STEVENDYKE.

Careful Prospecting Proves Existence of 'Yellow Channel'.

Results Warrant the Putting in of A Plant on the Property Next Season.

We learn that the Stevendyke Partnership who have done some very considerable development work this season on their property, have every reason to believe they have reached the goal which they have for the last three years been making for; to prove the existence and continuance of the now famed "yellow channel" through their property.

Last season by a long open cut, running up the Stevendyke Gulch, paralleling Pine Creek, the north rim was cut through, and the expected channel found in place, but owing to the depth, it was found that the ground could not be worked by ordinary sluicing without extending a drain ditch 1000 feet lower down the gulch. Elevations proved that by bringing up a cut in a southerly direction from 5 to 6 feet of the pay might be exposed.

To this end the season's work has been devoted, with the result that on Friday last the pay was again encountered higher up the gulch.

The partners of this company are strongly to be commended upon the cautious manner in which they have endeavoured to prove the value of their ground, and though it has taken practically three years to make a showing, it must be a matter of extreme satisfaction to know that they have a property which will eventually be second to none in the camp. The intention of the partners from the first has been to make the ground pay for its own development, but although circumstances compelled this good intention to be broken, yet "money in sight" and the climax of this season's development will amply justify the owners in installing an up to date plant upon the ground in the very near future.

Messrs. Weir and Lees have stayed by their guns and have had many hard rubs, but they richly deserve the Golden harvest there is no doubt in store for them.

Minor Accidents.

D. Todd Lees of the Stevendyke Co., met with a painful accident last Saturday afternoon.

The thumb of his left hand was almost severed with an axe, but it is not thought he will lose that useful member.

Surveyor E. C. Wilkinson while surveying near Surprise Lake Thursday of last week, received a severe wound on his leg, caused by his axe glancing from brush he was chopping. He will be confined to his house for some days.

SUNRISE Co.

Now Working on Bed-rock With Splendid Results.

Old Auriferous Channel Exposed and Pay Streak Showing up Very Rich.

It is gratifying to learn, although the information is indirect, that the Sunrise Co. in piping on their property, locally known as the Sabin ground, have proved the claim rich beyond expectations.

As was reported some weeks ago the famed yellow channel was exposed and a large face opened up; since then work has been prosecuted steadily with the result, as we are advised, that the channel proper of the old auriferous run is now uncovered and bedrock proving unusually rich.

On Discovery pit the Company has made another clean up and the result not only equalled, but for the area washed excelled all previous clean-ups to date.

During the past season a good part of the shallow ground was worked out, but sufficient ground remains to keep the monitors busy for at least two more years on the old Discovery claim.

Until the final close down for the year of the Sunrise Co. we hope to hear of the continuance of the good prospects now reported.

SOCIETE MINIERE.

Frost Likely to Force Company to Cease Sluicing Operations Next Week.

Work continues actively on the Societe Miniere Property on Boulder Creek but it is anticipated that owing to the recent frosts sluicing will be discontinued next week.

The return continues to be exceptionally good and this week 240 oz were brought down, and there is more to come.

Mr. Maluin the Company's manager will probably go to Paris very shortly to report to the Directors, leaving Mr. Fall in charge of the winter work which as we mentioned in a previous number will be prosecuted all winter with a large gang of men.

We hope to give in our next issue a resume of the years operation by this company which is certainly one of the most popular here.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1902.

The Board of trade from year to year has been agitating the amendment of the Medical Act, so that in outlying districts such as ours, all graduates of the Colleges of the United Kingdom and Canada be allowed to practise their profession without going through the formality of passing an examination in this Province.

While the Government did appoint a salaried Medical officer for the district as requested by the community, that officer is now absent from the camp, and with the winter coming on and our only practising medical man, Dr. Young, who by the way is not a B. C. graduate, is going out for the winter; some steps should be instantly taken to provide Atlin with a good doctor and surgeon.

We think that the Government should take the necessary steps, as advanced by our local Board of Trade, for allowing all duly qualified graduates, both of Great Britain and her colonies to practise in this province, and that, in outlying districts such as this, to receive the Government subsidy. Doubtless there are other districts besides this, where such an arrangement would be advantageous.

In a country where the population is so scattered and the distances from the principal cities so large as in B. C., everything possible should be done to provide the inhabitants with adequate medical attendance, even if some slight alteration in existing laws should have to be made.

Immediate action is necessary on the part of the authorities, and we hope that they will not wait until deaths occur through want of skilled assistance in order to force them to make the appointment of a medical man, who should be resident in the District, and if removed or resigned should be replaced at once.

A PIONEER.

Mr. McKee Fits Out an Expedition.

Gone to Make New Discoveries—A Prospector Atlin Can be Proud of.

Mr. McKee, our old pioneer, has gone in a South Easterly direction to make a new discovery; he took with him a complete outfit and sufficient provisions for himself and three men he engaged to accompany him, to last seven months; he also took seven horses and a good dog team.

A little resume of Mr. McKee's history will not be out of place; his energy, perseverance and enterprise have certainly won for him the good will and admiration of the entire community.

