MOST SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT

The Greenwood Boy Scouts, "Premier's Own," Entertain Greenwood.

Greenwood has every reason to be proud of her Boy Scouts, and especially of the excellent training they have received at the hands of their most painstaking Scoutmaster, R. G. Hargreaves.

On Friday evening, September 23rd, the Greenwood Troop of the B. P. Boys' Scouts gave a Soiree and Dance at the Greenwood Auditorium, which was attended and enjoyed by over 400 of the citizens of the town.

Sharp, at 6:30, the troop assembled at the Scouts' barracks, on Church street, and were inspected by the visitors, Martin Burrell, M. P., of Ottawa, and John R. Jackson, M. P., of Victoria, accompanied by several prominent citizens. The troop, under the leadership of their popular Scoutmaster, then marched to the Windsor hotel, where the boys did ample justice to the capital repast prepared by the hotel management.

At 8 o'clock the Auditorium began to fill, and at 8:30 there was standing room only, evidence of their good will, and appreciation of their fellow towns people of the good work of the Scoutmaster and his troop of well-behaved boys.

On the arrival of the boys, who formed into line at the back of the big hall, Mrs. Sidney Oliver opened the evening's program with the "Imperial Federation March," and the troop, in their picturesque uniforms, to the rattle of their kettle drums, marched forward and gave the "General Salute" with much precision, and then filed out of the hall to the stage, where the rest of the program was ably and effectively carried out.

F. W. McLaine, chairman of the reception committee, addressed the vast audience as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen—In January, 1907, almost four years ago, Mr. Hargreaves first organized the Boys' Brigade of Greenwood. Some 33 boys were enrolled and the basement of the English church was made their headquarters. As far as possible attention was given to the boys' physical development, which, as we all know, is one of the best means for the welfare of the youth as well as the grown up.

In the summer months most of their time was devoted to outdoor work. In the winter months they were taught useful things, such as first aid to the injured, gymnastics, boxing, etc. This winter it is the intention of Mr. Hargreaves to take up telegraphy with the boys.

In 1908 a Bugle band was formed, consisting of some 22 boys, and on several occasions, such as the 24th of May, the boys led the procession, and proved an efficient and valuable asset to the city. Unfortunately, owing to several families leaving Greenwood that year, the boys' ranks were thinned and the Bugle band had to be disbanded. However, a great many boys still remained, and through the generosity of our Greenwood citizens, who are interested in the movement, the boys were outfitted with uniforms.

The Boy Scouts' regular meetings are held every Wednesday evening at their barracks, on Church street, and I am sure that if you will only take the time and trouble to visit them, and visitors, I may add, are made very welcome, you will see with pleasure, as I have done, just what the Scouts do and learn, under the able tutelage of Scoutmaster Hargreaves.

That the Greenwood Troop of Boy Scouts is financially in excellent shape I am sure you will agree, or they have at the present moment some $200 to their credit in the Bank of Commerce. (Applause.) You must also remember, ladies and gentlemen, that this boys' organization is practically run by themselves, they having their own committee, chairman and secretary, of course under the supervision of Scoutmaster Hargreaves, and this in itself has its useful side, for the boys are learning to be self-reliant and business-like.

I believe that what you see here this evening will convince you that the boys are being taught useful lessons which will be of value to them in later life, and I hope some of you will find time to encourage the boys and visit them at their headquarters.

Before sitting down, I would like to say a few words of appreciation of Mr. Hargreaves. I am sure there is no one I know of who has so devoted his time and energies to the welfare and real interests of the boys of Greenwood. It is not only on Wednesday night, but every night, in all his spare time after his day's work, and he is, as we all know, a most busy man, and he devotes himself to the furtherance of this Boy Scout movement, heart and soul. That the boys really appreciate him and his disinterested services for them, you will shortly see for yourself. I cannot find words to express all I feel, and the esteem in which Mr. Hargreaves is held by myself and those who fully understand his good work. I am content to leave the program, which follows, in your hands, and let you see for yourself what has been done for the boys of Greenwood. (Applause.)

