SPOKANE MINERS DIG MIDWAY COAL

Dusky diamonds will be dug all the year 'round and for many years in the property of the Midway Coal & Coke company, by the calculation of the operators, it having been found that the estate is underlaid with nine seams, each of which promises a tonnage that appears to be almost inexhaustible.

The Midway Coal & Coke company is the last born of corporations that have acquired a slice of the carbon belt marking the British Columbia side of the international line for twelve miles. Its possessions, comprised of 320 surface acres and 3200 acres in addition on which mineral rights are held, lie between and near the property of the Myers Creek Coal & Coke company and the Boundary Mining & Exploration company, scenes of energetic development.

High grade bituminous coal is found in the upper seams and a semi-anthracite at depth. Free from sulphur and iron it yields no clinkers. Its coking qualities are described as excellent and the development of a high grade blacksmith carbon, such as found in Pennsylvania, is anticipated. Having physical conditions like its better developed neighbors, the Midway is expected to become equally as responsive. It has been examined by R. E. Raven of London, S. Pickelmann of New York, Archibald Burnett of the British Columbia Copper company and Thomas L. Brophy of Spokane, who are reported to have gathered favorable impressions of its possibilities.

Among those identified with the company are W. F. Boettcher, president; A. H. Noyes, secretary; D. H. McLean, treasurer, of Spokane, who, with Fred Keiser of Wenatchee, are directors. The company is capitalized for $1,500,000, shares having a par value of $1 each.

THE FREEMONT MINE MAKES AN EXCELLENT ORE SHOWING

Having dug out proof of stoping ground in a drift run into ore at a depth of 40 feet, the Freemont mining company will now proceed to pull out profits from the 70-foot level.

The shoot has a width of six to twelve inches in the 40-foot level, twelve to eighteen inches in the 70-foot levels, and values that range from $100 to $200 in silver and lead to the ton. Persistency of the shoot has been proven to a depth of 205 feet in the shaft, and by short drifts run out at intermediate depths where the maximum width is two feet.

Upward of 15 tons of ore has been removed in the course of the investigation, and this, with that to be drawn from the stope at the 70-foot depth, will comprise the first car load to be sent to the smelter in a few days.

Assurance of the profit that will accrue from these movements has been obtained from the marketing of neighbors, among them the Elkhorn, which obtained $50,000 in the first year of its shipments, which began at grass roots, and ten or more others having records of $30,000 to $750,000 to date.

It is calculated officially that the Elk Freemont company may move 30 tons a week, and that the yield per ton, after freight and treatment charges are deducted, will be $90 a ton. J. H. Smith, superintendent of the mine, says that all is in readiness to begin operations on the second level. Production can begin within a month. The property is well equipped with machinery.

THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT SMILES ON BOXING CONTESTS

Permission to hold boxing contests at Tia Juana, just across the Mexican border from San Diego, has been given to Louis Blot, the San Francisco fight promoter, according to announcement. Blot chose the site to hold finish contests. He proposes to stage five or six of these each year. With the necessary permission signed and sealed by the Mexican governor, Blot will be master of the prize fight situation for finished contests. He now has three contests in view. The first of these is a Moran-Wolgast match for the lightweight crown. The other two are between Sam Langford and Jack Johnson and Al Kaufman and the negro champion.

Has Seven Living Wives

The authorities in Canada and the United States are looking for Bertram S. de la Meutre, alias Bertram Smith, soldier of fortune traveller and linguist, who is now a fugitive from justice, charged with wholesale bigamy. Smith has, at least seven wives living.

There names and addresses are as follows: No. 1 Mrs. Lucy S. Smith, of St. Thomas, Canada; No. 2, Frances Downs, of Atlanta, Ga.; No. 3, Blanche Hall, of Bryan, Texas; Nos. 4 and 5, residents of Cuba; No. 6 Miss Muller, of Hollywood; and No. 7, Mrs. Charlotte Pounder, of the Hotel Burlington, Ninth and Burlington streets, Los Angeles, who became Mrs. Herbert Smith on Jan. 8th in San Francisco.