In '98 he discovered McKee Creek, on which he installed a small hydraulic plant, taking out 400 ounces with his small nozzle; realising that it demanded much larger capital than he could command to work the Creek profitably, he sold out to the Nimrod Syndicate, who formed the Atlin Mining Co., now probably the most successful company operating in the camp.

After disposing of his property, he went on a prospecting tour in the far North, spending a large sum of money in the vicinity of Nome as well as at several points on the Northern coast. Meeting with no success he returned to Victoria where he undertook to prospect and develop a property near there, which not proving satisfactory decided him to return to Atlin a poorer but wiser man, and he since has frequently stated that Atlin was the best camp he had seen in all his wanderings.

On his return to Atlin he took a lay on a portion of his old property on McKee Creek, and there made a big success taking out considerable money, every cent of which he expended right in Atlin fitting out for his present venture.

It is to such men as Mr. McKee that Atlin owes its existence and too much cannot be said in his praise; we wish him all the success his energy, faith and enterprise merit, and hope soon to be able to publish the news that he has struck it rich.

STRANGE DOINGS.

An Atlin Miner Weds and Suicides.

Peculiar Report of Strange Behavior of Charles B. Rabson, of Spruce Creek.

The following is taken from one of our recent exchanges:

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 15.—Miss Stephens, of Saginaw, was united in marriage in this city on Friday evening to Charles B. Rabson, of Atlin, B. C.

At 3 o" clock Sunday morning, Rabson awakened his bride and asked her to light a lamp. He acted strangely, and said she had revolutionised him, and said that she must go with him at once to Rev. Gallager, who performed the wedding, and tell him about it. Mrs. Rabson wanted to dress, but her husband compelled her to go in her night dress. She finally broke away from him and escaped. Rabson then went to the river, and, walking in, swam across. The bridge-tender offered him assistance which was declined. When the bridge-tender returned with a rope Rabson had disappeared. The officers dragged the river all day, without result. Rabson is said to have had a large sum of money with him in currency and gold nuggets, valued at several hundred dollars. He is a son of the late Thomas Rabson, of Kent, England, and has always lived in British Columbia.

Blue Canyon.

This Season Mr. Leatherdale and associates have had a large gang of men at work on the Blue Canyon, which they acquired last fall from the Blue Canyon Partnership.

The season's work has been mainly one of development and it is welcome news to learn that although work has been stopped for this year the results are satisfactory and the value of the ground hitherto practically unknown has been thoroughly established, and no doubt the succeeding season's, will prove the property to be of exceptional value.

During the winter, Mr. Lambert and his partners will do some extensive work on their property on Dominion Creek, principally drifting.

Gold Run.

Messrs. Howard and Brunner have given lays on a portion of their property for the winter, and the lessees intend putting in a hoist and pumping plant, in order to properly and prontably work the ground.

Mr. Creighton sold out his property on Gold Run to Messrs. Clark, Martin and Co. who are working the adjoining claims with good results; their ground is steadily improving in values as work progresses.

Messrs. Thomas and Smith are on bed-rock and have all timbers cut and ready for winter work; if results of the next few weeks come up to expectations, they will make arrangements for the installation of a plant.

Messrs. Stukey, Wostell, and Co. are now pumping out their shaft, and are confident that all their expectations will be realized, and pay will soon be coming out; they are running the first fully equipped plant on Gold Run.

Leases Cancelled.

Notice was posted on the Government Building this week, that several leases on Spruce Creek had been cancelled and thrown open for relocation. It is certainly time that such steps to protect the bona-fida operators should be taken, and we are assured that many other leases on the different creeks will meet a similar fate, thus throwing open a large area of ground which has been blanketed by speculators for the past two seasons.

The result of a wholesale cancellation of leases, on which owners have failed to comply with the conditions under which they were granted, will be very beneficial to Atlin and will rid us of the speculative element which has no desire to do bona-fide work or develop the country.

BANQUET.

Mr. W. J. Robinson of Philadelphia, and member of the firm of Messrs. Benjamin Warnick and Co., gave a banquet in honour of his friends Messrs. Canavan and Switzer at the Royal Hotel last evening.

The dinner was unique as will be seen by the following Menu which we give in full.

The poem written by the host is quite a literary success.

The guests all thoroughly enjoyed themselves and the orators of the evening did justice to the camp—as also to the dinner.

THE BLENDING OF THE FLAGS.

ATLIN.

Nestling in her sheltering valley,
Guarded by the mountains bold,
With their mute untiring vigil,
Mighty guardians of Gold.

Beautiful for situation,
Nature here made no mistake
In her lines of snow capped mountains,
Mirrored by the azure lake.

Stretching onward up the Valley
Threaded by the dashing "Pine"
Flashed in coloring inspiring
By an Artist all Divine.

Horny handed men are fighting
With a zeal inspired by Gold,
Rifling nature's mighty strong box
Of her millions yet untold.

Grimer sterner grow the mountains,
Grey haired Sentinels for AYE,
Vain they guard the yellow treasure,
Conquered they must yield their sway.
