FINDS B. C. SCHOOLS IN FINE CONDITION.

Victoria, Nov. 3rd.—The Earl of Harrowby, who is making a tour of the empire for the purpose of gathering information, spent yesterday morning examining the schools of Victoria. He was piloted around the city by Superintendent Paul, Chairman Jay of the board of trustees, and Mr. Robinson, superintendent of education. The earl visited the different schools to see them actually at work.

During his visit to the province he has been very much surprised at the amount of money which is being spent in British Columbia for educational purposes, and especially with the splendid school buildings that he has seen. At the department he was shown photographs of the schools at Vernon, Revelstoke, Nelson and other places. When told of the population of these places he remarked that towns that size in the old country would have only two or three little cottages with single rooms as has furnished him with the facts and figures with reference to education in British Columbia since the schools were made free in 1872. In that year the province spent $23,000 on education. This year the government is spending on education $1,100,000 and the municipalities about $1,000,000 more. The earl expressed himself hardly able to believe the facts presented to him and promised to astonish his friends in the old country when he goes back.

The Union of B. C. Municipalities hold their next meeting at Salmon Arm on November 10th.

"THE HEIGHT OF HOSPITALITY"

(From Fraser Valley Record.)

On Tuesday evening the Mission District Board of Trade tendered Mr. W. J. Manson, the member for Dewdney riding in the local legislature, a banquet at the Matsqui Hotel, Sam Giles.

Mr. Manson will shortly leave on a trip to his old home in Scotland on a visit to his mother, whom he has not seen for twenty-two years and the occasion was taken advantage of to wish him bon-voyage qui Hotel. Over thirty guests sat down to enjoy the good things provided at the festive board by Mine and a safe return. He expects to be gone about six weeks and will be back for the opening of the legislature in January.

The Board of Trade, although a young organization in Mission City are learning very quickly how to entertain, and it can be said that the eclat with which the affair was carried out would have done credit to those older in the art of entertaining. Owing to various reasons some of the invited guests could not be here; Premier McBride had previously arranged to go to Prince Rupert; Mr. T. Gifford, of New Westminster, companion of Mr. Manson in the House, owing to sickness could not be present; Mr. McKenzie, having an automobile accident near Cloverdale, failed to make railway connection; Mr. S. Cawley of Chilliwack, could not pass by a previous appointment; while Mr. W. McNeil of the Canada Power Co., owing to unexpected sickness of his little child, Tuesday afternoon, could not be present. But nevertheless it is believed the guest of the evening, Mr. Manson enjoyed himself as in tendering his appreciation of the banquet to the members of the Board of Trade, expressed it, according to Scottish ethics, "the height of hospitality."

Full justice was done to the excellent things of the following menu:

Soup—Mock Turtle a la Ferry.
Fish—Spring Salmon a la Cawley.
Entree—McKenzie Spring Chicken a la fricassee.
Roasts—Sirloin of Beef a la Premier, Brown Gravy; Haunch of Venison, Black Currant Jelly; Dewdney Capon and Dressing.
Vegetables—Hartzic Mashed Potatoes, Mission Green Peas.
Sweets—Apple Pie and McNeil Cream, Pudding a la Manson, Rhubarb Pie.
Cheese, Dessert, Wines and State Falls Water, Tea and Coffee.

The toastmaster, Mr. R. C. Abbott, opened the toast list by proposing the health of "The King and Royal Family" which was drunk with musical honors.

"Mission District Board of Trade" was proposed by Mr. J. A. Catherwood, and was responded to by Messrs. E. Bush, H. Windebank, J. Lamrège and T. Aish.

"The Premier and The Legislature," was proposed by Reeve Dick who appreciated the fact that it had fallen to his particular lot to "sink political differences" by proposing the toast allotted to him. He did so in the same spirit of good fellowship and spirit in

FRUIT LECTURES AT ABBOTSFORD.

Word has been received at this office that arrangements have been completed to hold one of the meetings first advertised to be held at Aldergrove, now to be given at Abbotsford. Accordingly on December 5th a series of lectures on fruit growing will be given in Abbotsford in the Maple Leaf Hall. The next day another course will be given in Aldergrove. Due notice will undoubtedly be given after, on by the department.