Following Mr. McLaine's introductory remarks, the curtain went up and discovered two pioneer scouts on the stage amidst wild mountain scenery, who, having located a good site for camp, signalled the troop, which soon appeared, and changed a bare stage in a few moments into a busy camp with tents pitched, fires lighted, and sentries posted. A prettier tableau than the result when the lights of the whole hall were extinguished, and the boys were arranged around the ruddy fires, cannot be imagined. This item met with great applause from the delighted audience.

The next item was a song, "Tenting Tonight," by Mr. P. H. McCurrach, accompanied by the Boy Scouts. Mr. McCurrach's clear tenor voice and the boys' voices blended charmingly together, and was in every way a most musical treat.

A spirited boxing exhibition by Scouts W. Medill and C. McArthur, three rounds of good sparring, and capital defence, was much appreciated by the assemblage, exhibiting considerable pluck, science and good nature.

Semaphore signalling and rope tying by the Scouts followed. Chairman McLaine handed a written message to the signalling corps on the stage, who signalled it to the Scouts at the back of the hall, who transcribed it and read, "The Boy Scouts of Greenwood extend a hearty welcome to all here."

The rope tying was a typical evidence of the practical knowledge which is a part of the boys' training.

Then followed a charming recitation, "Canadian Born," by Miss Alice McMynn, which called for much applause and elicited a most vivacious encore. Miss McMynn was the smiling recipient of two lovely bouquets, and made a most pleasing first appearance in her home town.

First aid to the injured was most ably portrayed, broken legs, heads and arms were effectively bandaged, and a most comfortable and serviceable stretcher, constructed by the Boy Scouts, and two staves, on which the wounded were conveyed from the body of the hall to the camp. The work was splendidly done and the audience showed their appreciation by rounds of applause.

Scout G. Craig next recited the "Boy Scout" in excellent style, and was enthusiastically received.

Striking camp by the Scouts was the last item on the program, and tents, fires, blankets and all the paraphernalia of camp disappeared in a minute, the troop formed and marched to the center of the hall, where medals were presented by the Rev. F. M. Hilton to the boys who have best tried to uphold and further the interests of the local troop for the period March-August, 1910, who were named by Mr. Hargreaves, as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen—Last February it was decided that I should give a gold medal to the boy whom I thought had done the best to uphold and further the interest of the local troop. What is meant by this is attendance at Scout meetings and church parades, most marks for the different subjects that have been taught, general behavior, not only on Scout meeting nights, but in their every day life. It might be mentioned here that no boy is allowed to smoke, or use bad language. On mentioning the matter to Mr. Fred McLaine, he said the idea was a good one, but he thought it would create more interest among the boys if some non-resident would give the medal. This he not only arranged, but was the means of another two being added, making a first, second and third. The first, a gold one, by Mr. Martin Burrell; the second, a silver one, by Mr. John R. Jackson (here I might add that Mr. Jackson wanted to give a gold medal also.) To make up the three Mr. Fred McLaine gave a bronze one.

To all these gentlemen I am very much indebted, as they have been the means of a very interesting competition, as everyone here has had the opportunity of judging. The competition closed on August 31st, and the following are the winners, with the number of marks received by each:

Scout W. Smith..... 92
Corp. Bugler S. Hart..... 80
Bugler W. Fair..... 74

I might also mention that latterly the competition was very keen, and another Scout has run very close—Scout G. Craig. I am pleased to announce that a bronze medal will also be given to George Craig.

In presenting the medals the Rev. Mr. Hilton, rector of St. Jude's church, Greenwood, said:

Before presenting these medals, I would like to say a few words to you this evening. First, I wish to congratulate Mr. Hargreaves and these boys on the very excellent performance they have given us. I have learned many things tonight. In my life in England I have seen a great deal of work done by boys, but I have never seen anything done better. (Applause.) They are No. 1, you know, and I think they should be called "A" No. 1. I shall always think of them as such. Mr. Hargreaves is indeed very much to be congratulated on the work he has done, and we as Greenwood people are to be congratulated on having such a very efficient and fine looking troop of the world-wide organization known as the Boy Scouts.

