FRESHMAN DROWNED.

Fitz Will Fight O'Brien for World's Championship.

A MURDERER KILLED AT FRISCO.

Fell Down Stairs--Odessa's Many Riot Victims--American Missionaries Massacred in China--Revolution at Rio de Janeiro.

(SPECIAL TO THE CLAIM.)

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The body of Miss Emily Insign, who was in the freshman class in Vassar College in this city, was found in the lake here today. It has been learned that she took an overdose of headache powders and white delirious wandered into the lake and drowned.

New York, Nov. 9.—Ex-heavyweight champion Bob Fitzsimmons has been matched to fight "Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien. The fight, which will be pulled off at San Francisco some time in December, will be for 20 rounds or more and, according to articles, will be for the world's heavyweight championship. Forfeits of $2,500 will be posted by each of the principals on the 25th of November.

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—Milton Andrews, the man who murdered Miss Bessie Boulton, was today shot and killed in this city by Nulda Olivia, who immediately fired a bullet into his own head and died instantly.

New Westminster, Nov. 9.—Mr. C. B. Tait, a prominent man of this city, fell down stairs at his home today and was instantly killed.

London, Nov. 9.—Vaughan Morgan, who for many years has been an alderman in the city and a director of the Hudson's Bay company, has been elected lord mayor of London.

Odessa, Nov. 9.—The killed and wounded in the recent riots in this city will greatly exceed ten thousand, and over two thousand wounded being attended to in local hospitals. While the mobs were engaged in slaughtering each other the police and soldiers busied themselves in pillaging houses for cash and valuables. For two days in the Jewish quarters the streets were literally strewn with dead bodies, Jews being shot down faster than the dead and wounded could be removed. The military authorities placed about 100 machine guns at various points and revolutionists were mowed down in large numbers but the depleted ranks were quickly reinforced. The rioters were practically blood-crazed and swore that not a Jew would be left alive. It is claimed that the police and soldiery secretly incited the mobs to riot. Conditions are better at present but for how long nobody can say.

London, Nov. 9.—Over one million unemployed people waited on Premier Balfour today and demanded work.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—It is estimated here that the government will get fully 18 out of the 25 seats in today's Alberta elections.

Batoum, Nov. 10.—There was 17 hours fighting at Nasakoirali on Tuesday between the rioters and Cossacks, and 105 Cossacks were killed. A large number of rioters were killed and wounded.

Hong Kong, Nov. 10.—The anti-American feeling is growing extremely intense. American Consul May of this city has received an anonymous letter threatening his life if the imprisoned boycotters are not released.

New York, Nov. 10.—Geo. B. McLellan has been elected mayor of "Greater" New York by a small majority. W. R. Hearst will contest McLellan's election and it is claimed that over 40,000 fraudulent votes were cast.

Hong Kong, Nov. 10.—Rev. Dr. Macle, the American missionary, confirms the recently reported massacre of missionaries at Lien Chow and gives horrifying details of the atrocities committed on American women. Miss Chestnut, and Mrs. Macle and her daughter were stripped of every particle of clothing and exposed to the view of the crowds, after which they were thrown into a river where the Chinese fishermen speared them. Mr. and Mrs. Peale were also stripped and exposed and then clubbed to death.

New York, Nov. 10.—The visiting squadron of Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg, consisting of six armored cruisers, passed in through Sandy Hook yesterday morning. The prince, who was the bearer of a personal message of good will to the president from King Edward, had previously been received at Washington by President and Mrs. Roosevelt. The officers of the British squadron are being entertained on a big scale by the Army and Navy club.

Bombay, Nov. 10.—The Prince and Princess of Wales arrived here yesterday and were tendered an enthusiastic reception.

New York, Nov. 10.—Word has just been received here that a revolution has broken out at Rio de Janeiro against the Brazilian government.

The Ottawa department of militia has been advised by the home war office that the control of the Halifax garrison will be handed over to the Canadian authorities on the 15th of November.

The Hon. Mr. Fielding, minister of finance, stated at Ottawa last week that the tariff will be changed at the coming session of the Dominion parliament which will, therefore, be a lengthy one.

A London despatch says that Colonel Sir Claude MacDonald has been appointed British ambassador to Japan. Sir Claude is considered the greatest living authority on Japanese and Chinese affairs.

At New Westminster on Nov. 2nd Miss Johnston, correspondent of a Seattle paper, was requested by the chief justice to attend court and explain a statement made by her in her correspondence, and which...

chief of police claimed to be a personal reflection. The young woman refused to go to court and sent word to his worship that he could call at her office if he desired to see her.

