THAT SMELTER

Where Snowshoe Smelter is likely to go.

GREENWOOD'S ADVANTAGES

Most Convenient Point to Haul Ore For Treatment.

The obsequious Grand Forks correspandent has been indulging in more hot air. Geo. S. Waterlow chairman of the board of directors of the Snowshoe Gold & Copper company, Limited, Dr. H. Lewis Jones one of the directors and A. J. McMillain, managing-director, visited Grand Forks a few days ago and immediately the old hot air story was revived. The Snowshoe people are going to build a large smelter at Grand Forks. John Manly showed them just where to put their smelter.

Now that sort of thing makes very interesting reading but unfortunately nature and common sense are against the conclusions of the Grand Forks correspondent. The desiderata in erecting smelters in a low grade camp are low transportation rates and low cost of treatment. A mine and a smelter to be successful must have an output and a treatment capacity of a large tonnage daily. In the case of the Snowshoe it is safe to say that it will not reach the highest factor of profit until its output is at least 500 tons daily. Let us take this as a basis of calculation and see where the Grand Forks proposition gets off at.

The Snowshoe mine is situated at Phoenix, B. C.

Distance from Eholt to Phoenix	9 8-10 miles
" " Eholt to Grand Forks	12 4-10 miles
" " Grand Forks to smelter site	3 miles
Total -	25 2-10 miles
Phoenix elevation	41680 feet
Grand Forks elevation	1 730 feet
Difference - - -	2 950 feet
Distance from Phoenix to Eholt	9 8-10 miles
" " Eholt to Greenwood	8 6 10 miles
Total -	18 4-10 miles
Phoenix elevation	4 680 feet
Greenwood elevation	2 450 feet
Difference - - -	2 230 feet

Now transportation companies determine a comparative rate by multiplying the mile by the height material must be lifted. The rule is sometimes violated but it is basis upon which rates are generally determined and is always applied when competition or other special reasons are not found.

Apply this rule in the matter under discussion and we find that the Grand Forks rate is represented by 74,343 while the Greenwood rate is only 41,-032. The present rate from Phoenix to Grand Forks is $.37½ per ton. Apply the rule to this and it gives a Greenwood rate of 20 cents a ton or a saving of 17½ cents a ton.

On a 500 ton a day basis, this would amount to a saving of $87.50 per day or $32,000 a year which would pay interest and a nice dividend on a smelting plant.

Grand Forks is all right but nature made Greenwood the centre of the Boundary district.

The steam power plant lately put in at the Emma mine, Summit Camp, is now in operation and some nice looking copper ore is being stoped at the 75 foot level of the mine for shipment to the Hall Mining & Smelting Company's smelter at Nelson. W. T. Smith is persevering with the development of this property though under difficulties, the Mackenzie & Mann syndicate, which owns the larger interest in this and several adjoining claims, pursuing it customary dog-in-the-manger policy of doing nothing itself and declining to sell to any one else except at a price too high for any likely buyer to think of giving.

A CONFERENCE

Council of Greenwood and Phoenix Meet Together.

DISCUSS THE TRAMWAY

The Details of the Scheme Submitted to the Visitors.

A conference between the municipal councils of Phoenix and Greenwood was held at the city hall, Greenwood on Thursday evening last. Phoenix was represented by Mayor Rumberger, Ald. Graham and Rogers, city clerk Matheson, city solicitor R. B. Kerr, and chief of police Flood to see that no harm befell the party. In the absehce of Mayor Naden, Alderman Ross was appointed acting mayor and there were present Ald. Caulfield, Bannerman, Kirkwood and Smailes.

After the routine business of the council the visitors from Phoenix were welcomed and both bodies sat around the council board and discussed the the tramway to connect the two towns. Estimates af cost were submitted and the practibility of the project discussed. Mayor Rumberger and the visiting alderman expressed themselves as believing that the tramway would be mutually advantageous; that it would create trade between the two cities and be a great convenience to the people of both cities. Probable objections to the scheme were considered and all the details were discussed at length.