All those interested in the growing of fruit in and around Abbotsford should make it a point to attend his meeting on the 4th of December next.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

A number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. McGowan gave them a surprise party on Monday evening. A very pleasant time was spent. Among those who were present were Mrs. Howe, Mrs. McMenemy, Mrs. Weir, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. Coogan, Mrs. Heath, Mrs. Edson, Misses Hilda, Annie, and Mabel Nelson, Misses Blanch and Annie McCallum, Miss Amy Hinch and Miss Seigler. Messrs. Weir, J. McLean, Paul Taylor, John McNeil, George Kerr, H. Nixon, John McCauley and A. Scott's void.

which the premier of this province had on the occasion of the visit of Premier Laurier to British Columbia.

The "Old Timers" were ably taken care of by Messrs. J. B. Cade, J. Plumridge and W. Elliott.

The health of Mr. Manson, the guest of honor of the evening was proposed by Mr. A. M. Verchere, who believed our present member was a worthy successor to the previous representatives of Dewdney in the local legislature.

Mr. Manson in answer thanked the members of the Board of Trade for the splendid banquet and the pleasant evening. He then dealt with some of the questions that the Board of Trade had taken up with the government and promised his assistance in matters that pertained to the general welfare of Mission City and district. The ferry across the Fraser at Mission had been one of his pet schemes and with the able assistance of the Board of Trade, transportation across the "dividing line" between Matsqui and Mission was about to be an accomplished fact—the plan of the ferry had been decided upon and the machinery had been arranged, and now all that was required was an appropriation next session. Next banquet given by the Board he hoped the members would be able to greet the friends from Matsqui and hear them say that they enjoyed the free trip over on the ferry.

"The Ladies" were carefully looked after by Messrs. G. A. Watson, E. Bush and Neil Fraser.

Numerous other toasts were proposed, among them being "The Press" and "The Chechacos" all of which were responded to by the ones chosen to do so.

During the evening sweet music both instrumental and vocal, were discoursed by Messrs. T. Clegg and Sam Giles.

The singing of "God Save the King" brought a pleasant evening to a close.

WON ONE AND LOST ONE.

On Saturday last the Abbotsford boys met Mt. Lehman on Saturday on the latter's grounds. It was a good game but the score at the end of the game stood 3 to 1 in favor of our boys.

But on Monday, Thanksgiving Day, our boys went down before the Mission football team in a score of 4 to 2 in favor of the visiting team. Mr. E. Bush of Mission City acted as referee.

Abbotsford scored in the first half, shortly after the game started, and again near the close of the game. Cyril did the act in both cases.

The Mission boys scored all in the second half.

The Mission team was considered the better team, being able to pass the ball a little more scientifically than our boys, having no doubt played the game more together. They played a much better game than was expected by the work done at home on exhibition day.

Abbotsford is improving steadily and if the players were to put a little more confidence in each other instead of one trying to do all the work himself when he gets the ball, there would be a better chance of winning. Individual playing counts for more when the player makes good use of his next man. Or in other words, boys learn to pass the ball and keep the defence strong.

The following was the line-up; ABBOTSFORD—

Goal—E. Elliott.
Back—Ruthig and Hayes.
Half-Back—Hogg, Nixon and Boyd.

Forwards—C. Harrop, Brown, D. Wells and Featherstonehaugh.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1911

The synod of Columbia has passed the following resolution which would lead one to believe that they would make an attempt to have the teaching of the Bible in our provincial schools. Here is the resolution; "Whereas in the Public Schools Act there is a clause which reads that the highest morality shall be inculcated, that this synod records its conviction that a text book of Bible knowledge be compiled and put forth for the use of the public schools of the province. Experience in teaching in the public schools of three different provinces of Canada, extending over a period of over fifteen years compels us to remark that we believe it is a mistake on the part of any church to ask that religion be taught in our schools by means of any text book. At one time the province of Ontario had a book compiled for the Bible for the purpose of having it read in our public schools. We called it the "Ross Bible." There were extracts in the book containing parts from both the Old and the New Testaments. The book was simply to be read to the pupils—a chapter each morning or evening as the teacher chose. No very serious objection was raised to the reading but it gave a teacher so minded an opportunity to give expression to his views to a school composed of children from homes of different religious denominations. We have known cases where it was not satisfactory to the parents of the children. It caused trouble. The book has since been done away with, we understand.

