Autons Fail to Cross River With Artillery

Petrograd, Aug. 4.—Official dispatch. "For the last three days the enemy has made enormous efforts to dislodge us in sector on the Narew river between Ostrolenka and Lomza. We prevented the autons from crossing the river with artillery. The enemy's forces were annihilated at the Myoniet point. Actions north and south of the city of Warsaw are proceeding successfully. We are stubbornly holding back the enemy, while the main body of our troops are retiring in proper order. Three hundred thousand Germans under General Von Gallwitz, began a move southward to cut the railway from Warsaw to Petrograd and met with a heavy loss along the line."

Warsaw is Calm

London, Aug. 5.—The developments on the Russian front are discussed at length in this morning's newspapers. The general agreement is that the situation both around Warsaw and Riga has become menacing and that it will be impossible to save Warsaw. The latest news according to some of the newspapers suggests that the German entry into the Polish capital will not much longer be delayed. The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily News who expects that the German main blow will be delivered between Warsaw and Ivangorod says that "the situation in Warsaw is calm, a citizens committee has appealed to the people to insist on the enforcement of the prohibition of alcohol and has asked the authorities to requisition all foodstuffs as precaution against speculation. A volunteer postal delivery has been commenced in the city."

Roumania Refuses Germany's Demand

London, Aug. 5.—Roumania definitely and finally has refused Germany's request for transportation of munitions through her territory to Turkey. Greece and Roumania's joint entrance into the war is now considered a certainty.

Stern Methods in Dealing With Mexico

Washington, Aug. 5.—Stern methods in dealing with the trouble in Mexico will be adopted. President Wilson has given Lansing unlimited power in dealing with the situation.

Supplies for France

Galveston, Texas, Aug. 5.—1000 horses, 20,000 cattle, and 50,000 tons of hay are to be shipped to France by October 1.

Italians Annihilate Crack Regiment

Turin, August 4.—The Austrian emperor's crack regiment the Kaiser jaegers, were nearly annihilated August 1, on the Carso plateau. The flower of the Austrian army was hurled against the Italian right wing in a determined effort to recapture Mount Seibus, which dominates the plain. The Austrians faced the guns with magnificent courage, but were mowed down mercilessly almost to the last man.

Turks Less Aggressive in Dardanelles

London, Aug. 6.—The situation in the Dardanelles on the front held by the Australian troops is excellent, although there has been continuous heavy fighting according to the British press representative on the Gallipoli Peninsula, he says: "The Turks, since their last repulse, have shown much less aggressiveness, seemingly more content to sit in the trenches than to attempt an offensive movement. Bomb throwing and mining are now the chief methods of warfare. The troops being kept occupied constantly in the building of trenches, which fall away rapidly owing to the soft sandy soil. Heavy Turkish reinforcements are being brought into advanced positions, showing that the Turks realize the importance of holding back any further attempts of the Allies to encroach on the peninsula."

Advice to Roumania

London, Aug. 5.—At a joint meeting, the British, French, Russian and Italian ministers, and the Greek premier, M. Goumas, gave advice to the government of Roumania.

The Remington Arms Plants Not for Sale

No Amount of Money Could Buy

New York, August 5.—During the last few days there have been persistent rumors to the effect that Germany was seeking to purchase American ammunition making plants, not so much on account of any shortage of ammunition for its own armies, as with a view to putting an end to the tremendous shipments which are going forward to the Allies.

The Remington Arms-Union Metallic Cartridge Company and the Bethlehem Steel Company have both been specifically named as objective points of the German efforts.

Mr. Samuel F. Pryor, vice-president and general manager of the Remington-Arms-Union Metallic Cartridge Company, says that no amount of money which anybody might offer, would induce the owners to dispose of the plants.

Troops Covering Warsaw Retire

Petrograd, Aug. 5, via London, Aug. 6.—Official communication. "In view of the conditions and general situation our troops west of Warsaw have received orders to fall back on the right bank of the Vistula. According to reports received, this order was carried out and the troops which were covering Warsaw retired at 5 o'clock this (Thursday) morning without being attacked toward the new front assigned to them. They blew up behind them all the bridges over the Vistula."

Anniversary of the War

London, Aug. 5.—The anniversary of Britain's entrance into the war was observed in every village, town and city by the people gathering together for patriotic demonstrations and prayer. The king and queen attended public worship at St. Paul's cathedral.

