VANCOUVER PEOPLE INDIGNANT

Because Brothier, a Vile Monster, Has Been Pardoned.

[SPECIAL TO THE CLAIM.]

Kamloops, B. C., June 7.—The second trial of the train robbers was concluded on Friday evening last. All three men were convicted. Edwards (who was proven to be Bill Miner) and Dunn were each sentenced to life imprisonment, while Colquhoun got a term of 25 years.

Vancouver, B. C., June 7.—Desire Brothier, a Frenchman who was convicted in this city on a charge of "procuring" and sentenced to seven years imprisonment, has been pardoned after seving but two years of his sentence. The greatest indignation is given vent to by the people and the Government's action is being condemned in the strongest manner possible by both press and pulpit of the coast cities for having turned at large so vile and inhuman a monster.

Vancouver, B. C., June 8.—The Attorney General of the Dominion has been asked to effect the re-arrest of Desire Brothier so that he may be put on trial on several other criminal charges. Capt. Tatlow and W. J. Bowser were the Victoria authorities requesting this immediate action.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—President Roosevelt has sent a message to Congress demanding the enactment of thorough regulations for all packing houses and better inspection of all meat products. The report of the commissioners who investigated the conditions in the packing houses of Chicago shows the prevalence of a total indifference to cleanliness and of the daily occurrence of most revolting unsanitary practices.

London, June 7.—The English press is giving much prominence to the present revelations of the American packing house practices and is warning the British consumers to avoid all American products of any kind until such time as most sweeping reforms have been enacted and enforced.

New Orleans, La., June 7.—Word has been received here stating that the town of Duckhill, Mississippi, has been almost totally destroyed by fire. Over eight hundred people are reported to have been rendered homeless and practically destitute.

Vancouver, B. C., June 7.—Letter received by prominent people in this city from San Francisco state that the latest official record shows that fully ten thousand persons are known to have perished as the result of the recent earthquake and fire in that city.

Chief of Police North of this city has been suspended from office on account of the alleged inefficiency of the force under his command.

Odessa, June 7.—The strikers in this city are assuming a most offensive and menacing attitude at present and the authorities fear a repetition of the disturbances and conflagrations of last June. The military and infantry, who are well equipped with machine guns, have been called out.

London, June 8.—Sir Frederick Peele died here this week.

Chicago, June 8.—Yesterday was the warmest day of the year thus far in Chicago, the temperature rising to 91 degrees at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the United States weather bureau. The heat caused the deaths of six persons and the prostrations of several others.

Ottawa, June 8.—Mr. Cinqmars, editorial representative of La Presse in parliament, was brought before the bar of the House yesterday, at the order of Mr. Foster, for an article he had written and sent to his paper. There was much hilarity in the House over what appeared to be a relic of the dark ages. Cinqmars appeared at the bar dressed in a frock coat, plug hat and black gloves and, after giving his name and occupation, he asked for one week in which to consult counsel and prepare defense. This was granted.

The bill re Grand Trunk Pacific Branch Lines progressed before the Railway Committee today but was not passed. As rival roads are obstructing, this discussion has already lasted four days. The branch to Hudson Bay was passed.

St. Paul, June 8.—A special from North Branch, Minn., says a tornado passed about half a mile east of there last night, tearing up trees and doing heavy damage to farm buildings. It is feared that several lives have been lost.

New Orleans, June 8.—A cablegram received here announces that General Castello arrived at Corinto, Nicaragua, yesterday aboard the ship Empire. Castello was one of the leaders of the revolutionary party that invaded Guatemala. His journey is taken to mean the failure of the expedition.

Vancouver, B. C., June 8.—The D. G. S. Quadra arrived this morning from Victoria and laid up at No. 3 wharf. The cruiser was on a special trip with Ex-Lt.-Governor Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere and party.

Madrid, June 8.—Manuel Morales, son of a Barcelona merchant, and who had been identified as the person who threw the bomb at King Alfonso on his wedding day, was arrested at Torrejondeardos on Sunday. After his arrest Morales shot his guard dead and then put a bullet through his own brain. Both the citizens and his own father refused to bury Morales body.

GENERAL NEWS.

