ESTABLISH PLANT FOR THE MAKING OF SUGAR

Dr. Schumacher, a well-known expert, will leave here next Sunday for Pemberton Meadows to report on its possibilities for the growth of sugar beets. He has in view the establishment of a plant for the manufacture of beet sugar. He has ample financial backing and if the conditions are favorable, purposes locating a refinery at Newport or in the valley which has an area of over fifty thousand acres. The expert is confident that his expectations respecting sugar beet growing will be realized. He has also been advised that the climatic conditions are equally favorable in the Suamish Valley adjacent to Newport.

He will accompany Mr. F. W. Hunt of the Howe Sound & Northern Land Company which owns a large area in Pemberton Meadows. Mr. Hunt is bringing in a party of settlers who purchased farms there last fall. The trail in from Newport is open and in excellent condition according to Mr. James Punch a pioneer rancher in the valley who came to town yesterday. Mr. Punch stated that the season there is farther advanced than in Vancouver, the temperature several days before he left registering eighty-four degrees. Settlers were busy plowing and getting in their crops. Several farmers from the prairie provinces ha dalready reached the valley and taken up their purchased holdings. They came in by the Lillooet trail. Mr. Punch added that the fruit crop promises to be abundant this season. Three different survey parties are now in the valley sub-dividing large tracts into fruit orchards.—Saturday's Province.

THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY

The Ladies of the Woman's Auxiliary held their afternoon tea and home cooking sale last Saturday. this being the second of the kind and was largely patronized by the residents of Abbotsford and surrounding districts. The room was most beautifully decorated and the home cooking booth laden with all kinds of tempting dainties in addition to their first venture at six o'clock a most tastefully prepared supper was served of which a great many partook and greatly appreciated.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. and Mrs. W. Campbell for their kindness in lending the store for this purpose; also to the many ladies and tradesmen for their kind gifts and patronage, helping largely in the success of this work of the W. A.

THE MARKET.

New Westminster, May 19th—On account of the May Day celebration in the afternoon the shoppers were early on hand at the market in the morning. The offerings on the market in general were not out of the ordinary and perhaps the feature of the day, outside of the auction ring, was the paucity of fresh vegetables. There were plenty of cooking potatoes on hand and seed potatoes were

Will Probably Die

At four o'clock this morning a noise awoke one of the partners of the general store at Whonnock. He went down into the store and found a man in the store. A scuffle ensued in which the partner was shot through the stomach and will probably die. The sailor escaped. The police force of the valley are now out on the hunt.

PREVENTED AN ACCIDENT

On Sunday morning the agent for the C. P. R. Mr. Clark prevented what might have been a very serious accident by his presence of mind and grit. It appears that a man, perhaps rather the worse for liquor wanted to ride blind baggage. He made a grab and caught on by his hands but would surely have fallen between the wheels had not Mr. Clark been on the spot and caught hold of the man and jerking him from the cars held him until the train passed. Wedding Bells.

MEETS SUDDEN DEATH

On Sunday morning as No 97 was passing through Whonnock at full speed—that train does not stop at Whonnock—the engine struck a black cow, the cow was thrown against Andrew Angin, and a fisherman (name unknown) from Vancouver. Angin was almost dead when picked up, and he died on the way to Mission Junction, while the fisherman escaped with a hurt leg.

Ita ppears that Angin was trying to drive the cow offt he track where she was quietly grazing about three or four hundred yards east of the station. The fisherman was trying to persuade the old man to leave the cow alone that she was all right, which would very probably have been the case if left alone.

Word was sent to the father's sons who arrived that afternoon and identified the body.

The following have been chosen as jurymen and have been hearing evidence as the witnesses can be secured; Messrs C. H. Croke D. Scott, Chas Winslade, G. A. Watson, F. Fabry, and J. D. McIntyre, foreman.

Wedding Bells

On Monday evening last at St Peter's rectory, New Westminster, Mr. Lawrence J. Chapman of Abbotsford and Mrs. Desanges Crochetiere of Fraser Mills were were united in marriage, the Rev. E Maillard of the O. M. I. officiating. The witnesses were Theodore Theroux and Philip Grogan

Mr and Mrs. Chapman arrived in Abbotsford on Tuesday morning and will reside here for the summer at least. The Post joins in extending to Mr. and Mrs. Chapman many happy days.

BASKET PIC-NIC

A very successful basket picnic ender the auspices of the W. C. T. U. was held in the old orchard May 24th. This is the Band of Hope annual pic-nic and a large number of children gathered for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Munro with a large party of friends arrived by the 10 a.m car from Huntingdon and were met at the depot by members of the W. C. T. U. All then proceeded to the grounds, which had been most comfortably arranged by the energetic and capable president Mrs H. Smith. After the beautiful grounds had been explored and admired and a social time spent a lunch was served and the long tables filled with children and adults twice over, grace being said by Rev. Mr. Campbell. After lunch the party were photgraphed and at 2 p.m. the Rev. Mr. Campbell, Mr. Frank Munro, assisted by Mr. Husband and Mr. Jack Milsted had a series of races for children of all ages, who received many beautiful prizes. The ladies then served afternoon tea, which was much appreciated. Music was supplied by an Edison Triumph phonograph which sounded well among the trees and at 5 o'clock, the party dispersed well pleased with their day's outing, and very grateful to Mr. D. Nelson for the use of his beautiful grounds.—Contributed.

A CRICKET MATCH

The Ne'er do Wells do well some times, especially when they make up their minds to win. On the 24 a cricket match was played between the Ne'er do Wells and the Aristocrats. The score was only 17 for the latter and 107 for the former.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY

On Saturday last Mr. Jack Copping celebrated his twenty-first birthday (we presume that is right) by inviting a large number of his friends to his home, where all participated of his best hospitality. Refreshments and lunch were served and his friends returned to their home wishing that Mr. Copping would have a birthday much oftener.

