it be that through the destruction of the Tariff as proposed by both Crerar and King, the development of Canada is to come under the domination of the United States, to be followed by gradual financial domination and as a consequence, political domination?

—OR—

Is Canada's destiny to be that of a great free nation within the British Empire group of Nations, developing her boundless resources of mine, river, water power, forest, and cultivating her millions upon millions of acres of arable land? Is her development to surpass that of any other nation?

Shall her manufacturing industries develop her minerals and raw materials into implements and goods for the benefit and comfort of her people and for foreign trade?

Shall she become a self-contained nation within the Empire, her great railways interchanging, the products of factory and farm among her own people, and her ships sailing every sea?

Shall she maintain her integrity within the Empire and protect her farms and factories against unfair competition from foreign countries?

IF THIS IS TO BE CANADA'S DESTINY THEN CANADA NEEDS MEIGHEN.

On December 6th, Canada should once again protect her farms, her factories and her workmen against the unsound theory of Free Trade, and should hold fast to her reasonable Protective Tariff, her national entity and her British connection.

On December 6th Canada should declare with no uncertain voice that she will not tolerate the false trade theories of visionaries and group leaders which tend toward her economic destruction, toward the separation of her people and the weakening of the ties that bind Canada to the British Empire.

On December 6th Canada should demonstrate unmistakably to the outside world her fixed determination to keep Canada for the Canadians.

On December 6th Canada's destiny is at stake.

The signals of the traffic officer are obeyed instantly by the intelligent citizen, as he realizes that indifference means confusion and congestion.

Over the telephone wires and through the switchboards there is a constant volume of traffic. There is also a signal—the ringing of the telephone bell. A great obstacle in the flow of this traffic is delay in answering the bell.

Answer your telephone bell promptly. You will accommodate the party calling. Your own line will be more quickly cleared for other business.

Everybody loves a square fighter, hence the majority of Canadians admire Premier Meighen above any other man in the position of leader in the Dominion. They may differ with him in politics, but his hard-headed logic cannot be side-stepped. Hence, when he said in his speech at Moncton the other day, "I am going to ask the Western farmers to support the policy of the government, and unless they do it, they won't elect me, but there are worse things than being defeated," he won their respect if not their votes.

The popularity of the various candidates will be determined by the number of votes cast for them. Every new subscription to the Abbotsford Post will count as so many votes, based on the following table:

One Year's subscription	1,000 votes.
Two Years' subscription	2,500 votes.
Three Years' subscription	3,000 votes.
Five Years' subscription	5,000 votes.

Subscription blanks will be furnished to all candidates or their friends and hard work will be necessary to win the various prizes so that an early start in the campaign should bring success. The Abbotsford Post is anxious to know who is the most popular young lady in each district and hard work on the part of the candidates will help to solve this. The price of the Abbotsford Post is one dollar per year in advance.

Subscriptions may be paid to Mr. A. McCallum who will give receipts and take the name of the candidate to which vote is to be given; or may be sent through mail to Abbotsford Post, Abbotsford, B. C.

REMEMBER CONTEST BEGINS SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29TH, AND THE FIRST TEN SUBSCRIPTIONS PAID MR. McCALLUM, IF BEFORE 12 O'CLOCK NOON, ARE WORTH 5000 VOTES EACH.

ESLING DOING US

A GREAT FAVOR

Members of both sides of the Legislature are today congratulating W. K. Esling, the member for Rossland, on the success of his single-handed battle against the Pacific Great Eastern construction contract.

The Premier jumped at the suggestion emanating from the delegation of prominent business men which have waited on him demanding an independent investigation of the whole P. G. E. situation, and announced that he would ask President Beatty of the C. P. R. and D. B. Hanna of the Canadian National system to name a board of competent investigators.

Mr. Esling has gone on record in the house in a series of specific charges and members today are expressing the hope that the investigators will take all these factors into consideration.

Mr. Esling has stated, and has backed up his charges with evidence obtained in answers to questions from Premier Oliver the following facts:

Premier At Sea

1.—There is no contract in existence between the P. G. E. and Northern Construction Company for the building of any portion of the line, except the first 42 miles constructed under the Oliver administration.

2.—The contract for this 42 miles was to have been completed by January 1, 1919, and although three years have elapsed, the premier has admitted that he does not yet know what that 42 miles cost.