The boys are receiving an excellent training, learning to have a respect for themselves, each other, and for other people, which is a very good

THE PREMIER'S SPLENDID SPEECH

Premier McBride in his speech before the Canadian Manufacturers' association at their banquet in Vancouver last week demonstrated again that happy faculty which he possesses of always rising to the occasion and making the most of all opportunities offered him for advancing the interests of his province. Next to the House of Commons itself there is possibly no public gathering in Canada where matters of high polity are given to the country with the same weight as in the questions of public import discussed at the annual banquet of this organization. At their banquets in the east they have been addressed by premiers of the Dominion, and on more than one occasion by the representative of the Crown in Canada. It was, therefore, an occasion when much was expected of British Columbia's premier, and it was a gratifying as well as fortunate moment for us all when the people of this province were given yet another opportunity of seeing how splendidly the man of their choice discharged the duty in their behalf of representing the province in the fitting manner which he did. Even British Columbians, who thought they knew Premier McBride, were not a little surprised with the effort, showing as it did, the deep knowledge he possessed of the province with its resources and possibilities, and better still, was the opportunity he gave them of realizing that his optimism for British Columbia's future was in nowise provincial or sectional in its character, but sounded the higher note of true Canadianism. He seemed to realize that he was not only representing his province and showing what part it was able to contribute to the sum of Canada's greatness, but that he was also in a sense acting as host to distinguished visitors from the eastern provinces, and that he succeeded in discharging that duty with consummate skill was plainly shown by the enthusiasm with which they received his address and reciprocated his high aims for a united, prosperous Canada, true to her allegiance to the British crown.—Hedley Gazette.

There may not be much connection between Korea and the Panama canal, but there is a good deal of similarity between the situation in the Panama and that which existed in Korea. Various countries, or rather eminent people in various countries, had their ideas as to what Japan should or should not do in Korea. She proceeded to do what she saw fit. Instead of respecting the independence of Korea and the Koreans as they thought she should, she proceeded to annex that country. She has even wiped out the very name. There is no Korea now; it is Cho-Sen, a Japanese territory.

The erection of fortifications along the Panama canal having been mentioned as necessary by a prominent public man of the United States, various public journals in Europe are discussing the propriety of such action and the desirability of making diplomatic representations on the subject. They may save their breath. The United States will fortify the canal.

The big ditch is of vital importance to the United States. She needs it to provide a short way for her merchant marine and for her navy between her Atlantic and her Pacific coasts. She is spending several hundred million dollars upon its construction. She will make sure of its safety, not only by fortifications, but by controlling the government of the neighboring Central American republics.

Does any European country care as much about preventing her from doing these things as she cares about doing them? If it does can it prevent her? Will it try?

There is no necessity for spending millions of dollars fortifying the Panama canal when the mosquito fleet is always stripped for action.

MAKING GOOD IMPROVEMENTS

Times are undoubtedly not as brisk as we would wish to see them, but there is a mighty good evidence that there is no setting down and weeping over the fact when we observe that all our hotels are brushing up, and seem determined not to let any biz go by them that they can corral.

The Imperial has always the appearance that cleanliness and neatness is followed closely in all the appointments that go to make the guest most comfortable.

The Pacific has lately refloored its ground flat and made other improvements which makes it strictly up to the times.

The Windsor has remodeled its office and repapered and laid linoleum in the dining room, which gives it a cosy and decidedly homelike appearance.

The Norden don't shout very much but it gets there all the same, and it manages to have its guests repeat their visits.

The National is a rendezvous for all the old bach's who seek retirement and are not to be disturbed while filling up.