It is believed that Smith has other wives living in the United States and Europe. Two of the women who admit that they have been married to Smith have indicated their willingness to become witnesses against him in the event that he is taken into custody. Four others have notified the officers that they do not desire to press a prosecution against him.

Bert or Herbert Smith was born in St. Thomas forty years ago of well-to-do parents. His father died, leaving him considerable money. His mother married again, and still lives in St. Thomas. Herbert Smith was well educated, and married a wealthy girl in Brantford twenty years ago. He spent all her money and spoiled her life. She left him eight years ago, when they were living in St. Louis, Mo. She came to St. Thomas, and lives there with his mother, and is known as Mrs. Lucy S. Smith. Herbert or Bert Smith is a lecturer by occupation, and when last heard from by his friends was in New Orleans. After Smith's marriage in Brantford he was tried for bigamy before Judge Hardy, but was acquitted.

Sir Edmund Walker sees no danger of annexation when the bank which he controls sweeps in the savings of the farmers and uses these in connection with profitable speculations in the New York stock market. Why then should there be danger of annexation when these same farmers, whose savings he uses in a foreign market, sell their barley and dairy products in the same market?

WESTBRIDGE

A Town of Many Wonderful Things to See.

Tebecee Paints a Rosy Hue of the Village by the Suspension Bridge

The first object which attracts the eye of the traveller as he approaches the town of Westbridge is the bridge, from which Westbridge derives its name. The residents are justly proud of this colossal structure in wood and iron, a triumph of utility combined with art; indeed, in these qualities it has been favorably compared with the famous Brooklyn bridge of New York. Visitors from that city are wont to declare that if anything they rather prefer the bridge over the West Fork to that of their native city. Beneath it flow the turbulent waters of the Kettle river, concerning which it has been justly said, "Drink but once of the waters of the Kettle, and to it you shall always return." Turning sharp to the left we ascend the hill approaching the town, traversing the road cut from the side of the mountain by that prince of engineers, Wm. Middleton, and after five minutes find ourselves face to face with the Hotel Westbridge. Canadians are fond of boasting—and rightly—of the splendor and magnificence of their hotels. Some declare that the Queen's of Toronto is the only hotel; others swear by the Empress of Victoria. Yes, my friend, but have you ever seen the Hotel Westbridge? If not, you are totally unqualified to judge as to the merits of the case. It is built in early colonial style, of logs, and when we say that the plans were drawn by that architect of architects, Mr. John McKenzie, who shall dare to raise his voice in criticism?

The front of this magnificent structure faces onto Main street, while the rear windows command a magnificent view over the river and other objects of interest in the foreground.

On entering the building, the ear is at once struck by the strains of music proceeding from the sitting room. This, indeed, is one of the features of this hotel. Mr. Alex Hardy, the capable manager of the musical department, is wont to boast that from sunrise to sunset the sounds of music never cease in the hotel. Can any other hotel in Canada make the same boast?

Opening off from the spacious reading room are two rooms which, in a sense, may be said to have some connection with each other. One is the suite of Finlay McDonald, the well known road expert, which is reserved exclusively for him on his periodical visits to the hotel; the other room is the bar. But, however much one would wish it, space forbids us to harp forever on the glories of this veritable palace, so it will pass regretfully on to visit what is known on the Westbridge Stock Exchange as "No. 2 Main Street."

It is just possible that there exists a few people to whom this familiar cognomen will mean nothing. To such, then, we supply the following particulars: This mansion is the combined residence of Mr. R. H. Smith, the timber plutocrat, and Mr. J. Thompson, of Hardy, Thompson & Co., the Timothy Eaton of Westbridge. Should the visitor be fortunate enough to gain the entrance to this residence, a tour of inspection round the house will more than repay him. Passing on we stand aghast before the Postoffice.

