THE PROVIDENCE MINE

Story of a Greenwood's High Grade Mine—Practically Abandoned in 1892 Becomes a Dividend Payer Eleven Years Latter—Result of Mr. Fowler's Intelligent Development and the Mining Company's Successful Exploitation.

On Monday last the Providence Mining company paid Wm. Fowler $12,500, the final installment of the purchase price for the Providence mine. The papers were taken out of escrow and the property legally transferred to the mining company. The incident concludes another chapter in the history of a mine which has established an enviable record among the high grade mining properties of the world and which will from all indications, make rich those men who had confidence in the merits of the property and the courage to invest their money in its purchase.

It is now eleven years ago since prospectors from all parts of the Rocky mountains and the Northwest were attracted by reports of the wonderful showings of both high and low grade ore found on the slopes of Boundary creek. Among the argonauts was William Fowler, a typical pioneer mining man, who had been a prospector for nearly thirty years, and who had tempted fortune in the mineral bearing hills between Yukon and Old Mexico.

THE FIRST LOCATION

Some prospectors in the summer of 1892 were industriously prospecting the Providence mineral claim situated at the mouth of Providence creek and about one mile from the business centre of the present city of Greenwood. There was no town in those days. The only building where the city now stands was a prospector's cabin near Twin creek. Mr. Fowler was not then working the Providence but happened to be on the ground when a piece of float assaying $478 to the ton was found. The parties owning the claim redoubled their efforts to find the lead from which this float came but did not meet with success. Mr. Fowler located some ground in the vicinity, but there were no railways, not even wagon roads in those days. The district was hundreds of miles from railway communication, and as there was but little prospect of securing such communication in the near future Mr. Fowler and other prospectors went south. He prospected through Idaho, as far south as Mexico, and joined the Klondike rush in 1898.

THE BIG COPPER MINES

A new generation of prospectors came to the Boundary. The copper market was booming. Copper went soaring up to 16 and 17 cents per pound and capital was looking for big bodies of copper ore. Attention was diverted from the smaller high grade leads and claims like the Mother Lode, Knob Hill, Old Ironsides, Big Copper, Sunset and many others were located and partially developed. The[y] sold to big mining corporations, railways and smelters were built, and Boundary's reputation as one of the leading copper producers of the world was securely established.

THE TRANSITION STAGE

In the interval of ten years during which these big properties were developed towns grew up and became incorporated and the hills became populated with working miners, bringing with them all the concomitants of a prosperous mining camp, William Fowler was prospecting in other parts, but he never forgot that float on the Providence. Too experienced a miner to be discouraged by indications that might deceive others, and confident that his judgment was not in error, through all these years he was satisfied that the lead was there and that the Providence would make a rich mine.

RETURN TO BOUNDARY

He determined to return to the Boundary district. In 1892 he came on the hurricane deck of a cayuse; in 1901 he came in a passenger car; in 1892 he camped on the banks of Boundary creek; in 1901 he registered at well appointed hotel. But the Providence was still there almost as he left it in 1892. Men were too busy developing the big copper mines to give much time or consideration to the Providence. But the claim had been crown granted years ago. It was held by people in Spokane and it required time and the exercise of considerable patience to secure the property upon terms favorable to the man who was ready to stake his all and use his expert knowledge in converting a mere prospect into a mine.

DEVELOPMENT BEGINS.

Finally in October, 1901, Mr. Fowler succeeded in securing the claim under a lease and bond. He secured the services of Mr. Whitwell, another experienced high grade miner, and they went to work. Experience, rare judgment, intelligence and hard work won out. The lead was discovered in place. The rich float found ten years before did come from a well defined lead in the vicinity and Mr. Fowler had the satisfaction of knowing that he made no mistake when he returned to the Boundary.

LOCAL CAPITAL.

Mr. Fowler did more. He convinced the business men and others in Greenwood that right at the very doors—aye, even within the very limits of the city, there were veins of gold and silver ore that would bring prosperity and population to any mining town. To the credit of Greenwood's business let it be said, that as soon as conviction came they were not slow to act. Mr. Fowler needed money for the further development of the property and local people took a half interest. Among those who became financially interested were W. M. Law, J. A. Russell and J. J. Caulfield. They purchased a half interest in May, 1902. Development was continued and in June a shipment of ore was made to the smelter. The returns were so satisfactory and the ore bodies in the Providence had been so well developed that there was no longer any doubt regarding the value and permanency of the mine.