Taking our town's hostelrys and bunching all together, you cannot improve upon them anywhere. The proprietors are ready to cater to all your requirements. The viands are well cooked and well served. Hand-some potted flowers adorn the tables and offices, and, to top all, the rates are very moderate indeed.

Construction of the Vernon drill hall and armory will be begun this autumn.

It looks as if the governments of the United States and Canada would have to take prompt and strenuous measures if they are to prevent the introduction of Asiatic cholera into this continent.

on. The end will come when business men on this coast present their case clearly to the right authorities. The railways have this habit. The custom of moving farm products eastward, to the mill and the port is hard to vary in favor of the west.

But the time has come when there is to be no east and no west in the matter of transportation rates. Other things being equal, the rates must also be equal.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has some important patronage on his hands at this moment. There is a vacancy on the railway commission. The position of government agent in Paris is to be filled.

OUTLINES OF CURRENT EVENTS

Marshall Hall will not take the leading part in the defence of Crippen as announced. Chavey, the Peruvian aviator who crossed the Alps in a monoplane, and fell 7,000 feet, has died of his injuries.

Wilfrid Baker's residence in the Ruckle Addition, Grand Forks, was burnt to the ground on Wednesday night last, with full contents. There is a probability of Sir Frederick Borden assuming the Governorship of Nova Scotia, in succession to the late Hon. D. C. Fraser.

TRANSPORTATION

The organization of a Transportation Bureau to conserve the interest of this province in freight matters does not commence too soon. There is no doubt that freight rates from the coast eastward are much higher than the coast westward.

It is impossible to defend the discrimination shown in the figures given at the Board of Trade meeting recently. In some comparisons the mountain grades are given as the reason for the higher rates which interfere with distribution from Vancouver, and with the export of prairie grain by the Vancouver route.

Another contingent of Doukabor numbering 800, came in last week from Saskatchewan, their destination being Brilliant, a new settlement, and the balance for Grand Forks.

Mr. John A. Kirk, warden of Dorchester penitentiary, is dead. He is remembered by the older politicians as a former representative of Guvboro county in the House of Commons.

It is a lean fruit year in Eastern Canada, but in British Columbia such profligacy of apples, pears, plums, cherries, and strawberries, has never been seen.

Everything is coming West, even the crops. The Bishop of London in an interview said that he was exceedingly pleased with his visit to Canada, and was gratified to find that the church work was in such a flourishing condition.

Governor D. C. Fraser, of Nova Scotia, died at Guvboro, on September 27. His remains were conveyed by government steamer to Halifax and thence on train to New Glasgow, where interment took place.

OKANAGAN FRUIT

What the people of the prairie provinces think of the peaches of the Okanagan country is eloquently exemplified by a telegram to Reeve R. H. Agur, of Summerland, by Mr. E. E. Samson, manager of the Okanagan-Fruit Union, Ltd., a copy of which Hon. Price Ellison, minister of lands, exhibited on his return to Victoria recently.

The message came from Winnipeg, to which city a carload of Okanagan peaches had been shipped by the union. The exhibition was for but the briefest space, for here is what Manager Sampson had to report by wire: "Carload peaches all sold within 90 minutes. Duplicate order quickly if quality and price are the same."

Mr. Ellison, who has returned from a hurried official visit to his constituency, states that not only the peaches, but all fruits, indeed, all natural products of the district, are this year being sent to market in prize condition. Although it is as yet early in the season, the fruit on the whole is showing size, color and quality, bringing the highest market returns.

So heavy are the demands made upon the transportation company in the quick handling of the Okanagan crop that although there is now a double daily freight service on the Shuswap & Okanagan line, it is found necessary in order to get consignments through to attach fruit refrigerator cars to each outgoing passenger train.

One of the richest strikes made in the California mine, one of the gold properties on Toad mountain, has just been reported. It consists of the sudden widening out to a width of three feet of a small but rich ledge, the average sample of which assays $68.70.

The Boundary Exploration company's coal mine at Midway is showing up with most excellent coal. This is verified by an expert and also the mine boss. Work on the property preparatory to an output is now being rushed to a completion, and the output for shipping in the near future is extremely good.