J. Lorne McDougall, late auditor-general of the Dominion, published a three column letter to Hon. A. B. Aylesworth asking him if he could honestly enter the cabinet without first having the audit act amended.

At Peterhoff last week a company of reservists refused to fire on a crowd of demonstrators when ordered to do so. Enraged at the action of their troops, the officers emptied their revolvers into the mob and killed and wounded many people.

Prof. Prince, chairman of the Canadian fisheries commission and recognized as one of the best authorities on fish in the world, will attend the meeting of the International fisheries commission which takes place in Seattle this month.

The dead and mangled body of Mrs. Margaret Todd, a 76 year old widow who was worth $1,000,000, was found on a railway track near Philadelphia on the night of Nov. 1st. Foul play is claimed and a prominent society leader is suspected of connection with the death of the woman.

A Belleville despatch says that the last of the famous bogus ballot box cases was disposed of on Nov. 2nd, when Police Magistrate Samuel Harrett, of Bancroft, was found not guilty of conspiracy. Harrett, however, has been dismissed from his position on account of the unfairness and prejudice shown in his decisions.

Recently at St. Petersburg a deputation of strikers called on Premier Witte, who informed them that some of their demands would be granted but that others were impossible. He warned the strikers that continuation of the strike will result in both bloodshed and famine, compelling military interference. The mob howled him down and refused to hear him further.

In a recent speech in Berlin Emperor William said: "Our sincere endeavors to convince the world of our readiness for peace have failed. Let us in future not trouble ourselves over standers, but go straight ahead, our aim being to strengthen our commerce and political equipment. With them we trust that we alone, or in company with friends who are honorable friends, need not fear the whole world in arms."

An uncensored despatch received in Paris from St. Petersburg says that proclamations from the revolutionists have been scattered broadcast throughout all the larger cities of Russia calling on the common people to keep up the fight and to not be fooled and deceived by any promises that the czar may make about bettering the conditions of the future. The late manifesto is characterized as a bluff to urge the people to suspend hostilities until the authorities can once more get the upper hand of them, after which oppression and coercion would be more severe than ever.

VOLCANIC CREEK ROAD.

The Atlin District is troubled with many drawbacks, but there are also many good things to offset these. We must be thankful for our beautiful weather, and particularly so this fall as it has enabled the men who were working on the Volcanic road to practically complete their work.

Among the other advantages with which we are blessed is the hopeful spirit with which our old-timers tackle any job that promises development of the camp. It was like a summer breeze to meet the Volcanic creek boys, headed by the genial and smiling Tom Hanna, and to listen to their description of the country lying between Atlin and Volcanic creek.

The gang started work on the road some four weeks ago with a promise to put it through. It was, on the face of it, a large contract they had undertaken, particularly at this season, but they report a practical completion of the work.

Starting from Lake Como, they divided the gang, one party working from Volcanic creek to Atlin. The distance covered is eighteen miles. The country is swampy, interspersed with hummocks, and required a great deal of grading. Seventeen hundred feet of grading was completed on the upper end alone, but the work was mostly ditching, corduroy, and swamping out. The road built runs from Lake Como to Volcanic creek. A wagon can be driven from Discovery to Volcanic and one mile up the creek. In the spring connection will be made with Atlin.

The district is to be congratulated on having such men as Hanna, Cartmel, Gilmour and O'Neill, who, in the face of difficulties almost insurmountable, took hold of the placer and quartz in the Volcanic district last spring.

On Volcanic creek Hanna and partners during last summer sank over forty-five feet with the crudest kind of appliances and with no encouragement until they reached the bottom of the shaft. They sank through a barren granite wash, feeling satisfied that the pay was below. At forty-eight feet they struck pay dirt that went seventy-five cents to the pan. The home made pumps could not handle the water, about seven thousand gallons an hour, and cold weather setting in, the next question—now that the value of the ground had been established—was to build a road to enable them to take in a steam plant. They tackled the road with the same indomitable spirit and, after interviewing our member, Dr. Young, and the government agent, both of whom gave every assistance, the road is an accomplished fact.