Never need the Liberal party in Canada fear for the loyalty of Westbridge. The government would seem to have taken a particular interest in this town, and as a direct result of this, have erected a building which, for superb design, for magnificence of structure, and for a certain reckless prodigality in material, will stand as a lasting monument to the greatness and generosity of the Liberal government until the fall of its last ruler. Reluctantly removing our eyes from this building, we pass on to the vast emporium of Hardy, Thompson & Co., the Uncle Timothy's of Westbridge.

It is a matter of remark that, ever jealous of successful rivals neither T. Eaton, nor Simpson have seen fit to set up a branch establishment in opposition to the local firm. But the fact that they have not seen fit to do so, is a lasting testimony to the popularity of Messrs. Hardy & Thompson, their fair dealing and fair prices being one of the boasts of the town. For the purpose of this guide, the author made an attempt to secure an interview with the members of the firm to discuss the trade prospects, but met with small success. Mr. Thompson was, unfortunately, busy, so a conversation was attempted with Mr. Hardy. This gentleman's speech was so cryptic, interlarded as it was, by references to the characteristics of bulls and heifers, that the author was reluctantly compelled to believe that his mind had been temporarily unbinged owing to a rise in the price of beef.

Emerging from the building, the next edifice to compel our attention is "Copenhagen House."

Sharks Delay Ships.

Sharks delayed the progress of the Royal Mail steamship Marimona, which arrived at Port Limon, Costa Rica recently. For three days it drifted idle and helpless because of a school of about 25 man-eaters that hovered about her stern. During a storm a quantity of rope on the after-deck was washed overboard and became hopelessly tangled in the propeller.

AT THE OLD GAME.

Reciprocity has given the ranters and taunters another opportunity to wave the old flag for political party purposes. It is the old game and the old trick, but it must fail, as it always has, because it is not founded on fact. Those newspapers opposing reciprocity with the United States, true to their monopolistic instincts, claim for their party all the loyalty and the others they condemn as traitors, ready to sell their country for a trifle. No right minded citizen or honorable Canadian would accuse his fellow subjects of disloyalty because they desired freer trade with their neighbors. Loyalty is not based on dollars and cents, nor upon any considerations of free and fair trade in which both countries give and receive value for concessions agreed upon and assented to. Loyalty springs from the soul, from love of home and country, and the editor who accuses others of placing a price on their loyalty is himself guilty of that same thing, for it must be in his heart or he would not have uttered it. Like the Pharisee of old, 'holier than thou,' so the prating loyalist who flaunts the flag on ever so slight pretext—he is not to be trusted alone near a hen roost on a dark night. —Similkameen Star.

THE EAST AND WEST.

For one reason or another people in the east have an idea that the west is, as a whole, very much in favor of reciprocity, and it was with a feeling of pride and no little astonishment that manufacturers and others read the sentiments expressed by Mr. Pat Burns, the Calgary cattle king, on the subject. Mr. Burns, as is well known, is probably the biggest man in many ways the west has produced. He is the owner of thousands of head of cattle, of large packing plants at Calgary and Vancouver, and is an extensive trader in sheep, swine, poultry, butter, eggs and kindred products. He has been called the Armour of Canada, and in western Canada at least, where he operates something like 76 distributing houses and retail stores, he deserves the name. Mr. Burns says reciprocity is "not dangerous" to his business, but he goes further and says that, no matter what its effect, he would be in favor of a pact which would benefit the whole country and not of one which might bring a few temporary dollars to a certain class. Mr. Burns spoke like a patriot and he has many a follower in the west.

The Canadian Pacific which was one of the great corporations that was going to be chewed up at both ends and its business knocked endways, has unkindly kept on increasing in value. This the government press is not slow to point out. As for the annexation talk everyone knows what a stew the country was thrown in to by Champ Clark's hot talk at Washington. And even yet there are many who believe we can reciprocate and still be loyal to the Empire.