Mr. G. H. Carper, a prominent Winnipeg lawyer, has just completed in Vancouver a bargain by which an eastern syndicate he represents has taken over 5,000 acres of coal lands near New Pass, near Michel, on the New West coast, for a payment of $400,000 has been paid by the purchasers. The new owners intend to operate the properties on a large scale.

Last week the consolidated Co.'s smelter at Trail received the following amounts of ore, in addition to the tonnage from Rossland: St. Eugene, 50 tons; Queen, 39 tons; Highland, 45 tons; Snowshoe, 2,125 tons; Richmond-Eureka, 22 tons; Emerald, 34 thing, and the drill which they have to go through is good for them physically. I hope to see a good deal of Troop No. 1. It will always be a pleasure to me to look in on them and see how they get along.

I will now proceed to give the medals. Willie Smith, I have much pleasure in presenting you with the gold medal. You deserve every congratulation; I hope you will take care of it all your life.

Stanley Hart, you have been fortunate enough to win the silver medal, which I am sure you will appreciate and value. May you take care of it all your life.

Worthington Fair, you have won the bronze medal, which is very creditable to you. Take care of it.

Much cheering and applause accompanied the presentations. The Chairman then rose.

Ladies and Gentlemen—We have another very pleasing presentation to make tonight, and I would like Scoutmaster Hargreaves to step this way.

Mr. J. D. Spence then addressed the audience:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, and members of Greenwood Corps No. 1—This is not on the program. I can assure you that Mr. Hargreaves knows nothing whatever about this very pleasant duty which has been entrusted to me. You have seen only a small portion of the work of the Boy Scouts here tonight. Very pleasant work it is, and very orderly and systematic. But in order to make it thus pleasant and interesting to the boys, as well as instructive, there has to be a great deal of hard work done behind the scenes. There have to be days, and nights, too, spent by some one in order to produce this excellent result, and the man who has done the hard work, and to whom the credit is due for this showing is Scoutmaster Hargreaves. (Applause.)

Scoutmaster Hargreaves is one of the most modest men in the world. I am sure that this is a positive pain to him. It has taken some little time for Mr. Hargreaves' good work to become known and appreciated here in Greenwood, but those who have come to know him, have found him a gentleman and a good citizen. (Applause.)

There is no greater proof of his good citizenship than the work which he has been doing so quietly and so conscientiously for years past among the boys of Greenwood. Now, he has not had all the encouragement and support that he should have had. I know for myself, that were I staying in Greenwood, I should for one, take a more active interest in the "Premier's Own," and do all I could to help the Scoutmaster in his undertakings.

Some of Mr. Hargreaves' friends, and I can assure you that he has a great many, and some of the friends of Corps No. 1, have thought it well to arrange for a gold medal for the Scoutmaster, and I have great pleasure, Mr. Hargreaves in presenting it to you in token of the appreciation of the citizens of Greenwood of the work you have done for Corps No. 1, and for this city. (Applause.)

In responding, Mr. Hargreaves thanked everybody. Latterly the work has been a very great pleasure to me. The fine showing the boys have made in their lessons taught them, the interest taken by the parents and others in the boys' work has been a great encouragement. When I first took up this great work I had to cope with much opposition, and it was up-hill work indeed. I wish to thank everybody who has taken part in this evening's entertainment, especially the committee who have helped so bravely to make the evening a success; all those who kindly decorated the hall, and took so much of the general arrangements off my hands. I am sure you will agree with me that the boys are the better for their training, and I hope you will all assist me as much as possible in the work I am trying to do for the betterment of the Greenwood boys. (Applause.)

