

THE ATLIN CLAIM

VOL. 26. ATLIN, B. C., SATURDAY, SEPT. 14, 1907. NO. 427

TELEGRAPHIC.

A Budget of Interesting News From Many Quarters.

(SPECIAL TO THE CLAIM.)

Bellingham, Sept. 13.—Several hundred undesirable Sikhs have been driven out by irate citizens. They have returned to Vancouver. The British consul at Seattle has been ordered to make an investigation of the affair.

Washington, D.C., Sept. 13.—A party of Japanese explorers have hoisted their national flag over the Island of Pratas, which lies about 120 miles off the Philippines. This will furnish Japan with an admirable naval base.

Montreal, Sept. 13.—The premier and several of the members visited the scene of the Quebec bridge disaster. The premier was deeply moved. The government will hold the Phoenixville Bridge Company fully liable and will insist on them making good all loss and rebuilding the bridge.

Frankfort, N. D., Sept. 13.—The James River Bank was dynamited and robbed of $8,000, and the town was held up and one man shot by the robbers, who escaped on a hand car with their booty.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 13.—The State Bank here was dynamited and robbed of $13,000. This is the fourth bank that has been robbed within the last ten days.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—The United States won the Palma Trophy with a score of 1,712, Canada 1,671, Australia 1,653, Great Britain 1,580.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—Joe Gans was given the decision in the fifth round over Britt, who broke his wrist in the last round. Gans showed himself the better man though Britt made a plucky fight up to the time of the accident. Ten thousand people witnessed the mill. At no time did the contest lag.

Montreal, Sept. 13.—The Shamrock lacrosse team of Montreal defeated the Capitals of Ottawa, by a score of eight to two.

Braila, Roumania, Sept. 13.—There were eighty Jews killed in anti Jew riots at Kishinev a few days ago.

Bellingham, Sept. 13.—A mass meeting of the Oriental Exclusion League has been called for next Sunday. There is manifest a stubborn determination on the part of the people to exclude any and all orientals. The mayor has ordered that all the saloons be closed, and as an extra precaution has sworn in 250 deputies. The Japanese are buying guns and up to the present there are 300 of them armed.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—A party of union men laid in ambush for a crowd of non-union car drivers and strike-breakers. They fired into the bunch killing one man and badly wounding several others. No arrests were made as the union men made escape before the police came on the scene.

Vancouver Citizens Up in Arms.

1,165 More Japs Arrive.

Vancouver, Sept. 13.—The Japanese consul here demands that the militia be called out to protect the lives and property of the Japanese residents. There was an unsuccessful attempt made to burn down the Japanese school house. Large shipments of rifles from Westminster sent to the Chinese of this place have been seized by the police.

Vancouver, Sept. 13.—There was a big anti-Asiatic parade held here last Saturday night which terminated in two night's fierce rioting.

The fight was started by some hoodlums hurling stones through the windows in Chinatown. The streets were thronged at the time and the police were unable to control the crowd. Every pane of glass in Chinatown was broken and many thousands of dollars damage done to property.

The crowd increased to several thousand and then headed for the Japanese quarter on Powell street, where similar scenes were enacted. The Japanese, however, were armed with guns, knives and clubs and gave the crowd a warm reception. Fierce hand to hand conflicts took place and many people were severely injured. The police arrested quite a few of the rioters after the disturbance had quieted down.

The Japanese and Chinese purchased all the firearms that could be obtained before the stores were ordered to stop the sale of such goods.

There is a feeling of suppressed excitement throughout the city and more trouble is expected. All the Chinese and Japanese have ceased work. Telegrams are pouring into Ottawa demanding the immediate cessation of the Asiatic immigration. The English press has taken up the matter and say that the Asiatic question must be settled, and that very quickly.

Vancouver, Sept. 13.—On Wednesday the steamer Montague arrived here with 1,165 more Asiatics. There was the most intense excitement and a large crowd gathered at the wharf but no demonstration was made, instead a subscription was started with the intention of chartering a special train and sending the new arrivals on through to Ottawa. This move, it is thought, may bring the matter of Asiatic invasion more forcibly to the attention of the people of the East.

Jack Gorwan has been taking a series of vapor baths to reduce his weight. He carries it fairly well but once or twice lately he had all he could do. Charlie Glave is in attendance.

C. E. Wyan-Johnson was a passenger in on Friday's boat, remaining till Tuesday. It is Mr. Johnson's intention to carry on the work of the development of the Beavis property. He will reside in Atlin the coming winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw, with the Salvation Army, while in the camp collected about $250 for the Children's Rescue Homes at Vancouver and Port Simpson.