The somewhat ironical motto, "All this, too, will pass away," confronts the office of a famous

Face Sores and Eruptions

Zam-Buk Will Quickly Heal

The approach of Spring finds many people with unsightly face sores, eruptions, boils, etc. In this connection Zam-Buk is invaluable. An illustration of the way in which it cures even the most serious and chronic cases of eruptions, sores and ulcers, is provided by Mr. R. H. Barker, of Glencairn, Ont. He says:

"I never could have believed that any remedy could cure so quickly and at the same time so effectively as Zam-Buk cured me. My face began to be covered with a kind of rash, which itched and irritated. This rash then turned to sores, which discharged freely and began to spread. I first tried one thing and then another, but nothing seemed to do me much good, and the eruption got worse and worse until my face was just covered with running sores.

"Apart from the pain (which was very bad), my face was such a terrible sight that I was not fit to go out. This was my state when some one advised me to try Zam-Buk. I got a supply, and within a week I could see that the sores were rapidly healing. A little longer, and Zam-Buk had healed them completely, and my skin was clear as if I had never had a sore. We shall never again be without Zam-Buk in the house."

Zam-Buk is unequalled for Spring rashes, eruptions, children's sores, scalp diseases, ringworm, ulcers, abscesses, eczema, tetter, piles, cuts, bruises, and skin injuries and diseases generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful imitations. Zam-Buk soap, which may be had from any druggist at 25c. a tablet, should be used instead of ordinary soap in all cases of eruptions and skin diseases.

police official in Montreal. It carries very little comfort to the criminal who stands on the brink of a long separation from society behind the grated windows of a penitentiary cell or purchase stands in the shadow of the gallows, but it spells splendid significance to the man who is compelled to listen while the politicians rag and the party press howls one way or the other about the evils or the benefits which are sure to follow in the footsteps of the enactment now on the boards.

It seems no use trying to get away from it. Reciprocity dogs our every footstep, stares us in the face when we get up in the morning and is the last thing on our tongues or in our minds when we go to bed. In fact we are lucky if we do not dream about it. The papers are full of it; public bodies are passing resolutions about it, and our friends pester us to say what we think about it. Tiresome as the naval discussion was, many would welcome it back if it would rid us of the present talk, talk, talk.

The big interests are well organized and can make their feelings known in very short order throughout the length and breadth of the land. They are all strongly against reciprocity. They have thrown the full weight of their powerful organizations into the battle against the international agreement. Money is no object and there is very little doubt that a lavish fund is at the disposal of those who are making the welkin ring. The vast majority of the people have no organization and are very little heard from.

San Francisco Retail Clerks' association has prepared a bill which is to be submitted to the legislature. This provides that all drug stores shall be closed between 1 and 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

MAINTENANCE OF DESERTED WIVES

Existing Act is Being Made Stronger in Interest of Women and Children

A bill consolidating and also amending the acts respecting the maintenance of wives deserted by their husbands was introduced by the attorney general. This is an enlargement of the Deserted Wives' Maintenance Act of 1901.

A wife is to be deemed as deserted if she is living apart from her husband because of his repeated assaults or other acts of cruelty, or because of "his refusal or neglect, without sufficient cause, to supply his wife and infant children (if any) with food, clothing or other necessaries." No wife shall be entitled to the benefit of the Act who is possessed, in her own right, of separate property sufficient for the maintenance of herself and infant children, or who is proved to have committed adultery, unless the adultery has been condoned.

When a complaint is made and the husband summoned a police magistrate or justice of the peace may hear the evidence, whether the man obeys the summons or not, and if he is satisfied that there has been desertion within the meaning of the Act he may order the payment of such weekly sum, not exceeding $20, as he may consider to be in accordance with the means of the husband and any means the wife may have. The husband pays all costs in any case. Either party may appeal to the county court judge with this difference, that if the husband appeals proceedings on the order appealed from shall not be stayed pending the appeal and he shall pay all costs, and if the wife is the appellant no security for the cost of the appeal shall be required.