The presentation of the colors, a fine Union Jack, given to the troop by Premier McBride, was made by Martin Burrill, M. P., who spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen of Greenwood, and Mr. Hargreaves and Boy Scouts—I esteem it a very great pleasure, sir, to have the honor to address a few words to you, and I also esteem it a very great honor to be able to present this flag to your troop which Premier McBride has given to you. Like others here, this evening's entertainment has been somewhat of a revelation to me. We have all been familiar with the life history of Sir Baden Powell, one of England's great generals, a man whose name stands for British right and might all over the empire. A man who stood for Britain and her flag in far off South Africa, and who will be long remembered for his noble defense of Mafeking, an outpost of British rule in that great war. A man who, after he had given his great service to the Empire, instead of retiring as many might have done, content with the laurels of an honorable military career, has devoted his intimate knowledge of life, and unique energies, to the greatest movement for the welfare and development of young men the world has seen, the Baden-Powell Boy Scouts, named after himself, the founder and organizer of the movement. So wide has become its popularity that I am creditably informed there are no less than 200,000 Boy Scouts in Great Britain alone. A few days ago, while addressing 2,000 Boy Scouts at Ottawa, Sir Baden Powell stated that the movement had not only spread to the furthest outposts of our glorious Empire, but that on landing recently in the Argentine Republic, he was greeted and welcomed by a large contingent of Boy Scouts. The same experience was met with in Peru and Chile. So you see it is not only in Great Britain and her over-sea Dominions that Boy Scouts learn to be men, but in almost every civilized land, the good work being done here in Greenwood, for the benefit of the boys, our successors in a few years of life's responsibilities and duties, is being carried out.

This flag, which is the token and emblem of our race as British subjects has been donated to you by Premier McBride, who, I am sure, would have wished to present it to you in person, and I am sure I am only expressing what he would himself have said to you, when I urge you to uphold the honor of your country's flag, your province, and your town, and quit you like men in all things.

It was a great pleasure to me to visit your headquarters and to see the character of the work you are doing, and a great pleasure to meet your most excellent Scoutmaster. I can truly say that the welfare of the members of the Premier's Own Boy Scouts is in good hands.

The singing of the National anthem brought the program to a close. The ball, which took place afterwards, was a most enjoyable one, and only came to a reluctant end at 4:30 a. m., and was in every way a credit to all concerned.

A REMARKABLE MEMORY

At the western end of Lake Superior stands the town of Duluth, Minnesota, and here lives the only man in the world who has committed the whole of the bible to memory. His name is William Frederick, a travelling salesman of that town. He did not undertake this task from any other object than a simple love of the book. It took him 18 years to do it, and he can not only quote any passage of any length from either the Old Testament or the New, but can specify the book and the chapter of the book in which it is to be found, Genises to Revelations.

Young girls frequently require a good invigorating and blood making tonic. For this purpose nothing equals Ferronin, which is prepared from fresh lean beef, Citrate of Iron and pure old Spanish Sherry Wine. It soon brings color to the cheeks and strengthens the whole system. $1 a bottle.

CHRISTMAS FRUIT

A fine opportunity will be afforded those having friends in the Old Country to send them very acceptable Christmas gifts this year, and to incidentally give our fruiters a good advertisement. Many people have, in former years, desired to forward packages of fruit to their friends in Great Britain, but have been deterred by the high express charges and the uncertainty of the fruit reaching its destination in good condition. These difficulties have now been overcome by an arrangement between the Vernon Board of Trade and the C. P. R. whereby a shipment of fruit will be sent forward in November at car rates, in cold storage, and will be distributed by an agent in Liverpool to those to whom it is addressed. The charge will probably not exceed 80 cents a box, and it will be handled in such a manner as to ensure safe and speedy delivery in good condition. Mr. H. P. Lee, of Vernon, has been authorized by the Board of Trade to take charge of this shipment, and will be glad to furnish further information to those desiring to avail themselves of this opportunity. The papers of the interior are requested to make mention of this, as by so doing they will probably confer a favor upon some of their local readers.