At an earlier stage in the education of the province it was the privilege of the minister of the gospel to claim half an hour of the school time each week for religious instruction. That could not have been satisfactory or it would not have been abolished.

This province has no religious instruction taught in its schools and many high compliments have been passed on the superiority of our educational system. It is indeed very questionable whether it is advisable to permit any church to tamper with our school system in this respect. The school day is short enough for the various subjects taught and if religious teaching were added to the already large number of subjects and left to the teacher to teach there would be trouble of all kinds. Most of our teachers are young and while they are probably well educated in other subjects, the teaching of the Bible would certainly puzzle a great many of them. There would be the old trouble of a teacher explaining a passage of scripture to children of various denominations. People are not broad-minded enough regarding religious creed to accept such instruction. This is better explained when we remember that most of our churches demand several years training and study in theology after a university course, before a man is considered competent to explain the gospel to grown up people. How then can it be expected that a teacher with a third, second or a first-class certificate, would be a competent to explain passages of scripture to children, even if they were of the same religious denomination.

The home and the church are the proper places for the religious teaching of the child. Neither the home nor the church should attempt to foist on the school any of their responsibility on the teacher of our public schools. The teacher's life and example should be enough to inculcate in the child the highest morality—if not the certificate had better be cancelled. No objection is made to religious teaching but the public school is not the proper place to teach this most sacred subject, so important to modern civilization.

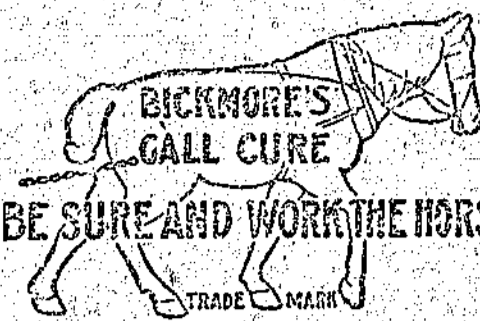

That the new Provincial liquor law is doing its intended work well in the restriction and regulation of the traffic is shown, says the Vancouver Province, not only by the amount of which has been collected in fines for its infringement but also by the fact that complaints which were formerly so numerous have now entirely ceased. The act which is being strictly enforced everywhere, is giving the greatest satisfaction both to the temperance men and to the liquor men who desire to have the traffic properly controlled. A list of the cases in which action has been taken at different places in the unorganized territory during the past two months shows that the authorities have been vigilant and energetic. Some of the penalties inflicted were the following:

The first case under the act was at Sheep Creek where two men were fined $300 for running a "blind pig." The next case was at Port George where two men named McInnes and Davidson were given a year's imprisonment each for selling without a license. At Merritt a man was fined $100 for selling during prohibited hours. At Spence's Bridge the proprietor and his bartender were fined $100 each for selling quantities greater than one quart. At Sealey's Landing, near Hazelton on the Skeena, four blind pig men were caught and their united contribution to the treasury was $1050. A case occurred at Kamloops where a hotel proprietor was fined for selling to a man under the influence of liquor. This is the first and thus far the only conviction of the kind under the act. There was also a case in North Vancouver where a fine was inflicted for allowing gambling on licensed premises. In addition there have been several cases in municipalities, but these do not come under the jurisdiction of the provincial police and therefore have not been reported to them.

The total amount collected since the end of April by the Provincial government in fines under the liquor act has been $6550. This, however, includes $4800 which was taken in at Prince Rupert just before it was incorporated. The wide-open days at Prince Rupert are now over and no complaint is heard from there regarding the liquor law.

There have been three licenses cancelled for infringement since the act came into force. Little further trouble of this kind, however, is anticipated as the license holders have come to understand that the law will be strictly enforced in all its provisions. The improvement in the character of the accommodation furnished at many of the houses has been noticeable and it is believed that in this regard there is now no ground for complaint.