In case of non-payment of any sum ordered to be paid, and as often as any payment is in arrears the husband may be summoned to show cause why he should not be imprisoned for disobeying the order, and may be sent to jail for not more than 30 days. It will be seen that a recalcitrant husband can thus be kept in confinement practically indefinitely, which no doubt, would bring him to time. Garnishee proceedings against any debtor of the husband are provided for.

While the Act of 1901 is repealed any wife may take proceedings under the new Act for the enforcement of any order or for the recovery of any money under an order made under the provisions of the old Act.

Canada's Trade

In the first nine months of the present fiscal year the foreign trade of Canada reached the record total of $557,999,622, which is an increase of $65,000,000 over the corresponding period of last year. This is wholly in imports showing a falling off principally in foreign goods. Exports of manufactures showed a substantial increase; exports of farm produce showed a slight decrease.

The Saskatchewan grain growers have endorsed the reciprocity agreement, but they will have a few grievances left. If the Government would be so obliging as to build a few railways, erect terminal elevators, draw their wheat to market and present every producer with an automobile that would be about all for this season.

Old people, tired, weak, run down people, delicate children, frail mothers, and those recovering from severe illness, this is a fact.

Thousands of genuine testimonials from reliable people prove this claim, and to further support the fact and prove our faith in what we say, we unhesitatingly declare that any one who will try a bottle of VINOL will have their money returned without question if they are not satisfied that it did them good.

sell it at the present price. There is a most excellent prospect that this company will continue a dividend payer for a great many years to come. An extension of its ore bodies has been discovered in its old property, and a new mine, believed to be of very great value, has been taken under option and undoubtedly will be purchased. The company's management is thoroughly reliable.—Boston Commercial.

That a deal is in progress for the sale of the Osoyoos mining company's coal properties near Princeton, involving a sum of $250,000 was the statement made by William Gosnell, president of the company, and I. G. Nelson. This property which has already commenced to ship coal to Nelson and is also distributing the black fuel at the various points along the Similkameen branch of the Great Northern railway, is almost entirely owned by Nelson capital. It is located right in the midst of the great coal fields around Princeton and is remarkable for the size of its seams and the value of its coal for domestic purposes.

That the long tramway in connection with the Lone Star mine, one of the British Columbia Copper company's properties, will be completed within the next few weeks and that the mine will be on the shipping list by the end of March was the statement made at the Strathcona hotel, Nelson, by Frederic Keffer, that company's chief Mining engineer. The Lone Star is located about 200 feet on the southern side of the International boundary line and the new tramway, which is five and a half miles in length, will be used to bring the ore to Boundary Falls where it will be placed on board freight cars and shipped to the smelter at Greenwood. This will be the second property added to the shippers of the B. C. Copper company during the past 12 months, the other being the Wellington camp. The Napoleon, which is located near Northport, Wash., has also commenced to ship within recent months.

To Keep Out of Coronation.

At a meeting of the Irish parliamentary part in London it was decided to abstain from participation in the coronation ceremonies. A statement was issued to the effect that the party greatly regretted that the time had not yet come when it would feel free to join other representatives of the king's subjects on that great occasion, although the cause of Irish liberty was on the eve of victory. The promise was made that when the king visited Ireland, the people would welcome him with generosity and hospitality.

Alaskans Favor Union.

A movement has been started to have mass meetings held in Cordova, Seward, Valdez and Fairbanks, Alaska, to adopt resolutions asking the congress of the United States to divorce Alaska so that it can annex itself to Canada, as the only possible relief for continued and oppressive burdens on pioneers. Business men are behind the movement, and much correspondence touching the matter has been exchanged.

There seems to be a growing opinion that if the reciprocity agreement comes into force it will be followed by a reduction in the duties on imports from the United Kingdom, or in other words the preference will be enlarged. We think this latter step would be very satisfactory to the people generally.