After the conference the visitors were entertained by the Greenwood council at the Imperial hotel where a tasty supper was partaken of and an enjoyable evening spent. Those present were unanimously of the opinion that the conference was a great success and even if the tramway did not materialize there were many matters in which better results could be obtained by the active co-operation of the two municipalities.

Tennis Tournament.

Result up To-date in the Greenwood Club Matches.

The tournament of the Greenwood Tennis club has been in progress for two weeks and is now nearing the close. The final match in the open single event was played on Monday afternoon when F. Lewin defeated C. W. Chesterton in four closely contested sets winning thereby the championship of the club for the year and the handsome "Pim" racquet donated by Mr- F. J. Finucane the president of the club. The final match in the mixed doubles was played off on Wednesday. A. N. Wilmont and Mrs. McLaine plus 15 defeating A. W. Strickland and Mrs. Fair plus half thirty in two sets out of three, both sides were favorites for first place and the game was hotly contested and marked by some exceedingly pretty plays on both sides of the net.

The ladies' handicap event has reached the final stage and Miss Wood owe ½15 meets Mrs. Ashcroft plus ½15 on Saturday afternoon.

The open doubles has also reached the final stage and Foster and McLaine meet Strickland and Merritt on Saturday afternoon.

The men's handicap singles has only reached the semi-final stage. E. A. Duff, scratch, meets C. E. Merritt plus 15, and A. W. Striceland scratch, meets W. G. McMynn plus 15 on Friday afternoon. S. M. Johnson plus ½ 30 meets the winner of the latter match on Saturday, and the winner of this match meets the winner of Duff versus Merritt next week.

There are to be some extra series matches in open events for ladies, singles and doubles to decide the lady champions and also an open match in mized doubles. Play in these matches will probably commence on Saturday the 13th instant.