3.—No tenders were called for the completion of the railway, but the government engineer has simply told the construction company to continue work from time to time, without the government even having estimates to guide it.

4.—Foley, Welch and Stewart had agreed with the late government to complete the road to Prince George for $6,000,000, but the government has spent over $17,000,000 and 50 miles of the railway is yet to be built.

5.—The government has placed in the hands of its engineer, a former official of the Northern Construction Company, quantities and classifications, a matter involving $17,000,000 of public money.

000,000 of public money.

Favors Employers

6.—All correspondence indicates that this engineer favors his former employers and that he seems to be governed by the fear that they will not be protected. The most striking instance of this is when the company requested in June, 1920, an increase of 35 per cent. of unit prices, the engineer advised the premier that he had undertaken on his own responsibility, unasked in writing, even by the company, to make this retroactive to the first of the year, because he was satisfied previous prices were too low.

7.—In March, 1920, the premier stated that on the order paper that the road would cost $4,000,000 to complete to Fort George, a distance of 130 miles. Since then 70 miles have been built at an expenditure of $7,000,000.

8.—The 1920 prices for bridge timber, as fixed by the engineer, were $84.50, later reduced to $62 in 1921. The prevailing price at local mills in 1921 was $20 to $25 per thousand. The contract involved the use of the five million feet.

CAPTURING A NEW MARKET

Canada's flour is the standard of the world. This is pretty generally admitted. The writer knows one citizen of the United States who, on every visit he makes to Canada, carries home, under strict instructions from his wife, a number of loaves of bread she claiming that no bread obtainable in the United States approaches that made from Canadian flour. It is interesting to note that Dr. A. H. Stafford, born in Winnipeg but for some time past domiciled in Jamaica, recently said that until the steamships "Canadian Forester" and "Canadian Fisher" of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine Service came into Kingston last spring, every pound of flour used on the island came from the United States. Now it all comes from Canada. This very valuable market for Canadian products has been captured by three ways. Dr. Stafford affirms: First, the fact that Canada had ships to deliver it there; Second, the quality of the flour itself and Third, the fact that the people of Jamaica desire closer commercial and social relations with the people of Canada.

Instructions For The Voters

Voting is a very simple matter, if done correctly. One has only to make a cross within the white space containing the name of the candidate one wishes to support. However, a great many are under the impression that they do not know how to mark a ballot, and so the following instructions may be useful to some.

Once a voter receives a ballot from the deputy returning officer he has a right to use it, whether he has been sworn or not, and cannot be sworn once he has got the ballot. Once the ballot has been received it is important to remember that the following methods of marking ballots are good:

(1). With a proper cross with a black lead pencil on any part within the white space containing the name of the candidate.

(2). An irregular or awkward mark in the nature of a cross, so long as it does not lose the form of a cross, and the lines cross at any point.

(3). With a hilt-formed cross, or with small lines at the end of a cross or with a line across the centre of one of the lines of the cross, or with a curved line like the blades of an anchor.

(4). Any irregular mark in the figure of a cross, so long as it does not lose the form of a cross.

(5). A cross with a line before it.

(6). A cross rightly placed with two additional crosses, one across the candidate's name and the other to the left.

(7). A double cross or two crosses.

(8). Ballot paper inadvertently torn.

(9). Inadvertent marks in addition to the cross.

However, while all these markings are good, and will not result in the ballot being rejected, it is much safer and simpler to mark the ballot paper with an unmistakable cross, opposite the name of the candidate for whom the voter wishes to vote.

The procedure for the voter to follow on reaching the polling station is simple. At the door of the station his or her name will be checked on the list by one of the agents posted there. Then on entering the voter must give his or her address to the deputy returning officer, or returning officer or poll clerk, who will run through the list and see that the voter is entitled to a ballot. That formality complied with, and everything being in order, the voter will be handed a ballot paper and given instructions as to how it is to be marked, by the returning officer. Then he or she will be shown to a room or compartment where the ballot can be marked with secrecy.

Then, having marked the ballot as he or she desires, the voter will return to the outer room, hand the ballot properly folded to the deputy returning officer, who will tear off the counterfoil and place the ballot in the ballot box.

The voter, having thus exercised his or her franchise, is then required to leave the polling station.

A man died owing a Saskatchewan editor six years' unpaid subscription to the paper. The editor did not send any flowers. He attended the funeral and placed a palm-leaf fan and a block of ice on the casket.