The road opens up the rich quartz section held by Hanna, Pyman, O'Neill and partners. Some ten thousand dollars worth of development work has already been done on these claims and next week it is intended to send a trial shipment to the smelter. Judging from the surface showings and from the result of the work done there is no doubt but that we have as rich a proposition right at our door as they have at Windy Arid. All it requires now is the investment of a small amount of capital to prosecute development work. A large body of ore that runs 350 ounces of silver to the ton and averages, for shipment, in all values $60 to $70 a ton is not going to lie dormant. We look for good work during 1906.

Atlin is alright and it only requires, on everyone's part, such a pull together as the boys have shown to make things hum.

We are much pleased to publish in this issue a short article from Mrs. Dr. Young on the Atlin and Discovery school exhibits at the New Westminster fair, and we may well feel proud of the showing the sturdy youngsters of Atlin have made. We think the knowledge of British Columbia geography displayed by the reporter who wrote up the educational exhibits and used the expression, "Even from Atlin, which is four or five hundred miles from the educational centre of the province," might be greatly improved by a course in our schools.

The celestial boycott doesn't look a bit heavenly to the Americans.

The complete assimilation of the Filipinos and the finishing of the Panama canal may be expected to happen about the same time.

Men are always boasting of how they admire women who dress quietly and plainly, but there isn't one who will not stretch his neck when a giddy thing in high heels and a brass band color combination comes down the street.

The School Exhibit

Of Atlin District at the New Westminster Exhibition.

A few weeks ago at the Atlin and Discovery schools many little faces were bent earnestly over sheets of paper while the fingers guided a pen across the lines. Why such pains? Because these papers were going to New Westminster there to be exhibited alongside of those from all parts of British Columbia.

The very creditable exhibit of work prepared by the schools of the Atlin district for the Westminster exhibition served to show those visiting the fair that there were educational facilities in the north. But, also, it demonstrated to the Department of Education that, while no inspector has ever visited the schools, yet that the teachers are faithful in the performance of their duties and that the pupils are making fair progress. And this is not the first evidence of their proficiency. Last year two candidates were prepared in Atlin for the high school entrance examination, and both passed. Let us hope that this year there may be more candidates and that they may have similar success.

The exhibit comprised specimens of writing, spelling, composition, arithmetic, grammar, geography, drawing, history, hygiene and sewing. Every pupil, whether of primary, junior, intermediate or senior grade, contributed something. That the work compared well with that from other parts of the province seems obvious from the many illusions made to it in the New Westminster Columbian. Indeed, outside of the cities, Atlin receives the lion's share of attention. In recognition of their merit both Atlin and Discovery received diplomas.

Extracts from the Columbian:

Victoria and New Westminster are well represented in every department; and even Atlin contributes its share. "Animals found in Atlin" testify that in Atlin also artists are to be found.

After this walk round the fancy work department, I sauntered down one of the long aisles of the children's school exhibit and brought up before Discovery, Atlin district. The exhibit is small but fair of its kind. Maps and pencil work, Jessie Anderson, Harry Bruce pencil subjects. When the next exhibition takes place in New Westminster, Discovery will perhaps have grown large enough to hold its own with many places showing larger exhibits at this present fair.

FROM A NEW DISTRICT.

The Atlin show comes next; Atlin the gold region, the place which a few years ago was a wilderness. Conspicuous is the display of the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes done in bright colors. It seems to be very appropriate. The pupils show nature work, illustrated by pencil sketches of local animals.

Atlin also has a school exhibit, headed with a painting called "The Arctic Brotherhood," two flags, American and British ensigns, a shovel and pick, "No Boundary Line Here" is the motto, the very good work of Bertha Doelker. The animals found in Atlin district illustrated in pencil are not very numerous and the exhibit a small one. The school is small also, as photo shows.

The Vancouver World said: Atlin sends down a small exhibit just to let the good people of the south know that they are still in the land of the living. A part of Atlin's display consists of a number of envelopes addressed by the pupils of the Atlin school. Inspector D. Wilson, B. A., of Vancouver, happened to be passing as the World man was examining this display. "Ah," said Mr. Wilson, "you will observe that those envelopes are addressed to various distinguished men of this province. Here is the Hon. Richard McBride, you see, and Mr. W. L. McInnes,—ah, yes,—and Mr. D. Wilson, that's we."

Washing Day "Blue."

One day a minister's wife engaged a new servant. The girl was very friendly with a constable and one day she invited him to come round and see her. She went and fetched him some beer, biscuits and cheese, and just then a voice called out, "Mary, have you started to wash yet?" Mary: "Yes." "What are you doing now?" "Oh, I am just filling up the copper!"