Inconsiderate Landlord

I beg to announce to the readers of this paper, that after being tenants in 675 Columbia Street, New Westminster, for some twelve years we have been forced to vacate these premises by the end of February. Turning us out the landlord does not consider the monetary loss we will sustain by our moving the large stock of Men's Clothing, Furnishings, etc. in the City. In the ordinary way of business it is impossible to sell out such a large stock in a few short months. There is therefore only one thing we can do, and that is to sacrifice our goods and give them to the public at genuine reductions.

We have built up a large business through giving the public the very best at the least possible cost. Among our many high-class lines are Campbell's Clothing. These Clothes need no recommendation to the better dressed man. They are the essence of style, fit, finish, and their wearing qualities have no equal. For the next four months we are going to give the best value in Men's Furnishings ever given in this city, and it will pay you to watch this space.

GUDAY

Remember,
The Fifth
Shall not.

Thus every boy still chants as Gday comes round and customs die hard in England only fifty years which ordered Nov. 5 is a day of thanksgiving, while up till this a special form of pride in the old English. The public observance is undoubtedly that of Oak Leaf Day, the escape of Com his pursuers, but both of the land saviors for the purpose works. Thus in this fifth century all of England will be ablaze with fire, the flames of the figure of the cross, while around the people dance and sing and sputter of the wheels, giant squibs. Public celebration, cease entirely, only as each session opens, the vaults heave at Westminster with quaint ceremony.

The dawn over dogmas of faith have caused a ring through all the Gunpowder Plot is the results of religious.

Guy Fourn and educated his family had long. His parents was, but after the death, his mother married a Catholic family, the new influence they grew up a real out faith. After attaining his majority, he succeeded to the little property bequeathed him by his father, and having spent the money it brought him, betook himself in common with many other Catholic gentlemen, to Flanders, where he enlisted as a soldier of fortune in the Spanish army. In 1595 he was present at the capture of Calais by the Spaniards, and later was sent to visit Philip III. of Spain, and to plead for his intervention to relieve the sufferings of his co-religionists in England.

Fawkes was well known to the three instigators of the plot, but had no share in devising it. He was sought out by Winter at Ostend and his two then crossed to London. There, in a house beyond Clement's Inn, he and another, named Thomas Percy, were informed and approved of the scheme and the five conspirators received the sacrament from Father Gerard, a Jesuit priest, who was a hand. Towards the end of May, 1604, Percy, acting under Catby's orders hired a house adjoining the Parliament buildings, from the cellars of which it was proposed to drive a tunnel, and prepare a mine. Fawkes now assumed the name of Johnson, and took care of the house, passing himself off as Percy's servant. In July, the parliament was adjourned until the following February, and it was not until late in December that the plotters brought in tools and provisions and commenced operations in the cellar. The excavations proved more difficult than was anticipated, and John Wright's brother Christopher, and Robert Keyes, who had been previously sworn in but had been told off to take care of a house at Lambeth, where materials for the mine were collected, were sent for to help in the tunneling. Learning that the opening of Parliament was to be deferred until October, work was suspended for a time, but later was once more recommenced, with the aid of others.

In May, 1605, all was ready, and Fawkes was sent over to Flanders, to acquaint Sir William Stanley, the chief English Catholic who had joined the Spanish army, of their intentions and to secure his co-operation. From this journey he returned in August, and learning that Parliament would meet on November 5, busied himself in replacing with dry barrels, those in the cellar that were injured by damp. Fawkes was to fire the train, using a slow match, which would allow him fifteen minutes to get away. He was then to embark for Flanders and spread the news on the continent.

Fawkes was found in the cellar and placed in prison. He confessed. The conspirators were sentenced to be "drawn, hanged and quartered." Fawkes was the last to mount the scaffold, on January 31, and being weak with torture and sickness, he had to be assisted up the ladder. "We are told that he made no long speech, but after a sort seeming sorry for his offence asked a kind of forgiveness of the King, and the State, for his bad tent, and so died."

HYPOCHLORITE TREATMENT OF WATER.