Jack Kirkland, who arrived in town Friday, has again secured, so it is reported, the mail contract, and will likely handle the mail between Telegraph Creek and Atlin during the winter months the trail is impassible on the Stickeen.

Ich habe ein Pferd verloren. Hat jemand es gefunden?—On Tuesday evening last the brewery horse came home without a driver, full of 'empties,' such a nonsense, the wagon was full and so was—but, never mind, the horse was empty, that's why he came home. Donnervetter! the driver had to walk home and the night was dark like one black cat, and the road was narrow here and wide there, sometimes not quite wide enough. The swamp proved a little difficult to negotiate, slippery poles and narrow at that, but the water is only about knee deep after all. Just what time home was reached has not been divulged, but it must have been after midnight. What is the reason of this? Mr. T. Obalski, who happened to be in Discovery the same afternoon, left for Boulder creek as the shades of evening were drawing in. In crossing the bridge just past the dam at Surprise lake the buggy turned turtle throwing out the two occupants. Other than a bad shaking up and a few slight bruises nothing serious happened. Perhaps the most severe loss was the breaking of half-a-dozen bottles of the very best brands and smashing of four boxes of good smokes.—Such a business.

Spruce Creek Murmurings.

Coming events cast their shadows before them, and the roseate hue of the autumnal tints which our banks are now assuming appear to be prophetic of the colour the sons of Spruce creek will shortly be painting the coast cities. Most of us hope, this winter, to sojourn in that promised land, a land flowing with the 5c. schooner and the clam, where a breakfast may be obtained for a dime—when we go broke, the natural sequence to an artistic temperament. Of course, we are not going because we want to, or that we do not realize we shall be glad to get back, but our friends begin to think we can't.

Tom White and Paul Kruger were on a hunting trip last week. They slept two nights in the rain and got two bitter balls. Paul says they could have done better had they bayonets fixed to their shooting irons. Tom has now gone to Pike river in search of further prey, but he has left his gun at home taking instead a sack of salt and a club.

Men who are not above using a pick and shovel ten hours a day for $5.50 can get all the work they want on Spruce. Those employing men apologise for not paying more, but it's Pillman's fault, he won't board them for nothing.

P. Foley has gone to the Fourth of July to do assessment work. Those who have heard of the 'romance of the coffee pot' will understand.

We beg to contradict the report that our most prominent storekeeper had eloped with an arboreal nymph.

To Go or Not To Go.

These nippy mornings makes a fellow wish he had not been so prodigal with his summer's earnings. The winter's grub-stake has to be negotiated somehow.

The question agitating the minds of a great many at present is: Whether to go out for the winter or stay in camp. Whether 'tis better to go below and 'blow-in' the savings, having a so-called good time, and come back in the spring either stoney broke or so badly bent it almost amounts to the same thing; or to stay in and take a chance drifting, else out in the woods trapping or cutting wood.

If next season will be anything like the present one, and there is no reason why it should not be so, there will be plenty of work for all the men who are in camp or who may come in next spring.

A writer says: "A bright, sunny disposition is one of the best umbrellas in this vale of tears." How true this is. There are some characters who carry their wealth with them, who are rich without money. They do not need palatial homes or a large bank account. They are welcome everywhere because they have that which money cannot buy—a genial, helpful, sunny, cheerful disposition. Of course, everybody wants them, because it is a joy to be with them. Everybody loves the sunshine and detests the shadows and the gloom. There is no bank account that can balance a sweet, gracious personality; no material wealth can match a sunny heart, an ability to radiate helpfulness and sweetness. How a hand on the shoulder and a warm clasp brushes aside the loneliness and the heartache. We are susceptible to the influence, though at times we are morose enough almost to not to acknowledge it. But the most confirmed pessimist will be influenced by the continuous presence of a gladsome disposition. But such graces and charms never live with selfishness or self-seeking. It is the people who have something to give, not those who are trying to get something, who are wanted everywhere.

Canada's Subscription.

Very few people have any idea of the amount of money the Dominion subscribes towards the naval defence. In a letter to the London Times, Lieut.-General J. Whiburn Laurie makes the following statement: "As well as the £31,000 furnished for Halifax, and the £27,000 for Esquimaux, the Canadian government, in undertaking to furnish garrisons and to maintain these ports, have relieved the army funds, and therefore the home taxpayer, of a sum actually larger than the contribution announced as made by Australia. Maintenance of naval bases is as important to the navy as ships or men, and Canada at present thus furnishes her contribution, and as she continues her consolidation, by uniting with her all other British communities in North America and the West Indies, many of us hope that she may assume similar responsibilities throughout that part of the Empire."