Negroes Barred.

The Dominion government has decided to stop the immigration of negroes from the United States into Western Canada, and one day last week stopped at the boundary a party of negroes as undesirable citizens. Quite a number of negroes have taken up land as farmers in Alberta, northwest of Edmonton during the past two years, and there has been considerable friction among the settlers in consequence.

FAMOUS PEOPLE

BY FANNIE M. LOTHROP

SIR JAMES M. LEMOINE
Canada's Historian and Litterateur.

At "Spencer Grange," a sunny homestead amidst great trees overhanging the St. Lawrence, near the quaint old fortress city of Quebec, where every square foot of ground seems consecrated to historic memories, lives Sir James MacPherson Lemoine, Canada's genial historian, now working still in the sunshine of optimism, though in his eighty-first year.

Born in the city of Quebec, a descendant of one of the old and distinguished families of Old France, he spent some of his early years under the kindly care of his Scotch maternal grandfather at Isle aux Grues. After completing his education at the Seminaire de Quebec, he entered the public service as collector of internal revenue at the age of twenty-two. Three years later he was admitted to the bar and practised law for a few years, but his heart was not in it. He preferred studying history and birds and writing about them. Surrendering to the spell of the legendary and historic lore of his native city and its surroundings, he loved to breathe the new life into the old romances, or to dive into the sea of historic research and investigation. The range of his work can be best suggested by the comprehensive title "Canadian History, Legend, Scenery and Sport"—a veritable treasure-house of Canadian lore, written with a fine literary touch, and pulsing with vital human interest.

His interest in birds, which led him forty-five years ago to write his first contribution to periodical literature on land and sea birds around Quebec for the "Canadian Naturalist," is a dominating note in his life. His splendid collection of Canadian birds in the museum of his home attests his loyalty to his feathered friends, and "Spencer Grange" is the mecca of students of Canadian annals, keenly alive to the rare privileges it affords them.

His library rooms are filled to overflowing with books, pamphlets, pictures and literary treasures; but the most interesting shelves are those containing the thirty volumes of his writings, eighteen of which are in English and twelve in French. Like Professor Goldwin Smith, Sir James' printed books represent the smaller part of his literary product, for he has numberless pamphlets and magazine articles to his credit that are unfortunately buried in the oblivion of ephemeral periodicals.

His interest in contemporary matters is as deep and vital as ever; his mind is keen, alert, sensitive as a barometer to every impression, and he carries his years with a grace and ease that laugh at time and its terrors. For many years president of the Literary and Historical Society of Quebec, he has also had the highest literary honor in the Dominion—the presidency of the Royal Society of Canada.

Entered according to Act of the Parliament of Canada, in the year 1905, by W. C. Mack, at the Department of Agriculture.

"Sunshine System of irrigation, or Rain without Clouds" is the name given by Clement Vacher to his invention of a system of irrigation which will apparently soon become popular among orchardists in the interior of this province. The invention has been patented in Canada, the United States, and Mexico, also Spain, France, Italy and other European countries and a patent is pending in Great Britain. Many advantages are claimed for it over the popular system in use of distributing the water by means of open ditches. The principal of these are: economy of water, economy of labor and maintenance of maintenance. Write to Clement Vacher, K. Lowna, B. C., and he will send you a descriptive pamphlet which will tell you all about it.

An important measure in connection with life insurance companies doing business in Manitoba is now before the legislature. The bill was before the law amendments committee, but was laid over. It is proposed to cut out the time limit in many contracts whereby heirs must give notice of the death of insured persons within a fixed period or they cannot recover. The time limit for entering an action will be 18 months and Hon. Mr. Coldwell suggests that if no heirs appear to claim the insurance the money shall be paid over to the state rather than revert to the company as is now the case.