MOTHER LODE

New Glory Hole Opened up at The Big Mine

CONTAINS HIGH GRADE ORE

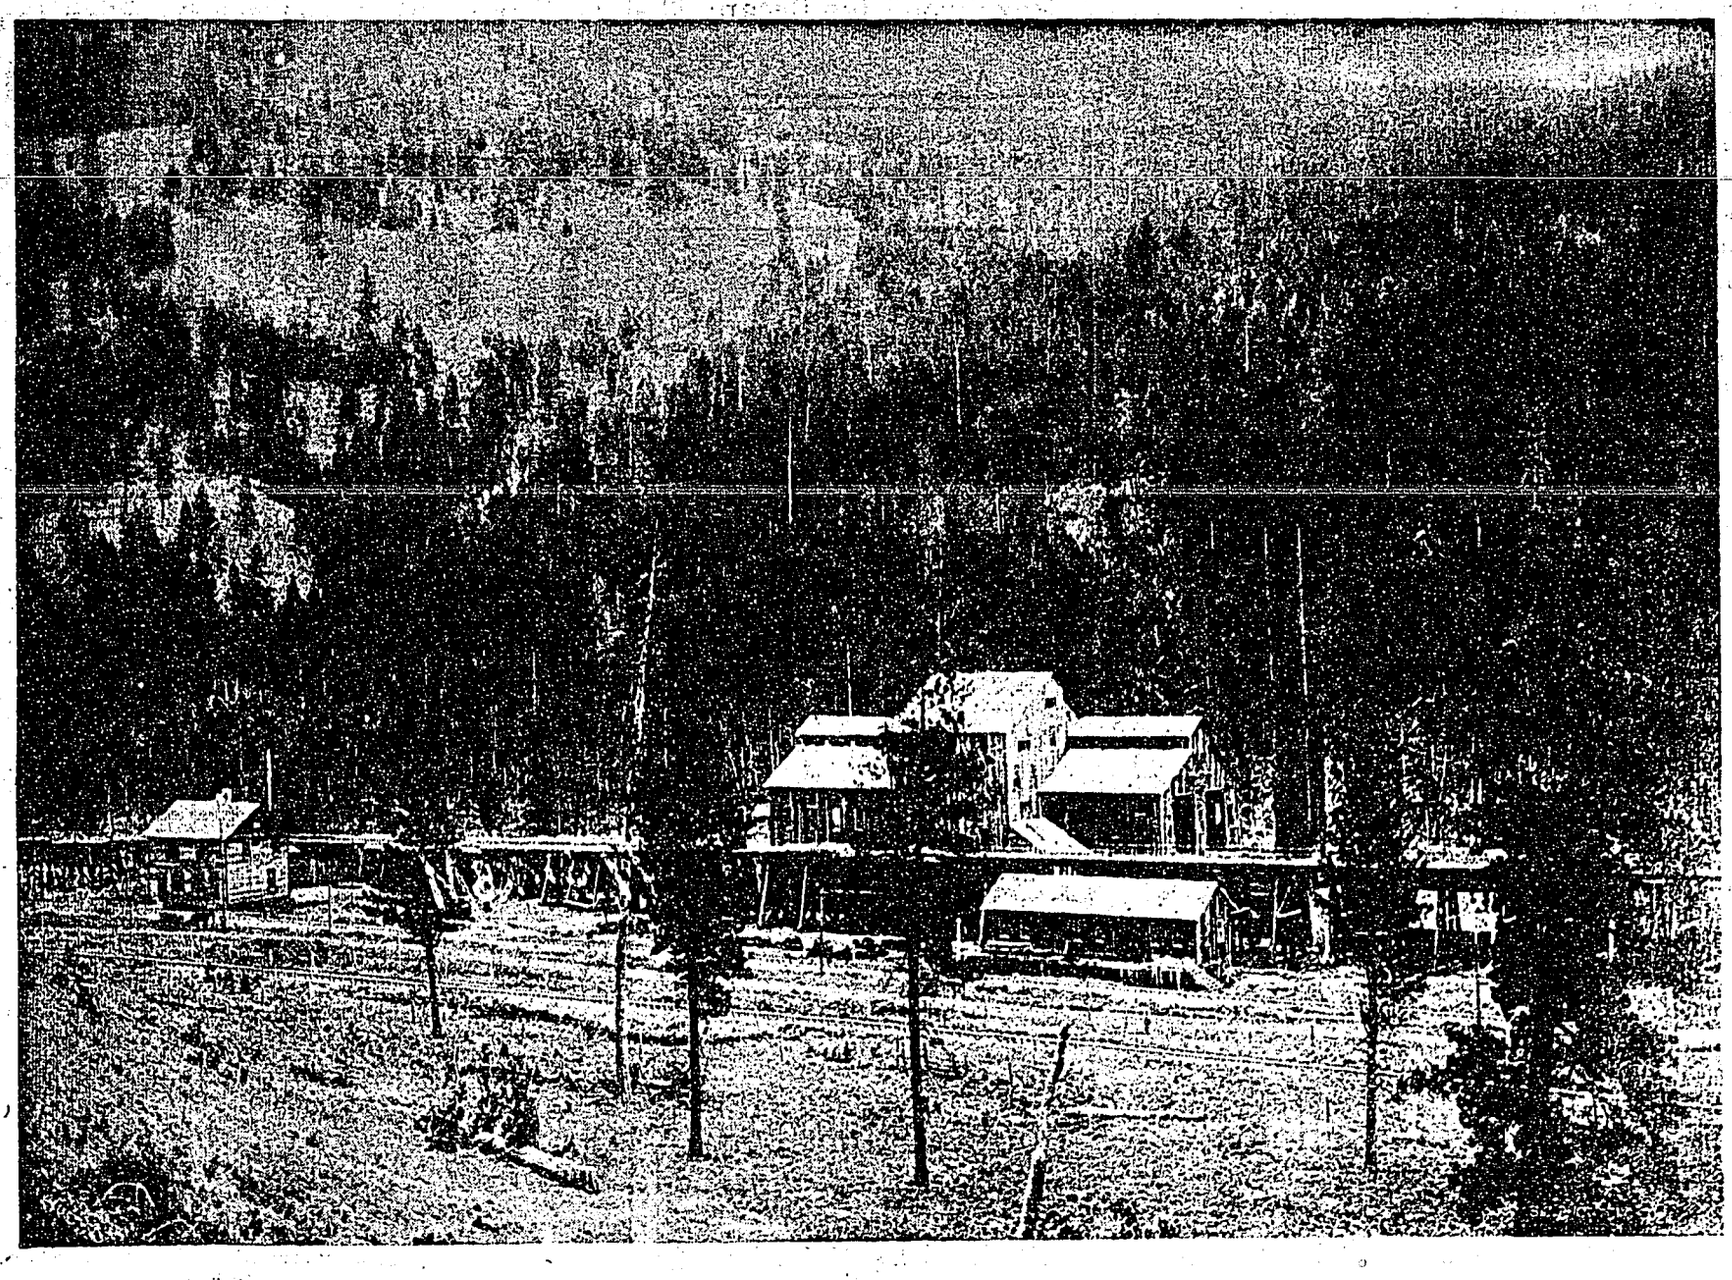
Practically Double the Known Tonnage of the Property.