THE COMING OF MADDEN

The local people interested then decided to acquire Mr. Fowler's remaining half interest in the property and as he believed he could develop other high grade properties in the vicinity he decided to sell, the price for the mine being $50,000, in four equal payments of $12,500 each. The Providence Mining company was organized with a capital of $200,000, divided into 40,000 five dollar shares. While the company was being organized C. J. McArthur wired Mark F. Madden, of Madden Bros., real estate and financial brokers. Chicago, asking if he would take a small interest in the company. Mr. Madden and Mr. McArthur had been boys together back in Collingwood, Ontario. One went to Chicago, and with several brothers established a large financial firm there; the other came west and engaged in mining. Mr. Madden is a typical Chicagoan, always ready to make an investment when there is a fair chance of success and to his friend's wire he replied that he would be glad to take an interest, but wanted more than Mr. McArthur suggested. He came, he saw and was conquered. He was quite willing to take all the interest the local people wished to part with and he and his associates purchased enough stock to furnish the money for the initial payment and leave a working balance in the treasury of the company. They would have taken more, but the returns from shipments of ore were so satisfactory that the stock was withdrawn from the market.

PROVIDENCE MINING COMPANY.

During Mr. Madden's first visit the Providence Mining company was fully organized with the following officers: President, Mark F. Madden. Chicago; vice-president and manager, Duncan F. McIntosh, Greenwood; secretary-treasurer, W. M. Law, Greenwood. The board of directors comprise these and J. J. Caulfield, J. A. Russell, of Greenwood, and J. H. Peat of Spokane. It may be added that W. Macey of Phoenix, went into the original syndicate who purchased Mr. Fowler's half interest and still retains his interest in the company.

THE GOLDEN STORY.

The deal was made and company organized in September, 1902. Since then chapters of the story of the Providence's golden greatness have appeared from time to time in these columns—not for the purpose of boosting the Providence mine because there was no necessity for that because no advantage could be gained since the Providence was able to pay its own way and did not depend upon a capricious stock market. The reason for marking the progress of the Providence was that its success meant much for Greenwood and has encouraged others to develop high grade mines until today there are a half dozen high grade shippers near Greenwood. Mr. McIntosh the superintendent began in September with a force of five men. This force was gradually increased until now nearly fifty men are employed, a hoisting plant has been added and besides the ore shipped a large amount of development work has been done. Sixteen shipments of high grade ore have been made to the Trail smelters and four shipments of second class ore to the Sunset smelter. Below are the shipments and smelter returns:

| Pounds-weight | Value. |
|---|---|
| 20436 | $2 688 35 |
| 25960 | 1 679 06 |
| 6580 | 804 72 |
| 36010 | 1 869 03 |
| 20940 | 2 027 17 |
| 39500 | 1 892 67 |
| 40910 | 3 190 79 |
| 33420 | 2 442 09 |
| 42160 | 2 405 41 |
| 32550 | 2 047 55 |
| 41530 | 3 338 82 |
| 39060 | 2 329 24 |
| 44270 | 3 674 63 |
| 41970 | 1 564 58 |
| 36350 | 3 513 13 |
| 41360 | 4 027 27 |
| 553 006 | 39 694 51 |
| Second class | |
| 48758 | 505 15 |
| 49350 | 502 14 |
| 47182 | 524 09 |
| 55638 | 1005 30 |
| 200 928 | 2 536 68 |

To this should be added about $1,500 which the company has received from the smelter on account of increased price of silver. The figures are given as shown by the certificate of returns from the smelter.

Outside the inital payment these shipments paid the installments of the purchase price, the last having been made on Monday. The mine never looked better, regular shipments will be maintained and regular dividends paid. Of course there are always chances in mining but the Providence will belie all indications if it does not prove a permanent mine and a handsome dividend payer. And the Providence is not Greenwood's only high grade mine. Mr. Fowler set the pace; other mines have reached the shipping stage, development has just begun on some but there are several locations that are lying dormant and which could be developed into dividend paying mines.