According to an official bulletin, Sir John French, command-

Ivangorod Bombarded By 20 Heavy Batteries

Fierce Fighting—20,000 Men Laid Low in a Few Hours

Geneva, Aug. 6.—Telegraphing from Innsbruck the Tribune's correspondent says: "Austro-Germans with more than twenty heavy batteries are bombarding Ivangorod from all sides causing great destruction. Russians resisting heroically."

"August 3, Russians attacked Field-Marshal Von Mackensen's army on the Radomka river, fighting was exceptionally heavy as was shown by the fact that within a few hours the battlefield was covered with 20,000 bodies of men from both sides."

"The bombardment of Lomza has been begun by the German forces, which continue to cross the Narew on pontoon bridges north of Warsaw. In this region the Russians have repulsed fresh German attacks."

er of the British forces, takes a very hopeful view of the future.

Jottings of Bella Coola and District

S. S. Chelohsin came in at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. The passengers for our port were such as knew the attractions of this place and therefore returned after a short sojourn in less agreeable climes. They were Mrs. H. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wheeler, Dr. W. J. Quinlan. The steamer left on schedule time, 9 a. m., with the following list of passengers: Mr. F. L. Evilsisor, Mrs. B. Thompson and two sons, Miss Levelton, Mr. A. J. Bates and Mr. and Mrs. E. Oien.

We welcome Mr. and Mrs. E. Wheeler back into our midst. They returned from Rivers Inlet where Mr. Wheeler has been engaged as fishery officer.

Dr. W. J. Quinlan has again taken up his abode among us. After various vicissitudes experienced among the natives of the west coast he is smiling to be back in Bella Coola again.

Mrs. A. Hall returned from a protracted stay in the States, and left immediately for her home at Canoe Crossing.

Mr. Evilsisor went to join his family in Oregon.

In the absence of Rev. T. C. Colwell, Mrs. Livingstone conducted the service at the Mackenzie schoolhouse on Sunday evening.

Tomorrow at 3 p. m. she will speak at the Hagensborg church.

Mr. M. W. Marvin of Atnarko, was in town during the week. He reports the hay crop in the upper valley as large and the garden crops are better this year than he has seen for some time.

Our special correspondent attends a wedding.

Beautifully decorated for the occasion by lady friends of the bride, was the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Christenson, where a pretty wedding took place last Saturday evening, when Mr. Evan Oien was united in marriage to Miss Mary Mitchell of Hagensborg.

The bride, wearing a white wedding dress adorned with orange blossoms and carrying a shower bouquet of bridal roses, was attended by Miss Louise Schulstad, gowned in white, carrying a bunch of pink flowers. The groom was attended by Mr. W. H. MacKay. Rev. T. C. Colwell was the officiating clergyman and Miss Ruth Nordschow presided at the piano.

The house was filled to an overflow of invited guests who gathered to do honor to the bride and groom, and after the ceremony was over partook of a sumptuous wedding lunch. The happy couple left on the Sunday morning steamer for Takush Harbor.

The Courier joins with their many Bella Coola friends in wishing them a happy married life.

Mr. A. J. Bates, representative of Ames, Holden, McCready, Limited of Vancouver, spent last week in town interviewing the merchants on their requirements in the shoe line for the coming fall and winter. Mr. Bates has visited many parts of the north on his trip, having been away from Vancouver for over two months. He left for the south on last Sunday's steamer.

The salmon pack of the canneries at Bella Coola, Rivers Inlet has been reported, and is as follows:

Bella Coola cannery,	12,000 cases
Rivers Inlet	17,000 "
Beaver	16,000 "
Brunswick	18,000 "
Kildala	15,000 "
Good Hope	15,000 "
Strathcona	16,000 "
Wadhams	27,000 "
Smiths Inlet	30,000 "

No reports have been received from the Namu, Kimsquit and Bella Kella canneries.

Ralph A. Edwards, telegraph line man, dropped in this week after a long stay on his beat. Owing to the very few timber fires this season little trouble has been experienced with this section of the line. Only where in former years the timber has burned through, occasional heavy winds will cause some timber to fall and carry the line down.

Photographer B. Norton, who is now making Bella Coola his headquarters, went up the Salmlot valley in search of views last week. He informs us that the scenery in this section is magnificent. Some of the photos taken will be on view at the stores in town and people who have done little travelling around Bella Coola and, therefore, are not familiar with all its pretty spots will have an opportunity to see some of this section as represented by Mr. Norton's photographs.

J. T. Williams, Dominion fishery inspector, came in Wednesday on the fishery launch Thomas Crosby.

Walter Ratcliff, after the completion of the work on the wagon road at Stewy, of which he has been the foreman, came to town last week on business.