The attention of the public as well as health and municipal authorities, has been directed during the past few months to the purification of water by means of the addition of small, very small quantities of hypochlorite of calcium, otherwise known as chloride of lime. We have been led to believe the process is a very simple one; indeed so simple that a child might almost direct the treatment. It is true that in case of emergency, municipal and health authorities, may under the direction of a sanitary engineer, improvise the means for the application of the hypochlorite and thus prevent outbreaks of typhoid fever when the water is sewage polluted; but for the proper and scientific installation as well as for the oversight and management, expert services give the best results, and where a municipality will pay for the services of an expert, the expenditure is more than compensated for by the results obtained. These facts are clearly shown by the work and operation of what is known as the Bubby Creek Water Purification Plant of the Union Stock Yard and Transit company at Chicago, which has been in operation for nearly two years.

The following information, descriptive of it is taken from the report of C. A. Jennings, chief chemist and superintendent of filtration.

First, as to the class of water. Bubby creek receives the sewage of some 350,000 people—about the population of the city of Montreal, and a larger population than the period of twelve months show the maximum to have been 2,500,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter (about 18 drops) while the minimum was 30,000—the average being 354,000 per cubic centimeter.

Without entering into the details it may be said that the plant consists of pumps, a canal, now part of the sedimentation system, 3 pairs of settling basins and mechanical filters. From these latter the treated water flows the clear-water well and from thence it is supplied to the stock yards.

Consequent upon the close and intelligent oversight maintained, various changes have been made both in the operation of the plant and the chemicals used in the treatment of the water. These can be learned in detail by reference to the "Engineering Record of September 24th, 1910. At the present time, the coagulant used is sulphate of alumina, a solution of a strength of 3.3 per cent. being used. Subsequently hypochlorite solution of the strength of 1.2 per cent, is added, after which water passes through the filters and is then ready for use.

As regards the cost of operating this particular plant, the contract called for nothing in excess of twenty dollars per million gallons, his to include cost of chemicals, labor and power for pumping but not depreciation charges and interest on investment. The cost of operation has averaged only $10.54 million gallons, and a still further reduction in cost of operation will be shown, as since the use of hypochlorite, a total reduction of some 60 per cent. has been made in the use of chemicals alone.

Too much credit cannot be given to Mr. C. A. Jennings for this practical demonstration of how water strongly polluted with sewage may be converted into a potable water of high quality. The reporter states it was drunk by himself and his assistants in preference to the city water, and he significantly adds, "There has never been a single case of sickness or intestinal disorder caused by doing so."

Undoubtedly, municipalities having water supplies liable to contamination by sewage have much to learn from this interesting work and they certainly can have no excuse hereafter for serving out to the public a sewage-polluted water.

EIGHTEEN REASONS AGAINST RECIPROCITY.

The following eighteen cogent reasons why Canada should not enter into a reciprocity treaty with the United States at the present time are submitted by the Toronto News and will well repay a careful perusal.

1. The Dominion is abundantly prosperous. The farming community thrives and the working men in the industrial centres enjoy constant work at good wages. It is not as if the country languished for trade or for markets. Why not let well enough alone?
2. The United States tariff against Canadian goods is far higher than the Canadian tariff on United States goods. As a result seven million Canadian spend more than $200,000,000 in the republic for $100,000,000 than ninety million Americans spend in the Dominion. Every man, woman and child in Canada sends 25 times as much money across the boundary line as the individual American sends here. Washington should lower its own tariff to a level with ours before asking us to negotiate for customs concessions.
3. Under present conditions American capital is pouring into this country and establishing Canadian branches of great United States industries. If the tariff is reduced materially this influx of money and factories will cease. Canadian raw materials will cross the line to be manufactured by the United States workmen into finished articles of commerce for the Canadian market. Why take the work away from Canadian workmen?
4. Canada's industries could not stand against a flood of imports from the heavily capitalized and specializing trusts of the republic.
5. Reciprocity would have the effect of turning over much trade and traffic to the United States railways and ports. American railways would gain at the expense of Canadian, American steamship companies at the expense of Canadian, Boston and Portland at the expense of Halifax and St. John.
6. Reciprocity in manufactures would depopulate our industrial centres, while reciprocity in natural products would check the new national and conservation movement and conflict with the efforts reduced materially this influx of of Ontario and Quebec to compel manufacture of crown land timber and pulpwood in this country.
7. Reciprocity and tariff reform are not necessarily linked. The duties of farm implements can be reduced independently of any dangerous understanding with Washington.
8. The United States steel trusts absolute control of the Canadian galvanized wire and barbed wire market prevents the farmers reaping any benefit from the removal of the duty on these articles. The effect of the removal is simply to transfer the work of manufacture to the republic. It may be expected that the same thing would happen in other industries under a reciprocal trade treaty.
9. Canada is under no obligation to go to the assistance of the Republican party, and pull its fat out of the fire.
10. If the United States movement for tariff revision downwards has any vitality we shall get a more favorable entry for our goods into the republic without yielding anything in return.
11. The signing of a reciprocity treaty with the United States would lessen the Canadian preference on British goods and ruin the broad movement for the inter-imperial preference towards which the Empire has been working steadily for some years. Once admit United States wheat to Canada free of duty and we must abandon the hope of obtaining a preference in the British market for Canadian farm products.