Bank Changes.

Mr. Mytton Appointed Manager at Regina.

H. F. Mytton manager of the Greenwood branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce has been appointed manager of the Regina branch and will leave for there in a few days. The promotion is a substantial one. Regina is the capital of the northwest territories and is growing rapidly. The branch of the Bank of Commerce was opened there a short time ago and Mr. Mytton is the first regular manager appointed.

While congratulating Mr. Mytton on his deserved promotion, general regret will be expressed in Greenwood at the loss of a very enterprising and popular citizen. As president of the Greenwood Board of Trade and in various other ways he was always to the front in promoting the best interests of the city and district.

Mr. Mytton's successor here will be W. Allison at present with the Portland branch. Mr. Allison was manager of the bank of B. C. at Kaslo some years ago but later this branch was closed. He is a brother-in-law of Hon. Richard McBride, premier of the province.

Eholt Liberals

Association Organized at Eholt on Tuesday Last

Tuesday evening the Liberals of Eholt and vicinity organized the Eholt Liberal Association. J. R. Brown, president of the Greenwood Liberal Association, and Duncan Ross, secretary of the Interior District Liberal Council, were present and assisted in the work of organization. There was a representative attendance. Officers were elected as follows: President, R. H. Anderson, vice-president, D. J. McDonald; secretary-Treasurer, J. W. McKinnon. The above officers and Fred Kaiser and Sam McGormand constitute the executive. Several liberals at the B. C. and Denoro mines who had intended to be present, were prevented by the very wet night, but they will join the association later on.

Boarding Schools

Rev. Dr. MacRae, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will not be able to return home for another two weeks. He has been arranging for the establishment of a boarding school at Calgary and has met with great success. Similar school may also be established in this province. These schools will be under the auspices of the Presbyterian church. Rev. Dr. Herdman, the superintendent of missions in the west, is anxious that Dr. MacRae should attend the meetings of the synod and general assembly at Vancouver, and explain the objects of and benefits to be derived from the establishment of these schools. Dr. MacRae has arranged that Rev. Mr. Kellogg, a son of the late Rev. Dr. Kellogg of St. James' Square Presbyterian church, Toronto, will occupy the Presbyterian pulpit here next Sunday and the Sunday following.

For Good Health

Board of health matters were the principal subject of discussion at the meeting of the city council on Monday evening. A letter was read from Dr. Schon, medical health officer, regarding the hog cholera; one from the police magistrate reporting the imposition of a fine on the city scavenger for dumping night soil within the city limits; one from a ratepayer complaining that backyards were not kept in a cleanly state, and a petition was received asking that buildings partially destroyed by fire should be torn down, and also outhouses connected therewith After considerable discussion officer Currie was appointed assistant sanitary inspector with instructions to enforce the health bylaw; the fire chief was asked to enforce the clause in the bylaw referring to partially burnt buildings, and the board of health was asked to deal with the complaints against the scavenger.

Cascade Liberals

Cascade liberals organized themselves into an association last week with the following officers: President, Donald Dunbar; vice-president, J. H. Macdonald; secretary-treasurer, R. G. Kitchie; executive committee, James Morrison, H. S. Turner, A. H. Thompson, F. E Tebo. W. H. P. Clement of Grand Forks, who represents that district in the executive of the Interior District Liberal Council, was present and assisted in the organization.

AT LAST

It is said that children cry for Castoria; some children cry after they get Castoria; but it is surely because they are children and not from any lack of virtue in the panacea.

The people of British Columbia proclaimed their belief that the only method of securing responsible government was by the adoption of party lines. A straight conservative government has been formed, and it is surely the height of folly to cry now.

There were circumstances surrounding the calling of Richard McBride to the premiership and the formation of his cabinet that are open to criticism, but these are matters for the stump. If there was treachery, if base ingratitude was shown, and if personal ambitions have been thwarted, they reflect on Mr. McBride and the party of which he is now leader and cannot in any way prejudice the standing of the liberal party with the people.