The world's copper surplus is nearly 20,000,000 pounds smaller than it was a year ago. This improvement has occurred notwithstanding the business depression in the United States, where is found the greatest single market for copper. There is now every prospect the general business will soon be very much better here, and that the last half of 1911 and the year 1912 will constitute a period of great prosperity. In the event of such business improvement being realized there will be a tremendous increase in the consumption of copper and the price will have a substantial advance, notwithstanding the coming increase in production.—Boston Commercial.

Copper is extremely dull, but prices are being maintained. Lake is 12 3/8 to 12 3/4 and electrolytic is 12 3/8 to 12 3/4 cents a pound.

is where it ought to be—at the front, readily reached without groping in the dark or taking unnecessary steps. A turn of the lever instantly changes the draft so the fire is quickened or checked, at will. Turned on, McClary's Magnet Wood Furnace produces the strongest heat in a few minutes; and the nickelled steel tubes radiate this heat for hours after the draft is shut off. Because of this stored heat McClary's Magnet Wood Furnace is economical and a continuous roaring fire is unnecessary. The heat that goes up the smoke pipe of ordinary wood furnaces, goes into the register pipes of the Magnet. Like the position of the damper, the Magnet Wood Furnace is right all through. Right in principle, right in construction; right in materials. See the Magnet at the McClary agent's in the nearest town. Write to nearest McClary branch for booklet, giving a detailed description. This action practically settles the question of fortification for the sentiment in the senate is said to be more than two to one in favor of protecting the Isthmian waterway by sea coast batteries.

Ben Hart Sent to Pen.

Ben Hart, arrested at the Youney ranch, near Chesaw, Wash., several weeks ago, pleaded guilty to horse stealing when arranged before Judge E. K. Pendergast and was sentenced to from one to 15 years in the penitentiary at Walla Walla.

The above despatch recalls one of the most sensational hold-ups that have occurred in the Kootenay for many years. On Dec. 19, 1908 three masked men, Cleve Newman, William Newman and Ben Hart, held up Chester Charleton, postmaster at Bridesville near the international boundary line, robbed him of a sum of money and made their escape. The three men were located by Charles J. Bunbury, then the newly appointed chief of police of the Boundary district at Chesaw, Wash. Ben Hart consented to return to Canada but the Newman brothers insisted on extradition proceedings.

Chief Bunbury returned to Greenwood with Hart and left the other two bandits in the custody of a deputy sheriff at Chesaw. This man, on a slim excuse by Cleve Newman left that worthy escape. William Newman was brought back to this country and after a long pursuit by Chief Bunbury and his assistants Cleve was finally located in the Okanagan.

Ben Hart, confessed to the crime and turned King's evidence at the assizes when the three men were brought up for trial. The Newman brothers were sent down for a term of 20 years each in the penitentiary and Hart as a reward for giving evidence against his confederates was allowed to leave the province. He returned to his old home at Chesaw but in spite of the stern warning given him by the sentence passed on the Newman brothers in Canada was still unable to distinguish between "meum and tuum."

All three men while awaiting trial, were lodged in the provincial jail Nelson.

The Curling Game.

The editor of the Revelstoke Herald has the following to say about the game of curling:

"Curling is about over and they tell us that next season we will have a rink of our very own on which to curl as much as we like. To tell the truth the editor don't know much about the game. He got into the game this season a little bit, but in view of the number of young curlers who will be sprouting during the summer to bloom next winter, we are willing to tell all we know of the game. As we said before, we don't know much by experience, but we read a lot, so here goes:

"Curling is a wonderful game. It is played by eight men, four on a side. The sporting goods required are a broom to each player, a pair of rocks, a Tam-o-Shanter, a tape measure and a bottle of Scotch. It is recommended by doctors for expanding the chest and the head. It is called the 'roaring' game because some of the players roar so much when they are getting the worst of it. The game was invented in Scotland when kilts were in their infancy.

"The captain of each side is called a 'skip,' short for skipper, and the game is played in cold storage. The man who makes the ice is called a blankety blank (expunged by the proof reader as being unparliamentary and then some.) A sheet of ice about as long as a two-year-old baby can walk is called a rink. A target of concentric circles is drawn in the ice at each end.