The Mother Lode mine was but half discovered until a short time ago Within its boundaries new ore bodies have deen uncovered which practically double the value of the property. The original work was commenced in the Southern portions of the claim. Enormous ore bodies were opened up and the Mother Lode was placed near the head of the list of those remarkable properties for which the Boundary has become famous. Up above these or iginal working was a grass covered bute that looked like any other hill.

Since the introduction of the quarrying system and its very successful operation the surface work enroached farther and farther toward the hill top. Recently open cuts were made at the summit when the discovery was made that the entire hill top is Copper ore. The body has been opened up for 200 feet in length and 100 feet in width. The ore averages 3 2-10 per cent copper and $2 in gold. It carries plenty of lime and looks good to Paul Johnson for his smelter.

Two big glory holes have been started and from these 300 or 400 tons a day can be easily shipped. These glory holes can be continued down to the original workings below. The ore can be mined and hauled at an exceedingly low cost and having good values it adds greatly to the wealth of the Mother Lode.

The new discovery makes the mine one of almost incalculable tonnage. It would be difficult to compute the amount of ore from the summit of the hill down to the base of the claim several hundred feet below.



By the first of January, 1903, the Sunset smelter at Boundary Falls will be treating over 800 tons of ore per day. Albert I. Goodell, the superintendent, who has returned from Montreal and New York, states that during his visit east the Montreal and Boston Copper company owning the smelter and the Sunset mine decided to immediately begin the installation of a second furnace. Plans and specifications are being prepared and the order will be placed in a few days. This will include a new blower, engine, boiler, etc. Before blowing in the present furnace, Mr. Goodell is steel-jacketting throughout, thus replacing the iron jacket. He is trying to arrange a freight tariff from the various mining camps to the smelter and as soon as this is satisfactorily arranged with the C. P. R. the smelter will be blown in. Capt. Harry Johns is spending a few weeks in California, but he is shortly expected home to resume the active management of the Sunset mine.

With a second furnace the Sunset smelter will be in a position to handle a large quantity of Republic ore and as it is expected that the railway from Curlew to Greenwood will be completed early next year, a large tonnage is expected from that high grade camp.

UNPAID TAXES.

The government has begun to do right at the wrong time. For years it has been the policy to collect taxes where it was most convenient and let the others slide. The offices of mining companies were visited with wonderful regularity and substantial cheques received to swell the provincial finances. Sawmills and woodpiles were also closely watched to see that no revenue was lost to the government. Wild lands held by speculators, crown granted claims remaining unexploited and other avenues undisturbed because it might require some effort to collect the taxes.