The great desideratum has been secured; party government has been established. It is a waste of time to now quarrel with the incidents leading up to the desired end. In every great political crisis there are always details that the hypercritical can find fault with. But the people at such a time looked to results and paid little heed to the whining of the disappointed.

What they want are fighters—men who will face the situation as they find it and never flinch when their opponents get an advantage.

It is quite true that the conservatives have come out of the late embroglio with a decided political advantage over their opponents. In these practical days it means much to have control of the reins of government and the patronage of the province. Speaking for ourselves, and ourselves only, we are glad that the liberals are called upon to take the offensive side of the battle. Read British history, read Canadian history and it will be found that the liberal party were always marching upon the entrenchments of the enemy and fighting unitedly for a great cause in the interests of the people. Had a liberal Lieutenant Governor called upon a liberal to organize a government there would have been a howl of partizanship raised; there would have been further intriguing and the desired end in all probability would have been frustrated.

Liberals should, and we believe will, take their medicine like men, and make the best of the situation.

After all something was needed to unite the liberal party in this province. In the past in provincial matters they have been active in fighting themselves and slow in fighting their opponents. There can be no excuse now for further internal bickering. They have now a duty to perform—a duty to themselves, to the great liberal party of this Dominion, and above all a duty to this misgoverned province. When the battle comes, and it must come quickly, the liberals should have for their ammunition the very best policy that the best and most experienced minds in the party can evolve and should have no discord or dissensions within their ranks.

History will repeat itself. British Columbia will secure the highest type of good government when the electors return the liberals to power. That is the destiny of the liberal party. That carries with it a great responsibility. It is no time to whine about what might have been; it is time to fight. The liberals of British Columbia are built of different stuff from those who struggled and won through all the great battles that secured for this dominion the most perfect form of responsible government if they do not now unite to give British Columbia what is its greatest need—good government.

Since the above was written Mr. Martin has tendered his resignation as leader to the executive of the Provincial Liberal Association. In doing so Mr. Martin has shown that he is willing to sacrifice personal ambitions in the interests of the party. His resignation was accepted. Mr. Martin's action will do much towards uniting the party in this province.

Board of Trade

Business Transacted at the Regular Meeting, Wednesday

The regular meeting of the Greenwood board of trade was held on Wednesday afternoon with President Mytton in the chair. W. G. Gaunce acted as secretary. Communications were received from the passenger agents of the C. P. R., Great Northern, and Northern Pacific in reply to letters sent by the board urging that more attention be given to tourist traffic throughout the Kootenays.

Premier Prior and Smith Curtis, M. P. P., acknowledge receipt of communications referring to the creation of a new assessment district.

The New Westminster board of trade asked the co-operation of the Greenwood board in securing radical reforms in the present cost of litigation. Litigation is now so expensive and there are so many opportunities for costly delays that only the rich can indulge in the luxury, and the poor man with a good case often hesitates before entering suit. Barristers Whiteside and Brown were appointed a committee to report on the New Westminster communication.

The president and the secretary were appointed a committee to see provincial officers with the view of ascertaining whether all precautions are being taken to prevent the spread of smallpox on Anarchist mountain, and in the event of the information not being satisfactory, the committee was empowered to wire the premier urging more stringent measures. The board then adjourned.

Court of Revision

The municipal council sat Monday morning and evening as a court of revision and equalization. The complaints were few. F. W. Hart, Phoenix; J. B. Cameron, Wallace, Idaho; Matie Dean, Kaslo, and one or two others complained against a too high valuation, but as the assessed value of their properties was similar to that of property in the immediate vicinity, no changes were made. Property owners should remember that if the assessed valuation is low, the rate of taxation must be correspondingly high. A certain amount of revenue has to be raised to run the municipality and should the assessed value of property be reduced it would mean the imposition of high and special rates.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keiser, the popular hosts at the Commercial hotel, Eholt, have been investing in Spokane realty. Last week they secured two handsome residences on the corner of Main and Division streets for which they paid $10.000. They have also a fine fruit farm a short distance from Spokane.

SOME DENTAL HINTS

Careful cleansing of the teeth is the foundation of all care of the mouth.

Rational care of the teeth and mouth seeks to free the cavity of the mouth of all foreign substance.