12. Any tariff concessions that Washington might make would probably have a "joker" secreted somewhere. This has been our experience in the past. The United States put Canada fish oil and canned lobsters on the free list, and then taxed the barrels and tins. Massachusetts checked the sale of Canadian bituminous coal by passing a law forbidding the "emission of smoke," and this regulation practically for many purposes, prohibits the use of the highly volatile fuel from Nova Scotia. Nominally anthracite is on the free list of both countries, but the Canadian article cannot enter the republic because of a regulation prohibiting the entry of coal below a fixed carbon standard.

13. Authorities say that free trade in coal would greatly cripple the Nova Scotia government by depriving it of a large proportion of the income it now derives from coal royalties.

14. We cannot afford to give up a stable market in Great Britain for an uncertain opening in the United States that may be closed by a sudden revolution of public political feeling such as that which occurred forty-four years ago. The average Canadian still remembers the wormwood and the gall of the succeeding years.

15. There is a growing suspicion that some states of reciprocity may pay of those wealthy across the line which cost subscribers almost secure a free run of the markets.

16. A great Canadian, whether Liberal or Conservative, to further tariff come the United States.

17. Many advocates of reciprocity treat it as a step towards ruin.

18. National interests demand no entangling trade with our great neighbor and by the Empire industries, transportation and sea-ports, and the necessary tariff in a view to our own without regard to the

It is important to note the movement of duties with that of the country so a lower duties with the agreement with the states. If Washington trade relations with the states has only to customs taxes to the levation tariff.

The dance held at Matsqui on Friday evening last was a grand success. Many people from Mission attended and report a grand time at the dance, but an enlarged motto is to be framed by some as follows: "I love my handcar, but oh, you walk." Neverthe less some admit that "the longest way round is the sweetest way home."

OTTO'S AUTO.

Young Otto bought an auto, which he ought not to have done
Till he had studied fully how an auto ought to run,
But Otto didn't do it, so he had him self to thank
That when Otto cranked the auto, why young Otto was the crank.
For Otto left the lever with the lever pushed to go,
When he ought to have reversed it with the power shut off, you know;
So when Otto cranked the auto, the auto gave a yump.
And landed Otto sprawling with an automatic thump.
But Otto grabbed the auto as the auto autoed by,
Then Otto and the auto down the street did fly,
And at a speed that Otto the luckless auto, whirled
Like an automobile autocrat who thinks he owns the world;
While the auto hating public stood and watched the auto rash
Till it ran against a lamp-post with a most terrific crash;
Then they sadly laid poor Otto, who had lost his auto zest.

L'ENVOI.

Now in this auto story, with its sad and fatal turn,
There is a moral hidden which we surely ought to learn;
No Otto ought to auto till he knows the auto rules,
For an automatic auto is no toy for auto fools.

The man who edits the average country newspaper cannot well avoid treading on someone's toes occasionally; must expect to be censured, often for unintentional failures; must expect hard work and little thanks; must expect to be called a coward because he does not "pitch into" everything that somebody thinks is wrong, and a fool if he speaks out too plainly what he thinks on the public evils; he must expect to grind other people's axes and turn the grind stone himself. Still we think it is one of the noblest professions on earth; the one in which the earnest man can do the most good to his fellow man, and in which an honorable man can wield much power for good.—Cumberland News.
