GOLD CREEK & PINE CREEK.

Before leaving the subject of Gold creek the writer must not overlook the extensive workings of Mr. C. W. Small, nor refrain from commending him for the pluck and perseverance which he has shown in the prosecution of development upon his ground. Mr. Small has been on the creek continuously since he acquired his property, nearly two years ago, and the work of development has practically never ceased from that day to this. The early part of last summer was occupied in building a flume, overshot water wheel, pump and hoisting gear, and with washing out the previous winter's dump. At the same time, the work underground was still going on. On Jany. 1st, a flow of water was struck at the extreme end of the main drive, some 175 feet from the shaft, which became so heavy that the shaft and workings had to be abandoned. From this shaft the pay channel had been cross-cut for a distance, north and south, of nearly 250 feet without encountering either rim. Considerably over 500 feet of drifts had been run — all in the pay—so that the loss was a heavy one. A consultation was held with his men as to whether a pumping plant or a new shaft would be the better. The latter course was adopted and a large, double compartment shaft was begun on the 3rd ulto. At the time of the writer's visit this shaft had been sunk 23 feet and a coffer-dam for 18 feet put in. It is learned that bedrock has been reached and drifts being run, with plenty of good pay in sight. Three shifts are working. Mr. Small is to be congratulated on the able and conscientious staff of men he has working for him, and his and their faith in Gold creek deserves the rich reward which the prospects would justify them in expecting. Mr. Small has an interest in the group of leases covering Gold creek and his development work is applied to the assessment work on the group.

With the exception of Messrs. Crichton & Stubblefield and Shafer & Stukey there is but little work being done on the creek below the Small property.

On Pine creek, opposite the mouth of Gold creek and extending down about 3000 feet there is a scene of activity, which reminds one of a hive of bees, but that instead of taking the honey into the hives, the bees are bringing it out!

SATURDAY, FEB., 1st, 1902.

WE are pleased to note that the press of the Western States have at last awakened to the fact that there is an imperative need on the part of the Legislatures of these States to materially alter the laws governing the incorporation of stock companies, more particularly mining companies.

In this connection R. H. Stretch, M. E., wrote a very able letter, appearing in one of the most important mining journals in the States, in which he makes a few suggestions as to what he considers the line of action which should be followed in the revision of laws governing company incorporation, some of these, in brief, are: "1. All stocks should be assessable up to their par value; 2. The incorporation of a company on a mere option should be made a felony; 3. In case a certain amount of stock is set aside as so-called 'Treasury stock,' no sale of the promoters' stock should be valid until all the treasury stock has been sold, and any transfer of the promoters' stock before the latter event, shall be made a misdemeanor punishable by fine proportionate to the amount involved, such fine to go into the treasury of the company; 4. Any misrepresentation of facts in any prospectus shall make the parties issuing such prospectus personally liable to the injured party; 5. Articles of incorporation should state the nature of the title to the property on which the incorporation is founded; 6. Every prospectus or advertisement offering stock for sale, should plainly set forth: (a) the nature of the title; (b) the number of shares, their par value and total par value thereof; (c) the number of shares set apart to the owners of the locations on which title is founded, as purchase money; the number of shares set apart as treasury stock and the number of shares offered at each individual offering as well as the number of shares of such treasury stock sold up to the date of each advertisement."

Many of Mr. Stretch's suggestions could well be incorporated into the B. C. Companies' Act, but our Legislature wisely took action, at the time of the Kootenay stock booming craze, and passed amendments to the then existing Act, which effectually put a check on stock company promoters, so that there is not the urgent need for change in our laws governing the incorporation of joint stock companies as there is in those of our neighbor, especially when companies intend operating in this Province.

MINING IN B. C. IN 1901.

Satisfactory Showing From All Sections.

W. M. Brewer Gives a Few Reasons Why So Few of Our Mines Are Dividend Payers — Some Pertinent Pointers.

In his contribution to the "Engineering and Mining Journal," on the subject of the Mining Industry in 1901, W. M. Brewer, M. E., reports on British Columbia as follows:

"From the standpoint of aggregate production in the Province from the placer and metalliferous, as well as the coal mines the progress during the year 1901 must be considered as satisfactory, because in nearly every mining district there has been an increase in production; but from the standpoint of development of new districts, the progress has apparently not been as satisfactory as those interested would have desired.

"Before considering the conditions in individual mining districts, the writer will call attention to some of the reasons advanced for alleged unsatisfactory conditions of the progress of the mining industry during 1901. The smelter trust in the United States is blamed by the silver-lead miners for their troubles, but the bonus offered by the Dominion Government for refining lead has not been taken advantage of.

"During the past year there has been considerable discussion in the columns of the public press as well as through a memorial sent to the Lieut.-Governor in Council as to the alleged causes for the depression. Adverse legislation, unpopular taxation and labor troubles are considered the prime causes by many of the mining operators, while over-capitalization, mismanagement, and failure to pay dividends have been advanced as the reason by friends of the Government, by labor leaders and some of the editors. In the opinion of the writer, both sides to the discussion are correct to a certain extent, but at the same time, there are other causes which none of the disputants have brought forward; these are:—

"1st. The purchase prices paid for mineral claims by English and Eastern Canadian companies have almost invariably been from 50 to 400 per cent greater than should have been paid.

"2nd. Lack of conservatism by examining experts in measuring and valuing ore in sight.

"3rd. Unrest among the laboring classes, caused by agitation provoked by so-called labor champions amongst the politicians and walking delegates of the labor unions.