The fishing for sockeye salmon came to an end last Monday. We regret to state that it did not prove as good as expected at the beginning of the season. The fishermen will now enjoy a rest from their labors for about two weeks when they will begin catching cohoes.

The run of sockeye salmon at Kimsquit was almost a total failure. The fishermen in some instances have not caught sufficient salmon to bring them out of debt at the company's store.

Mr. B. Norton, our photographer, in his peaceable pursuit of views, has on several occasions this summer met bruin in his native fastnesses. The bear seems disinclined to have his picture taken, as he goes into hiding as soon as Mr. Norton approaches. Mr. Norton would be very glad to have a picture taken of the bear if it could be accomplished without having the bear within a mile or two.

Martin B. Christensen, who for a number of years has successfully conducted a general merchandise store at Hagensborg, has sold out his business to W. H. MacKay and Karl W. Brink.

As the new proprietors of the store are well known residents of the place and of considerable business experience, we can speak for them a prosperous career.

The fine crop of cereals in the valley is now being harvested. The whirr of the self-binder is heard for the first time in the valley.

"Salus populi suprema est lex."

SATURDAY, AUG. 7, 1915.

The Gun Fund.

As long as the war is carried on the most vital thing to be done is to carry on the fight so that we may win. Everything that we do in these times should have this supreme object in view. It is a life and death struggle for freedom and the sooner we realize this the better for us.

We will never conquer our enemy unless we have as many and as well equipped men as he. It is no use for us to rely on the soldiers of the Allies showing more bravery and more endurance than the foe. In these qualities, which make for good soldiers, all the forces engaged in the war may, for all practical purposes, be regarded as equal irrespective of nationality.

We may rely on being able to outnumber our foe in the long run, but even overwhelming superiority in numbers is of little avail if our equipment is inferior.

Heretofore our forces have not had equipment as good as the enemy, and that being the case it is only a delusion or a reliance on some happy turn of affairs to believe that we shall be able to win in any reasonable length of time. And the longer the war is prolonged, the more men will be killed and disabled. If we are going to be successful in this fight against great odds, such as superior munitions of war, we all must do our "little bit." Some authorities suggest it must be a war of attrition or exhaustion; a war that will wear out the enemy; but that is a rule that will work both ways.

It is imperatively our duty to give our soldiers the most modern and efficient weapons, and in this war they have been found to be artillery and machine guns. We are glad to note that all Canada is roused on this subject. Communities throughout the Dominion are at work collecting money for the purchase of machine guns. Remember this; the Germans have four times as many as the Allies. Therefore a great many machine guns must be furnished our soldiers.

Bella Coola cannot be behind-hand in doing its duty. We ought to furnish one machine gun, and we can easily do it if we all join in. Our experience with the spirit of Bella Coola warrants us in believing that this will be done in short order. It is not the part of patriots to evade the burdens placed upon them by the country's needs. No one must plead poverty where the life of the country as an independent nation is at stake. We all want a share in the final victory. And relying upon the spirit of sacrifice in the nation and in the righteousness of our cause the victory will be ours.

Conserve the Food Supply.

The season for the fishing of sockeyes is now over and it has proved to be very poor as compared with former years, both here and at Kimsquit.

After many years experience in the cannery business at Bella Coola the manager of the local cannery expresses the belief that the run of sockeye salmon in this inlet is diminishing and that in a few years it will have ceased almost altogether.

This is certainly a situation that is not very cheering either as to this place or the province, and it seems to us that a remedy ought to be found.

Great amounts of money are being spent every year for salaries to officials whose sole business it is to devise means by which such a state of affairs can be avoided; but as far as it can be learned, nothing has been done for the conservation of the salmon at this particular place, beyond the patrolling of the grounds to enforce the observance of the close season and the spasmodic clearing of obstructions from the streams to facilitate the passing of the salmon. These remedies have proved insufficient to prevent the depletion of the salmon.

It ought not to need a great many highly salaried officials to supervise that sort of work. But yet we have several such, both Provincial and Dominion, the results of whose activities are not discernable to the naked eye. After ostensibly studying the salmon for a great number of years they should by this time have discovered means of destroying its enemies and other wise devised plans for the conservation of this valuable food fish; and not only devise means, but also put their theories into practice.