The skips stand at each end of the rink and the immediate player digs his toe in a hole gouged in the ice at the other and prepares to throw stones. 'I want to lie,' says the skip and he spans the side of his broom on the ice to emphasize his order. The player shoves away a rock and it hits the wall about half way down the rink. He turns to a player and says, 'my handle twisted loose just as I had laid down the stone,' thus carrying out the order of the skip.

"I want a nice draw right here," says the other skip, indicating the exact spot he wants the player to place the rock. 'Take that much ice.' With the last remark he indicates a position to the right or left of the aforesaid spot towards which the player must push his stone. The rock is expected to drift enough to the right or left to bring it to the desired spot. The player sweeps off the bottom of his stone, carefully balances himself with his broom out on one side, slides the rock forward with a preliminary false start to get the direction and loosens up his joints, draws back and lets her go.

"The stone goes booming down the ice and the skip yells, 'Sweep!' Two men proceed to brush their brooms across the ice in front of the stone. This creates a vacuum into which the stone flows as naturally as water rises in a siphon, stopping about 14 feet and umpty-ump inches from the place where the skip wanted it. 'Well played, sir!' says the skip, with enthusiasm. Under his breath he complains softly, but sincerely about the luck he has in securing dubs.

"This sort of thing goes on for two hours. Occasionally they stop playing to count the number of rocks that are lying within the rings. Here is where the game, like cribbage, depends upon the counting. The man who can count the most rocks without getting bawled out goes and pegs up on the cribbage board on the wall.

"A bonspiel is a curling potlach. It lasts about as long as a camp meeting, and simmers and boils alternately. A bonspiel, like the fire wagon, takes precedence of all other business. Bonspiel is a compound word, bon being short for 'bonne,' meaning in French a servant of an old maid, and spiel being a colloquial chunk of slang, meaning a vocal eruption issuing from the main gash in the face. Hence bonspiel bonne spiel, or a lot of cackling by a bunch of old maids. This interpretation is substantiated by such spinster terms as 'Draw the Tea,' 'Get the Broom,' and 'Let Her Curl.'

"In the meantime, 'Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?'"

The death of Thomas Hawkins in 77th year at Rock Creek on Feb. 14, takes from us another of our great west developers and an old veteran most highly thought of. His death followed an attack of la grippe which developed into pneumonia. The funeral took place at Rock Creek on Sunday last.

The members and Guild of St. Jude's church wish to thank the gentleman from the Mother Lode and smelter who rendered such delightful musical selections at the social in Wood's Hall on Tuesday. The St. Jude church social on Tuesday evening was a very enjoyable and successful affair. Quite a number were present who enjoyed the games and other diversions. The singing of the Cornish club was the trump card of the evening and they acquitted themselves in a manner most agreeable to the audience. They did beautifully, their singing was most enjoyable.

Would it not be the right and proper act for the hockey boys of Greenwood and others whom it benefited very much to tender to Mr. Watson of the Star Theatre, a benefit night as an expression of appreciation for his kindness in closing his performances on every night this season on which his performance may detract from attendance at rink, in consequence he is out of pocket. So boys make a grand rally and give him a bumper house, it is coming to him.

Our Girls Are True Blue.

The Victoria Colonist has this to say in defence of the Canadian girls:

"Somebody has visited Canada and has been writing to the English papers that Canadian girls have no modesty or true femininity, or anything in fact that is likeable; on the contrary, are a set of brazen hoydens or something of that kind. He has probably seen some young Canadian girl look fearlessly into the eyes of some Canadian boy, neither fearing nor imagining evil, and he has come to the conclusion that her fearlessness, which is the fruit of her true modesty and splendid self-respect, is only the effrontery of a person devoid of personal shame. Bashfulness is not modesty necessarily; nor is it self-confidence a sign of immodesty."
