Cabinet Ministers Likely to Resign

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—"The recurring report of the resignations of various members of Mr. Borden's cabinet are not likely to be verified, in fact, until after the coming session of parliament," says an Ottawa despatch to the Montreal Daily Mail. The withdrawal of Hon. Louis Coderre, Hon. Bruno Nantel, Hon. Mr. Pelletier, Hon. Mr. Crothers and Hon. Dr. Roche have all been predicted. "Some of these resignations, it is said on good authority, will probably occur within the next year, but none are likely to come just as the government is preparing for the session. It is believed that Dr. Roche, whether he retires or not, on account of his health, would be relieved of the immigration branch of the Interior department, this being added to the proposed new department of public health," says the despatch.

Floods Cause Heavy Damage

Town Streets Completely Inundated

Citizens Washed Off Their Feet

Incessant rain at a time when considerable snow covered the mountains accounted for the most serious flood that the oldest settlers in Bella Coola have ever known. On Wednesday morning the water in Neeltesconny River and neighboring streams commenced to rise rapidly, until by three o'clock large streams were running down the main streets. For a while it looked as though the threatened flood would be averted, but the rain descending with renewed vigor soon caused the water to again rise, for a while at the rate of several inches per hour.

By six o'clock the flood was at its height. The Neeltesconny River seemed to have almost changed its course, pouring volumes of water into the town, which was soon immersed to the depth of over two feet.

Much damage to property was sustained. The water entering the warehouse of a local merchant did damage to the extent of several hundred dollars, while the same party's residence was also flooded to the depth of several inches.

Many exciting incidents were witnessed. A horse and wagon conveying two men engaged in transferring women and children to safe quarters, was washed a distance of some forty yards finally becoming jammed in a pile of logs; and it was only after great difficulty that the men and horse were extricated.

Another resident suffered the loss of a number of valuable chickens, yet another being forced to rescue a number of pigs by dragging them into the house.

Today (Thursday) the town presents a sorry spectacle. Roads are torn up and almost completely destroyed, several of the smaller bridges and culverts are washed away, and it is impossible to travel by wagon.

Logs, roots and lumber, (the latter from the yard of a local contractor,) are strewn over the town, garden fences are destroyed and the gardens covered with mud.

The lately constructed trestle work on the north side of the Bella Coola River, which is to serve as an approach to a new bridge about to be constructed, suffered severe damage from the huge logs which coming down stream, pounded against the piling.

The damage can easily be estimated in the thousands of dollars.

Explosion In Mine Results In Heavy Loss of Life

TWENTY-FIVE KNOWN DEAD AND TWO HUNDRED ARE ENTOMBED

Dawson, New Mexico, October 24.—Twenty-five miners are known to be dead as the cause of an explosion in a mine at this place. Twenty-five survivors have been rescued alive after being entombed in a portion of the mine.

It is feared that the loss of life will be greatly augmented as over two hundred miners are yet imprisoned in the lower levels. Air is being driven to the imprisoned men by means of fans, and the hope is entertained that many may still be alive. Desperate attempts are being made to reach the imprisoned men.

May Be Prosecutions In Chateaugay

Montreal, Oct. 23. Discussing the decision to protest the election in Chateaugay, reached after a conference of leading Liberals at the Windsor Hotel held recently, Hon. Sidney Fisher said:

"We have evidence that we will be able to quash the election, and I do not see how the guilty can escape prosecution when the evidence has been given at the hearing. The prosecution will follow as a matter of course."

Premiers to Visit England in a Body

Toronto, Oct. 24. The premiers of Canadian provinces are going to meet in Ottawa on Monday, Oct. 27, to talk over the question of provincial finances. They are going to start a movement to have the Canadian provincial bonds placed on the British trustee list, according to a prominent financial man.

This will enable English trustees and estate managers to invest in these desirable funds. It is probable that the premiers will visit England in a body soon and appear before the British cabinet, he concluded.

SS. Thomas Crosby Visits Port

The mission steamer Thomas Crosby arrived in port on Saturday last, having on board Dr. and Mrs. Best of Bella Bella, Rev. Lamb and Miss Reid.

On Sunday evening an enjoyable meeting was held in the Mackenzie School, Rev. T. C. Colwell presiding.

An interesting lecture on the Life of Christ was delivered by Rev. Lamb, missionary on board the Thomas Crosby, the accompanying lime-light views being very keenly appreciated.

Owing to engine trouble, it was found necessary for the Thomas Crosby to lay over Monday at this port, and in the evening Rev. Lamb again treated the people to a further collection of beautiful lime-light views of different parts of the province; the meeting being greatly enjoyed by a large audience.

The "Thomas Crosby" is always welcome at this port, more especially as she has for her pilot Garnett Gibson, son of Rev. W. H. Gibson who is resident missionary to the Bella Coola Indians.