This ship-shod way of doing business would have only one result. The revenue refused to meet the expenditure and an ever increasing deficit was the result. During the period of good times the government could have easily collected the taxes but the amounts were allowed to accumulate year after year until there are now large sums outstanding. Money is scarce and many people who are anxious to save their property cannot do so because they haven't the necessary money.

The government now goes to the other extreme and announces that unless all arrears are paid forthwith, delinquent tax sales will be held. It is difficult to understand why after allowing taxes to remain unpaid during years of prosperity the government should choose the very worst time to enforce collections. The object is not to confiscate property but to secure revenue and we think that this object could better attained by waiting for a more propitious time for holding of tax sales.

THE OUTLOOK.

Even the most pessimistic must have his faith in continued dull times considerably shaken by the numerous indications of a big revival in the Boundary country. Mining is the back bone, and never in the history of the Boundary has the outlook been brighter. The Granby company are making active preparations for operations on a scale so extensive that the output of the mines will be limited only by the smelter capacity. The adoption of new methods in mining low grade ores of the Boundary has lessened the cost to such an extent that under the most unfavorable circumstances, a profit can be made. With powerful electrical machinery, with extensive quarries and with all other agencies to secure cheap mining, the Granby and other companies will after meeting the heavy cost of installing the necessary plants, be in a position to pay large and regular dividends.

The Snowshoe company after years of successful development work has decided to erect its own smelter and Mr. Waterlow and other officials of the company are now in the Boundary looking over smelter sites.

In Deadwood and Copper camps, the outlook is equally bright. As the work at the Mother Lode proceeds the evidences of a big mine become more numerous. Only this week a new body of ore was uncovered. This mine alone is capable of supplying ore to a smelter of much larger capacity than the present one and B. C. Copper company owning the mine and the smelter intend adding new furnaces. At the Sunset too, the outlook never was brighter. Then the B. C. mine in Summit camp is to be worked on a large scale after lying idle for some time. A large number of men are now being employed there. As stated in another column the Jewel in Long Lake company will also be exploited on an extensive scale. In Copper camp John Moran is demonstrating that the Big Copper is one of the big properties of the district.

A large number of the smaller properties are coming to the front. In South Deadwood Theo. Witty and associates have a bonanza. The Providence, Gold Finch and other high grade properties will be developed.

All this activity in mining means increased smelter capacity and arrangements are being made to add new furnaces to the local smelters.

Evidently the railway muddle has been cleared up and there is now no good reason why active construction should not be commenced at an early date. The Great Northern has already benefitted this district but when branch lines are extended to all the mining camps this benefit will be greatly increased.

In Greenwood the bright outlook has had its influences. New buildings are being erected; many of those who went away are returning; there is a better feeling among business men and the bankers are getting rid of that worried look which they wore.

Greenwood was once the best and busiest town in B. C. but a still better Greenwood is close at hand.

W. P. Tierney and daughters of Nelson were guests at the Armstrong this week.

THE EDITOR'S EASY CHAIR.

We have made it a rule not to indulge in personal matters in the editorial columns of the Boundary Creek Times. That rule would not be broken were it not for the fact that a little plain speaking is sometimes in the interest of the town. Within a very short time there will be a revival of business in Greenwood. Influences are combining to make the coming year the most prosperous in the history of the Boundary. It is the duty of business men not only in their own interests but in the interests of the city in which most of them have their all, to do everything in their power to promote the best interests of the city.

There is scarcely a town in Canada which does not contain one or more subscribers to the Boundary Creek Times. In the big commercial centres of Great Britain and on the Continent, copies of Greenwood's only paper may be found, The same is true of the cities of United States. From San Francisco to New York and from Duluth to Jacksonville, Florida we have subscribers. Locally those who do not subscribe, borrow or steal their neighbor's copy.