It is learned from Madrid that King Alfonso and his bride had a narrower escape from death on their wedding day than was at first supposed. The carriage in which they were riding was entirely demolished. A part of the bomb, which exploded with a terrific detonation, tore away a chain from the king's breast which was holding the decoration of the Order of Santiago. The explosion killed 20 people and injured 60 others. Five of the injured will die. Among the killed were Capt. Barrossa, commanding the king's escort, the Marquis Colosa and daughter, several officers, citizens and soldiers. Two of the horses which were drawing the king's carriage were also killed. The assault was made by anarchists who threw a bomb from the balcony of the only house in Madrid which is owned by the queen-mother. The deadly missile was hurled straight at the king's carriage, and had it not been deflected by a telegraph wire, which it struck in mid-air, it would have fallen at his feet. The explosive fell to the ground near the carriage of Grand Duke Valdimir, the representative of the Russian Emperor, who miraculously escaped uninjured. The king and queen showed the greatest calmness. Immediately the former quietly alighted from the carriage, assisted the queen to do likewise and escorted her to another carriage which was quickly provided for them, and they proceeded to the palace. Neither of them showed the slightest evidence of excitement, though both wept when they reached their apartments. During the excitement in the streets the assassin escaped. Five men were arrested on suspicion but the guilty party was not secured. The people postponed the fetes which were planned for the celebration of the nuptials.

A slight shock of earthquake was felt at San Francisco on June 5th.

The first boat to leave Whitehorse for Dawson this season got away on June 2nd with 100 passengers.

Congressman Adams, of Philadelphia, committed suicide last week by shooting himself in the mouth.

Michael Davitt, the Irish patriot, died in Dublin on May 30th. His last illness was started with a toothache and blood poisoning resulted.

Senator Smoot, of Utah, a polygamist, and Senator Burton, of Kansas, who was recently convicted of a crime, have been expelled from their seats in the U. S. senate.

Late Shanghai despatches state that secret societies are forming an uprising in Yingshan province. The British gunboat Snipe has been ordered along the coast to the scene of trouble.

At Renton, a suburb of Seattle, last week a 15 year old boy named Nelligan was arrested on charges of having criminally assaulted and stabbed to death and buried an 11 year old girl named Millhuff. A later despatch states that it is believed the boy is not guilty.

At a meeting in Seattle last week the directors of the Alaska-Yukon Exposition fixed the dates for the fair at from June 6 to September 30, 1909. The site of the fair has not yet been decided upon.

At Caldwell, Idaho, on June 2nd, the trials of Moyer, Pettibone, Haywood and others, charged with the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg of that state, has been postponed till next December.

A late arrival at Seattle from San Francisco says, besides requiring further assistance to the extent of a million dollars, that it will be five years before the city will be clear of debris and ready to start anew to build up along lines as wonderful as those of the old San Francisco.

When the British battleship Montagu was wrecked in Bristol channel last week her crew was rescued. The Montagu was a first class battleship of 14,000 ton, 19 knots speed, 18,000 horse power engines, and carried 16 guns in her primary battery. She was launched in 1901.

A San Francisco despatch of the 1st inst. said: All building has been discontinued here. The insurance companies are not paying their losses as it was expected they would do. Thousands of workmen have been discharged on account of a lack of funds. No information is available as to the date upon which the claims against the insurance companies will be settled.

On June 1st at La Cananea, Mexica, striking miners attacked and killed 45 Americans at the mines of the Greene Consolidated Copper Mining Co. Col. Greene, the principal owner, escaped. The Mexicans afterwards burned the town to the ground. Troops were sent to the scene of the trouble. The strikers declare that no Americans can work there until they get the wages they ask for.

At Borjon, Caucasia, on May 31, two bombs were hurled at General Alichanoff, Governor of Kutais, as he was boarding a train. He was seriously wounded and several Cossacks were killed. The Cossacks then fired into the crowd which was assembled and killed many persons. Houses which many of the fugitives entered were set on fire and burned to the ground. Alichanoff is regarded as a tyrant.