Garnett Gibson is spoken of as the future skipper of the Thomas Crosby, and the Courier extends to him and his ship the heartiest good wishes. Long may they prosper in this good work.

Mr. Lewin, of Salmon River, arrived in town on Wednesday last.

Messrs B. Church, R. Berry and J. Loomis, members of R. P. Bishop's survey party, arrived in town on Tuesday.

Mr. R. P. Bishop's main party arrived in town yesterday after a long season's work in the interior.

The party leaves by the south-bound steamer on Sunday.

Next week, we will have much pleasure in publishing a poem by a subscriber, written in reply to "W'at's de trouble Bella Coola," by S. Le C. Grant.

No Money

It is still in the minds of the people of Bella Coola how Mr. W. Manson, M.P.P., on the occasion of his recent visit, dwelt long and wearisomely on the great credit due him in having secured for his district something approaching a fair amount in appropriations for public works, and how he assured them of his ability to obtain an even larger appropriation for next year.

Will he be able to do it?

True, the government has in recent years been expending money lavishly, but to what extent the country has profited by that expenditure is another matter entirely.

One effect of this lavish expenditure has been, that the government has thereby kept itself in power, and that seems to have been the main object of the expenditure.

It is an indisputable fact that the greater portion of the revenue of the last few years has been derived from the sale of timber and lands, and even the present administration must recognize some limit to such exploitation of the natural resources of the province. It was perhaps the recognition of this fact which impelled Sir Richard McBride to pay a visit to London to arrange financial matters, at a time when his presence was so urgently required at home.

Be that as it may, the following is significant, and is certainly enough to set any ordinary minded person thinking seriously:

"No Money." Such was the reply received by Dr. Calahan, one of the members for the Cariboo, when on learning that all public works in that district had suddenly been ordered stopped by a telegram from Victoria, and this at a time when only 40 per cent. of the appropriation voted at the last session of the Legislature had been expended, he (the Doctor), filled with righteous indignation, wired to Victoria asking the reason why.

What has become of the big surplus?

Why have taxes increased three to five hundred per cent?

Why did the government vote the money and then four-flush?

These are some of the pertinent questions asked by the people of Cariboo, who now feel that they have been bluffed and bamboozled; and they surely have been.

Sir Richard went to London filled with the ambitious hope of raising money, probably so as to be able to encourage another railroad scheme and so win another election at an early date.

Members of the government made no secret of the fact that an early election might be expected.

That was before it was known that Sir Richard had failed to make the necessary raise. Now we hear from Attorney-General Bowser that the government is decided on serving its full term and that there will be no election in the near future.

Can it be that the government is "broke," and is determined to hang on in the hope that something may turn up, whereby it may be able to reimburse its depleted treasury?

There still remains a little more land to sell. Will they sell it?

If the government is forced to adopt a policy of retrenchment and accordingly reduces appropriations, what of Bella Coola's uncompleted wagon road?

Many will be the regrets of the local Conservatives that they have for so long tolerated the reckless and wasteful expenditure in the district; for after all, have they not repeatedly expressed themselves in favor of it in the most emphatic and effectual manner—by their votes at the poll.

Instead of pursuing a policy that would have settled and enriched the province and have made living cheaper and better for every individual in it, the government chose to make their road building program serve their party activities instead of the good of the province. As a result there has been practically no honest effort to give the country the means of communication of which it is so much in need, and which would contribute so materially to its development and progress.

Editor, Bella Coola Courier.

Since I was prevented attending the Hagensborg meeting of October 2nd by the usual trouble, that is, slow communications, postal and otherwise, I should like to beg once more the hospitality of your paper to enumerate a few points about the road, some of which were not considered at the meeting, and in this way I hope to partly make up for the lack of representation we chronically suffer in the upper part of the valley.

The valley has been recognized as a settlement for twenty years. It is now possible to haul some freight to the end of the road, about 36 miles, just a trifle over 1 1/2 miles a year. Or, if you prefer, start from the fall of 1905, as the more substantial appropriations date from that year on. A settler could then haul his supplies as far as the Crossing. Now in the fall of 1913, the same settler may haul it 12 miles further, showing a progress on the road of about 1 1/2 miles a year.

It is the avowed and reiterated intention of the Government to help the settler all it can. With this in mind and the fact that still twenty-five miles of road separate the settlers of the Upper Valley from the actual end of the road, it results that at the rate we have been going for the past twenty years we shall be about seventeen years in getting it up here.

The first thing the settler needs is to be able to get to his ranch all the supplies and provisions he cannot raise on the spot, together with the tools and agricultural implements that are necessary to clear and cultivate the land. Everybody knows that nothing much bigger than a coal oil box can generally be packed on an ordinary pack-horse except at a great expenditure of time or money. Therefore we must have a road of some kind. We should be satisfied with a sleigh road for the first year or so, provided it would come through all at once so as to enable the two ends to meet. In this way we could haul, even painfully and slowly at first, but haul nevertheless, our supplies in winter; (with the help of the snow and at the slack time of work when our horses are eating their heads off, practically inactive.)