We certainly own to being impatient with the dilatoriness of the powers that be in setting forces in motion to promote the welfare of the land. Hatcheries ought to built at the head of all the fishing grounds. The enemies of the salmon should be hunted and destroyed, and not protected as is the case now. It is not likely that this article will be read, much less heeded by those whose duty it should be to remedy the evil pointed out; but we would submit to those injured by this state of affairs, such as the cannery operators and fishermen, to unite in a petition or some other action by which pressure be brought to bear on the proper authorities to induce them to take steps to conserve this important industry and food supply.

The Fair at Prince Rupert.

Every resident and property owner in Northern British Columbia should take active interest in the Exhibition to be held at Prince Rupert, September 22, 23 and 24. It is a fact which no one will dispute that the northern part of our province is yet in its infancy as far as development is concerned. It is further conceded that the district contains immense wealth, that awaits the hands and brains of the intelligent and industrious to become available for the use of mankind. But these resources will be dormant unless the attention of the world is called to them. And right here is where the exhibition at Prince Rupert becomes a factor of great value to the district. It will demonstrate beyond dispute what the country contains and what it can produce and thus advertise its resources.

The management deserves credit for the courage and energy it displays in endeavoring to make the exhibition attractive and representative of our varied resources, and it should be our duty to co-operate in this work and it will be found that this work shall not be in vain, but will be well rewarded.

