NOTES ON A TRIP TO REVELSTOKE.

EXCURSIONS TO HALCYON SPRINGS DURING THE HOT DAYS WOULD BE WELCOME.

The editor was taken sick on the 27th of May, while working on a Victoria Day article. Feeling somewhat better on Thursday he started on a trip to Revelstoke.

This trip should be a popular one for rest and recreation. A short railway ride to Robson, is followed by a good night's rest on board the boat in a large and well furnished state-room. Next morning after a turn on deck the call to breakfast is most welcome, and the fresh fish taken from the river while you sleep is the finest dish in a first class breakfast. The day on the boat is full of interesting and beautiful scenery. At 15:30 the boat arrives at Arrowhead, where you take the train for Revelstoke. Here the vegetation changes in character, the trees being giant cedars, and the flats covered with ferns.

The boat makes landings at Nakusp and Halcyon Springs, where the man with the kodak can get a snapshot.

Halcyon Springs has a comfortable hotel, and there is good fishing and boating in the lake below.

CULTUS HEHE.

Tom—"A man went to sleep in a wooden house, and awoke in a stone mansion."

Sam—"How's that?"

Tom—"During the night the wind blew and made the house rock."
