One given reason is for his contracting with the Canadian-Nippon Company for 500 Japanese to work in his coal mines.

The Dog Nuisance.

"Karamika" the editorial canine has met the fate of many better dogs before him in this town; he was killed by his murderous kindred.

We all know the cause of these gruesome dog fights, for years past, in summer and winter, people have complained of the unsightly nuisance; and we all know the chief remedy, and ask why it is not adopted? Besides the leading mischief some men and boys have fallen into the silly and reprehensible habit of setting their dogs on to other dogs for the sport of the thing, this may be harmless enough amongst some breeds of dogs; but, where, as with us, so many of the dogs carry a strong vein of the wolf in their blood it is extreme folly. Moreover, there seems no doubt, but what some of the big cross-bred retrievers, setters, collies and ect are quick to adopt the fighting method of the "huskie" which is, to kill! We venture to suggest, that, a timely warning and firm suggestion from the police, to breeders and owners, to keep their dogs under control, would do much to stop the nuisance.

The Asiatic Question.

According to the latest wires it looks as if much trouble is brewing ahead over this very vexed question. However, we shall require stronger confirmation, before we can believe, that the Dominion Government has demanded the Lt.

Governor's resignation. In the meanwhile, the sooner the Imperial Government declares its policy, and takes action with regard to the whole question relating to the immigration of asiatics all the better will it be for the contending parties.

The people of British Columbia, are never likely to quite agree on the question; there will always be the labourers point of view in strong opposition to that of the employer it is the same ancient source of many a sanguinary revolution—of Labour fighting Capital—and it will command higher politics than those obtaining in B. C. to settle the matter finally.

Log Cabin Trial.

The mail carriers, on this most unenviable trail, are having hard trips; and, occasional duckings when they break through the ice; but nevertheless the mails are arriving in good time. Otter Lake is reported frozen over on Taku Arm, they travel along the shores, and at Golden Gate, there is open water.

Joe Tallmire and Norman Fisher have started to flag the trail. Only travellers bent on extremely urgent business are recommended, this our only route of entrance and exit at this time of the year. The promised road to Tagish is not in sight! must we drown a few voyageurs before we get it?

A Pioneer Dead.

Thos Tugwell, a pioneer hotel man of Log Cabin, died Thursday in Victoria of catarrh of the stomach. Deceased was at one time post-master at Log Cabin and has many friends all over Alaska who will sorrow over his death.

The Promised Road to Tagish.

At this time of the year, it must be admitted that, Atlin is sorely tried for the want of a wagon road, by which safe and certain communication could be maintained with the railway to the coast. Now travellers unless incurring much personal risk and inconvenience, are debarred from making the journey; and freighting is almost impracticable.

Even the mails, we know to our cost, are only brought through with the greatest of difficulty.

Indeed every consideration must be allowed for the mail carriers in this arduous and perilous service.

But suppose we had a road to the railway at Caribou; travellers could have journeyed in comfort and safety, with as much baggage as they wish to carry, and have all enjoyed travelling on terra firma.

preference to taking chances in leaky boats on frigid water.

It is quite possible that these untoward experiences may continue for some months; and it goes without saying, that this is not a creditable state of affairs in a rich and steady growing mining district. It is a simple fact: that no country can make good progress without good roads.

Probably in a few years a branch line of railway will connect Atlin with the line to Skagway; but in the meanwhile, every effort should be made to obtain a wagon road from Atlin, along the north shore of the lake to Tagish, a distance of less than ninety miles. It is generally understood that there are no physical features to hinder the easy construction of such road. Though a little corduroying in a few places, and some side grading, for a short distance, would be found necessary at the base of Hitchcock Mountains.

There is already a road of fifteen or sixteen miles from the Tagish Telegraph station to Little Atlin Lake. At the Tagish River Crossing, a pontoon or could be used to convey passengers and freight, horses and vehicles, over the river, a distance of less than 500 feet. The river is reported to be shallow, with only a moderate current and no boulders.

About one quarter of the road is in British Columbia and the remainder is in the Yukon Territory.

