ANACONDA'S NEW INDUSTRY.

SOAP-FACTORY.

And modern slaughter house.

P. Burns & Co. have nearly finished their new slaughter-house in lower Anaconda. Every thing is on labor saving lines. From the time a steer is killed until loaded in the railway car, it is not taken from the overhead hook on which it is dressed. This hook runs directly to the scales and car.

Fire guards and a large tank with hose have been provided in case of fire. A flume from a mountain spring supplies the water.

All fats will be converted into soap at the plant.

This slaughter house will be the central plant for the surrounding country from Rock Creek to Grand Forks.

Work is being done on the Merimack claim below Anaconda. A shaft is down about 20 feet.