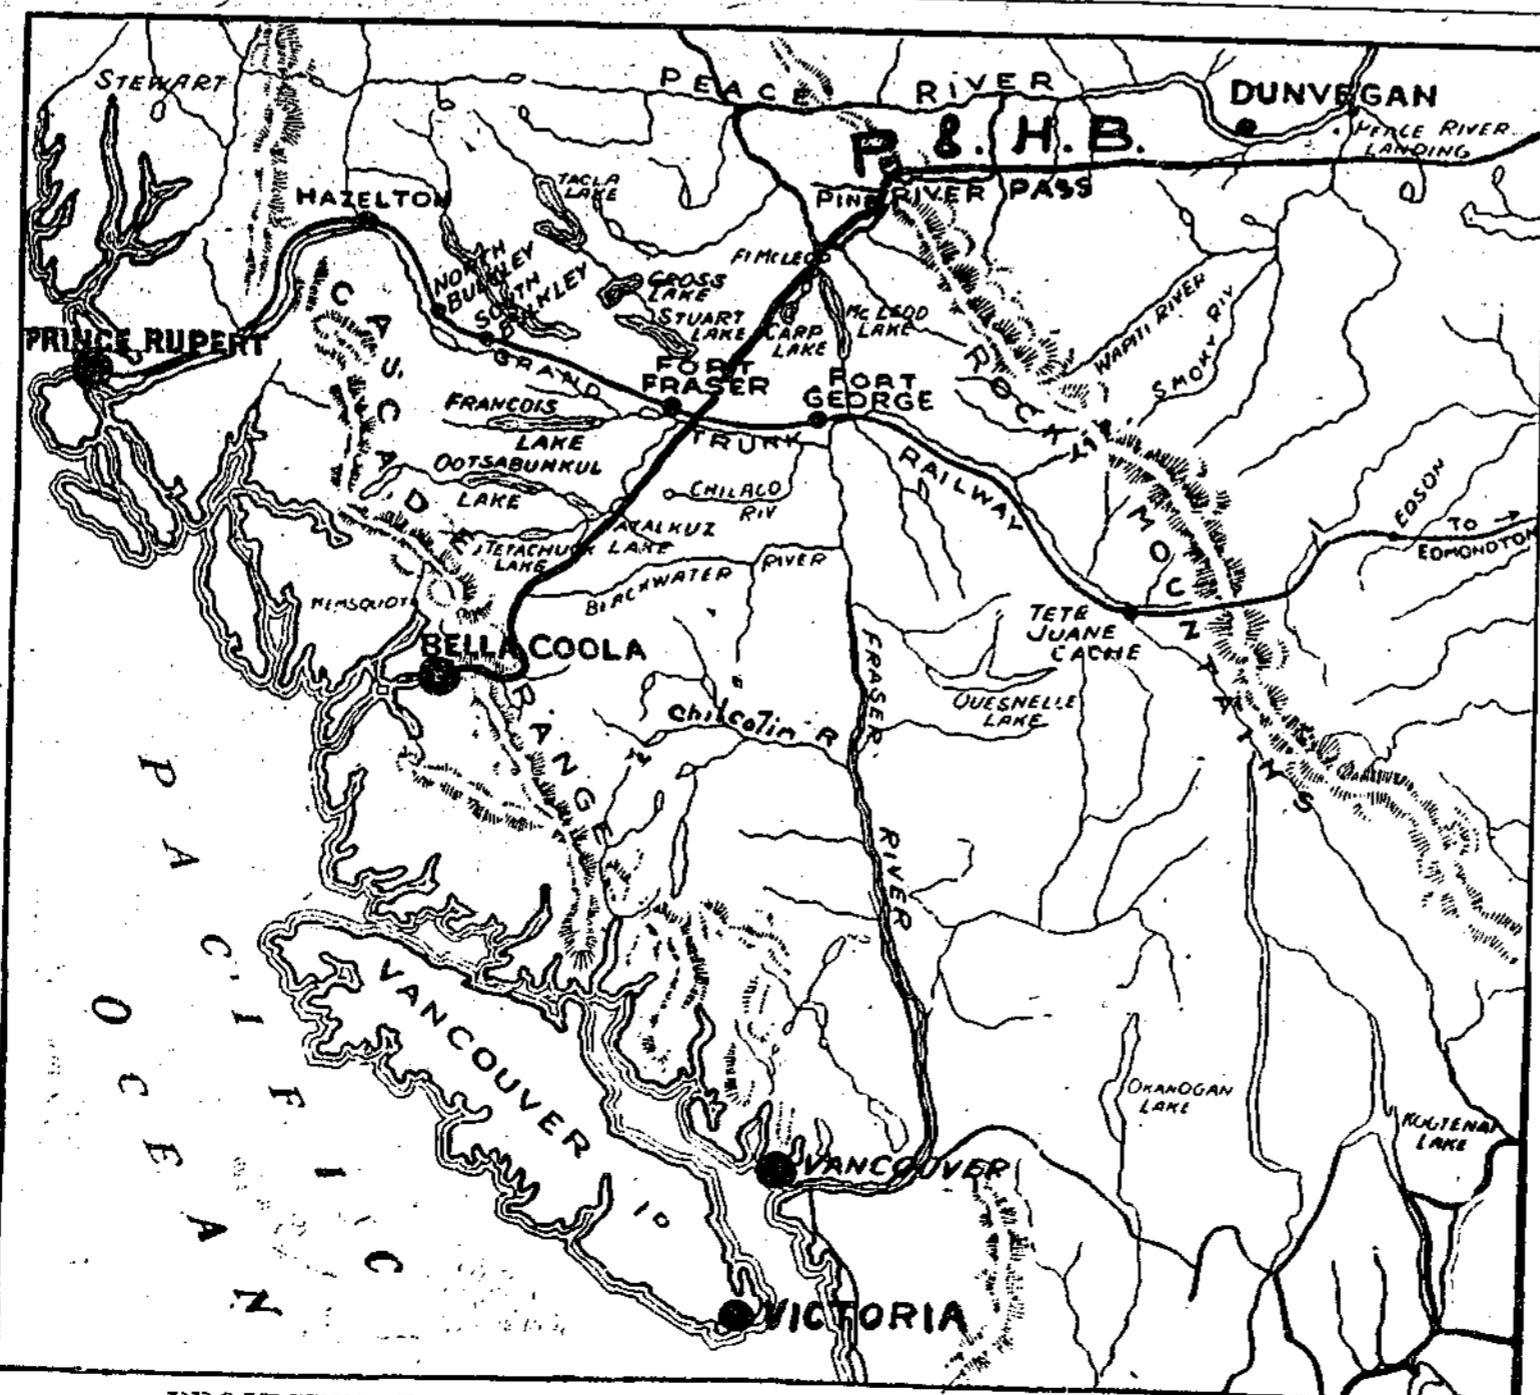

The district's chief sources of wealth, such as agriculture, mining and fisheries, will be the prominent features of the fair; but there will also be various other attractions in the way of sports and contests, and those who are so fortunate as to be able to witness all and take part, will find it time well spent. We call attention to the fair at this time because it is very desirable that Bella Coola should be well represented in its exhibits.

Bella Coola can boast of soil and climatic conditions unsurpassed in the district and probably in the province, and should not be afraid to send her products in comparison to those of other communities, and former experience has proven that Bella Coola can carry off her share of prizes.

We again call the attention of the executive of the Farmers' Institute to this matter for its earliest consideration. A survey of the crops of the valley should be made, and the farmers encouraged and aided in making selections of cereals, fruit, roots and potatoes, for exhibition purposes. Let us help to boost our part of the province.

Alberta is Sane.

