TRACTION ENGINES. NEW CHANCES. For small mines.

With the installment of traction engines for hauling ore from No. 7 begins a new chance for the smaller mines located at a distance from smelters. If this proves a success in Central Camp the example will likely be followed up by Long Lake Camp, the West Fork and other camps having no railway spurs.

It will not be necessary to build special roads, as ordinary wagon roads will answer very well. Present bridges will need some braces.

Should the use of traction engines become general it will add a considerable number of ore shippers to the present list.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Trimpi of Orange, New Jersey, arrived in town yesterday. They will spend today at the Mother Lode and tomorrow at No. 7.

At the Ah There a car of ore is ready to haul to the siding.

Another collie pup has been added to the dogs of Anaconda. It belongs to Mr. McEwen, and is a beauty.

The recent rains have greatly improved the lawns and gardens about town, many of which looked as if it were August.

Mr. Harris has struck a four inch ledge of fine looking quartz on the Hamilton, above Anaconda on the east.

A deal is on hand for the Dewey, situated on the Anaconda townsite west of Boundary Creek. It is a promising prospect.

The new body of ore recently found in the mule tunnel at the Mother Lode has been drifted on, to date, 110 feet. This work is in good ore all the way.