No doubt, Atlin's energetic representatives in Parliament will consider the advisability of laying this matter before their respective governments as being of imperative importance to the mining industry in particular, and to the welfare and prosperity of the public in general.

Reasons for advocating road from Atlin to Y. T. boundry, near north end of Atlin Lake, and thence towards the vicinity of Windy Arm or Caribou;

No 1 That the country in which the road would pass is well mineralized.

2 That the Atlin mining area, under operation is steadily extending northward in close proximity to the Y. T. boundry.

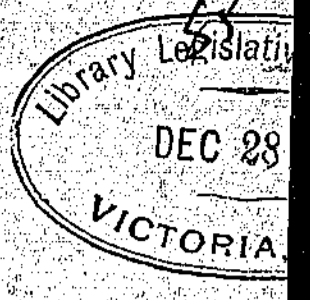

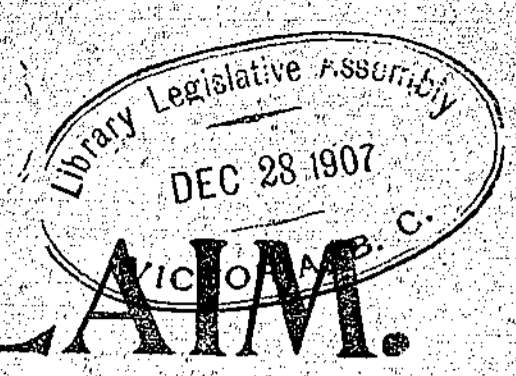

3 That the Topography of the proposed route is of easy grade and favorable for the construction of

W. POLLARD GRANT, MANAGER-DIRECTOR.

Accompanied by the Indian Chief, Taku Jack, we visited the School House, which was opened early last summer in the Indian Village, by the Rev. Father Ollard. We found the Rev. Father superintending the education of eight boy pupils in the miniature but well appointed school room; everything was in order, maps and instructive pictures and black board hanging on the walls, and desks and benches occupied by the pupils studying english. The boys looked clean, cheerful, and intelligent; they average between six and sixteen years of age. To our surprise "six years old" with class book in hand, stood forth, and distinctly spelt and recited a sentence to the effect that "the cow did eat the grass" and then the big boy of sixteen gave a good example of his more advanced learning in the english tongue. All of which is highly creditable to their painstaking teacher. During part of the summer there were 20 children under tuition, but owing to funds being very limited, most of them had to go out in the woods for the winter.

We would observe that Father Ollard for the present is entirely dependent upon local support for the maintenance of the school and board of the pupils. The Atlin Indians belong to the Hlingit tribe, which is a branch of the Taku tribe.

Hlingit, in the native language, is synonymous with Gentlemen in English, and from all we can see and learn the Indian inhabitants of Atlin do not belie their appropriate nomenclature. Chief Taku Jack's knowledge of ancient history extends to the memory that his Grandfather was the proud possessor of a flint-lock-gun, this might account for a period of three generations, just the time it takes to make a Hlingit (gentleman) amongst ourselves. We hope that Father Ollard's Home and School for Indian children will ere long obtain support from the Dominion Government. These Indian children, the representatives of a race which inhabited the country long before the "pale-face" set foot upon its shores call forth the sympathy of their rulers, and not in vain for the Dominion Government protects an Indian population of 108,000; and has established 279 schools for their benefit in different parts of Canada, of this number 104 are conducted by the R. C. Church; 86 by Anglicans; 49 by Methodists; 16 by Presbyterians; and the rest are undenominational. Canada recognises that the Indians have a claim on her; she protects their lands and promotes their welfare, and the reward for her humanity will be amply found in the honest uprearing and civilization of her Indian subjects.

We wish Father Ollard all the success he deserves in his meritorious efforts to guide and educate the promising young Hlingits of Atlin.

QUARTZ MINING

The Lake View Group.

CONTINUED.

A small stream crosses the property and there is sufficient wood on the claims for fuel and mining purposes. Star Mountain and High Ore Claims; Work: various shafts and cuttings; showing extension of veins from the Lake View group.