W. POLLARD GRANT, EDITOR-MANAGER.

Never in the history of this district has such energy in quartz mining been manifest as during the present season. Finds are being continually reported with surface showings rich enough to warrant a man expending all his energy and money in attempting to prove up.

A close study of Mr. Gwyllim's geological map will show formations that in other mining camps have proved rich mineral producers—formations that have made millionaires and builded cities.

Quartz development is exceedingly slow and oft-times—in fact generally—very trying work, full of worries and sometimes disappointments.

To the man of the pick and drill, the man with the small means and heavy pack—stick to it, your time will come—perhaps not this season, but this is not the last. Have nerve and you'll surely win out.

It is a very regrettable fact that with the discovery of new mining fields there is always an abundant crop of law suits. Many arise through the carelessness of the locators of claims failing to comply with the provisions of the mining laws. In British Columbia these laws are fair, simple and easy to comply with and, while one may feel sorry for the unfortunate man who either losses or has a big expensive fight to hold his ground, still he is—in many such cases—often primarily the cause of the trouble. In other cases it is the greed of men to get something for nothing. The safest way to hold mining claims is by Crown Grant. Then the holder is safe. He has title and no sale can be balked by the hold-up man—the usual tactics of jumping. An owner who will Crown Grant his property shows more interest and faith than the man who does not. Crown Grant your claims before you show the other fellow they are worth fighting for.

The citizens of Fernie recently refused to give the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. a ten-year franchise and, as that company own the present water supply and in consequence of said refusal have raised the water rate of the ordinary consumer to $60 a year, the citizens of that town claim to have a kick coming. The Fernie Ledger, in summing up the situation, published the water rates charged in several neighboring towns and cities and took solace in the opinion "that Fernie people pay the highest water rates of any town in the province with the probable exception of Atlin, where it is looked upon as a sin to drink the stuff and the charges in consequence are higher."

While it is possible that either good water or good whisky costs more in Atlin than what is paid for these staple articles of camp life in the coal town, still, Atlin people are not proud of having been held up to the light of the world as the one camp in British Columbia in which it is considered a transgression to drink anything but liquor, and, although we do not desire to sit in judgment on the man who does quill stunts for the Fernie paper we cannot, after reading his self-deducting effusion, but arrive at the general conclusion that the art of burdening himself with countless low grade samples of these two thirst-quenching (or thirst-creating) commodities has played terrible havoc with his mental stearing gear.

The man who has a mountain of ore is the man to let keep the same.

In the world of affairs—trade and politics—very little can be claimed to be done for love of fairness or principle. People are therefore always justified in looking for the motive.

In nature there is always a warning before an attack—though short at times. You always hear the buzz of the bumble bee before the sting—the hiss of the snake before the strike. Man is the exception—strikes first and hisses after.

The man with the "wobbly lamps" who cannot look you in the face when you speak to him is a man to give a wide birth to. If the face is not the external fac simile of the soul, it is at least a good steam guage to the pressure within.

DISARMAMENT.

We have outgrown the helmet and the cuirass,
The spear, the arrow and javelin—
These crude inventions of a cruder age,
When men killed men to show their love of God,
United in this one thought, all war greatest king.
We have outgrown the need of war! Should men
Unite in this one thought, all war would end.
Disarm the world; and let all nations meet
Like men, not monsters, when disputes arise.
When crossed opinions tangle into snarls—
Let courts untie them, and not armies cut.
When state discussions breed dissensions, let
Union and arbitration supersede
The hell-created implements of war.
Disarm the world! and bid destructive thought
Slip like a serpent from the mortal mind
Down through the marshes of oblivion; and soon
A race of gods shall rise! Disarm! Disarm!

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Any man or woman who starts out to better his or her condition by rendering that of another worse, makes the most radical mistake of his or her life.—Exchange.

This looks all right, but is it sound? I would like to ask the writer of the above paragraph how I can better my condition, no matter how little, without rendering the condition of someone else worse. I cannot even take a job, no matter how insignificant, without taking it from someone else. The statistics issued by the governments of North America tell us that there are always over a million and a half persons out of employment all the time. How then can I take a job without keeping someone else out of a job? That's why we have tramps; that's why tramps are inevitable under the system; that's why, as a well known writer has so ably explained, that a tramp is a hero. But shall we all go tramping because of this? We can't all be "heroes" and starve to death. Under the capitalist system none should be blamed for bettering his or her condition when able to do so. If we refuse to better our condition when opportunity offers, and it can only be done at the expense of others, there is but one thing left for us—tramping. A nation of tramps, were such a thing conceivable, could not inaugurate equality.