"4th. The fact that extensive areas of mineral bearing lands are tied up by being held by men who have either not sufficient confidence in their own country, or sufficient enterprise, or who lack the capital to develop their numerous mineral claims, but yet place such an exhorbitant value on undeveloped prospects that no experienced, conservative operator can consider a proposition to purchase. These mineral lands return comparatively no revenue to the Province.

"5th. The fact that the Province is passing through the same experience as have all older mining communities, and which may be designated as the period of 'teething in infancy,' or that period when heavy conservative operators await the results demonstrated by developments, and the opportunity to acquire properties at their actual value, instead of at the speculative values which have been paid by less experienced and more optimistic operators."

VICTORIA, Jany. 29.—The bye-election in this city, to fill the seat in the Dominion House of Commons, vacated by Col. Prior, has resulted in the election of George Riley, Liberal, over Frank S. Barnard, Conservative, by a majority of 500.

VICTORIA, Jany. 26.—Dunsmuir asks Premier Laurier for a convention with the idea of re-adjusting the ill-balanced Federal-Provincial conditions, arguing that the returns have been inadequate as compared to the revenue received from the Province for the Dominion Treasury.

LONDON, Jany. 26.—Lord Kitchner reports that Commandant Vilonel has surrendered and has raised a commando of 1500 men to assist him in bringing the war to an end and has written Steyn about it.

VANCOUVER, Jany. 26. — The Fishery Commission is described as a frost. The cannery owners are of the opinion that the personel of the Commission makes their appeals for traps useless and they will not attend. The fishermen also absented themselves from the sittings of the Commission and nothing has been accomplished since the first sitting.

VANCOUVER, Jany. 29. — The canners and fishermen tried to formulate a joint arrangement regarding traps for settlement by the Commission, but the two sides could not agree. It is an open secret that traps will be allowed to head off the salmon making for Puget Sound, but it is feared that traps will be given by political preference, both canners and fishermen arguing that traps should go to them.

VANCOUVER, Jany. 26. — The steamer Mainlander, running between Vancouver and Seattle ran ashore at high tide on Saturday morning in a blinding snow storm. The stranded vessel lies on the beach at Sinclair island. The passengers were all landed in safety.

Later.—Jany. 29th.—The Mainlander has been successfully floated and found to have sustained but slight damage.

VANCOUVER, Jany. 27. — The coldest weather experienced here for many years occurred yesterday morning, when the thermometer registered 5 degrees belo zero.

VANCOUVER, Jany. 26.—American newspapers are devoting pages to the approaching visit of the Kaiser's brother, Prince Henry, to the United States to witness the christening of the Kaiser's Royal German yacht, "Alice;" by Alice Roosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt.

NELSON, B. C., Jany. 29.—J. Roderick Robertson, a prominent mining man, was killed by a dynamite explosion at the Park Avenue shaft of the Rapid Transit. The deceased was struck by debris and hurled into the hotel close by.

Gordon Hunter, K. C., on behalf of Harry Helmkin, M. L. A., and others, is asking the Full Court to issue a writ of mandamus against the Provincial Government to show cause why it should not be compelled to issue writs for the the election of a member for Victoria, to fill the seat of the Hon. J. H. Turner, whose retirement took place in August last, and for which election the Speaker of the House had served notice upon the Deputy Provincial Secretary on September 6th last. Owing to the sudden death of Chief Justice McColl the writ was not issued, according to last advices.

According to recent Exchanges the supporters of the Government are circulating a petition to the residents of Cassiar district now in Vancouver and vicinity for signature, praying that Messrs. Stables and Clifford, M.L.A.s be asked to give their support to Premier Dunsmuir when the House meets.

Gold Production in 1901.

In the issue of January 4th of the ENGINEERING & MINING JOURNAL of New York a most interesting account of the metal and mineral production of the world in 1901 is given, which is well worth a careful perusal. In speaking editorially of the gold production of the U. S. the Journal says: "Gold production for the year again recorded a substantial increase and probably reached an amount between $82,000,000 and $83,000,000. The increase came from almost all of our gold producing regions, although Colorado, California and the Black Hills contributed the greater part of it. The development of the far northern regions of Alaska has been impeded by various causes, and the production of that territory shows only a moderate gain. One feature of the year in gold production has been the increased working of low-grade ores and the greater use of the cyanide process. Improvements in treatment, closer working and the reduction in costs of mining and milling have all assisted in improving the position of the gold mining industry. Another feature has been the introduction of an extensive scale of dredging machinery into California for working low-grade placer deposits."

"Canada—Canada, which took the third place among the gold producers a year ago, will not vary very greatly from its production of $28,000,000 in 1900. By far the greater part of this comes, of course, from the Canadian Yukon. Operations in the Klondike and in all of the country which has Dawson for its center, are assuming a more settled character as claims become consolidated under the ownership of companies whose capital and machinery can be brought in to assist in the working. At the same time, the area of gold producing territory is being gradually extended by new discoveries, while improvements in transportation are making it possible to work propositions of comparatively low grade. It is in the last named direction that we must look for the further growth in the Yukon.

"Outside of that territory, Canada's gold output comes from British Columbia on the Pacific Coast, from Western Ontario and from Nova Scotia in the extreme East. In British Columbia, conditions were not altogether favorable, as is shown by the extended report which follows. The Atlin country has produced less than was expected, while financial complications have seriously interfered with the operation of several of the great mines of the Rossland district, such as the Le Roy. In Western Ontario, the production last year was about the same as in 1900, and the same can be said of Nova Scotia."