The Star Group of three claims: The Ledge is 5 ft. wide; strike N. 55 deg. W.; dip, 75 deg. S. W. altitude, 1,800 feet above Surprise Lake; nearly 5,000 feet above sea level, Work: an open drive through country rock, 52 feet long 5 feet wide, to tap the ledge. Tunnelling on vein: 58 ft. long 5 ft. wide and 6½ ft high. Mining: 2,800 cubic feet. Assays from traces of gold to high values in gold and silver.

The country rock is composed of talcosee slates, mineralised slates, argillites and clay slates.

The Aries and Zodiac Claims: No. 1 ledge is 100 feet wide. A surface cross-cut exposes the ledge, a tunnel to tap the ledge at 60 feet level is in the course of construction.

Mining: 1,140 cubic feet No. 2 ledge is 39 feet wide. Surface cuttings expose the ledge. Mining: 2,000 cubic feet. No. 1 and 2 ledges are large bodies of free-milling low-grade ore, with a tendency to increase in value with depth.

The Imperial Mine

The Imperial mine: consisting of four claims, known as Lucky Liver-pool, Paris Exhibition, Nanaimo and the Unknown. The location is on the south side of Monro mountain and lying near the road leading from Atlin City to Pine City. The property is crown granted to the owners. Nearly all developing operations have been confined to the main lode, which appears to traverse the whole extent of the property; its general direction, as indicated by numerous surface outcrops is north-east and south-west. There are other lodes known to exist on the property, which give good prospects. The main vein averages 4ft. in thickness; it is composed of white crystalline quartz, and is matrixed in dioritic and basaltic country rock; the walls are well defined, indicating a true fissure vein. Work: considerable development work has been done on the property and the vein effectually opened up by a series of cross-cut tunnels and exploration levels, thereby fully testing the value of the ore which has also been amply demonstrated by numerous assays and exhaustive mill tests. has been run about 20 ft. intersecting the vein about 20 feet deep. The reef here is rich in gold and gives values of about $100.00 and upwards per ton. From this cross-cut a level has been drifted on the reef about 150 feet, in a south-west direction. About 250 tons of ore have been taken out of this level, giving a result of $8.00 to $20.00 per ton; small specks of gold may be seen in the quartz. No. 2 tunnel has been run under the line of No. 1 tunnel and about 100 ft. lower down the hillside; it intersects the reef at 113 ft. from the mouth. A level has been run on the reef about 40 ft. in a south west direction. The value of the ore where the tunnel cuts the reef, is $32.00 per ton, and as the level proceeds the values increase to $100.00 per ton. On the right side of the tunnel, another level has been extended on the reef about 150 ft. north east. Samples taken from this level assayed $32.00 per ton. A test shipment of two tons demonstrated the gold values to be $25.00 per ton of 2,000 lbs. There are from 2,500 to 3,000 tons of similar ore in sight now ready to be broken down and milled. This mine commands unusual facilities for economical working, and there is ample water power in proximity to the property.

The Big Horn Mine

The Big Horn Claims, named Flying Eagle and Flying Eagle Extension, situated about 30 miles west of Atlin. The owners have built 8 1/2 miles of wagon road to the property. Work; 40 feet of tunnelling on a vein 2 feet wide, and 30 feet of tunnelling on a vein 10 feet wide; also various open drives and cuttings to expose the lodes. An arrastra has been constructed and the values obtained in gold and silver. A dwelling house stands on the property. Assessment work valued at $2,500.

The Rock of Ages Mine

Rock of ages, located on Pine Creek. Work: shaft 60 feet deep, from the bottom of which a cross-cut is driven 7 feet, striking the hanging wall of ledge: a drift, 60 feet, long running down stream on this level, and a drift 30 feet long running up stream on the 30 ft. level. The ledge is 14 feet wide. It is low-grade ore with extremely rich patches. A sample shipment of 3 1/2 tons yielded $49.97 per ton of ore.

The Yellow Jacket.

The Yellow Jacket: property of the N. C. G. M. Co., Ltd. is situated on Pine creek. A considerable amount of prospecting and developing work has been done, including a shaft of about 100 feet in depth. The ore is milled at the mine, by a 5-stamp battery, and very high values in gold have been realized.