American Citizenship Law.

A correspondent writes: "An important law has just become operative in the United States which effects all citizens of that country residing abroad. It provides that a naturalized citizen who leaves the country and dwells elsewhere continuously for five years shall be presumed to have abandoned his citizenship. It also provides that an American woman who has married a foreigner may regain her citizenship upon the termination of the marital relation. The new law has been rendered necessary by the number of Europeans who become American citizens, and then return to live in Europe. It is said that 15,000 German-American residents abroad are affected by the Act, and afraid they will not be able to satisfy the American officers of their being bona fide citizens. In Paris 10,000 persons are said to be affected, and in London 8,000, whilst a surprisingly large number are found in Russia, Turkey and the Southern European countries. The law provides that certificates of nativity shall be issued to all American born citizens living outside the United States, stating where they were born, their place of residence, and how long they expect to live abroad, and also their occupation. American boys living abroad, when eighteen years old, must register, declaring their intention of becoming citizens, and at the age of twenty-one they are to take the oath of allegiance. All Americans living abroad must register with a consular officer at least once a year."—London Times.

Depraved Taste of Society Women.

Kindness to brutes is one thing; exalting them to the brotherhood of man is quite another; and where money is lavished upon them in life and death, which the creatures neither appreciate nor enjoy, to the neglect of suffering humanity, such kindness and devotion becomes positively cruel, not to say disgusting. Many is the 'society' woman who would not be seen caring for her own children, who voluntarily acts as nurse-maid and lady-in-waiting to some wretched canine, with the same devotion that the ancient Egyptian followed the sacred bull Apis. Just recently, cable despatches tell us, that London 'society' ladies have adopted a New York fad—that of taking one's pet dog out to dine. Some women, it is said, go so far as to refuse invitations to dinner when the honor is not extended to the canine pet. The despatch says:

"The intrusion of dogs in the dining room is a source of much embarrassment to the butler and footmen, while everybody who is not a devoted dog-worshipper scrupulously avoids houses where the four-footed guests are allowed at table."

We think we should adopt the poet's sentiment:

"Wilt with me abide?
Leave thy dog outside."

Following the law of gravitation in the mental and moral world, things and minds sooner or later find their level. Yet many of these 'society' women have no more useful work to do. They could find, most of them, doubtless, enough of it among the children of the poor in the very shadow of their own houses.

Just recently a dog was buried in a fine grave and a monument erected to his memory. Another dog was buried at sea with the American flag wrapt round him. A pacing mare was buried with elaborate ceremonies, according to the Louisville Times, and "a burial service was read over her by a clergyman of the Methodist Episcopal Church." The pacing mare won $2,500, it is said, and this was given to the M. E. Church Home Mission Board. The wretched morals and gambling of the race track exalted with the poor, innocent mare. All these brutes may have been more worthy or less unworthy than many humans, but that does not touch the case. The man who makes himself a brute is capable of more, he has within himself the glorious possibilities of God's promises. Low as he may be, he should be regarded above a brute. Then what shall we say to brute worship?—The Sign of the Times.

A Gloomy Prophet.

A traveller through the United States predicts trouble and distress for that country before very long. We are inclined to think this particular chap is a bit of a croaker, and maybe his spectacles were not properly dusted. This is the finding: "There were two things quite manifest; first, the demoralization of all railway traffic and transportation. We have ridden over several great railway lines, over many miles, in many trains, but we recall but one or two trains which were not late, some so late as to lose their place in the schedule and be cut out for the next regular train. Then we have missed several important connections. The great roads centreing in Illinois are needing thousands of men to operate the roads as they should be operated, and are putting many thousands of dollars into a school for the purpose of educating men for the railway service."

The writer goes on with his complaints about things in general. Surely he did not enjoy his ride. "The second observable feature of note was the universal lateness and more than frequent lightness of the crops. The season is about a month behind is what we are told everywhere. The fruit and hay crop will not reach fifty per cent of the general average in the sections where it is best, and in many places there is none at all. Some fruit growers in New York are confidently looking for five dollars a barrel for apples and pears, and it looks as though they would get it. The old earth is, in the language of Holy Writ, waxing old like a garment, and the aberrant seasons may be expected more and more."

An individual is not, as a rule, likely to get very reliable statistics while making a journey across the continent on a second-class passenger train. Too much credence should not be placed in more or less haphazard opinions.

Wednesday evening's sunset was one of the most beautiful pictures the people of Atlin have ever been fortunate to gaze upon, and the aurora borealis of the evening before was a most magnificent sight.