Tartar must be removed from time to time. Loose roots and stumps must be extracted. Decayed teeth must be filled, or treated and filled; or extracted.

Artificial substitutes must be inserted in place of natural teeth which have been lost.

The sooner a diseased tooth is treated the more rapidly, painlessly, and cheaper can it be filled For this reason teeth should be thoroughly examined at least twice a year.

It is money well spent to have diseased roots and such as are still firmly implanted filled, and, where necessary, provided with artificial crowns.

A crowded house greeted J. M. McCloskey, the blind entertainer, on Saturday evening last. Mr. McCloskey gave some interesting recitations depicting western life. Mrs. Oliver, Miss Bertha Flesher, Little Gladys Harvey and Tom Murray contributed to the entertainment; Miss Wilson acting as accompaniest. W. G. Gaunce, who was chairman, introduced Mr. McCloskey in an eloquent address.

PARTY LINES AT LAST

committee will consist of the following:

Vancouver Island—R. Hall, W. Sloan. J. Jardine.

Kootenay—The interior district Liberal council, D. Ross, secretary.

Lower mainland—J. Martin, J. C. Brown, J. Oliver and W. J. McMillan.

Middle country—S. Henderson, H. G. Muller, M. P. Gordon, R. Borland, D. Stoddart.

John Houston, chairman of the Conservative association executive, today declared that the action of the Liberals was the most rational yet taken. What is the sense, he said, of a convention declaring some man leader who may not be in the next house, and pledging the support of candidates to him?

Conservatives here seem to repudiate McBride in his new role, and the Colonist sharply lectures him and appeals to his partly loyalty to stand out of the way.

At the house sitting this afternoon, Tatlow reported for the special committee, approving the original estimates in the main but recommending retrenchment in carrying them out. The estimates were passed.

Hon. R. McBride partially completed his cabinet tonight. He retains the post of chief commissioner of Lands and Works. R. G. Tatlow is minister of Finance and Agriculture, A. E. McPhillips, Attorney General and R. F. Green minister of mines. Charles Wilson will be sworn in as President of the Council in week. The post of provincial secretary has not yet been filled. The first cabinet meeting will be held tomorrow.

For Sale—Best vacant corner in Greenwood, lot 13, block 7, at three-fourths assessed valuation for 1903; lot 20, block 13, at one-half assessed value. DAVENPORT & HALL, 703 N. Y. block, Seattle, Wash.

Fire at Deadwood

The Columbia hotel at Deadwood, B. C., was completely destroyed by fire Friday afternoon. The fire was first noticed on the second floor above the kitchen stove. It soon spread, and in a short time the hotel, stables and outhouses were completely destroyed. The hotel was owned by J. Thompson and occupied by Bert Lay, who leased it a short time ago. There was $800 insurance on the building. Lay had no insurance and lost considerable liquors, furniture and supplies.

A FARMER CURED OF RHEUMATISM

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and told him to use it freely and if not satisfied after using it he need not pay a cent for it," says C. P. Rayder, of Pattens Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as a string-and-handed me a dollar saying, 'give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Paim Balm. I want it in the house all the time for it cured me." # PARTY LINES AT LAST

Richard McBride Forms a Tory Government

HOW IT WAS DONE

An Early Appeal to the Electors Will Follow.

VICTORIA, June 2.—The party line line issue in British Columbia politics is at last clearly drawn.

Today Richard McBride, who yesterday was leader of his majesty's opposition in the house, is no longer at the head of that body. He has dissolved his following, and will seek support from those with whom he is associated in Dominion political affairs.

The outcome was not unexpected. After the rising of the house yesterday afternoon, certain members of the McBride party indicated that their vote in favor of adjournment would be reversed today unless McBride formed a straight Conservative government. It then became patent that at the opposition caucus to be held last night a determined effort would be made to force that view on the party.

Events proved that what many predicted would happen actually took place. The majority of the opposition were agreed in the opinion that the party which had won the fight, and whose leader had logically been sent for by his honor to assume the control of affairs, should commonly participate in the fruits of that victory. At the same time due recognition was accorded to the clamor throughout the country for party lines, and the opinion of some of the members seemed to be that to go to the country on any other basis would be to invite defeat.