IN THE BONEYARD

Some blamed good fellows lie asleep down yonder where the tall grass waves, but no one ever comes to weep, or plant rosebushes on their graves. They calmly rest in paupers' beds, and wait the judgment, in a row, no shining tombstones o'er their heads, no requiem but the winds that blow. They were the shiftless, trifling lads, upon a weary world turned loose; they never learned to nail the scads, and salt them down for winter use. It's pretty tough that some must sleep in unmarked, bargain counter graves, because their plunks they cannot keep; the honor's for the man who saves. A man whose eyes are wide apart, whose hands are reaching in his jeans, who listens rather to his heart than to the teachings of his brains, is apt to join the pauper crowd, and perish after many knocks, and wear a cheap, old-fashioned shroud, and slumber in a misfit box. Whereas, if he is shrewd and wise, with lips that close up like a hasp, and little space between the eyes, and hands that hang to what they grasp, his death will fill the town with gloom, and mourners will bewail the day, and he will have a carking tomb in which to loaf the years away.—Walt Mason.

Effective, economical, pleasant. What more can you ask. Davis' Menthol Salve fulfills these specifications and is the best remedy for bites and stings, skin diseases, piles, etc. 25c. per tin.

WARNING

Don't drink water out of the creeks at this time of the year, is the warning issued today by Dr. G. E. Richards who states that serious consequences will follow unless the practice is stopped. At this time of year the creeks are becoming full of dead fish.

HE FEARED BLOOD POISON

But Zam-Buk saved his thumb

HE FEARED BLOOD POISON

But Zam-Buk saved his thumb

Once again a case is reported in which the popular balm Zam-Buk has saved a worker from the terrible effects of blood-poisoning. Mr. Alfred Hy. Orth, of Shipley, Ont., says: "While at work I had the misfortune to run a rusty nail under my thumb nail, to the depth of one and a half inches. The pain was terrible and what I feared was that the nail, being so dirty and rusty, would set up festering and blood-poison. I knew from previous experience how good Zam-Buk was, so I cleaned the thumb, melted a little Zam-Buk, and ran it into the wound. The result was wonderful! It soothed the pain and the thumb actually did not swell. Zam-Buk kept away all inflammation. I was able to go on with my work all the time, and in a few days the thumb was as good as ever. A balm which can do this should be in every working man's home."

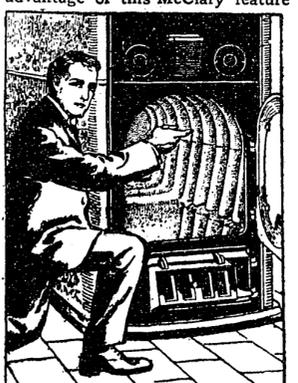

Zam-Buk is the finest form of "insurance" for all workers. Its anti-septic power is so great that no disease germ can live in it; and if immediately applied to a sore or injury, or diseased patch, all danger of blood-poison is averted.

Being composed of pure vegetable essences, Zam-Buk is an ideal balm for babies and young children, and mothers will find it far superior to the ordinary salves some of which contain harmful mineral poisons, rancid animal fat, etc.

Zam-Buk is a sure cure for ulcers, abscesses, eczema, ringworm, blood-poison, scalp sores, chapped hands, cold sores, inflamed patches, bad leg, varicose veins and ulcers, piles, cuts, burns, bruises, and all skin diseases and injuries. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50c a box, 3 for $1.25. Post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Avoid harmful imitations and substitutes.

MAGNET Wood Furnace

McClary's Magnet Wood Furnace has a fire-box with corrugated sides—not straight like the fire-box in ordinary wood furnaces. The Magnet corrugated fire-box, if stretched out straight, would be one-third longer. You can readily see the advantage of this McClary feature—it nearly doubles the heating power and gives you the best results. The Magnet fire-box is better, stronger, heavier than you'll find in other wood furnaces, and it is in only two pieces, held together with McClary Oil Cement at the joint (cup-shaped) so no fumes, smoke or gas can escape. The McClary agent in the nearest town will show you all of the good points of the Magnet. Write to the nearest McClary branch for booklet. No charge.