Week in and week out those subscribers read of mines shipping large quantities of ore, new mines being opened up, smelters running full blast commercial men going and coming, buildings being erected and municipal improvements being carried on. Then they turn to the advertising columns of the Times—the best guage of the volume and vigor of the business community and what do they find? First they find that there are three chartered banks doing business here and they naturally wonder what they are here for since taking the only evidence they possess—the advertising columns of the Times—there are only a very few people doing business in Greenwood. Old subscribers who have watched the advertising columns of the Times closely would note that since the Times was first issued just six years ago, Rendell & Co., have been doing business here every week in the year but they would also think that they had almost a monoply of the dry goods business, since none of their competitors names appear in the advertising columns. If these subscribers get other Boundary papers they would note that the Hunter-Kendrick company has stores at Grand Forks and Phoenix but none at Greenwood. They would also notice that there are but few groceries here and only one hardware store. But the most remarkable thing of all is that there is a brewery here which evidently prospered for several years as its advertisement never failed to appear and also a wholesale liquor establishment but not one hotel to sell to. The only place in town where a traveller can get a meal is the Gem Restaurant.

Once we had an hotel that was the pride of Greenwood and we had other hotels that boasted of their cuisine and service but they disappeared from off the face of the earth, if the advertising columns of the Times are to be taken as evidence.

That the people of Greenwood are an intelligent lot is demonstrated by the fact that there are four stationery stores, the proprietors of which are enterprising enough to tell the people that they are here and doing business. Miller Bros., have prospered in the jewelry business for many years but since they sold their drug business it requires some effort to ascertain that they had a successor or that any one else is engaged in the drug business.

Greenwood has no builders nor architects and this probably accounts for the fact that it is necessary to send outside when there is building to be done; no sawmills nor lumber yards and this gives the architects an excuse to include foreign material in his specifications. Like all other towns in British Columbia, it has no doctors, thanks to a wise law which prohibits medical men from announcing that they are on earth. There is no livery stable here and if a stranger wants to visit the mines or surrounding towns, he must walk.

The list might be extended ad infinitum, ad nauseum. The advertising columns of the Times are a libel on the city. They do Greenwood a grave injustice. There are business men here—and plenty of them but they do not appreciate the importance of newspaper advertising—nor do they realize by neglecting to advertise in the local paper they are injuring themselves and the town.

It is an axiom as old as newspaperdom that in a town where a newspaper is published every business man should advertise in it, if nothing more than a card stating his name and business he is in. It does not only pay to advertise, but it lets people at a distance know that the town is a prosperous community of business men. An advertisement in a local paper helps the business man, helps the town and helps the paper. It is rather strange but true, that not one publisher of a newspaper in a small town gets rich by it. Every dollar he receives above actual living expenses goes to make the paper better. The more money he receives the better the paper. The moral is obvious. We will be at our office every day (and every night if necessary) to receive applications for advertising space.

Mayor Naden and J. C. Haas, M. E. left on Monday for California to examine a high grade free milling proposition to which Mr. Naden's attention was called by an old time resident of Greenwood. Mayor Naden will be away about three weeks.

Prodigals Return.

Old timers who sought new fields are returning daily. From Thunder mountain. Alaska, Arizona, the East, South Africa, in fact from all quarters of the globe, Boundary Creekers are returning to their own. They say that this camp is good enough for them and that in all their travels they saw nothing that gave richer promise of a great future. Even that canny Glengary Scotsman I. Robert Jacobs is back again. Like most Scotsmen Robert knows a good thing when he sees it and although acquiring fame and fortune in the east, he couldn't resist the temptation of returning to Greenwood. The return of old timers indicate good times, just as boys playing marbles is a sign that spring has come.

Editors Coming.

A letter from W. T R. Preston, who has charge of the tour of the English editors states that the party will be here on Monday next and asks that the best use of their time be made in showing them the mines—nor in banquetting. It is expected that they will be shown Deadwood camp on Monday and Phoenix Camp Tuesday morning.