Finding this sentiment prevailing, the Liberal members gracefully accepted the situation and intimated that after what had been expressed they could only lose in dignity by consenting to serve longer in their old relation. No vote, so it is stated, was taken but the situation was tacitly accepted by all present.

At a late hour last night McBride announced that he had decided to form a government on party lines. It would be a Conservative ministry, and he would attempt, if possible, to pass supply in the house.

This morning Tatlow was sworn in as president of the council.

The new premier, realizing the debt he owes to the large following of Liberals who have assisted very materially in placing him in the position he today occupies, says he is prepared to deal fairly with them. In the supply which is proposed to be voted, he wants no unfair advantage to be taken. He is satisfied that the estimates to be presented for consideration of the house to cover necessities of the time intervening before the new house can be called together, should be fairly distributed.

In line with this idea, a committee of the house, composed of five from each side, were asked this morning by McBride to undertake a revision of the estimates, and to consider any items which might be of a contentious character. This committee went to work, and consisted of Semlin, Paterson, Tatlow, Fulton and Kidd, for the old opposition, Clifford, Houston, McInnes, Hall and Ellison for the old government party.

The step which has been taken has caused a good deal of bitterness. Conservatives regard this step of the opposition leader as rather sharp practice on his part in supplanting the recognized head of the party, and in response to a telegram Charles Wilson, the leader, came down from the mainland last night. Houston, of Nelson, chairman of the Conservative executive, is a gentleman who is supposed to accurately represent the views of the party. Houston looks very much askance at the new chief, and if any one wants to make the Nelson legislator warm he need only ask him his opinion of the probable outcome for the Conservative party in the Kootenays with its aggregation of dismissed and discredited chiefs and its new leader.

Among Liberals there is a disposition to accept the situation philosophically. Men like Munroe, Oliver and Paterson are recognized as heavyweights of the old opposition party, and without their prestige much of what has been accomplished could not have taken place. It is probable that the disintegration of the party would have come sooner had not Mr. McBride repudiated as an error and a slip of the tongue, on the day of the defeat of the Prior government, a statement that he favored an appeal to the country at once on party lines.

Smith Curtis, on the other hand, warmly approves the position Mr. McBride has taken.

On every hand Liberals are insisting that the party must now be got together, its differences healed and a united front presented for the approaching fight.

The slate of ministers which McBride will ultimately submit to his honor was stated by one of his closest friends this morning to be as follows:

Premier and chief commissioner of lands and works, R McBride; minister of finance, R. G. Tatlow; attorney general, Charles Wilson; minister of mines, R. F. Green; provincial secretary, J. F. Fulton; president of the executive council, A. E. McPhillips.

R. E. Gosnell will continue to act as the premier's private secretary.

VICTORIA, June 3—The resignation of the Liberal leadership by Joseph Martin at the meeting of the provincial executive in Vancouver today has enormously increased the prospects of victory for that party at the next election. There is now a disposition on the part of the Liberals on all sides to accept the decision of the executive not to hold a convention but to allow a committee to arrange the campaign and allow the members of the next house to select their own leader. ## Residence Destroyed.

J. B. Derosier's Home Consumed by Fire Wednesday Evening.

The two story residence of J. B. Derosier situated near the brow of the hill almost opposite the C. P. R. railway station was completely destroyed by fire on Wednesday evening. The cause was a defective flue. The fire broke out through the roof about ten o'clock at night. When Mr. Derosier noticed the blaze the roof was a mass of flames. There were no facilities for extinguishing the blaze and Mr. Derosier turned his attention to saving the furniture. But few people in the city noticed the fire. J. R. Brown and one or two others went up and helped to remove the furniture to a place of safety.

The loss is fully $2,000. The house cost $1,500 and besides stables and out houses were destroyed. There was only $800 insurance.

The estimates, supplimentary estimates were passed yesterday and the legislature prorogued. Among the votes passed was one of $7,000 to complete the West Fork road. The other estimates for this district were passed as brought down about a month ago.

Granby Directors Inspect Company's Mines.