STRAWBERRIES TO SEATTLE

The following taken from the Times-Democrat of New Orleans might be interesting to the grower and shipper of strawberries from the Fraser Valley;

"Strawberries to Seattle. That is the latest enterprise shown by the strawberry growers of Louisiana. Aided and abetted by the American Express Company, which operates over the Illinois Central Railroad, the strawberry growers of Louisiana have recently invaded the Northwestern country, in open competition with strawberries from California. Just as the Louisiana orange is far superior in juice and flavor to that of California, so the Louisiana berry, by its deliciousness, has won favor over the California product even in the far West, where the long distance from which the Louisiana berries came would seem to have militated against them in the market.

"Much of the credit fort he success achieved by the Louisiana strawberry growers in the far West is due to George F. Nosler general agent oft be American Express Company in this city. Mr Nosler saw that refrigerated cars of the best make were provided for the shipments of Louisiana strawberries to Seattle, Ore., and in addition selected expert fruit men to go along with the cars and keep them at just the right temperature. The result was that the Louisiana strawberries showed no bad effects whatever from their long journey of 3500 miles across the continent, Mr. Nosler stated yesterday that he had received telegrams from the men that accompanied the shipments stating that the strawberries had arrived in first class condition. No better confirmation of this was needed that the fact that the Louisiana strawberries, in open competion with those of California commanded a better price in in the market. In fact, as long as the supply of Louisana strawberries lasted fruit dealers found the California strawberries unsaleable

"Mr. Nosler in speaking of the strawberries came from Independence and Ponchatoula, and had been routed by the way of Chicago over the Union Pacific Railroad over the entire system of which the American Express Company operates.

"It took five days,' said Mr. Nosler, 'for the strawberries to reach Seattle, but they arrived in good condition, so the men who accompanied the shipment all the way wired me. The fact that this first shipment was successful means larger shipments to the West next season and a corresponding increase in the strawberry industry along the line of the Illinois Central Railroad in Louisiana.'

"Mr.N osler said that the American Express Company had carried shipments of Louisiana strawberries as far east as Boston, but that the Seattle shipment held the record for a long distance shipment'

"'We have also supplied Louisiana strawberries to Panama,' said Mr. Nosler, 'orders having come by cable for them. The berries had to be shipped green, and were kept in a refrigerated condition from the time they were put aboard the cars. We arranged it so that the car was switched right to the wharves here, and the strawberries were then placed in the refrigerator compartment of one of the fruit vessels. Berries intended for shipment to a warmer country have to be handled more carefully than those going to a colder climate. The shipments reched Colon in good order, and more orders have since come for Panama. Altogether four shipments ave been made to Colon.'"

EVENTUALLY, BEYOND QUESTION ONE NATION

—o—

The New York Journal is very confident about the future;—

"Intelligent Americans will favor this treaty; intelligent Congressmen will vote for it. Eventually, beyond question, the whole North American continent will be one nation."

The Oriental Review of New York regards the trick as already done;—

"This great republic has morally added to its union one more State, without fighting for it, and without hoping for it, and without any future need of "knocking it" in o proper shape.

When the International boundary between Lake Superior and Pacific was being delimited, the United States desired it to be at latitude 54.40, instead of at parallel 49, where it now is. Ardent spirits wished to settle the question by the sword. The difference between 49 aand 54.40 is north of the Saskatchewan, and that if the boundary had been fixed there no part of the Canadian west that is growing wheat for export would have belonged to Canada. The St. Paul Dispatch is reminiscent;—

"The arrangement is just as good for the United States, so far as it goes, as the policy of "54.40 or Fight" would have been had it succeeded."

The unique position and possibilities of Caanada in world politics are keenly realized by many business men and publicists in the United States. They see that Canada's political strength with in the British Empire will be increased as her trade with the Empire increases.

Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, also;—

"Canadian Annexation is the logical conclusion of reciprocity with Canada."

Ex-Governor N. J. Bachelor, New Hampshire, says;—

"The only fair way for trade to be established would be to let the Stars and Stripes float over Canada."

The attitude of the press is unmistakeable. Occasionally an editorial suggests that the writer is a little scared lest a Canadian might hear hi mthinking aloud;but as a rule there has been a splendid candour about the musings of the scribes.

The New York American thinks it speaks for Canada;—

"Eventually of course, Canada will come in. That will happen when we want her. Meantime she is, so to speak, keeping herself for us in colonial cold storage."

The Chicago. Record-Herald has no doubt about the parting of the ways;—

"The people across the line recognise that Canada is about to choose between Canadian and American interests, and between the Empire and the Republic."

very plentiful, at normal prices. There were no turnips, carrots, or radishes in evidence and lettuce was very scarce

No celery was shown and rhubarb was not quoted at retail, although there were a few sacks of it on sale at wholesale, which averaged four cents a pound.

The price of eggs at wholesale showed a slight increase, which was not reflected in the retail market. Prices in butter declined a little but the quality was good.

The poultry market this week did not amount to a great deal The offerings were not large and the prices generally tended to rule a little lower than those of last week. The chief buyers were the Chinese merchants of Vancouver and comparatively few cases did change hands.

There was a pen of well bred brown ledhorns which were offered at $1.50 each for breeding purposes and a registered rooster of the same breed for which $5 was asked.

The fish markets, so far as prices are concerned, showed little change but there was no oolichans offered for sale, the season for these tender dainty little fish having ended.

Vegetable plants were numerous on the market and sold at 25 cents a box, each box containing two dozen plants.