As everybody now knows, Alberta went "dry" with a majority that staggered the "wets." People are at last waking up to the fact that intoxicating liquor causes waste of wealth and energy; produces crime, poverty, political corruption, etc., and that evils so enormous must no longer be tolerated among enlightened people. How long will it be before British Columbia joins hands with her neighbors to the east and the south and becomes free?

Shipping Lumber.

The Courier is favored by the forest Branch of this Province with a certain amount of literature bearing on the doings of the conservative government for the welfare of the people. We very much appreciate this, as it shows that the McBride Government recognize that we are doing our share in promoting the welfare of the province. Some of this literature is politics, more or less, and has no bearing on anything of importance, such we do not print. Anything that bears on our industrial life we shall be glad to give space and therefore publish this: "The Northern Construction Company, which erected a mill on the upper Fraser River for the purpose of sawing lumber for use on the Canadian Northern Railroad, has shipped 3,600,000 feet of spruce lumber to Edmonton." The taxpayers of British Columbia realized the sum of $5,000,000 in royalties and stumpage from this shipment. We should like to see more of our lumber mills operating and shipping lumber, this would not only create work for the many of our population who are now out of employment, but it would also give relief to our empty provincial treasury. If you have a good temper hang on to it. If you have a bad one do not lose it.

Australia Loans Money.

We boast of Canada as being the chief of the British possessions over the seas, and our province the wealthiest in the Dominion. This is no idle boast; but when we consider the hard times now prevailing we fear there is something besides the war that prevents the people from enjoying the wealth which nature has bestowed upon us. We are heavily in debt and would like to become more so. Australia is engaged in war also, but she does not scour the money markets for loans. It is refreshing to read the following news item from Melbourne: "The house of representatives today passed a measure providing $100,000,000 war loan to Great Britain." If British Columbia in her pride and exuberance of youthful spirit had been willing to pursue the administration of her affairs in a less spectacular manner, we believe she could at the present time be out of debt, and snapped her fingers, so to speak, at the money markets of the world. It is to be hoped that the approaching provincial election will bring men to the helm that will have the courage, ability and patriotism to so cut down the expenditures that they will be within the income. If that can be accomplished, these hard times may prove a blessing in disguise.

Lest We Forget.

On the fourth of this month it was one year since Great Britain declared war on Germany. It was conceived the proper thing to commemorate this great event by public demonstrations in every village, town and city throughout the Empire. In order to give effect to a movement for such purpose a committee was organized in London, with such men as Premier Asquith, Lord Roseberry and Mr. Arthur Balfour at its head. Bella Coola although as patriotic as any other community in the Empire did not recognize the day by any public function. It is well, however, to recapitulate the immediate events that led up to the war lest we forget. Prinzip's crime was committed on June 28. An investigation disclosed what was alleged to be proof that the assassin was the tool of a group of Serbians. On July 23, after considerable correspondence and negotiations, an ultimatum was sent to Serbia by the Austro-Hungarian government. The terms of this ultimatum were intolerable to the self respect of an independent state, but on the advice of Russia, Serbia went so far as to accept in their entirety all but one of the Austrian demands, this being that Austrian officials should be given a part in the Serbian internal administration of justice and police. Serbia further offered to submit this last demand to arbitration. It is now known that on July 24, Germany began a secret mobilization of her forces. Russia sought to come to an understanding with Austria, but Berlin stood resolutely in the way of a peaceful settlement, and beyond question was determined to make of the petty Serbian affair an excuse for a general war of aggression. Austria mobilized, avowedly against Serbia, but on a scale that roused the suspicion of Russia, who then mobilized only those military districts contiguous to the Austrian frontier, giving Berlin assurances to that effect. Nevertheless, Germany seized the pretext to declare war on Russia. The news of that event was followed in a few hours by the announcement that a general mobilization had been ordered by the French cabinet. On August 2, German troops entered Luxembourg, and Germany demanded free passage through Belgium to the French frontier. This was refused, and two days later Great Britain dispatched to Germany an ultimatum demanding that the neutrality of Belgium be maintained. The ultimatum rejected, German forces attacked Liege, and as early as August 2, German troops had crossed both the Belgian and French frontiers. The following day saw the declaration by Great Britain of a state of war with Germany, and two days later the French invaded southern Alsace.

A Lesson in Advertising.

What the War Office doesn't know about advertising for recruits can be learned in a railway journey in South London. At the back of his house, where trains are passing all day long, a resident has hung up two old petticoats. Apparently this advertising expert feels that he has done his bit, for accompanying the petticoats is this startling announcement: "If you won't help your King and country now you had better wear these."