We have been waiting for ten years to get something better than a bad pack trail and we have been helped, as I have demonstrated before, at the rate of one mile and a half per annum.

Is that fair? It is said that most of the appropriation for the road this year was to be spent in the Upper Valley. It is further said that $10,000 were actually spent above the Kahylst river (Burnt Bridge). How far did this $10,000 help the settlers of the Upper Valley towards getting their supplies home by other ways than pack-horses? Just ONE MILE AND A HALF.

A good sled road, where even a wagon could be taken along, could be made for $1000 a mile on the average.

This year's appropriation could have brought relief half way up the Upper Valley, and if the road would be put in the right place once and for ever, it could easily be improved year by year by the increasing traffic and settlers.

Somebody remarked to me that the road is needed to pack up supplies for the workmen that build the road. Many roads have been rapidly opened up with the help of a pack-train. More expensive? Perhaps. But if the Government cannot afford to use pack-horses for one year (and it should not take more to push through a good sled road twenty-five miles) can the settlers afford to use them for eighteen years more?

I heard that at a convention of road superintendents in Prince Rupert this year, it was estimated the work to connect Bella Coola road and Tatla Lake would run into $1,700,000 expenditure. Our local superintendent declared a few days ago that he built 25 miles of road at a cost of about $2,000 a mile. Even calculating the existing 35 miles as all road, there remains, more or less, about 100 miles to link these two points. One hundred miles at $2,000 per mile equals $200,000. Who's wrong? The 25 miles of road wanted for the Upper Valley would cost only $50,000. This is cheap if we consider the good it would do.

We must endeavor to attract the attention of the public in general to the wrongs either of the system of working out these appropriations or to the faults of the executive officers of the administration.

Get the total amount of appropriations since the start and divide by 35, the number of miles of so called road now open. That will be a sure estimate of the cost in the past.

Stick up for a proper competent and independent survey from the outside, that will cut down thousands of dollars of mistakes in the future.

Persuade the Government that the present system, besides being ruinous and unfair to all parties, does not attain the end for which it is supposed to work, that is to help the settler.

So long as the road does not connect with Tatla Lake it is simply a road to nowhere. It does not bring the traffic and trade that it should, and Bella Coola people have not yet realized the influx of tourists, amongst other items, that would take in the whole trip to Ashcroft via Tatla Lake as one of the nicest excursions in British Columbia. You have an outlet, true, that is the port of Bella Coola: What about a steady flow of cattle and other produce from the interior to feed the port? Shall we have to wait for the railroad for it?

I have the assurance of more than twenty settlers residing in and around Tatla Lake that they would drive all their cattle and do all their trading down here if a road would be open. This, together with the Upper Valley settlers would form an aggregate of about forty or fifty settlers whom the road would benefit directly, besides opening the way for many more. Is that not enough to justify a sleigh road to link the two districts the first year. The finished road could then be built in business-like style, without leaving any gaps between, (vide: Neswald-Hammer tract, Firvale flat, Gibson hill, etc., etc.) The speediest possible construction of a passable road is the crying need of all concerned, Bella Coola, Tatla Lake and the intervening settlers. That such need is now recognized by the authorities is proved by the large appropriations granted this year. Yet the efforts of our representative in securing this recognition seems to have been wasted, for it is evident that no matter how large a sum is granted the actual progress is the same one mile and a half a year on the average.

Hitherto our sole demand has been for the money—the necessary means—henceforth we must insist that money be not dissipated in ineffectual, unsystematic, amateurish trifling with a work upon the completion of which the livelihood of so many settlers depend.

Australia Goes Ahead
Under the Laurier administration, our militia system was greatly improved and extended, and the fortifications of the country were taken over and manned by Canadian soldiers, thereby saving Britain an important item of expense. After all this was done the question of providing for naval defence was taken up in accordance with the arrangement made with Australia. If the Australians believe there is an "emergency" they do not exploit it, their orators scarcely ever speak of it, and their newspapers practically never mention it. Evidently "it does not cut much ice" there, to use the old colloquialism. But whether there is an "emergency" or not, they are going right ahead to provide against all present or future contingencies by equipping a native navy. Brockville Recorder.

Note the large capacity of the Kootenay warming closet. The door lifts up out of the way and has a rounding front which allows the full capacity of the closet to be used.

This Kootenay fuel saver will reduce your coal bills because it gives absolute control of the fire. Can also be used to ventilate the kitchen by drawing cooking fumes and surplus heat into the chimney. You should certainly see the Kootenay before buying.

Kootenay Ranges are sold everywhere by good dealers who back up our guarantee on this splendid range—McClary's