A Winnipeg gentleman who owns a fine automobile has a servant who is a son of Erin. Paddy has a mangy old nag without pedigree, upon which the master often cracks a joke. One day last week, seeing Paddy carefully rubbing down the disreputable old horse, the master said:

"Patrick, do you know the dam of that horse of yours?"

"I don't, sor," said Pat, slowly, "but be jabers I do know that ca-r-r av your own is dammed by ivery wan afut in the city!"

Missing!

SINCE the 31st of October, a young man about 182 years of age of a very tall complexion, hair straight, curly teeth and yellow eyes. He had on a maccaroni coat trimmed with sawdust, a white slop made of yellow flannel, green calico trousers lined with cod liver oil. Wellington boots laced up behind. He had a barber's pole in one hand and a wooden carpet bag in the other, consisting of a rat trap and a petrified coal heaver, and he was last seen crossing Atlin Lake with his legs tied in a knot and his head under his arm, singing "Au Revoir" through his nose. It appears he met a superannuated body snatcher, who struck him in the stomach with a pork sausage, causing him to have an attack of the collywobbles, and an old lady who witnessed the above outrage was so horrified that she fell down and struck her head against a feather bolster, causing a wound four feet deep, which bled so much that it washed an elephant into a ditch and drowned a dog that wasn't there.

Whoever will give such information to his afflicted parents will be kindly rewarded with a tripe medal. His father earns his living by carrying treacle in a sack, being his only means of subsistence. You can't mistake the above party when you see him, he walks stooping upright, caused through swallowing a young bicycle when he was a baby.

Mr. Ross, who had resided in Atlin for over three and a half years and had made friends by the score, left on Tuesday for his new post and was escorted to the boat by a large numbers of well-wishers who gave him three cheers and a "tiger" when the Scotia left her wharf. A few hours prior to his departure, Mr. Ross was waited on by a number of his friends and presented with a handsome gold watch.

Mining Notes.

High water has not occurred as yet this season on Boulder creek.

Tom Vaughan and Pat Foley are busily engaged pushing development work on their Fourth of July quartz properties.

Mr. H. B. Warren, financial agent for the Northern Mines Ltd., and Mr. G. E. Mitchell, engineer for the company's steam shovel, arrived from Vancouver yesterday.

Jake Christian went to Fourth of July creek this week to commence further development work on three quartz claims in which he holds large interests.

The damage which was caused the early part of last week by a land slide on Spruce on Lambert and Kearns' and adjoining claims has been repaired and sluicing has been resumed.

E. J. de Lamare, manager for the Societe Miniere on Boulder creek, was in town for a few hours Monday and informed us that the operations of his company are proving very successful from both standpoints of yardage of gravel being moved and value of gold obtained.

On Saturday last an earth slide caused some damage to that portion of the ditch of the Spruce Creek Power Co. which is directly opposite the pit of the Northern Mines Ltd. The slide was from the hillside above the ditch, which was completely filled for several yards. It was indeed fortunate for the Northern Mines Ltd. that the water was not flowing through the ditch when the slide occurred, for had such been the case the company's pit would have been washed full of gravel from the sidehill, thereby causing tremenduous damage and delay of operations.

The Amalgamated McKee Hydraulic Co., S. H. Plumbe manager, had their first clean-up of the season on Monday, when from 40 feet of their 50 odd feet of riffles they obtained 433 ounces of gold, netting close on $7,000 for a 17 days' run. Piping was commenced 10 days earlier than last season and, with a judicious use of powder both for bull-dozing and in drifts, a large yardage of gravel has been moved with most satisfactory results. As operations were somewhat hampered by some difficulty with tailings at the opening of the season, the manger is well satisfied with the first clean-up of '06 and is confident that his company will score another successful season's output.