WILL RESUME OPERATIONS

On the Athelston Mine, Situated in Wellinton Camp

PHOENIX, June 3.—A party of leading authorities in the copper industry of the North American continent, accompanied president S. H. C. Miner to day on an inspection of the Granby mines in this camp.

Included in the party were John Stanton, the noted copper statistician and president of the five large companies operating in the lake section of Michigan; Clement S. Houghton, capitalist, of Boston; A. L. White, of New York; J. B. Francis Herreshoff, vice-president of the Nichols Chemical Co., of New York; which refines all the copper produced in British Columbia; W. A. Paine, of Boston, largely interested in the Michigan copper mines, and Geo. Martin Luther, general manager of the Nichols Chemical Co., and the General Chemical Co., all of whom are Granby directors. With these were general manager Graves, H. N. Galer, A. C. Flumerfelt and A. B W. Hodges, smelter manager, all of the Granby Co.

The party thoroughly inspected the company's property both above and below ground and expressed themselves as most highly pleased with the general plan of development and the bright prospects of the properties. They left today for Butte, via Spokane and Grand Forks, travelling in their own special Pullman palace car, the Lucania.

Operations are being resumed on the Athelstan mine, one of the well-known properties of Wellington camp. David Oxley, foreman when the property ceased operations a couple of years ago, has been ordered by the management to secure a force of men and start work at once.

The Athelstan is owned by the Athelstan Gold & Copper Mining company, Limited, and has a capital of $50,000, the officers being James Anderson, president; John Mack, vice-president, and W. J. Morrison, secretary-treasurer. In 1900 it shipped about 1200 tons of ore, largely to the Granby smelter, and in the fore part of 1901 about 550 tons were shipped to the Boundary Falls smelter, afterwards acquired by the Sunset mineowners. It is understood that an arrangement has now been made with the Sunset smelter to treat the ore at low figures, it being specially desirable for mixing with other ores as a flux.

Last winter the announcement was made that the Athelstan company had disposed of its property to the owners of the Morrison mine, which is located in Deadwood camp, and which is preparing to ship to the Sunset smelter on a considerable scale. This deal, however, was not finally carried through, it appears, and the property will now be worked by the company itself, and the ore sent to the smelter on Boundary creek.

The total development work on the Athelstan consists of about 450 lineal feet, which includes two shafts, 60 and 70 feet deep, respectively. The ore is an arsenical iron, the chief value being gold with a little silver. The mine is directly on the Phoenix-Grand Forks wagon road, and distant from the end of the Winnipeg mine spur about a mile, whence the ore is sent out to the smelters. The Athelstan will be the first of the three prominent shipping mines in Wellington camp to resume operations.

J. P. Flood is spending a few days in the city.

Curtis Acts

VICTORIA, June 5.—[Special to The Times.]—Smith Curtis has requested the government to enforce the penalty of $2 per ton on the shortage of coke to Boundary smelters, according to the agreement with the Crow's Nest Southern railway. R. F. Green, minister of mines, will investigate immediately.

The municipality has repurchased debentures amounting to $5000. The purchase was a portion of the first issue made in 1898. The money had accrued in the sinking fund. The debentures were purchased a little less than par and the purchase will save interest on that amount for the fifteen years they still had to run.

Albert I. Goodell superintendent of the Sunset smelter returned this week from Fernie where he endeavored to make arrangements for a better supply of coke. He is not hopeful that the situation will sufficiently improve to keep the both furnaces at the smelter running.

The next session of the provincial normal school will commence on Monday, July 6th, at the Roberts School, Vancouver. All teachers who are holders of certificates, obtained under the old regulations, are eligible to attend at this session. Forms of application, and any other necessary information desired can be procured from the Principal Provincial Normal School, Vancouver, B. C.

The Denoro Mines, Limited, have purchased through R. H. Anderson, the superintendent of the mine, the Iron Dollar mineral claim from J. W. Cheer. The Iron Dollar is situated south of the Oro Denoro. Mr. Cheer did considerable development work on the property and a large ledge of copper ore has been uncovered. Since the Denoro company was reorganized considerable development work has been done under Mr. Anderson's superintendence. The mine is in a position to ship as soon as the C. P. R. spur to the property is completed.
